FARMERS STAND IN RAIN TO CHEER CROP REBELLION

All They Want Is to Be 'Let Alone.'

Macomb, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—A crowd of 3,500 farmers from central Illinois counties and areas in four adjacent states assembled here tonight and pledged their opposition to government control of crops.

The crowd packed Macomb's armory to capacity and overflowed into nearby streets, where about 1,000 heard addresses through loud speakers.

Rain fell about midway through the meeting. Some of those outside were driven to cover, but others stood in the open, apparently unmindful of the wet, and added their cheers to those in the armory when points they favored were mentioned.

Dozens Join and Pay Dues.

Before and after the meeting, dozens of farmers joined the new Corn Belt Liberty league, which is sponsoring the revolt against the AAA control program. Each of the new members paid the stipulated dues of $2.

The league was organized by McDonough county farmers at a meeting here a week ago. While the movement now reflects only the attitude of farmers in this district and volunteers from nearby communities, the charter members hope to extend the organized revolt to all corners of the country.

The mood of the crowd that gathered here tonight appeared to be epitomized in the declaration of the Rev. Henry H. Bloomer, Macomb preacher and farmer, that "all the farmer wants is to be let alone."

"I don't believe in subsidies to farmers," he told the crowd. "I don't believe farmers need to be paid anything. They will do all right if they are just left alone."

Crowd Acclaims Pledge.

By acclamation the crowd approved a resolution that had been adopted at the first meeting of the league. The indorsement was almost unanimous, only a few scattered "Noes" being heard.

"It is hereby resolved," the statement read, "that farmers at this meeting pledge faithfully to oppose the control program and to call on other farmers who wish to retain control of their farms and resist dictation to do likewise."

The resolution condemned corn allotments as being so low in many cases as to be ruinous to farmers, and denounced the compulsory features of the legislation which "strikes at the very heart of individual liberty."

Will Resist Force.

"Farmers never have been favorable to any such drastic and un-American program as the new crop control plan," the resolution went on, "and never have given any one authority to represent them as being in favor of such legislation.

"We are determined to resist to the very last any effort to force us under threat of prosecution to give over control of our lands to other people."

The crowd liked the speech made by Lowell McDaniel of Greenfield, Ind., who was among the farmers who came from Indiana, Minnesota, Iowa, and Missouri. Seventeen Illinois counties were represented.

"You're looking at a farmer who is going to farm his land—farm bill or no farm bill," he declared.

90% Oppose Law.

"It has been reported to me that 90 per cent of the farmers in Hancock county, where I live, are against the new farm law. I'm sure Indiana will soon follow Illinois in organizing a Corn Belt Liberty league. I think it is the forerunner of a movement that will spread over the entire nation."

Farmers in all parts of the audience shouted and nodded their approval frequently during the address of Tilden Burg of Sciota, who was elected president of the league at the first meeting.

He charged that farmers have not been truly represented in Washington. He declared that the spokesman and lobbyists of farm organizations in the national capitol do not express the views of the men who actually do the farming.

"Perhaps they represent the views of the minority of farmers," he said,

Nazis to Take Stock of Possessions.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—Two billion dollars worth of property belonging to

Field Marshal Goering

Jews of Germany and Austria is threatened with gradual confiscation, foreign economic experts in Berlin estimated tonight. Their opinion followed issuance of a sensational decree by Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi and chief of the four year plan for economic self sufficiency. He ordered all Jews to report to Adolf Hitler's government their possessions at home and abroad if they exceed $2,000.

American experts studied the decree to see whether it violates the German-American treaty of friendship, commerce, and consular rights signed in December, 1923, since an effort was made to apply discrimination against Jews of German nationality and also, in a number of cases, to American Jews who have property in Germany.

[The United States and Germany signed a treaty of friendship, commerce and consular rights Dec. 8, 1923. The treaty restored relations of the two countries to their prewar status. Under it nationals of each country are permitted to enter, travel and reside in the territories of the other. They are allowed to exercise liberty of conscience and freedom of worship, to engage in professonal, scientific, religious, philanthropic, manufacturing and commercial work of every kind without interference. They also are permitted to conduct commercial activity not forbidden by local law, and to own, erect or lease and occupy buildings and lands for legitimate purposes.]

Heavy Punishment Threatened.

All Jews and part Jews of Germany and Austria, who were placed under the Nuremberg ghetto laws of 1935, were ordered to register their fortunes and properties no later than June 30. Jews who fail to comply with the order were threatened with severe punishment ranging up to ten years' imprisonment.

The German press hailed the measure as "the first step toward the complete elimination of Jews from German business life."

Jewish circles feared the decree was the first step toward depriving them of all their possessions.

A Significant Paragraph.

Significance was seen in a paragraph of the decree, which said:

"The controler of the four year plan [Goering] may take such measures as may be deemed fit to insure utilization of properties falling under these terms in consonance with interests of German economy."

Under the decree Jews of foreign nationality living in Germany must register their possessions in the reich.

Another ghetto decree issued by Goering provides that the sale or lease of a business enterprise, country estate or farm requires an official permit if one of the contracting parties is Jewish. The opening of a new business undertaking also must be approved by Nazi officials if it is financed by a Jew.

Aim to Oust Jewish Capital.

Commenting on the ghetto laws, the Berliner Nachtausgabe said: "Annexation of Austria revealed the urgency of the task to exclude Jewish capital from German business life. The decree will be enforced with relentless severity.

Nazi officials have been compiling a list of Jewish properties for years. Many Jews have been compelled to deposit vast sums of money with tax authorities "as a guarantee against the flight of their capital from Germany." This measure has been used in many cases to deprive Jewish concerns of their working capital.

Foreign diplomats in Berlin believe that the anti-Jewish campaign will be resumed with special fierceness in an effort to detract the world's attention from the activities of Nazis in Czechoslovakia or other southeastern European states.

A JOLLY LITTLE WHITE HOUSE LUNCHEON PARTY

Blames Kin in $163,000 Theft of Public Fund

A startling story of how $163,000, possibly more, was filched from the treasury of Will county by official connivance was related yesterday in a formal answer filed in the Circuit court at Joliet by Herbert R. Jones, who was county treasurer from 1930 to 1934.

Jones denied getting any of the money, but admitted that he had knowingly concealed the fact that his uncle, Ben Jones, and his father, Frank R. Jones, had appropriated the $163,000 to their own uses. Of the sum, he said, $123,000 had been missing since Ben Jones was county treasurer—from 1918 to 1922. The other $40,000, he said, was taken by the uncle and father prior to 1933, and was used in the business of the Jones Grain company of Chicago, which they operated.

Audit Reveals Shortage.

A huge shortage in the county funds was discovered in an audit made two years ago. At that time Herbert Jones refused to talk. A suit was then filed by the county, demanding that he account for approximately $600,000 that was apparently missing, and that he and his bondsmen pay all shortages. His answer yesterday was his first reply to the suit.

His explanation was that $221,000 of the total was on deposit in Will county banks that have closed and that much of this eventually will reach the county till. An additional $80,000, he averred, was transferred from one fund to others and was not properly a shortage. He made no mention of the $136,000 still unaccounted for after the $163,000 shortages were added in.

Pass Book Only Record.

Jones said that when Ben Jones retired from office in 1922 the $123,000 was represented only by a pass book in the Manhattan State bank in Will county, of which Ben Jones was president. Herbert Jones was a deputy in the treasurer's office and continued as such through the regimes of George Bissell and Walter E. Krohn [1922-1930].

Through this period and his own administration of the office, Jones said, he had concealed the fact that the Manhattan bank supposedly had $123,000 of the county's money. The pass book is missing. Further, he admitted that he knew of the taking of the additional $40,000, which he had deposited for the county in the same bank.

The Manhattan bank has been liquidated and has paid all its depositors. Will county's $123,000 was not paid. Ben Jones, who is now a farmer, refused yesterday to talk about the shortage. Frank R. Jones is dead.

Elmer Bielfeldt, attorney for Herbert Jones, said he believed the shortages would far exceed $163,000.

State's Attorney James E. Burke said he had considered criminal prosecution in connection with the disappearance of the funds, but that the statute of limitations has run and it is too late, under Illinois law, to seek indictments.

JUDGE DIRECTS JURY VERDICT, BUT FAILS TO RECKON WITH ELMER

"But there are only eleven signatures on this sheet," said Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday as he looked over a verdict of not guilty which he had directed in a personal injury case.

"One of the jurors wouldn't sign," said Bailif Bernard Leo, and he indicated Elmer Elsey, of 11524 Lowe avenue.

"Your honor," said Elsey, "the verdict form reads, 'We the jury find,' but actually we haven't found anything. All we did was what you told us to—whether we agreed or not. I will not sign."

And he didn't, despite the court's urgings.

Mrs. Agnes C. Roth, of 2451 Diversey parkway, the plaintif, said she would appeal because Elsey had not signed. She had sued the estate of Harold A. Gale, owner of a building at 120 North Green street in which her husband, Herman, was killed in a fall.

"This never happened to me before," said the judge.

Spring! Prof's Thoughts Turn to Love Recipe

If a chemical engineer marries an English teacher, they'll live happily ever afterward. That's the perfect love match, according to Prof. Ernest Burgess, University of Chicago sociologist.

A minister married to a singer should be a delightfully happy marriage combination, too, Prof. Burgess told the Chicago Society of Personality Study last night in the Medical and Dental Arts club. But he doesn't recommend traveling salesmen as husbands.

A Word to the Wise.

Elaborating on previously announced results of his study of 526 married couples, Prof. Burgess made these suggestions for happy marriage:

Choose a mate in your own social stratum. If you are both educated, you will have a better chance for serenity.

Live in a community of less than 200,000 population, in a single home neighborhood.

Buy your own home if possible.

Save money.

Do not change jobs or communities often.

Young Men, Here's a Hint.

And here's a hint to young men: a wife who has worked before marriage is preferable to one who hasn't.

The most important thing for girls to consider, Prof. Burgess said, is whether or not their fiancé's parents were happy. If they were he's a good prospect.

Even then it's safer if he isn't a youngest child or an only one. Marriage of an eldest child to an eldest child is a combination that the professor said is hard to beat.

Girls shouldn't forget to ask about Sunday school either. If he went to Sunday school until he was 10 years old he's a fair risk. If he attended regularly until he was 18 he's a much better one. And if you're both going to Sunday school when you're married you've nothing to worry about at all.

Musicians Out of Tune.

Generally speaking, Prof. Burgess said, musicians don't make much better husbands than traveling salesmen.

Infatuation, he said, doesn't usually result in happy marriage. Couples engaged for a year have an excellent chance of making a success of marriage. Courtships of three to five years are most favorable to happiness.

Got it all, now?

Car Smashes Barrier When Bridge Opens

Unaware that the 130th street swing bridge had been opened to let a boat pass, two brothers and their wives were drowned early today when their car plunged into 15 feet of water in the Little Calumet river.

The driver apparently did not see the warning lights because of rain and mist. The car shattered the wooden guard gates and shot on toward the river as a third brother, in a car behind, watched.

The dead:

Edward Loniewski, 28, and his wife, Adeline, 25, 13231 Commercial avenue.

Attend Family Reunion.

The men's brother, Stephen, of 13356 Houston avenue, said they had all attended a family reunion. Three automobile loads of the guests were returning to their homes, with the victims in the lead.

The bridge tender, John Hartman of 5411 Drexel boulevard, swung the bridge into the middle of the river to let the gravel boat Hulett pass on its way south. Before he could close the bridge, the cars approached from the west.

As they neared the end of the long, dark approach, the second and third cars halted. But the first climbed the incline to the river's brink and then toppled 12 feet into the water.

The bridge tender closed the bridge without knowing of the tragedy. Then, hearing screams from the other cars, he made inquiry and learned what had happened.

Pull Auto Ashore.

East Side police, the fire department, and the coast guard were summoned. They dragged the river in boats until they found the car, which they pulled ashore with ropes.

The doors were still closed. Presumably, the police said, the two couples had been trapped and drowned before they could make an effort to escape.

The dragging of the river, under the glare of searchlights, was watched by a crowd of motorists who happened along after the tragedy.

TRACE KIDNAPED PETER LEVINE, 12, IN NEW MEXICO

Santa Fe, N. M., April 27.—(AP)—New Mexico state police tonight said they were investigating a report that Peter Levine, 12 years old, of New Rochelle, N. Y., kidnaped Feb. 24, had been seen by a café owner in company of two neatly dressed men here Tuesday night.

The restaurant operator, John Karavonis, told State Police Sergeant H. K. Dalbey he recognized a picture in the city police station as that of a boy who was in his café.

"When I saw the picture of the Levine boy, I recognized it as that of the boy who was in the restaurant with two men," Dalbey quoted Karavonis. "The boy ordered two hamburgers. He was dirty and his clothes were torn."

Dalbey said Karavonis was positive in his identification and that a waitress, Nellie Tiehoff, picked the Levine boy's picture out of a group when asked to point out the picture of the boy she saw in the restaurant.

EARLE FIRES HIS CHIEF ACCUSER, STATE OFFICIAL

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
(Picture on Back Page.)

Harrisburg, Pa., April 27.—[Special.]—Gov. George H. Earle, smarting under charges of graft and corruption which have shaken his administration from top to bottom, today removed from office his hardest hitting accuser, Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, and all of Margiotti's assistants.

The firing of Margiotti, chief law officer of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, was the latest development in the red hot primary battle being waged by the Democrats. It followed an address last night in which Margiotti accused David Lawrence, state Democratic chairman, and Matthew H. McCloskey, political contractor, of taking a $20,000 bribe to bring about legislation favorable to local brewers.

Earle is seeking the Democratic nomination for senator and heads a slate backed by the Lawrence-McCloskey wing of the party. The governor is opposed for the senatorial nomination by Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, who was picked by Senator Joseph F. Guffey and John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O.

Margiotti Seeks Governorship.

Margiotti, a former Republican, is running an independent campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor against Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh lawyer, teamed up with Earle, and Lieut. Gov. Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers and the C. I. O.'s chief contender.

Much against Earle's wishes, a grand jury investigation into all the sensational charges which have piled up during the Democratic party's civil war was in the making tonight. Carl B. Schelley, district attorney of Dauphin county, which embraces Harrisburg, was preparing a petition with Margiotti's help.

The grand jury, expected to be called by the Common Pleas judges of the county tomorrow, will inquire particularly into the relations of Contractor McCloskey and the Earle administration. The governor admitted under fire last week that he had received $26,500 in loans from McCloskey, who later was awarded nearly 10 million dollars worth of public works contracts.

Jury Will Sift Charges.

In addition the grand jury, according to the plan being drafted, will investigate charges of the $20,000 sale of the legislature to the brewery interests, the report that architects had been ordered to "kick back" $1,200,000 in their public works fees, the "menacing" of state employés for nearly 2 million dollars to carry on the Earle campaign, and the coercion of WPA workers by the Guffey camp.

Attorney General Margiotti, who had been appointed by the governor in June of 1935, was dismissed after a dramatic verbal encounter between the two men in the executive mansion.

Quite unexpectedly the show took place before newspaper correspondents who had called at the old brownstone mansion on the banks of the Susquehanna to make a routine checkup on campaign news.

Earle greeted the newspapermen and asked them to follow him into his upstairs den.

Earle Demands Details.

In this room were Margiotti, Col. Cecil M. Wilhelm, deputy commissioner of the state motor police, and Richard J. Beamish, public utility commissioner. There was also one black stuffed bear, a white bearskin, stuffed pheasants and deer heads, several mounted fish and a number of guns. Earle said that he wanted Margiotti to tell all the details immediately so that he could arrest the guilty parties, if any.

"These charges are all so serious," asserted Margiotti, "that the only way to clear the atmosphere is to have an impartial body conducting the investigation with the power of subpena."

"This is a crucial moment in the state's history," retorted the governor. "I want the evidence made public here and now."

Both the governor and the attorney general were pacing back and forth, shouting angrily at each other. Margiotti shouted that if he followed the governor's procedure the case would be "destroyed."

"Do you call this justice?" screamed the governor.

"If you have confidence in me then trust me," replied Margiotti. "If you have no confidence in me, then fire me."

The latter part of the attorney general's suggestion was followed late this afternoon when Ted Prendergast, Earle's secretary, knocked on Margiotti's door in the state capitol, handed him an envelope and bowed out. The curt little note announced Margiotti's removal because he had "refused to substantiate" his serious charges.

Dean Herbert Goodrich of the University of Pennsylvania law school, long a legal adviser for Earle, was appointed as the new attorney general. All of Margiotti's assistants were fired during the afternoon.

In his charges last night Margiotti related that Lawrence and McCloskey received the $20,000 for passing the legislation the brewers wanted in 1935.

Bribery Charge Made.

Of the alleged bribe, according to Margiotti, $10,000 was paid through Ralph M. Bashore, secretary of the Democratic state committee and secretary of labor and industry in the Earle administration. Later, it was charged, the remaining $10,000 was paid to Lawrence.

The cash was handed over, Margiotti asserted, by one Meade Mulvihill, Pittsburgh attorney who represents local brewing interests.

MAYOR KELLY CONFERS WITH PUMP PRIMERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago spent today visiting the heads of various agencies which will distribute several billion dollars under the administration's pump priming program.

The mayor said he outlined the needs of Chicago in regard to subways, surface line transportation, water filtration, relief, airports and slum clearance. He talked in turn to Jesse Jones, head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation; Harold L. Ickes, head of the Public Works administration; Harry Hopkins, chief of the Works Progress administration, and Nathan Straus, director of the United States Housing authority.

From Ickes, Mayor Kelly sought a $13,000,000 grant for a Chicago subway, the total cost of which is estimated at $30,000,000. He estimated the city's water filtration needs at $9,000,000. He did not state the amounts desired in regard to other projects. He will continue his conferences with government spending agencies tomorrow.

HORNER URGES PARTY PARLEY WAIT TILL FALL

Springfield, Ill., April 28 [Thursday].—[Special.]—Gov. Horner early today sent telegrams to all Democratic county chairmen of Illinois urging postponement of the party's state convention, which had been scheduled to be held here tomorrow.

The governor explained that the official canvass of votes cast in the April 12 primary has not been completed and that the voting strength depends upon the number of votes cast in each district.

Since the law requires that the convention be held tomorrow, it is expected that there will be a skeleton meeting and an adjournment until fall. The Republicans have agreed on a similar course.

The governor, who returned yesterday, has been discussing plans for the postponement with his leaders at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

IT'S NOT STENCH BOMB, BUT CITY'S EVIDENCE IN SUIT

The county building's stench bomb mystery of last Friday was solved yesterday when Judge William V. Brothers filed a final order dismissing the $25,000 suit of William Sankiewicz, 1857 Armitage avenue, against the city. Sankiewicz was injured in a sewer blast on Dec. 15, 1933, which tore up Armitage avenue for a mile. He charged the blast was caused by sewer gas, which he said had accumulated because of the city's negligence.

"Did you smell anything afterward?" he was asked by attorneys for the city. "Not a thing," said Sankiewicz. Several of his neighbors were brought in and said they hadn't smelled anything either.

At this point a city chemist cautiously opened a large container. A penetrating and distressing reek filled the courtroom. The spectators fled.

"That," the jurors were told, "is hydrogen disulphide—principal component of sewer gas."

HOUSE LEADERS FLEE ATTACK ON SPENDING SPREE

Mystery Letter Assailed as Propaganda.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Administration leaders fled the floor of the house today as Republicans renewed their assaults upon the now famous anonymous letter to President Roosevelt which was read by Majority Leader Sam Reyburn [D., Tex.] last Monday.

Letter Called a "Plant."

"We have a good right to believe that the letter, which asserted that business was preparing a propaganda drive against the President's pump priming program, was a plant," Taber declared. "It was devised by those who are in favor of the tremendous spending program of the President and designed to frighten those honestly against the program from writing tc congress."

There was no answei to this challenge from the Democratic side. Then Representative Earl C. Michener [R., Mich.] added further embarrassment for sponsors of the five billion dollar spending program.

Lays Blame at White House.

"The White House, through this purported missive, would inform us where the opposition to the spending program comes from," said Michener. "The house should be equally interested in knowing where the support of the program originates."

Michener displayed a pamphlet which he said was being distributed by thousands along the waterfront and in the public parks of New York City. The pamphlet was issued by the New York state committee of the communist party.

"America demands jobs now," the pamphlet read. "President Roosevelt's three billion dollar job program means that the WPA workers will remain on the job. WPA workers, fight for your jobs! Write the President telling him you are behind him in this fight. Write your congressmen and senators!"

Urged to Join Party.

Taber said that the Works Progress administration of Harry Hopkins was apparently joining hands with the communist party in enjoining workers to flood congress with letters in behalf of the spending program.

"Most of the letters we are receiving are for the bill and most of them are in envelopes of the same size and type and addressed with the same typewriter and mailed in blocks," he told the house. "Phrases and paragraphs of different letters are identical. On some of them there is added a postscript indicating that it has been copied from an original letter."

Ickes Before Committee.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, head of the Public Works administration, again was before the house appropriations committee today in support of the one billion 450 million dollar spending program outlined by the President for loans and grants on public works projects.

Ickes furnished the committee with a list of projects, totaling in cost a billion dollars, which he said, were ready for authorization immediately if congress approves the pump priming program.

Taking these figures, Taber made a break-down by states of the amount per capita to be spent by the PWA under the spending program. For the five states in the Chicagoland area, Taber said the per capita expenditures would be as follows:

Illinois, $14; Indiana, $6.20; Iowa, $3.10; Michigan, $7; Wisconsin, $10.

POLICE ARREST TWO, AND SEIZE OBSCENE FILMS AND CARTOONS

The Rev. Philip Yarrow, head of the Illinois Vigilance association, and detectives from the office of Police Commissioner Allman, in two raids yesterday, seized motion pictures and cartoons described as obscene. At a photography studio at 4862 Sheridan road the owner, Warren J. Scott, was arrested on a charge of displaying indecent pictures. He was released on $100 bond. John Pearson, alias John Stanley, was arrested in his room in the Union hotel, 667 Madison street, where obscene cartoon booklets were found. The warants for the raids were issued by Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court. Scott and Pearson will be arraigned in the South State street court today.

8TH OF COOGAN'S 4 MILLIONS ARE FOUND INTACT

Los Angeles, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Slightly more than one-eighth of the $4,000,000 Jackie Coogan says he earned remains. This was disclosed today in the inventory of the estate filed by John E. Biby, receiver appointed by a court after Jackie filed suit for an accounting against his mother and his stepfather, the Arthur L. Bernsteins.

The book value of Jackie Coogan Productions, Inc., formed years ago to handle and invest the money earned by "the Kid," is $535,923.70, the inventory revealed. The statement involved a bewildering number of complex transactions, including mortgages, notes receivable, accounts and loans receivable, and trust deeds receivable. Among those who owe the organization are Jacki- himself, to the amount of $171.96, and his stepfather, who owes $48,850.

Biby said there was no evidence of illegal or irregular transactions.

Ford and Roosevelt Exchange Gossip About Family Affairs

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Henry Ford, outstanding industrial opponent of the Roosevelt administration and its economic policies, was the guest of President Roosevelt in the White House for two hours this afternoon.

The gray haired auto manufacturer sat down to luncheon with the man he worked to defeat in 1932 and 1936. After luncheon, conversation was continued in the oval study on the second floor of the executive mansion.

At no time were they alone. Throughout the visit the conversation was shared by Hall Roosevelt, brother-in-law of the President; Edsel Ford, son of the auto magnate; W. J. Cameron, public relations counsel of the Ford Motor company, and Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board.

Discussion Kept Secret.

Although the conference, called presumably to discuss the nation's economic problems, was timed with the opening of the 5 billion dollar pump priming drive and a pledge of coöperation from sixteen industrial and financial leaders, the White House issued no statement on the meeting.

Ford had only one word to say as he hastened past forty newspapermen to his car at the conclusion of his visit. Asked if he had a pleasant meeting, he said something which sounded like sure.

An unofficial account of the meeting came from Hall Roosevelt, who arranged the meeting.

Discuss Family Affairs.

"Very little economics was discussed at today's meeting," he said. "As a matter of fact, the President and Mr. Ford talked mainly about family affairs, and to me the whole thing seemed pretty much like a Wayside Inn gathering."

The statement of the President's brother-in-law that what had been promised as a weighty economic conference had turned out to be a discussion of family affairs, came as no surprise to observers. It was recalled that at the first of his conferences with industrial leacers and financiers Mr. Roosevelt was reported to have entertained the group by a recital of the plight of Tennessee and Kentucky hillbillies.

The only good, it was said, that the President can hope to get from the Ford meeting is that it might be interpreted as supporting claim of a desire to enlist business coöperation in his new, huge spending program.

The fact that Ford said nothing will offset any such claim, it was believed.

First Visit Since 1929.

It was Ford's first visit to the White House since November, 1929, when he called on President Hoover. On that visit he announced plans for a wage increase for his employés when leaving the executive office.

The Fords drove to the Union station, where they took a train for New York. The auto manufacturer and Cameron are scheduled to address a meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' association.

After Ford left, President Roosevelt conferred with his legal advisers, headed by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, on the possibilities of anti-trust legislation at this session of congress. They also considered a message to congress by the President to strengthen the anti-trust laws. In the conference besides Cummings, were Robert H. Jackson, solicitor general and Thurman Arnold, assistant to Cummings.

ORTON DIVORCE HEARING TURNS UP NEW MR. Y

He's Named, but Mystery Women Are Shielded.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Mrs. Marie M. Orton, who is 61 years old, volunteered from a witness stand yesterday to clear up much of the mystery surrounding the alphabetical loves, Misses S. and R., she attributes to her husband, Philo A. Orton, who is 64.

However, she found herself without a chance to tell who they were, and she was forced to tell about a Mr. Y., a new alphabetical subject injected into the elderly Ortons' alleged love life. Before the apparently bored Judge Philip J. Finnegan, who ordered counsel to proceed with a full hearing of the charges and counter charges the Ortons have made against each other, Mrs. Orton, with chuckles, admitted on cross-examination that she had kissed Mr. Y.

Lawyer Clears Up Mystery.

Never, however, had she kissed him outside the presence of his now estranged wife, Suzette, she said. At about this time her attorney, Rudolph F. Bostelman, interruped cross-examination to declare:

"Let's end all this mystery. Let's call him Mr. Horner. He will be a witness here."

Outside of court Mrs. Orton said he was R. Bert Horner, who is with the First National bank. "There's nothing to it," she said. "Why, he's only a kid of 40."

In the morning court session Mrs. Orton, a matronly woman with gray bobbed hair, dressed in a print of periwinkle blue, told how on several occasions prior to their separation Oct. 13, 1933, she had seen her husband with other women.

Mr. X., Miss R., and Miss S.

In her original suit for separate maintenance, filed last December, she charged desertion, but Orton in a cross-bill asking divorce charged infidelity with a Mr. X., who returned with her from Florida and was a boarder in their home.

Mrs. Orton retorted by denying this and charging him with intimacies with Miss R. and Miss S. Orton lives at the Stevens hotel and is president of the Orton Crane and Shovel company. Mrs. Orton lives at 5204 Greenwood avenue. They were married in 1898 and have three grown sons.

Asked to tell the court the occasions when she had seen her husband with other women, Mrs. Orton settled herself and began comfortably:

"I saw him on Michigan avenue—do you want me to say with whom, judge?"

"Just answer your lawyer," said the court.

"Well, he was with another woman. They were walking down the boulevard, and their attitude left no doubt in my mind——"

The court ruled after an objection that this was a conclusion and it was stricken from the record.

Dancing with Another Woman.

In 1931 or 1932 she saw him dancing with a woman in the Illinois Athletic club, dressed in evening clothes, and found on reaching home that what she had thought was his only suit of evening clothes was in his closet, she testified.

She told of another occasion—when she went to visit him in a hospital where he was ill and found another woman standing by his bed.

For 10 or 15 years before 1931 he stayed out nights three times a week regularly, Mondays, Wednesday, and Saturdays, until midnight or up until 4 o'clock in the morning, said his wife. But from 1931 until the night he packed his clothes and moved out, she said, he stayed out all those nights and Thursdays, too.

On cross-examination Mrs. Orton was less serious in her manner, while her husband, a slender man with handsome waving silver hair, stared coldly ahead, readjusting his eyeglasses and working his jaws nervously. Questions put to Mrs. Orton and her replies included:

Q.—On a trip to California in 1925 you met a man we will call Mr. Y., who later came to your home? A.—[Smilingly] Why, yes, I did.

Q.—Did you sleep in Mr. Y.'s home any of those nights you stayed away? A.—Yes, after he was married. [Her answer, except for "Yes" was stricken. Later it was brought out he was married after she met him.]

Mrs. Orton, who will resume the witness stand at 11 o'clock today, testified that she considered fair alimony would be one-third of her husband's $950 a month income.

The alarm whistle, signifying that a prisoner had escaped, sounded over Stateville prison at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Four minutes later 160 guards carrying rifles, revolvers, and clubs, rushed out of the main gate and hopped into automobiles. Motors roared and sirens screamed as they sped away after the fugitive.

All this was a realistic portrayal of what happens at a big penitentiary when there is a jail break. But the excitement yesterday was only a rehersal of a new highway blockade system worked out by Warden Joseph F. Ragen against the possibility that some one of the 4,500 convicts in Stateville might really get out.

Assistant Warden the Culprit.

The villain of yesterday's plot was Assistant Warden T. P. McCue. He played the part of the escaper, and was given a 20 minute start before the posse was formed and the action started. McCue was captured an hour and a half after he fled from the prison farm.

The afternoon's demonstration was explained by the warden as follows:

"In the past we've had no definite plan of action for our own guards when a break occurred. The men went out in their cars and milled around on the highways without knowing exactly where to go or what to do. Under the blockade system we've assigned them to strategic posts, crossroads and railroad crossings within 20 miles of Joliet.

Spotted at 83 Key Points.

"Once at their positions an effective blockade of all highways is established. We've gone over the township maps and spotted the men at 83 key points. If the escaping convict is within the blockade after it is formed, he will be captured."

Because it was only a rehersal yesterday the state and local police authorities were not notified as they would be in case of a real break. Only the prison's own guards were involved. And none of them carried ammunition in their weapons.

McCue left the prison at 3:30 and drove to a spot a mile and a half from the Stateville walls where he had cached a small sedan.

Doubles Back and Forth.

"I started south on highway 66," said McCue after his return to the prison. "I drove for about five miles but spotted two guards up ahead stopping all cars. I doubled back toward town and cut across to highway No. 6 going southwest.

"I'd gone only a short distance there until I saw another squad blocking this route. Then I headed due west on highway 69 but was again blocked. Each time I turned back before the guards recognized me.

"I decided that side of town was well stopped and came back, driving through Joliet and out on the east side of town on highway No. 4-A.

"Finally I cut across toward Plainfield, heading due west. I came round a bend in the road and found Guards Arthur Puetz and Lawrence King waiting for me."

Militant Stand Is Vital, Publishers Told.

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—How civil liberties in this country have been preserved because there is a free press and a warning of persisting attacks on the freedom of speech and press were expounded here today.

Granville Clark.

Speakers were two attorneys, Granville Clark of New York and Giles J. Patterson of Jacksonville, Fla. They appeared before the American Newspaper Publishers' association meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria.

Clark, a member of the law firm of Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine, said that concrete abuses of official power are becoming too common to be longer tolerable in a country where true civil liberty is supposed to prevail.

"Many such abuses are beyond the reach of the courts," he said, "and must be rebuked by the force of public opinion alone. A flagrant instance was the cancelation virtually overnight of the air mail contracts in 1934.

Cites Black Committee Acts.

"When we observe with dismay the spectacle of a Mayor Hague trampling on the constitution and 'getting away' with it for a time, or of a Black committee callous to elementary civil rights, we can put against these discouragements such acts as the recent veto by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of the un-American McNaboe bill [to prohibit communists from holding public office] and the recent decision of the Supreme court that indicated the right to distribute pamphlets without censorship or license, both important contributions to civil liberty."

The two most definite and vital things that the press can do now for civil liberty, Clark said, are: First, to stand up for freedom of discussion and criticism not only in the press itself but through all other mediums of expression; and, second, to resist abuse of official power from whatever source or direction that abuse may come.

Warns of New Attacks.

"It will not do to suppose that efforts to stifle or cripple criticism of government by the press have ceased in this country," he continued. "One the contrary, it is certain that they will recur, if not by direct frontal attack, at least by indirection. All such efforts must be recognized, must be exposed and must be defeated as and when they are made. This is, I take it, the first and great commandment if any freedom of expression is to endure.

"In the long run, the freedom of the press cannot rely upon the decrees of court, but must depend on the support of public opinion; and consequently the press must earn and justify that support by keeping itself independent, clean and responsible and by measuring up to the high function that it exercises in our modern society

"The question of protecting American civil liberties has never, since the adoption of the constitution, been of more crucial importance than at the present moment."

He suggested that the press also must watch the radio and screen for any evidences of restrictions on freedom of expression, although agreeing that some degree of regulation was necessary.

Recalls Court Packing Fight.

The defeat of the Supreme court reorganization plan was "due to the almost unanimous opposition of the bar made vocal through the columns of a free press," said Patterson.

"The strength of the influence of bar and press when united in a cause never was better demonstrated than in their success in defeating the proposal to bring about a change in the decisions of our Supreme court through a change in its personnel," he declared.

"There can be no cause again that should enlist the united support of these two professions more wholeheartedly than the institution of a crusade in behalf of justice against the forces that tend to diminish the respect that the American people have for the judgments of their courts.

"The power of the courts to disregard statutes that infringe upon individual rights, including freedom of the press itself, constitutes one of the great bulwarks of the American system against the tyranny of the majority and alone is sufficient to arouse and sustain our interest."

Nashville Publisher Speaks.

Earlier in the day James G. Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville [Tenn.] Banner and president of the American Newspaper Publisher's association, in his annual address at the organization's convention urged newspaper men to clean out the termites who are lowering professional standards.

"The public is fed up on weak kneed, namby-pamby editorial policies, sloppy editing, bunk, and pornographic filth," he said.

7 KILLED, 10 INJURED AS GAS EXPLODES IN PENNSYLVANIA MINE

Pottsville, Pa., April 27.—(AP)—Seven men died today and ten were burned seriously in the nation's second major mine disaster in less than a week.

An explosion shook the St. Clair Coal company's anthracite workings only a few days after nearly half a hundred died in a blast in a bituminous mine at Grundy, Va.

The explosion, attributed to gas, occurred in a slope four miles from this eastern Pennsylvania hard coal center an hour after 600 men had begun the day's work.

Nineteen were working on the level, 500 feet or more underground, where the blast let go. Two were uninjured.

Seventeen children, ranging from a baby less than a week old to those in their 'teens, were left fatherless and four wives became widows. One of the dead was the father of thirteen children.

It was four hours before the first victim was brought down the single gauge railroad to the main shaft where rescuers entered the mine a mile away from the crowd of anxious relatives and friends.

Harvey Harrison, assistant superintendent, said the mine fire boss had inspected the scene and had pronounced it safe for the men to enter—a regular routine job.

SCHOOLS' HEAD MARRIES NURSE IN MINNESOTA

Dr. William H. Johnson, Chicago's superintendent of schools, and Miss Ellen Ronan were married yesterday in Rochester, Minn., where the bride for the last year has been a nurse at the Mayo clinic.

After the ceremony the couple drove to Chicago, reaching Dr. Johnson's home at 1228 Farwell avenue late yesterday afternoon. A few hours later he left for Bethany, W. Va., where he will make three speeches at Bethany college. He will return tomorrow, he said. Mrs. Johnson remained at home.

The bride, who is 30 years old, was born on a farm near Lewiston, Minn., where her parents still live. She is a graduate of the Kahler hospital school of nursing in Rochester and was for two years at the Temple university hospital in Philadelphia. Dr. Johnson's first wife died last November.

1 Killed, 7 Injured by Mine Blast in Newfoundland

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, April 27.—One man was killed and seven injured by a gas explosion today in mine No. 6 on Bell island in Conception bay. The injured were brought to a hospital here. The man killed was Samuel Chaytor who was 30 years old and lived in South Shore, Conception bay.

SEN. VANDENBERG ACTS TO CUT SIZE OF BATTLESHIPS

Terms Navy Expansion Bill 'Billion Dollar Bluff.'

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Assailing the administration's pending naval expansion bill as "a billion dollar bluff," Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] today offered an amendment to limit the size of the three proposed additional battleships to 35,000 tons each instead of 45,000 tons.

The bill already passed by the house fixed the limit at 35,000 tons, but the navy requested authority to build 45,000 ton superbattleships that would cost 100 million dollars each.

Senator Vandenberg said that none of the signatories of the 1936 London naval treaty—the United States, Great Britain, and France—had authoritative information that Japan or any other nonsignatory power was building battleships in excess of 35,000 tons.

Flays Action Based on Rumors.

Great Britain and the United States, he declared, invoked the escalator clause of the London treaty merely on reports that Japan was exceeding the 35,000 ton limit.

Vandenberg's amendment would prohibit the laying down of battleships in excess of 35,000 tons before Dec. 31, 1940, unless it should be determined by consultations that some other nation was exceeding the limit.

"Construction of 45,000 ton ships without further consultations would be a violation of the London naval treaty and the United States therefore would seem to accept responsibility for starting competitions in superbattleships," Senator Vandenberg declared.

Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.] denounced the $1,156,546,000 naval expansion program on the ground the administration had not demonstrated its necessity for national defense.

Reviews Mounting Debt.

"While I have no idea that this program contemplates the United States entering upon a program of conquest, I do have a very real apprehension that it means we are preparing to enter into the game of world politics in a big way," said Senator Capper.

"Our people already are staggering under the burden of excessive taxation. They are shouldering an enormous national debt. We also are faced with the so-called relief and recovery pump priming program that will add from four to five billion dollars to the national debt.

"This supernavy will be built with borrowed money. The pump will be primed with borrowed money. Uncle Sam is the greatest borrowing spendthrift of all time."

Bill for Pacific Air Bases.

In the house today Representative Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, introduced a bill approved by President Roosevelt to authorize an appropriation of $28,751,000 for increased naval facilities, including three air bases in the Pacific.

The proposal, officially transmitted to the house by Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson, marked the first step by the United States to depart from the status quo of Pacific defenses established by the Washington disarmament treaty of 1922.

The program calls for an expenditure of $6,250,000 to provide air bases at Midway island, halfway between Hawaii and the Philippines; at Kaneohe bay, Hawaii, and at Kodiak, in the Aleutian islands.

Other Expansions Included.

It calls for an additional expenditure of $2,041,000 to provide increased air base facilities at Honolulu, Hawaii, and Coco Solo, in the Canal Zone, and $10,647,000 for a huge graving dock, which would accommodate battleships, at Pearl Harbor.

The stationary dock would be in addition to the proposed $20,000,000 floating dry dock for Pearl Harbor, for which funds have been made available. The floating dry dock has been held in abeyance because bids were regarded as excessive.

$25,000 FARM BLAZE.

West Point, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—Fire starting in a sheep barn today destroyed the sheep and cattle barns on the Jess Andrews farm here, as well as two implement houses, a silo, 600 bushels of corn, and 150 tons of hay and thirty-two Shropshire sheep, many prize winners. The loss was estimated at $25,000. A bucket brigade saved the house.

U. of C. Graduate Cops Job on Police Force in Jersey

Ridgewood, N. J., April 27.—[Special.]—Mayor Frank D. Livermore, who announced several months ago that he was looking for an applicant with a college education to fill a vacancy on the local police force, said today he has selected Richard Offringa, 31 years old, a graduate of the University of Chicago and former school teacher, radio announcer, and bank guard. Offringa has been confirmed by the city council and will start his duties May 15.

KING OF ALBANIA TAKES BRIDE TO PALACE ON CLIFF

Begin Their Honeymoon on Coast of Adriatic.

TIRANA, Albania, April 27.—(AP)—King Ahmed Zog and the Hungarian countess who became Queen Geraldine today established their court tonight at a honeymoon palace on Durazzo bay.

The sovereign, who is 42 years old, and his half-American bride of 22 years were wildly acclaimed as they left Tirana to drive the 25 miles to Durazzo after the short civil ceremony.

They were followed by a string of automobiles bearing officials and guests who accompanied the royal couple to a palace high up on a cliff overlooking the Adriatic sea.

There Queen Geraldine, the former Countess Geraldine Apponyi, found awaiting her a private suite of three rooms, with a balcony hanging almost over the bay.

To Build Catholic Chapel.

As a wedding gift King Zog, a Mohammedan, promised to build his Catholic bride a Catholic chapel in the palace. He also granted her request that she be permitted to choose her ladies in waiting from among Hungarian friends.

Mountain-top criers spread the news that Albania had its first queen. They shouted the message across valleys to peasants who rely almost wholly on their voices for word from the outside world.

The wedding ceremony, in the half oriental, half European atmosphere of the Tirana palace annex, was performed by Heqmet Delvina, vice president of parliament. Two hundred guests were present.

Wears Gown of White Satin.

The bride was resplendent in bridal gown of white satin, embroidered with diamante, pearls, and silver threads in flower design. Her embroidered court train was long. A large veil of white tulle trailed from a high diadem of orange blossoms. The king wore a saber and colorful decorations with his uniform as commander in chief of the army.

The king's bodyguard of 1,000 men surrounded the palace grounds, but admitted the crowd inside the walls. Thousands of picturesquely dressed mountaineers milled about, trying to glimpse the king and his queen. Fifty thousand school children, dressed in native costumes, cheered.

The bride rode to the palace behind four prancing stallions sent from Hungary by the Apponyi family. She was followed by her mother, Mme. Gladys Stewart Girault, and her grandmother, Mme. Virginia Harding D'Ekna, both formerly of New York. One of her closest friends, Countess Muriel White Scherr-Thoss, American born, was in the group surrounding the bride. Countess Scherr-Thoss is a daughter of the late Henry White, American diplomat.

Civil Code Is Read.

Delvina read a paragraph from the civil code for the ceremony. It said:

"The man and wife accept reciprocal obligations to live together in loyalty and mutual assistance. The man is head of the family, the wife follows the civil position of the man, taking his name and is obliged to follow the head of the family wherever he sees fit to dwell. The man is obliged to protect the wife, to procure her a living according to his means. The wife is obliged to contribute to his nourishment if he is without means."

Albania Gets a Queen

(Story in adjoining column.)

Map indicates economic resources of Albania, European kingdom which got its first queen yesterday when King Zog married Countess Geraldine Apponyi of Hungary. The marriage was performed at Tirana, the capital. Later the king and queen motored to their honeymoon palace at Durrazo.

Dark portion shows Albania, which is under the political and economic control of Italy. Albanians, though comprising one of the youngest nations in Europe, are descendants of one of the oldest races of the continent. They were governed by Turkey until 1912.

KING ZOG RULES ALBANIANS, BUT ITALY RULES KING

Rome Dominates Young European Nation.

Albanians, who yesterday celebrated the marriage of their ruler, King Zog, to a Hungarian countess of American blood, are one of the oldest races but youngest nations in Europe.

Unlike most of their Balkan neighbors, they are not of Slavic stock. Their blood strains are those of the wild hillmen who lived in Epirus, an ancient Greek state which included the southern part of modern Albania.

The mountain life is responsible for the fact that Albania is the only European nation in which social organization is along the tribal lines of primitive peoples. Murder and theft are lesser crimes than breach of a pledge or violation of the duties of hospitality.

Conquered by Romans.

Conquered by the Romans, the Albanians in the middle ages were ruled by Bulgars, Serbs, and Italian and Norman princes at different times.

The Turks, who entered Europe in 1341, subdued the Albanian mountaineers in 1423. Twenty years later the country entered its first period of national independence, under its national hero, George Castriota, known to history as Scanderbeg [in Turkish, Iskander Bey, a complimentary comparison with Alexander].

Albania remained a Turkish possession until 1912, when it was given the German prince, William of Wied, as king by the European powers.

Reign Lasts Six Months.

King William landed at Durazzo, but was unable to reach the interior because of the opposition of his subjects, his reign lasting six months. Scheduled for partition by the secret treaty of London in 1915, the country was the scene of diplomatic intrigues between Italy and Jugo-Slavia until 1921, when a national government was formed.

Zog, chief of one of the principal tribes, was driven from the country once, returned with Jugo-Slav help in 1924, and set up a short lived republic. It ended when he proclaimed himself king in 1928. He then allied himself with Italy, which controls the country politically and economically.

As a result of the long Turkish occupation two-thirds of the Albanians are Moslems. The tribes south of the River Skumba, called Tosks, are the more advanced, although virtually all of the nation's million citizens live an agricultural life in their mountain valleys. The northern tribes, or Ghegs, include a substantial Roman Catholic population. There are also some Orthodox Catholics among the Tosks, but the race is tolerant in religious matters, and feuds over faith have not complicated its blood quarrels.

ENGLAND SIGNS NAVAL TREATY WITH POLAND

LONDON, April 27.—(AP)—Great Britain and Poland today signed a naval agreement along the lines of the 1936 naval treaty of London, providing limitations for individual warships and for the exchange of naval building information.

The government promised to publish the agreement shortly as a white paper. This is the third bilateral naval pact concluded by Great Britain. The others are with Germany and soviet Russia. Informed sources said similar agreements would be concluded shortly by Britain with the Scandinavian powers and probably with Turkey.

[The United States, Britain, and France are signatories of the 1936 London treaty. The first two recently announced their intention to abandon the 35,000 ton limit on battleships.]

Spanish Rebels' Surprise Push Wins New Ground Near Teruel

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], April 27.—(AP)—Gen. José Varela's Spanish rebel troops suddenly smashed through loyalist defenses north of Teruel today and seized Escorihuela, in the Pobo mountains.

The village, which is twenty miles north of Teruel in eastern Spain, was the government's key stronghold in the Pobo range. It dominated the Alfambra and Seco river valleys. The advance relieved pressure on the left flank of the rebel forces which were poised for an offensive on the Teruel-Sagunto highway to the Mediterranean.

Warships Shell Coast.

Since March the Pobo front had been inactive. Varela, acting on reports that the government defense chief, Gen. José Miaja, had withdrawn troops and artillery from the sector to defend Castellon de la Plana, sent veteran rebel forces to the Alfambra valley.

Rebel warships and bombing planes hammered steadily at the government's east coast defense lines, but Gen. Miguel Aranda's Italian and Galician ground forces were able to make little headway in their drive toward Castellon.

Planes Bomb Highways.

The rebel cruiser Canarias concentrated the fire of its 8 inch guns on loyalist fortifications on the south bank of the Segarra river, which is just south of Alcala, while lighter vessels of the rebel fleet went into action offshore between the Segarra and the town of Oropesa.

Squadrons of bombing planes, ignoring heavy rain, harassed loyalist supply and troop columns moving up both coastal and inland highways, as well as along the railway, from Castellon. Twenty rebel planes had made four raids yesterday on Castellon, killing about fifty persons and destroying seventy houses.

ASK PRESIDENT TO LET LOYALISTS HAVE U. S. ARMS

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Eighteen prominent scientists today asked President Roosevelt to lift the embargo on sale of munitions to Spain.

"We believe that giving the Spanish republic an opportunity to defend itself more effectively against the spread of Fascism would be to act in defense of world democracy and American freedom," they said in a letter.

The scientists, all members of the National Academy of Science, which ended its annual meeting today, also said lifting the embargo would be in the interest of science.

It has been the experience of science, they said, that governments under dictators "create a climate in which the search for knowledge cannot proceed and in which scientists cannot function."

Queen Elizabeth's Mother Seriously Ill in London

LONDON, April 27.—(AP)—The countess of Strathmore, mother of Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain, was seriously ill today at her London home. The countess and the earl of Strathmore arrived in London Monday to attend the wedding of the queen's niece. Twice yesterday Elizabeth visited her mother, who is 76 years old. Bulletins were being telephoned to Windsor Castle.

FOOD-DRINK

Analysis by an independent laboratory has proven beyond a doubt the balanced, healthful value of MALVAZ—the high quality of the basic grains—the large percentage of food, energy and mineral elements.

Taken under doctors' orders, MALVAZ has often proven helpful to those who were run-down, neurasthenic or convalescent. Your own doctor can tell you about its value as a vitalizing, stimulating, nourishing "builder-upper."

If a dealer is genuinely interested in your health more than in his profit, he will sell you only the genuine MALVAZ. Don't experiment with cheap imitations by those attempting to capitalize on the reputation of MALVAZ. Why should you buy something "just as good" as MALVAZ when you can get the real MALVAZ itself? Only a product of proven value is imitated.

MALVAZ is a vitalizing food-drink of unquestionable value. It is guaranteed to please you in every way, after drinking several bottles, or all that you have paid will be refunded. Let us send you a carton today.

MOSCOW PURGE OF PASTORS AND LAITY REPORTED

Hundreds Shot as Spies, Says Newspaper.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 27. — Josef Stalin's executioners have wiped out three Baptist congregations in Leningrad after mass arrests of pastors and parishioners accused of espionage, the Moscow newspaper Trud revealed today.

The newspaper article said that several hundred archbishops, bishops, and priests of the Russian Orthodox church, as well as Protestant clergymen of different faiths, had been shot without trial during the last two weeks. Those of the Orthodox clergy were accused of receiving pay from German and Japanese spies, the article said.

The Trud emphasized that the arrests included not only the spiritual leaders but also, in many cases, entire congregations, whose fate was described with the word "liquidated."

Act to Guard Stalin.

Meanwhile evidence of Stalin's fear of the opposition was seen in extraordinary precautions taken to safeguard the dictator and other soviet leaders during the May day celebration Sunday in Red square.

A small group of foreigners invited to attend the celebration in Moscow will be obliged to show their credentials to seven different GPU [secret police] agencies before they will be permitted to enter the special stand near Lenin's mausoleum.

An illegal short wave radio which has begun to broadcast evening programs is making repeated threats that the League of Liberators, the opposition party, "will introduce themselves to Stalin on May 1, and terror will be fought with terror until the present government is overthrown."

New Anti-Religion Drive.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, April 28 [Thursday].—The soviet Russian union is launching a new anti-religion campaign and rounding up Mohammedan as well as Lama high priests and adherents, it was reported today in Tokio.

The Moscow Kremlin's order to suppress Lamaism, which is a branch of Buddhism, in Outer Mongolia was watched with concern in Tokio, particularly as the pretext for rounding up Lamaists was espionage and betraying the soviet Russians to Japan.

Purges were said to be continuing. The GPU [secret police] arrested 43 officers and 145 soldiers who were charged with treason and executed recently, it was said.

JAPS DROP PLAN TO TRY YANK IN TROOP BOMBINGS

YOKOHAMA, Japan, April 27.—(AP)—The local prosecutor tonight announced he had decided not to prosecute Elwyn Gibbon, American aviator, following a conference with the chief justice of the Supreme court.

No announcement was made of the time of Gibbon's release. He has been held in jail here for five days on suspicion of having participated in Chinese bombing attacks on Japanese troops. He was taken off the liner Empress of Asia while en route from China to the United States.

The decision not to prosecute him was based on the fact that Gibbon was a citizen of a neutral country and had ceased fighting for China. It was considered difficult to apply article 81 of the criminal code, which carries a possible death penalty.

Japanese Menace Chinese Supply Routes

White arrow indicates where Japanese drive captured Anpei and now perils motor routes over which the Chinese receive war supplies from soviet Russia. It is believed the Japanese wish to set up in Ninghsia, Tsinghai, and western Kansu provinces a buffer area between China and soviet influenced Outer Mongolia. The Japanese already have extended their influence halfway across Inner Mongolia, which comprises part of the lightly shaded area and part of the black area.

JAP PUSH PERILS CHINA'S CARAVAN ROUTE TO RUSSIA

Troops Drive Toward Mongolian Border.

SHANGHAI, April 28.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Japanese forces have launched a drive into Mohammedan northwest China, where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has called upon Mongolians to rally to his standard.

The new drive, in the direction of the Outer Mongolian spheres of soviet Russian influence, apparently is designed to sever the ancient silk caravan routes which have been used to bring Russian war supplies to Chiang's armies.

Japanese reported the capture of Anpei, in Suiyuan province, 50 miles northwest of the previous limit of their drive.

Chinese Fight with Propaganda.

Military force previously had carried Japanese influence half way across Inner Mongolia. The new battleground was within 100 miles of Outer Mongolia.

It was believed the Japanese might attempt by political intrigue or otherwise to set up in Ninghsia, Tsinghai, and western Kansu provinces a buffer area through which Russian war supplies to China would flow with difficulty.

China has launched a propaganda campaign to counteract Japanese activity, sending Chinese Moslems to the area to preach war against the Japanese.

Japs Release British Vessel.

On the central China battlefront, where Japan is striving to conquer the Lunghai railway territory and gain control of the China seaboard from Hangchow bay to Manchukuo, Japanese widened the hole they previously had made in defenses north of the Lunghai.

Shanghai itself found new British-Japanese tension relieved today with the release of the British steamer Tungwo, which had been halted by Japanese on complaint that a Chinese passenger had fired a pistol at a Japanese soldier.

The steamer was allowed to proceed up the Whangpoo river to Shanghai and British authorities announced the start of a formal investigation of the incident. It had been understood a British gunboat was ready to effect release of the 1,337-ton vessel by force, if necessary.

RAIL PASSENGER AGENT DIES.

Taylorville, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—C. N. Bandy, for many years an employe of the Wabash railroad and for the last eight months local passenger agent, died today at the railroad's hospital in Decatur.

MOSCOW'S ATTEMPTS TO SETTLE ROW WITH JAPAN DEADLOCKED

MOSCOW, April 27.—(AP)—Soviet Russia tonight announced a deadlock in efforts to compose troubled relations with Japan in the far east. An official communique declared the soviets had appealed to Tokio to meet them half way in settlement of nearly a dozen disputes which have caused Russo-Japanese friction to increase in recent months.

The announcement disclosed that soviet Ambassador Mikhail Slavutsky visited Foreign Minister Koki Hirota in Tokio April 4, proposing five concessions from Japan in return for a similar number from Russia. Hirota countered by further Japanese demands and a refusal of part of the soviet program, the communique said.

Hirota demanded the immediate signing of a new fisheries agreement. On most points he referred Russia to Manchukuo, Japan's puppet state carved out of Manchuria. Although holding Japan responsible for Manchukuo's actions and debts, the soviet communique said Moscow had appealed to Manchukuo for satisfaction without success.

Greece and Turkey Sign 10 Year Friendship Pact

ANGLO-FRENCH EUROPEAN TALKS TO OPEN TODAY

Tighter Military Alliance Will Be Discussed.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 27.—Conversations which may have an important bearing on the future of Europe will begin at 10 Downing street tomorrow between the premiers and foreign ministers of Great Britain and France.

Premier Edouard Daladier and Georges Bonnet, finance minister of France, accompanied by members of their stafs, reached London by air from Paris this evening. They were met by Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, on behalf of the British government, and by Charles Corbin, the French ambassador.

Tonight the French ministers dined in the embassy, preparing for the discussions, which will cover the whole field of Anglo-French relations.

Cabinet Approves Approach.

The British cabinet today gave final approval to the general line along which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Halifax propose to steer the talks from the British side.

The agenda covers Anglo-French relations with Italy, the situation in central Europe, Spain, and the far east, and a project for tightening the alliance of France and Great Britain

The ministers will discuss proposals for a fuller exchange of military information, pooling army and navy air forces, resources in case of war, and coöperating in speeding up Anglo-French rearmament.

Paris Parley Expected.

The defense discussions, which diplomats considered the outstanding feature of the talks, are expected to evolve later into a Paris meeting of French and British experts for a more specific exchange of ideas and information.

Central European problems arising from the German conquest of Austria and the threat to Czechoslovakia will be reviewed. In diplomatic quarters tonight it was said the Prague government prepared a memorandum for Great Britain and France outlining how far the Czechs are prepared to go in concessions to the German minority to obtain a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

EX-HARDWARE DEALER DIES.

Jacksonville, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—William Colton of Woodson, ten miles south of Jacksonville, died today. He was born in Doncaster, England, March 29, 1859, but had resided in Woodson more than fifty years. He formerly was a hardware merchant there.

Czech Fugitive Appointed Province Chief by Hitler

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—Germany's systematic construction of an organization that will be ready to take over the government of Czechoslovakian districts inhabited by Sudeten Germans was seen today when Hans Krebs was granted the title of Nazi gauleiter [district governor or leader]. He was assigned to no particular gau [province].

Krebs, a member of the Czech parliament from 1925 to 1933, fled to Germany after resigning from parliament upon his release from four months in jail on charges of subversive activities. He became a Nazi official, being sent to the German reichstag in the March, 1936, election.

Before they assumed power in Germany and before they conquered Austria the Nazis had drawn up a complete skeleton government, ready to start business at a moment's notice. The title granted to Krebs is indication that the same work is being done in the Sudeten German territory. [The term "Sudeten Germans" is derived from the Sudetic mountains.]

Debate Meaning of Move.

Whether this measure was planned to intimidate Prague and to frighten President Dr. Edouard Benes' government into making concessions to the Germans, or whether the Nazis are ready to fight to enforce their rule in Sudeten German territories, was being discussed assiduously in Berlin.

A number of diplomats feared that Reichsfuehrer Hitler, in his determination to win his goal without war, will order his followers in Czechoslovakia to step more warily if he becomes convinced the Czechs, who resisted the Hapsburg rule for 300 years, would fight for the independence of their country.

Frenchmen returning to Berlin asserted that the Germans are encouraging and supporting a tremendous campaign in France against French intervention in case Germany invades Czechoslovakia, a program which furthers the intimidation campaign being waged against Prague.

Predicts Demand for Union.

BERLIN, April 27.—(AP)—A prediction that Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Germans soon would demand inevitable union with Germany was made tonight by a German official of cabinet rank.

"The only question is whether it can be done without shedding blood," he said.

"If shots should be fired in connection with the Czechoslovakian problem, the first will not come from Germany but from Poland," he added without elaborating his point.

[There are some 80,000 Poles in eastern Czechoslovakia in the region near the Polish frontier.]

"We firmly believe the Sudeten question will be settled between Germany and the Czechs without application of warlike measures, because Sudeten Germans simply will demand to join their natural fatherland."

POLICE 'CLEAN UP' ROME TO MAKE IT SAFE FOR HITLER

ROME, April 27. — (AP). — Rome swarmed with police today as wartime vigilance was exercised for Reichsfuehrer Hitler's visit from May 3 to May 10.

Detectives and secret agents from all over Italy searched the city and watched for the slightest suspicion of activity which might be directed against the visiting dictator. Railroad police, who ride all trains in Italy, were active in questioning passengers and recording their identifying documents. All persons entering the capital were watched, and many were asked to account for themselves as they stepped from trains.

Hotel and apartment house janitors and rental agents were warned to make precise daily reports to police on arrivals and departures. Regular troops patroled the route of the Hitler procession on daily inspections of sewers and other hidden spaces. A squad of German police aided in rounding up Austrian refugees, especially Jews. Some have been taken into precautionary custody, and others were ordered to keep out of Rome during the visit.

Seven German Political Parties in Poland Unite

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

KATOWICE, Poland, April 27.—A conference of representatives of seven German political groups in Poland decided today to form a single political organization to which all German-speaking Polish citizens should belong. An appeal was issued to the 1,000,0000 Germans in Poland to unite under the slogan: "One people, one community, one leadership."

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

HOUSING UNIT'S TENANTS DRAWN FROM TOP HALF

U. S. in Competition with Private Property.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Two-thirds of the tenants in Parklawn, Milwaukee housing project built by the Public Works administration, were recruited from privately owned dwellings for which they paid $30 or more a month. Half of Milwaukee's tenant families, according to the best available data, probably pay less than $30 a month.

How these facts can be reconciled with the repeated assertions that PWA and other government subsidized housing does not compete with "legitimate" owners of private property is a question unanswered as yet by the government housing cult.

Fundamentally, objections to government competition with private property rest on the fact that governments get their revenue from private property. Destructive competition kills the goose that lays the golden eggs. In the real estate field this is not of immediate consequence to the federal government, which does not tax real estate.

Bulk from Real Estate.

But state and local governments in the United States get about 70 per cent of their revenue from real estate taxes. Every time PWA took a tenant out of a privately owned dwelling in Milwaukee and placed him in a subsidized, virtually tax exempt apartment at Parklawn, it left just one less person to share, through his rent payments, the cost of running Milwaukee local government.

PWA promises that it would not compete with "legitimate" private property have been prolific.

Administrator Harold L. Ickes, testifying before a senate committee on the Wagner housing bill, said:

"It is essential that legitimate private enterprises should not have to meet competition resulting from permitting families who can afford to pay economic rents to reside in such government financed projects."

Mr. Ickes apparently considers that legitimate private enterprise and decent, safe, and sanitary dwellings in Milwaukee stop somewhere above the line represented by rents of $66 a month, for two of his PWA tenants at Parklawn had been paying that much rent. Only seventeen tenants there had been paying less than $20 a month, out of 454 on whom the United States housing authority, which now manages the project, furnished former rental data.

Previous Rent Payments.

The previous rent payments, divided according to the number of rooms now occupied at Parklawn, were as follows:

No. of rooms	Over $65	$50 to $60	$40 to $50	$30 to $40	$20 to $30	$15 to $20	Under $15
Five	2	13	27	27	6	1	..
Four	..	10	64	114	77	5	1
Three	..	..	10	36	51	6	4
Totals	2	23	101	177	134	12	5

From 1930 census figures and federal bureau of labor statistics it is computed that half the families in Milwaukee pay less than $29.40 a month rent.

From the record of previous rents paid, it is fairly obvious that Parklawn got few of its tenants from the lower third of the population, whom the professional housers claim they are helping.

Parklawn tenants are now subsidized by virtual exemption from local taxes and by 45 per cent of the cost of building the program. Eventually this capital cost subsidy will be increased to 100 per cent, in line with the policy already announced by USHA Administrator Nathan Straus.

Tenants in the project are limited to familes earning not more than five times their annual rent. Fifteen families had incomes slightly in excess of this limit on Jan. 1. Whether the lowering of rents will result in installation of a group of tenants lower on the income scale may be regarded as doubtful, at least until such time as present tenants get notice to move, because the USHA legal staf has already drawn up a very flexible "interpretation" of the five times income rule laid down by law.

[This is the fifth of a series by Mr. Ator. Another will appear in an early issue.]

Milwaukee Houses

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Although public housing authorities contend they admit as tenants only those families unable to obtain decent homes without financial assistance, these two buildings are typical of Milwaukee homes available at the rents formerly paid by tenants now living in Parklawn, PWA housing project.

MOTOR FUMES CAUSE DEATH.

BURGLAR HEARS DIRECTORS BRAG OF STRONG SAFE

Then He Gets Busy and Cracks It Open.

In the main, the directors' meeting bored Theodore Carty. He listened as they discussed the affairs of the Coöperative Trading company of Waukegan. It was dull stuff, most of it, and only at the close did they stir his interest.

"I am glad to report," said one of the men, "that we will have no more robberies here. The entire plant is now burglar proof. The safes are yegg proof. Let 'em come."

"So," Says Theodore Quietly.

"Hmmm," thought Theodore. It should be explained that he had not walked in through the door with the directors, but had arrived by way of the skylight and was about to tackle the safe when the board members strolled in for their meeting. He waited politely—lying on his face in the next room—until they had adjourned and gone, then he cracked the principal safe and took out $210.

Carty told this yesterday to Police Chief William Blaylock of Waukegan as a highlight of nearly a year of safe cracking in north shore suburbs. The Coöperative Trading company job was one of three committed there and one of fourteen in Waukegan, Highland Park, Glencoe and Niles Center.

Graduate of Two Prisons.

Carty, who is 32 years old, is a veteran safe robber and has served 14 years in prison, at Pontiac and in San Quentin, on the west coast. He was captured by Waukegan police early Monday after he had knocked open the safe of the Rynksel Coal company office at 1200 Melrose avenue in the suburb.

He maintained at first that the Rynksel robbery was his first since being released from San Quentin, but he later confessed the others and named accomplices who are being sought. His loot totaled several thousand dollars. Carty, who lives at 500 Florence avenue, Evanston, told Chief Blaylock that his wife is in an Evanston hospital, having given birth to a son last week.

Among the robberies Carty confessed was that of the Mutual Coal company of Highland Park on Thanksgiving day, 1937. Surprised at their work by Muriel McEwen of 448 Nadia terrace, who was passing through the coal yard, Carty and his pal held her prisoner several hours. They also seized Joseph Spano, who happened along later, and beat him into unconsciousness.

Carty said they got only $4.85 from the safe and that his accomplice got drunk on liquor found in the office. After leaving the coal company, they went to Glencoe and opened another safe which sprayed tear gas at them. This made the accomplice ill and Carty broke with him.

TWO YOUTHS HELD FOR BURGLARY.

Two youths, each 17 years old, were held to the grand jury on charges of burglary by Judge Stephen Adamowski of the Boys' court yesterday. They are Lincoln Anderson of Jamestown, N. D., and Ford Kephart of Madera, Pa.

Egyptian King Victorious in Formation of Cabinet

CAIRO, Egypt, April 27.—(AP)—A new Egyptian cabinet was formed today by Mohammed Mahmoud Pasha, whose resignation as premier was accepted last night by King Farouk, with whom he had differed over composition of the government. The new cabinet represented a victory for the king's insistence on a coalition. Of its thirteen members only six belong to the premier's Liberal party. Mahmoud had planned to form a liberal party cabinet, which he held to be justified by the victory of his following in recent elections.

HOW TO AVOID BALDNESS

Watch these danger zones

DEFINITE warning signals always precede baldness. When your scalp itches or is laden with dandruff, and when your hair falls abnormally in the "danger zones" (forehead and crown) you are being warned that baldness is approaching. You must act at once if you wish to avoid baldness.

Do what a quarter-million other men have done—consult Thomas. Thomas treatment is proved by almost two decades of success—is reliable, dignified, and inexpensive. It ends dandruff, stops abnormal hair loss, and promotes hair growth on the thin and bald spots. Call today for a complete scalp examination. No charge is made for the examination nor for consultation and if you do not come within the scope of Thomas treatment you will be promptly told.

SYNDICATE CASH TRACED TO HEAD OF TIMBER DEAL

$731,000 Put in Account of Promoter.

Disclosures were made yesterday that $731,000 paid by investors into a syndicate, from which was organized the Resources Corporation International of Chicago, was kept in the private bank account of Harper S. Hoover, its chairman, who had sole authority to spend it.

The disclosures were made by Ray Soldwell, auditor and assistant treasurer of the company, before Examiner Henry L. Fitts of the federal securities and exchange commission, who is conducting a hearing on the company's application to offer for sale 35,000 shares of its stock.

The corporation was organized in 1931 to sell timber cutting contracts on 2 million acres of Mexican lands in which Hoover and his syndicate had obtained an equity. A statement in the company's application to sell stock valued the land at 9 million dollars. This statement was challenged by the SEC, and the hearing was ordered, opening late last week in the Bankers building.

There's Gold in Mexico, Too.

In addition to the disclosures regarding disposition of money paid into the syndicate SEC Attorneys Smith W. Brookhart Jr. and James P. Goode brought out yesterday that officers of Resources International also are officers of a gold mining concern whose operations involve the same tracts in Mexico.

Previous hearings had brought out the history and strange financial structure of Resources International. Officials of the company testified that prior to 1931, when the company was formed, Hoover went to Mexico and made a down payment of $152,919 on a $359,154 equity in the 2 million acres of timber lands in Vera Cruz, Durango, Oaxaca, Jalisco, and Chiapas, all central and southern states.

Returning to the United States he organized a syndicate into which he and half a dozen associates stated they had put more than 2 million dollars. Investors then put in $731,000, after which Hoover and his associates canceled their supposed subscriptions and used the investors' funds for operations of the company, SEC investigators found.

Gets Seven Million in Stock.

In 1931, then, the corporation was formed and Hoover presented a statement for the $359,154 equity he said he owned in the timber lands. For this he was given 735,000 shares of Resources International stock, which the company now values at $7,350,000. SEC investigators testified that by canceling his subscriptions to the syndicate Hoover got this stock without cost to himself.

Further questioning Tuesday indicated that the company made unwaranted distributions from capital stock during 1937. In yesterday's hearing Brookhart centered his questions on the disposition of the $731,000 paid into the syndicate. Soldwell spent most of the afternoon on the stand.

All in His Own Account.

Q. [by SEC attorney]—Mr. Soldwell, can you explain to us what became of the money that Mr. Hoover took in from the subscribers, other than the amounts—$152,919—that have been paid on the property? A.—The money was deposited in his own account. There was no syndicate account. There was no syndicate bank. The money was deposited in Mr. Hoover's personal account because it belonged to Mr. Hoover. He disbursed the money as he saw fit for office expenses and other business expenses and as he wished to use some of the money for some of his personal purposes he did. It was considered his money. There was no separation of the money.

Q.—Is it your interpretation that all this $731,000 contributed by subscribers was Mr. Hoover's own money? A.—Yes.

Treated It as His Own.

Q.—And he treated it as his own money? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—But all the cash received by the syndicate was contributed by investors, was it not? A.—I believe that is true, but the syndicate was Mr. Hoover.

Under further questioning Soldwell revealed new details of the corporation's organization. Resources International, he said, assumed a debt of $1,650,000 owed on the land. This was in addition to the $359,154 equity acquired from Hoover by giving him stock.

Q.—[By Examiner Fitts]—How did you know that much was due on the purchase price of the land? A.—That was Mr. Hoover's statement.

He Calls for Paper.

At this point Examiner Fitts requested a clerk to provide sheets of paper for him and for Soldwell.

"Now," he said, "as these parcels of property are read off we will each put down the amounts and add them up." When this was done each announced he had reached a total of $1,296,059. From this they subtracted the $152,919 paid by Hoover at the time he purchased his equity. The result was $1,143,140, the amount due to complete the purchase.

"How do you reconcile this figure with such a debt as $1,650,000?" asked Fitts.

"It's reconciled in the application statement, Judge Fitts," said Soldwell.

"Not quite; not quite, I'm afraid," replied the examiner dryly.

At the morning session Brookhart and Goode brought up the matter of the gold mining company, references to which they had found in Hoover's income tax returns for 1935 and 1936. With Hoover on the stand, Brookhart asked:

"Just what is this United Mining company you are interested in?"

"The company is a Mexican corporation organized for developing mining property—mining gold and silver. It is not connected with Resources International, though I am a stock holder."

Q.—Who is in control of it? A.—I don't know. The mining company operates on the Mexican timber lands through a lease from Resources International, which has a 20 per cent interest in all ore mined.

Q.—Has Resources International ever received any money from United Mining company? A.—No.

He's Off on Holdings.

Q.—How many shares of stock do you own in this mining company. A.—I am not sure, but I think about 40,000 of its million shares. [It was later shown through the testimony of Soldwell that the promoter owned 78,225 shares.]

Q.—Are you an officer of the company? A.—Yes. I am a director and treasurer.

Q.—What position does Mr. Joerns hold? [Arnold S. Joerns, vice president of Resources International.] A.—I remember now that Mr. Joerns is president [of the mining company].

Doesn't Know About Banks.

Q.—Does the United Mining company keep a bank account in the United States? A.—I don't know.

Q.—You are the treasurer, aren't you? A.—Yes.

Q.—There have been no sales by you of the mining company stock? A.—No, no sales by me.

Q.—Mr. Hoover, for 1935 you reported the sale of 6,800 shares of United Mining company stock, $1 par, and 140 shares of the company's $10 par stock. In 1936 you reported the sale of 23,530 shares, in connection with your tax returns, did you not? A.—If that shows—if the tax return shows it, it must be true.

At the noon recess Hoover dashed down several flights of stairs to avoid newspaper photographers. He did not reappear at the afternoon session.

Attorneys for the company on Tuesday asked that the hearings be transferred to Washington. This was denied by Examiner Fitts. He agreed, however, to write officials at Washington asking their advice. The company then asked that the hearings be suspended until a reply was received, but this was denied.

Insists Value Is 100 Million.

At the close of yesterday's hearing Attorney Leonard L. Cowan, general counsel for the corporation, issued a statement in which he stated he will produce expert witnesses to show that the Mexican timber lands are worth in excess of 100 million dollars.

"The sole purpose of the hearing," he said, "is to determine the adequacy and accuracy of the registration statement [for permission to sell stock] voluntarily filed . . . by the company. No material inaccuracy nor material inadequacy as yet has been established."

STATE'S ATTORNEY'S AID ILL; COLLEAGUES OFFER TO GIVE BLOOD

Acting Chief Justice Robert J. Dunne of the Criminal court, forty policemen, and several colleagues stood by last night ready to give their blood to save Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan. Mr. Regan, who is 42 years old, was given two blood transfusions yesterday by a brother and a sister after he became critically ill in St. Anne's hospital following an operation three weeks ago. Assistant State's Attorneys William Lynch and Leslie Curtis were accepted as donors and stood by for a call. Regan was placed in an oxygen tent late in the afternoon.

KALAMAZOO GIRL NAMED QUEEN OF BLOSSOM FETE

Dorothy McBride to Visit Chicago May 9.

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 27.—[Special.]—Dorothy McBride [Miss Kalamazoo], a blonde with gray blue eyes, tonight was chosen queen of the southwestern Michigan Blossom festival, which will be conducted May 7 to 15.

The queen, selected from 24 contestants who appeared in the Liberty theater for the finals, formerly was a resident of Hopkins, Mich., and was graduated from the Hopkins High school in 1936. She is 19 years old and is a beauty operator in Kalamazoo.

Awarded second place by the judges was Arline Thomson of Grand Rapids, who is 19 years old. Miss Battle Creek, Le Ila Bradley, was placed third. She is 18 years old.

Friday the queen and her maids of honor will leave for Richmond, Va., where they will assist the governor of Virginia in dedicating the new United States highway 33, which runs from Richmond to St. Joseph, Mich. They will return here May 7.

The queen and maids will pass May 9 and 10 in Chicago. Returning, the queen will preside over the festival, which will include a Mardi Gras celebration May 13 and a floral parade Saturday, May 14. On the last day an air circus and motorcycle show will be given.

Rare White Owl Killed in Forest County, Wis.

Rhinelander, Wis., April 27.—[Special.]—A white owl, a native of the arctic regions and rarely seen in this part of the country, was shot in Forest county by Raymond Carpenter of Crandon. The bird is exceptionally large, having a wing spread of 4½ feet.

8 YOUTHS HELD ON CHARGES OF 2 GIRLS, 15 AND 16

Cabin Parties in 2 States Cover Year's Time.

Rockford, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Eight young men from 17 to 21 years of age were held in the county jail today as a result of complaints made by parents of two girls, 15 and 16 years old.

Assistant State's Attorney Max A. Weston said the youths were involved in cottage parties in Love's park and at Lake Delavan, Wis., as well as on numerous automobile trips to side roads near the city.

The older girl, an expectant mother, tried to leap down a three floor areaway in the courthouse today, but was restrained.

One in Trouble Before.

One of the youths, Harold Ahlgren, 19 years old, 803 11th street, was one of eighteen arrested recently as a result of revelations by another girl, also 15 years old.

The others in jail are: Ray Nelson, 19 years old, 1139 Revell avenue; Donald Davis, 17, of 1220 East State street; Clyde Fulling, 20, of 1815 Sixteenth street; Robert Holmes, 17, of 1007 Twentieth avenue; Earl Hanson, 17, of 511 Washington street; Donald Carlson, 17, of 1732 Dave court, and Gust Anderson, 21, of 1116 Sixth avenue.

Two other youths have been questioned, but no decision had been made this afternoon as to whether they will be arrested.

Escapades Cover a Year.

Weston said the parties covered approximately a year's time. At one Lake Delavan party, he said, at least six girls were present, but the parents of the other four have made no complaints.

The girls and their escorts, Weston explained, visited a Lake Delavan cottage in the winter months and burned much of the furniture to keep warm.

Some of the youths in custody can be held on Mann act charges, but they probably will be arraigned in County court on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl, Weston indicated. Their arraignment is planned for Thursday.

U. OF ILL. BUDGET FOR NEXT FISCAL YEAR 8 MILLIONS

Urbana, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—The board of trustees of the University of Illinois today adopted a budget of $8,011,580 for 1938-'39. The institution's fiscal year starts July 1. The amount is $66,256 larger than for the year just closing. A slightly larger income in fees from a larger student body is predicted.

Of the total budget, the sum of $6,873,659 is allocated to departments at Urbana and Champaign including the agricultural experiment station and state-wide extension service, and $1,137,921 to the colleges of medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy, located in Chicago.

While state appropriations to the university are made only once in every two years, a detailed budget covering the allocations by the board of trustees of these appropriations as well as other income to the various departments and activities is made annually. It provides for the salaries of the faculty, administrative staf, and other employés, and for the expense budgets of all departments, and for physical plant operation and maintenance.

FOUR TRAPPED STEALING FOOD IN RELIEF STORE

Ten Others Charged with Cheating CRA.

Four men charged with stealing food they were supposed to distribute to relief clients will appear tomorrow before Judge Eugene Holland in the South State street court. Ten other persons will be arraigned on charges of cheating the Chicago Relief administration.

The four alleged food thieves were arrested last Friday on the order of Raymond Hilliard, head of the CRA fraud department. They were employed in a store at 1020 Wrightwood avenue, one of twenty-three stores from which surplus commodities are distributed to those in need.

Give Short Measure to Clients.

Those accused are Franklin Jacobson, 4236 Kenmore avenue; Frank Jackowski, 846 Milwaukee avenue, and Paul Dzur, 4308 Kimball avenue, all WPA employés, and Emil Kost, 1103 Orleans street, a CRA watchman in the store.

"Each relief client has an order for a definite amount of foodstuffs from the stores," Hilliard said. "We discovered that these men were giving short measures on the orders and keeping the surplus they accumulated for themselves and their friends."

Million Taken by Cheaters.

Hilliard and Judge Holland both have declared that no mercy will be shown to those convicted of defrauding the CRA and thus prevening some one in need from receiving relief. Prior to the opening of CRA prosecutions a year ago, Hilliard disclosed, 102 people were sent to jail for defrauding the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which preceded the CRA in doling out relief.

The IERC has computed that 7,954 relief cheaters got a total of $1,005,991 from the spring of 1932 until last Feb. 28. A fourth of this money has been repaid and the IERC has judgments, notes, or court orders for repayment of the balance. Many of those who owe money are unable to pay because of lack of employment.

PICK JURY TO TRY SUSPECT HELD IN POLICE SCANDAL

CRIMINAL COURT.

Ormsby Warren Jr., robbery, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Rudolph Desort.

William McKinley, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph A. Sabath.

Selection of a jury was begun yesterday before Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Criminal court to try Kenneth Peters, 30 years old, on a charge of assault with intent to rob. His release with a companion on March 1 by two Town Hall detectives precipitated a police scandal.

Peters and a man known only as Tip, who is a fugitive, were accused of attempting to rob James J. Burke, 936 Wilson avenue, chauffeur for William Nichols, a handbook operator. They were arrested by two uniformed policemen.

The policemen turned them over to Detectives Earl Flannery and Frank McKune, who released them without booking. The detectives, who have been suspended, are to be tried on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice, and allowing prisoners to escape.

CONVICT FORMER NILES CLERK OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Joseph J. Kozak was convicted yesterday by Judge Robert Jerome Dunne of the Criminal court on a charge of embezzling from the village funds of Niles while he was clerk there for five years until May 1.

Kozak pleaded guilty after Assistant State's Attorney David Leeds presented the evidence to a jury. A $20 a week florist's helper, with a family to support, Kozak was accused of stealing $1,300. The state proved a case for $650.

Kozak made a motion for probation which will be heard May 10. Prosecutor Leeds objected when Judge Dunne fixed the amount of Kozak's embezzlement at $199. In an embezzlement case involving more than $200 the defendant is not eligible for probation.

Two men were seized by the Shakespeare avenue police yesterday after a prowler had fired several shots at Policeman John Tonning from the rear of a building at 2452 North Kedzie avenue. Those held are John Itof, a former bootlegger, and Peter Moylan, an ex-convict, who shot and wounded three policemen on April 25, 1925.

Both denied they had fired the shots at Tonning. Itof, who is 43 years old and lives at 836 West Madison street, was seized in an alley a block from the scene. Moylan, who is 42 years old, was captured in the basement of the home of Sergt. George Schupolsky, at 3273 Altgeld street, also near the shooting.

Shortly before Policeman Tonning came upon the prowler, a burglar had entered the nearby home of Alvin Carmen, 2445 North Sawyer avenue, and escaped with $200. Itof and Moylan denied the burglary.

After Moylan's affray with the police in 1925, he was sent to Joliet penitentiary for robbery. He was released in 1933.

LYNN'S IN, THEN OUT AGAIN; COPS HUNT A HOUDINI

For the second time in three days police squads last night searched the north side for Lynn Hulett, because for the second time in three days he had escaped from a police guard in the Criminal Courts building.

Lynn Hulett.

Yesterday, while being conducted through a basement corridor with sixteen other manacled prisoners under guard of three policemen, Hulett simply slipped out of his handcuffs and vanished.

Hulett was arrested Sunday on complaint of his ex-wife, Miss Vera Kramer, 22 years old, 644 Surf street, who divorced him last Feb. 20 for cruelty. Miss Kramer charged that on April 11 he kidnaped her at gun point, held her prisoner for three days, raped her, and robbed her of $7.

While waiting in a squad room Monday on the second floor of the Criminal Court building for questioning at the sex offense bureau, Hulett walked out. That night he was arrested in a north side hotel.

Ex-Convict Seized; Sought for Colorado Bank Holdup

Federal agents announced yesterday the arrest in a south side apartment of Herman Banning, an ex-convict, who has been sought for a $39,000 bank robbery last July in Pueblo, Colo. Banning's alleged partner, Howard Graves, was seized here last week by agents under D. M. Ladd, in charge of the federal bureau of investigation here. Both men are held in bonds of $25,000 each pending a hearing May 1 for extradition to Colorado.

ADMITS STABBING MOTHER AS SHE LAY SENSELESS

Boy Slayer Changes Story Told at Trial.

Under sentence of fourteen years in prison for the murder of his mother, Theodore Danielsen Jr. calmly admitted yesterday that he stabbed her to death as she lay unconscious on the floor of their home.

At his trial, Danielsen, who is 16 years old, contended the murder was done on an irresistible impulse. He testified that he grabbed the knife without thinking while his mother was shaking him. Mrs. Danielsen was killed on March 3 in the family home at 5316 Lieb avenue after she scolded her son for being a truant.

Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court, who found Danielsen guilty of murder and sentenced him Tuesday, concluded from the physical evidence of the assault on Mrs. Danielsen that malice was more than implied when the boy committed the final act of violence—stabbing.

Makes Admission to Psychiatrist.

Danielsen made his admission yesterday in the county jail to Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, head of the Criminal court behavior clinic, who testified during the trial that he believed Mrs. Danielsen was stabbed while lying on the floor, near death from strangulation and a severe beating.

"Did you pay any attention to my testimony?" Dr. Hoffman asked.

"Yes, I did," replied the boy. "Your deductions were right. That was the true story. She did grab me and we struggled. When she fell down I grabbed the knife and used it."

Hesitated to Change Story.

"Why did you hesitate on cross-examination?"

"I had told one story to the police and part of it wasn't true, but I felt that if I changed it no one would believe me."

The boy was transferred to the tier where young criminals are kept. He will not leave for the penitentiary until expiration of the thirty day stay of mittimus granted Tuesday. On his regular visiting day, Saturday, Theodore said he expected to see his father. The elder Danielsen stood by the boy and testified for him at the trial.

2 MISSING U. OF I. CO-EDS LOCATED IN NEW YORK CITY

Mildred Cooper, 4851 North Damen avenue, and Vera Bernice Kohn of St. Louis, Mo., who disappeared Thursday from the University of Illinois, are in New York, their parents learned yesterday.

In a letter to her brother Louis, Miss Kohn said that she and Miss Cooper had left Champaign by train for Columbus, and had hitch-hiked to New York. She said they intended remaining in New York to find work and were with relatives. No return address was given.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Cooper, both of whom are ill, also received a letter from their daughter, which bore no return address. Her message was brief, and did not say what was the purpose of their visit.

FINGERPRINTS ON AUTO A CLEW IN FURRIER SLAYING

The car in which Rudolph Sabatino drove to his death was found last night in front of 5024 Kenmore avenue. And several distinct finger prints—two of them so small they are believed to be a woman's—were discovered. The prints, on the windshield and side of the car, raised hope that the mystery of the Michigan avenue furrier's murder may be solved and his assassin or assassins captured.

The car was bloodstained, but Capt. Herbert Burns of the Jefferson Park police said Sabatino had been pushed out before he was killed. Questioning of a man whose name and telephone number were found in a pocket of the car was ordered. Sabatino's car was found six miles northeast of his home at 1140 North Monticello avenue and eight miles east of the intersection of Hiawatha and Spokane avenues, where he was found shot to death Tuesday morning.

Police Captain Finds Car.

The car was discovered by Supervising Captain John Ryan, who noted the license number as he was on his way to his home. Joseph Kaufman, 38 years old, 5125 Kenmore avenue, said the automobile had been standing there since Wednesday morning.

Earlier in the evening Mrs. Anna Cammarata, Sabatino's former sweetheart, was released from police custody after a lie detector test failed to shake her denials that she was the woman who telephoned him Monday afternoon, five and a half hours before he was shot to death.

Makes Two New Admissions.

Mrs. Cammarata, who lives at 2212 Campbell park, made two admissions during the test at the Northwestern university crime detection laboratory. One was that she had seen Sabatino in the interval between her marriage and his, and the other was that she had telephoned him several times before Monday. She had previously denied both acts. Her husband, Michael, from whom she is separated, is being sought for questioning.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

EAST OF THE SUN

By CALEB

DEEP DOWN under the equator, set in the glittering blue of the Java Sea, is the tiny island of Bali. The Dutch flag flies above its government buildings standing white in the sun, but the volcano of tall, rugged Bali Peak dominates the landscape and the lives of the unspoiled people who live there.

Bali comes from the Sanskrit word, "balin," meaning strong. The racial strain is fine and clean, the men and women remarkable specimens of physical strength and beauty. Wise Dutch officials thus far have succeeded in preventing an undue intrusion of modernity upon this ancient civilization with its roots deep in antiquity, its eyes toward the sun.

At Field's this week is an exhibit of island art, consisting of skillfully executed wood carvings from Bali and colorful batiks from Java. A whole room is filled with the products of this ancient Eastern culture, fascinating in its versatility and traditional skill.

The Balinese have no word in their language signifying "artist." Artistry is taken for granted, and is practiced by chosen families with steady diligence from generation to generation.

With uncanny skill they catch and transmit to their carvings from the island's finest woods the racial characteristics, the individual traits and peculiarities of their subjects. Some of the carvings are pure portraiture, others have a religious significance. The craftsmen spend much time picturing the gorgeously attired temple dancers and ritualistic costuming of every kind.

Second in importance only to the wood carving on the island and nearby Java is the art of making batik, or "wax painting." Using a wax preparation to resist dyes and thus form patterns, the women of the island produce the highly decorative costumes worn by its people. They weave the cloth on hand looms and then color it in traditional patterns significant of the locality in which they live.

Something of the charm and beauty of the far off island has been captured in the exhibit here of Balinese art. There is in it the faint aroma of temple incense; an echo of the jingling, bell-like music of the native dance; the infinite patience and age-old philosophy of a beautifully childish, yet strangely sophisticated race.

Flush Kidneys of Acid and Poisons

Gain in Health and Stop Getting Up Nights

When kidneys are clogged they become weak—the bladder is irritated—often passage is scanty and smarts and burns—sleep is restless and nightly visits to the bathroom are frequent.

The right, safe, harmless and inexpensive way to stop this trouble and restore healthy action to kidneys and bladder is to get from any druggist a 35-cent box of Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules and take as directed—you won't be disappointed.

But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine—right from Haarlem in Holland—a grand kidney stimulant and diuretic. Remember also that other symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble are backache, leg cramps, puffy eyes, moist palms and nervousness.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

Insist All They Want Is to Be "Let Alone."

"but we are convinced that the majority of farmers do not want the AAA program. We must tell those in authority in no uncertain terms that we do not want it."

The league president explained that the simple purpose of the organization is to oppose in every honorable way the unsatisfactory program of compulsory crop control which is being forced upon farmers.

"Most of us have spent our entire lives on the farm," he said. "We have an affection for our land and an interest in the operation of our lands that probably cannot be understood by politicians in Washington.

"Our farms will not be the same when, instead of planning their operation along sane lines we have jobholders coming from Washington to tell us what we can plant and what we cannot plant—perhaps under threat of prosecution and penalty.

Fight Is for Freedom.

"Above all we are fighting for freedom. We positively refuse to accept the view that we must sacrifice freedom to obtain prosperity. On the other hand, we believe that loss of freedom means poverty and ruin. Turning our farms over to compulsory methods of farming cannot be the sound method of getting prosperity."

Burg, who is ignoring the government's orders by planting corn on "forbidden acres" on his own farm, appealed for support.

"If you believe in freedom on the farm, and if you believe in the theory of plenty instead of the theory of scarcity, we invite you to join with us," he said. "We need the strength of numbers if we are to be heard in Washington.

"It is the solemn pledge of the officers and members of the league that we will remain nonpolitical, as we have been and as we now are. Our only interest and our only purpose is preservation of the right to operate our farms as we see fit."

Warns of Soviet Trend.

John E. Waters of Madison, Wis., a lecturer and foe of collectivism, warned the meeting against the danger of the federal farm program developing into one similar to the plan that Russian farmers now live under.

Waters, who was employed for five years by soviet Russia as an instructor in power farming, compared the Russian system with the AAA in this country.

"The Russian communists got control at first by making false promises, creating class hatred and by giving farmers free land and seeds," he said. "But after they got control they started the five year plan. Under that plan the farmers were thrown into a regimental peasant class. Those who refused to abide by rule of the Reds were shot down or sent into exile."

Fears Purges Near.

"Here in America you farmers have seen how the government is attempting to create class hatred; how labor and agriculture is being separated from industry," Waters added. "Large industry is being talked about as an enemy of the common people. Huge sums of money are being spent to carry on this propaganda. The whole set up today is to create a dictatorship over agriculture generally.

Waters predicted purges in America, such as they have in Russia. "Purges have been bloodless so far in this country, but the man who has ambitions to be a dictator can easily change his methods of attack and forms of punishment," he continued. "There is being snapped off a little liberty and a little freedom of American people every day. As more people are brought into government employment, the closer we are to dictatorship.

Dictatorship Already Forming.

"Already you farmers are being subjected to a form of policing, to fines and penalties if you do not do as you are told. You have spies, detectives, and sleuths watching you. Out of all of this you are establishing hatred among good neighbors on the farm."

Waters believes that if farmers knew what the AAA program is leading them into, they would be against it 100 per cent.

After the meeting, local farmers began laying plans to strengthen the league in this region. The following vice presidents were named to intensify the fight against the AAA control program in various parts of McDonough county: P. I. Taft, Prairie City; Andrew Yeats, Good Hope; Merle Keys, Sciota; James R. Barclay, Macomb; George Foley, Tennessee, and Perry Williams, Colmar.

PEACE STRIKING STUDENTS HOLD PARADE IN LOOP

Several hundred students from high schools and colleges in the Chicago area paraded through the loop yesterday as their part in the annual peace strike sponsored by the American Student union. They carried banners denouncing fascism, refusal of the United States to sell arms to loyalist Spain, and Japan's invasion of China. Most of the girl marchers wore lisle stockings, and several of the signs urged a boycott of Japanese goods.

About 7,000 students walked out of classes at eight campuses in and near Chicago. Some 1,000 students heard speakers praise peace and collective security at the University of Chicago. At Northwestern university about 800 gathered for peace day exercises.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 27.—[Special.]—Before going on to their destinations yesterday by other means rescued passengers told vivid stories of the sinking at sea of the Pan-American airliner on Monday. They were brought to Kingston by the steamer Cavina, which stood by when the twin motored flying boat was forced down and took the twelve passengers and four crew members off in lifeboats. The plane sank soon after, thirty miles from here. She was bound from Santiago, Cuba, to Kingston, but encountered motor trouble.

Father of Rumanian Fascist Chief Among 84 Sentenced

BUCHAREST, April 27.—(AP)—Juan Codreanu, father of the Iron Guard chief, Corneliu Codreanu, was among eighty-four persons sentenced to concentration camps today for alleged conspiracy to overthrow King Carol's government and set up a Fascist régime. The official gazette announced the decision of the cabinet to intern the eighty-four, who included a priest and several university professors. Corneliu Codreanu already was in prison, serving a six month sentence.

The specific charges against the prisoners remained a secret, but sources close to the ministry of justice said that the men were considered "among the elite of the conspirators" and that they would be held for a year in the monasteries of Tismana and Dragomiar and in the village of Mercurea.

RADICAL STAGE IS SET FOR MADISON RALLY TONIGHT

Gov. La Follette Guards Contents of Speech.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., April 27.—[Special.]—Gov. Phil La Follette's radical rally tomorrow night at which it generally is believed a third political party will be proposed if not formally organized, was being built up today with all the showmanship that the Progressives display in their political operations.

The meeting place was changed from the University of Wisconsin gymnasium which can accommodate 2,500 persons to the Stock pavilion which can accommodate 5,000. The inference was that advance indications were that the university gym would be too small.

Hides Text of Speech.

The governor remained away from his office and worked on his speech in his home. It was indicated consequences of a leak would be so grave that the speech, it was decided, would not be typed at the executive offices as is the usual custom. Advance copies of the speech for the press are to be withheld, it was said, until just before the meeting opens.

The governor's staf continued a high degree of secrecy about who would attend. A. A. Berle, brain truster of the federal administration will be here. Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York is not to be. John L. Lewis, head of the C.I.O. may not come. The governor's office buzzed with rumors but the staf would not confirm or deny anything.

Its Governor's Show.

The higherups in the Progressive party, William T. Evjue, and Adjt. Gen. Ralph M. Immell were silent. It is Phil La Follette's show that is to be held and none of his friends in Madison would take any chance today on spilling the beans by unauthorized publicity.

The consequence of the mystery which has surrounded the meeting is that everyone in Madison has made a guess about what will happen. The only thing they agree on is that it is to be a movement toward a third political party and that Phil La Follette is going to make a speech.

No one knows whether it will be just a sentimental appeal for a new division of political thought or whether Gov. La Follette is to propose a definite plan for a new party with his own Wisconsin Progressive party as a basis.

Keeps Everyone in Dark.

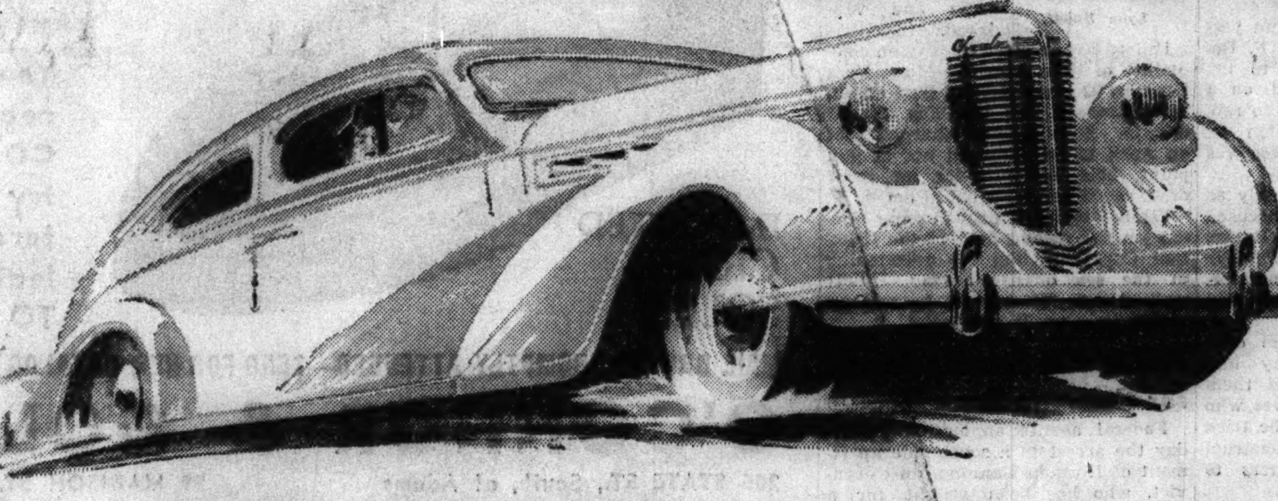
No one agrees whether the governor is going to announce his own candidacy for governor or for the United States senator or whether he is going to announce his retirement so that he will have his hands free to direct the party.

An opinion was advanced tonight that he would just make his speech and talk about a third party, but make no definite statement about his own plans. The governor has shown his skill at showmanship by building up attention to the rally for 10 days. Some said he may try to hold public curiosity further by withholding his personal announcement until he sees whether the third party proposal jells.

"Our decision has been to reached," Gov. LaFollette said in one of his recent radio speeches that served to build up attention to the coming rally. "It is the end of a long period of searching. True to our Progressive tradition it will be given openly and our reasons will be given publicity. This will be done on Thursday night at 7:30 p. m."

This will be the climax to the rally the LaFollettes have been pointing publicly to for ten days.

CHRYSLER ROYAL WINS CHICAGO!



LOCAL OWNERS ENTHUSE OVER BEAUTY, SIZE, POWER AND PRICE!

"MOST ECONOMICAL CAR I'VE EVER OWNED"—"MY ROYAL averages 18 miles to the gallon in city driving and uses hardly any oil. No need for repairs. Lots of room for six . . . wonderful roadability. A cab driver pulled up one day and said—'You've got the prettiest car on the street.' I get good service from Walter D. Hynes, Inc., 4932 Dempster Road."

BART C YOUNG, Niles Center, Ill.

"MY ROYAL DOESN'T TIRE ME OUT"—"I CAN DRIVE my Royal without fatigue, and that's not true of many heavier cars I've driven. It's a very smart car, too, with loads of roominess and comfort. Pickup and smoothness are wonderful and so are the safety features. We have three Chryslers and our dealer, Raburn Motor Sales, Inc., 6259 Broadway, gives them beautiful care."

MRS. SAMUEL B. LUTZ, Winnetka, Ill.

"MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR OF THE YEAR"—"I'VE DRIVEN six Chryslers and never had any serious trouble. The Royal is an ideal car for a woman. It's beautiful . . . It's so quiet you can't hear it . . . it's wonderfully easy to drive and park. I can take all my friends in comfort. I like the service of the Tremont Auto Sales, Inc., 6040 Cottage Grove Avenue."

BEAUTY OF FOX RIVER SCENERY AWAITS AUTOIST

Valley Trip Is Easy Day's Tour for Chicagoans.

BY HAL FOUST.

For a day's motor outing on byways of quiet pastoral beauty, THE TRIBUNE'S road car yesterday surveyed roads that follow the course of the Fox river from Oswego to its confluence with the Illinois river at Ottawa. The round trip from Chicago is 172 miles, an easy day's drive that allows time to tarry where the landscape has more than usual eye appeal.

From Chicago, Oswego is reached conveniently and expeditiously over U. S. 34. It is 44 miles from the loop. It is on the Fox river which a century ago attracted population by its water power possibilities. Then the future of the town at the mouth of the Chicago river was still unsuspected.

Pass Rich Farm Lands.

By staying on the south side of the river, a gravel road takes a motorist through a gently rolling countryside of rich farm lands. Wild fruit trees are abloom in the woods. Colts and black legged lambs frisk in pastures. Farm houses are large with venerable shade trees in their front yards.

THE TRIBUNE'S Fox river farm, of interest to farmers for its agricultural experimentations, is passed. Then the motorist comes to an aged house near the village of Willington. W. B. Phillips, who was in the front yard of this house when the Tribune road car passed, said that it was built in 1843 and that he has lived in it since 1874.

Several farms have gasoline pumps in their barn yards to serve their tractors and family cars. Three trailers were noticed in different farm yards. Pa and ma evidently are back from a winter in Florida helping the younger generation, which didn't get to go south.

Early Settlers Honored.

There's a monument to the permanence of this farming area in the village of Norway, population 86. It was erected by the state in 1934 to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the arrival of Norwegian settlers thereabouts.

At Ottawa, there are places to eat before starting the return up the Fox valley on the other side of the river. Or if you prefer to eat sitting on the grass under tall trees, watching the flow of the stream and listening to the call of mating song birds, there are a number of good picnic places. The farmers charge 25 or 50 cents for this holiday use of their property.

Going back toward Oswego, the road much of the time overlooks the woods on the river's bank. The water itself is occasionally within view. The gravel winds and dips into small canyons cut by creeks that flow into the Fox. There are no bill boards to mar the scenery.

Cross Rock Creek.

Near Plano the autoist crosses the Rock creek at the foot of Merrimac hill where a decisive Indian battle was fought before the coming of the white man. At the foot of the hill is the ruins of one of the grist mills that were numerous in civil war times.

The road transverses backwaters of Blackberry creek near Yorkville. In a pond formed by a dam the state is propagating game and pan fish. Also near Yorkville is a state game farm that raises 10,000 ringtail pheasants annually. There the motorists may want to stop and look at the penned birds. And also near Yorkville, reached by driving north in Ill. 47, is U. S. 34 for a quick return to Chicago.

If you wear clothes that won't be soiled easily, and are a good sport about holding your breath during an infrequent cloud of dust raised by a passing car, you'll enjoy the tour.

MOST OF CHICAGO INSURED DRIVERS TO GET DISCOUNT

The safe driver's reward of a 15 per cent annual discount in the premium on liability insurance will go to a majority of insured motorists in Chicago this year, according to a survey by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

The reduction amounts to $6.75 on a standard policy. William Leslie, general manager of the bureau, said if the national average holds good here, 88 out of every 100 insured motorists will benefit. Leslie said the reward is designed to promote safe driving, fewer accidents, a reduction in automobile deaths, and in the cost of insurance.

Couple Sue Judge Fardy Over Auto Crash Injuries

Judge James F. Fardy of the Superior court was named defendant in a suit for $25,000 damages filed in Circuit court yesterday on behalf of George and Hazel Lipkat, 15121 Loomis avenue, Harvey. The suit, filed by Attorney Arne Hummeland, states that the Lipkats were injured Sept. 4, 1937, when an automobile in which they were riding collided with Judge Fardy's car near Kentland, Ind.

8 MONTHS' JAIL TERM IMPOSED ON MRS. LOOMIS

Mrs. Grace C. Loomis of Lombard, who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated, was sentenced yesterday to eight months in the jail at Wheaton by County Judge Win G. Knoch of Du Page county. She is the first woman ever to go to jail for this offense in the county.

On another charge of similar nature, to which she pleaded not guilty, Mrs. Loomis was convicted, placed on probation and deprived of the privilege of driving. Then, weeping, she was led to the jail to start serving her term.

Mrs. Loomis was the foster mother of Roger Loomis, 5 years old, whose body was found in February, 1937, in a prairie on the outskirts of Lombard. Apparently he had been strangled to death. No clew was ever found to the identity of his slayer.

Mrs. Loomis was arrested last Feb. 23 after her automobile collided with another driven by policemen. While free on bond she was taken into custody again on April 16, when her car struck one driven by T. W. Muldoon of Lombard.

Harvard Senior Gets 14 Days as Drunken Driver

Cambridge, Mass., April 27.—(AP)—Morris G. Manker, 21 years old, of East Chicago, Ind., a Harvard senior involved in an automobile crash that resulted in the death of a Brockton girl, was sent to East Cambridge jail today for 14 days for operating a car while under the influence of liquor.

U. S. AUTO DEATHS CUT 18 PER CENT; 1,550 LIVES SAVED

The National Safety Council yesterday reported a reduction of 18 per cent in automobile deaths in the United States during the first quarter of the year compared with the first three months of 1937. This amounted to a saving of 1,550 lives the council stated. In addition, for the fifth consecutive month, the March fatalities were lower, the total of 2,180 being 22 per cent lower than March, 1937.

The deaths in the first quarter of the year throughout the country were 7,100. Last year in a similar period 8,650 were killed.

"From November through February," said the report, "the death reductions were made without any lessening in motor vehicle travel. In December and February there was virtually no change in travel from the same months of the year before, while in November and January travel increased six per cent."

Mrs. Annie Weir, 58 years old, 4873 North Kilpatrick avenue, died in the Ravenswood hospital last night of injuries suffered April 14 when she was struck by an automobile at Northwest highway and Harlem avenue. The car was driven by Mrs. Mary Wagner, 64 years old, of Spring Grove.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 275 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county. Of these 220 were killed in Chicago, where 5,398 were injured.

TWO AUTO DRIVERS GET JAIL SENTENCES; FOUR OTHERS FINED

Two motorists were sent to the county jail yesterday by Judge James M. Braude of the Safety court and four others were fined.

Those sentenced to jail were Neil Larson, 3313 South Oakley avenue, reckless driving, twenty days, and Kenneth Shelton, 755 West 68th street, reckless driving, five days. Claude Rickard, 1936 North Clark street, was sentenced to ten days in jail for drunken driving, but after his wife pleaded for him before the judge the penalty was changed to $100 fine.

Others fined, all for reckless driving, were Edward Pikul of East Chicago, Ind.; Joseph Liberda, 2440 Cortland street, and Wayne Wass, 5863 Glenmore street. Their fines were fixed at $10 each.

Richard Passmore, 1570 Oak avenue, Evanston, pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated, and was fined $100 by Municipal Judge James M. Corcoran of Evanston.

BARN FIRE DESTROYS CATTLE.

Allegan, Mich., April 27.—[Special.]—Fire in a large barn on the farm formerly owned by ex-Postmaster William Goodman and now occupied by Frank Sikorskas, killed twelve head of cattle and a horse and destroyed tools and implements valued at $8,000.

Lilac buds continued to open in the Chicago region yesterday with a few scattered bushes in the south and west suburbs almost in full flower. The blooms are coming out fully two weeks earlier than usual. Unless checked by cooler weather, the lilacs should be ready for distribution to hospitals early next week in the tenth annual "share your lilacs" campaign, officials of the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit Guild, predicted last night. The campaign is sponsored jointly each year by the guild and THE TRIBUNE.

Hawthornes, plum and crab trees burst into bloom in parks all over the city. August Koch, horticulturist for the park district, estimates that 35,000 tulips are blooming in Lincoln and Garfield parks.

AN ABSURDITY THAT'S A CRIME.

It is proposed that the public utility corporations be given funds by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. One and a half billion dollars has been earmarked for the encouragement of small business concerns and Mr. Jones of the RFC says that the utilities will be included in that bracket. They are getting to be small enough. They are said to be several billion dollars behind in the expansion which would have been normal in safer times. If that money had been flowing into equipment, materials, extension, and employment it would have been of great benefit to recovery.

It is conceded that investors are scared and will not put their money in public utilities. The utilities also are scared and will not make any extensions or risk expanding their business; therefore this great and formerly adventurous industry is withdrawn from enterprise. Consequently the government has decided it must be encouraged and helped.

Investors will not put their money in public utilities because they have been threatened with ruin by the government. The companies will not and cannot expand because the government has pursued them with competition, destructive laws, and threats to exterminate them. They have been fighting for their existence in the Tennessee valley where that monumental fraud, the TVA, has been taking their business away from them with tax supported competition. What has happened in the Tennessee valley is, by government program, to be extended to all parts of the country with the creation of seven more such authorities.

All that the southern utility companies now ask of the government is that it give them a fair price for the properties it is putting out of business. All the investors dare hope for is some saving on the loss they have been required to take because their government maliciously used their own tax money to take away their capital.

If the utilities are on the doorstep of the federal treasury it is because the government has driven them there. If they have been afraid to spend the three or four billion they might have used in the purchase of equipment and the employment of workmen it is because the government made it impossible for them to do so. To the extent that they, by inactivity and lack of enterprise, have contributed to the present depression the government is wholly responsible. Any aid the government can give them through the RFC is a mockery when all they need from the government is a release from the hands of the official adventurers who intend to destroy them.

The federal government has been a highwayman to the public utilities. It has held them up at the point of a gun, slugged them, picked their pockets, and left them on the road. It now condemns them for not going on and offers to sprinkle a little water on their faces.

THE WEST SIDE HIGHWAYS ARE NUMBER 1.

Plans for the expenditure of 10 million dollars on the further improvement of Lincoln park would arouse more enthusiasm if the building of west side elevated arterial highways were making the progress it ought. No doubt the present roads in Lincoln park need rearrangement, but the west side elevated highways are a crying need of the city and Chicagoland. They are long overdue and there can be little satisfaction in any improvement, however well conceived, until they are in operation. They should be No. 1 on Chicago's agenda and kept there until they are completed.

ORGANIZE TO END THE PAROLE EVIL.

The proposals of Mr. Hinton G. Clabaugh that citizens dissatisfied with the Illinois parole system organize for its reform in the next session of the legislature should be given prompt and energetic support. All the organization is now on the side of the apologists for the system and it was able to block the moderate and reasonable measures proposed by the able committee headed by Frank J. Loesch. There was much talk by the opponents of these measures about alleged clamor for parole reform, but the clamor was the other way. It is time the protest against the flagrant evils of the parole situation had the benefit of organized support.

Mr. Clabaugh was the best head of the Illinois parole board it has ever had and he is thoroughly informed of parole conditions. Mr. Loesch is another authority in whom the public has every confidence. Leading judges and influential men and women throughout the state can be relied upon to organize in their communities for the support of reform. The able men in the senate and house who tried to get legislation at the last session and succeeded, though ultimately defeated by the governor's veto, should be assured of more definite and practical support. The public sentiment demanding radical reform cannot have its full force without organization which ought not to be postponed until the session begins.

We trust Mr. Clabaugh, Mr. Loesch, Representative Schnackenberg and others throughout the state who have recognized the urgent need of parole reform will undertake organization without delay. A citizenship scandalized repeatedly by the gross defects of the existing situation will certainly respond.

MR. GOLDWYN ON HIS ART.

Mr. Samuel Goldwyn, the eminent picture producer and odd friend of the king's English, returned from London with some fresh opinions for the ship newsmen. Mr. Goldwyn, having been on the spot of low cost production, said that the American movies were rotten. The Hollywood producer did not really say all that was on his mind, but it is easily guessed. It's the pay roll.

The only way a British producer can get the British public into a theater—the cinema to him—for a British film is by law keeping the American movies out. The quota system requires the exhibit of so many British productions to so many American, and the success of the native made picture, when it is a success, is so notable that the reviewers pick up spirit and announce a triumph. The British have never had the money to throw away as Hollywood does, and, although Hollywood may be crazy, its high spots are the high spots of the world.

Hollywood, if it were handicapped as the British and French picture makers are by lack of money, might be a very sad affair. The British and French have the talent, as Hollywood bears evidence by its importations, but they cannot undertake the stupendous, the gigantic, the colossal, the supergigantic, and the supercolossal. They cannot bet a million on a sequence.

Mr. Goldwyn probably looked at the British cost sheets and the pay rolls and they gave him a headache, for which he blamed the American wage scale for actors, directors, and writers. Hollywood is full of actors looking for work merely because a fickle public has lost interest in them and popularity has turned to somebody else. The box office fixes their price. In its first rate stuff Hollywood is the top of the business. In its second rate stuff it is distinctly awful, and a great deal of the second rate stuff is on the daily bill throughout the country. Possibly Mr. Goldwyn, one of the conspicuous brains of the American business, can take a British or French setup of costs and improve his art, but it is more likely that the attempt will cause him to repeat his most famous utterance, "Gentlemen, include me out!"

Whatever the cost of the second rate stuff, and particularly of the short subjects, it is money thrown away. Here in the Chicago region it is this phase of the production business which causes grief, because the distributing system gives the locality a predominance of the second raters and locks out the class A pictures from the majority of the moviegoing populace until they have become crummy with age.

GOING BACK TO GEORGE III.

Mr. Roosevelt in his talk to the D. A. R. asked the daughters to remember that as members of such an organization they were descended from immigrants and revolutionaries, as he himself was and all his family. He said that one of the best things was to inculcate in the boys and girls "some of the underlying fundamentals, the reasons which impelled our revolutionary ancestors to throw off a Fascist yoke."

Our revolutionary ancestors didn't think of George III. as a Fascist. They thought of him as a man who wanted to control parliament by subsidies, patronage, and campaign funds. Through a parliament so controled he wanted to rule the colonies. He did not say, as Richard II., that the law was in his mind or, as James I., that it was treason for a judge to tell him he was under the law. He did think it was traitorous for London business men to petition him and he would draw on the treasury to defeat any parliamentarian who crossed his policies.

He was not at all like Adolf Hitler but much like Franklin Roosevelt.

MR. AND MRS. ZOG.

King Ahmed Zog is married and Albania has a queen. This progressive young man who is in the way of founding his own dynasty has had his marriage on the state agenda for several years. Being his own man as well as his own king, he apparently did not have the advice of a council to resist or the demands of a queen mother to duck. He was president of Albania before he was king and in the former office he may have acquired some of that high spirited imperiousness which has prevailed over the modern docility of kings.

It is a compliment to Countess Geraldine Apponyi, his wife, that she was selected after years of shopping around. King Zog as a practical man went to the European marriage brokers who first selected Countess Johanna von Mikess of Hungary. Her photograph was satisfactory and in 1936 she was taken to Zog's capital at Tirana where she remained only a few days. Religious obstacles were said to be insurmountable. The Albanian Moslem chiefs had a candidate in Fatima, the daughter of Shefquti Bey, but Zog was still his own man. He put them aside, although the claims of church and state were strong. By dint of waiting the king came to his own choice and is to be felicitated.

Queen Geraldine brings the insignia F. F. V. to the Albanian court of arms. She is descended from Virginia stock. England's king over the water had Zog's inclinations but not his strength of will. The Albanian rests his dynasty upon the Old Dominion and pride of family could have no better foundation. If his heralds wish to further impress the fierce visaged Ghegs and the barefooted Tosks, they can add AAA, HOLC, and TVA to the royal arms. William the Conqueror started with less.

THE ANTI-SQUAWK CODE.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The country has long been familiar with the gangster's code. In their idiom, they refuse to "squawk." They never know who shot them. Once in a great while a victim weakens. Mostly, the law pleads in vain. They die, leaving the business of settling the account to their "pals."

The Whitney case reveals that Wall street has its code of silence. It was almost an open secret that the broker was in distress. It was positively known that he had taken funds and securities intrusted to him and used them in his own affairs. It was widely known that he was a chronic borrower and slow pay. But nobody said anything about it where it would mean anything. So Whitney went on, from one breach of trust to another, from larceny to larceny, protected from exposure by a conspiracy of silence.

In the terminology of the stock exchange the thing has been described as a "gentlemen's code." The term "gentlemen" has pretty well lost its ancient flavor. When used to designate a practice that conceals criminality, it hits zero.

BEST SAGA OF THE PUBLICITY BUSINESS is that of the public relations counsel who was so impressed with the activities of an older and larger firm that he paid it ten thousand to build him up and publicize a book with his by-line, written by a professor on his pay roll. It wasn't until the campaign was well along that he learned the older firm was paying the professor, still on his own pay roll, to do the actual publicity writing.

DEAN OF CHICAGO night club proprietors is Mike Fritzel, who was running a night life spot in Chicago when an automobile on the streets meant runaway horses, and the Masonic temple was the tallest building in town. Immaculately groomed, bald headed, quiet mannered, wearing rimless eyeglasses, Fritzel looks more like an insurance executive than proprietor of a succession of night life hot spots that have made amusement history in Chicago.

FRITZEL'S FIRST PLACE was a bar at Racine and Madison, but he acquired city-wide fame with the Arsonia, a song and dance café on West Madison street. Here blonde Bee Palmer originated her shoulder-shaking shimmy. Here, too, a girl from Milwaukee with a Polish name started her shimmy shaking to fame as Gilda Gray. A little dark-eyed child sometimes came in with her mother, had a glass of sarsaparilla, and sat on Mike's knee. Years later she was sitting on a piano in his handsome current Chez Paree, singing "My Bill" and "I Can't Help Lovin' That Man." Abe Lyman played drums at the Arsonia at $15 a week and his brother Mike was an entertainer there. So was Benny Fields. The late Florenz Ziegfeld used to hang around the Arsonia when he was in town—looking for talent. And finding it. He picked up Cliff Edwards (Ukulele Ike) there and took him to the Century Roof.

A BIG-EYED GIRL named Lucille Le Sueur was a chorus girl in Mike Fritzel's Friars Inn at Wabash and Van Buren, opened in 1919. You know her now as Joan Crawford. A fluffy-haired kid showed up with a team called the Texas Red Birds, and Fritzel hired the three for $50 a week. She was Ginger Rogers, adept at the Charleston and Black Bottom.

FAMOUS IN THE ANNALS of the night life of Chicago were the old Frolics on 22d street and the Rue Royale on South Wabash avenue. They were Mike Fritzel's. Patrons remember the French girls, Paulette and Germaine, who sang at the tables. The Little club on Chicago avenue was Fritzel's gesture toward a small, chic spot. His present club, the Chez Paree, with high priced headliners, a bevy of girls, and a dance band is probably the best and biggest night club in the city outside the hotel places. He'll tell you he made more money at the Friars Inn, because his overhead was modest. Somebody ought to shake down Fritzel for his memoirs, beginning when he was a bellboy at the old Palmer house in the days when silver dollars were embedded in the floor of the barber shop. It would be a colorful saga and have some historical importance.

THE EMOTIONAL RESPONSE OF THE SKIN.

WE have all observed the effect of emotions upon the surface of the body. The blood may be squeezed out of the skin because of sudden fright, or embarrassment may induce blushing, sweating, or both. But with these changes in the blood supply, may not the epidermis respond more vigorously and exhibit eruptions, reddish looking patches, itching, or even scaling? Apparently it does. Certainly many instances have been reported in which a mental shock has been succeeded by a severe dermatitis [inflammation]. In other words, there seems to be a close connection between the sympathetic nervous system and the appearance and behavior of the cuticle.

One writer refers to the skin as an organ of emotional expression, and the case is cited by Bernstein of a storekeeper who was bothered with lesions resembling psoriasis which came on following a harrowing holdup experience. As far as a careful medical test could determine, the victim had never had the slightest evidence of trouble prior to the episode, and thereafter he improved whenever he was away from his place of business. On each return to the scene of his fright, however, the blemishes blazed forth anew.

Many types of dermal response to emotions have been noted, varying from a general redness [erythema] to hives, a peculiar type of swelling, blistering, and eczema. The problem of a 21 year old girl who, as a result of an accident in childhood, developed an eruption over the injured part of the body is typical. This recurred from time to time until puberty, when the lesions spread, affecting adjacent areas with distressing symptoms, including intolerable itching. Skin remedies proved futile and it was only after she was able to readjust her mental outlook through the aid of psychotherapy that the irritation vanished. Undoubtedly the occurrence had remained indelibly fixed in her mind until a skilled psychiatrist was able to divert her thoughts.

We all are familiar with the cold sweat that may accompany intimidation or apprehension. In fact, it is well known that those who suffer from excessive perspiration may have moist palms constantly. With many, this condition arises from a form of dread which may pertain to companions and associates, or comes about because of the constant necessity of washing or wiping the hands.

Can terror cause the hair to turn white overnight? Well, perhaps not in so short a period, although there are reports which tend to show that is a possibility. But depriving the tresses of pigment is no more remarkable than many of the symptoms which are known to occur from like affairs. Continued apprehension over a long time will bring on powerful transformations in the nervous system and the metabolism of the body, altering the chemistry of digestion and hence of absorption. In essence, this may be sufficient to rob the circulation of essential substances—even the "crowning glory" of its coloring matter. Both the hair and the nails tell us much about the state of the general health. Psychic influences, therefore, must always be considered when discolorations or other abnormalities are noted in these structures.

We are by no means in possession of all the knowledge that must come some day relative to the relationship between the mind and the body. Whether symptoms are obvious or not, every circumstance inviting the powerful stimulus of fear or anxiety is to be shunned. Training and custom teach us to take things calmly.

In some of these patients sedatives are helpful, as they are in many emotional states. So are the various endocrine preparations such as thyroid extract, particularly if the metabolic rate is substantially below normal. But, after all, good psychotherapy will prove the key that will unlock some of these puzzles, whether the manifestation is shown in some outbreak on the surface or has to do with aches and pains.

HEART ATTACKS.

G. S. writes: Is it possible for a normal person, with no organic heart trouble, to get a sudden heart attack? How do you account for these seizures in persons who are seemingly healthy?

REPLY.

Several forms of heart disease may show no symptoms. A thorough heart examination usually will disclose any abnormal condition, but occasionally an unsuspected local lesion will be missed.

Practically all hearts are affected by various diseases at some time or other, and all are subject to the general wear and tear of life. Now and then, especially after the fourth decade of life, sudden or prolonged strain will cause acute heart failure. Angina pectoris is responsible for many of these attacks and arteriosclerosis may induce coronary obstruction—a frequent and not-to-be-foreseen cause of sudden death.

LEAFLET MAY HELP.

M. K. writes: What should be taken to prevent seasickness?

We have a leaflet giving several suggestions. Send a stamped addressed envelope for a copy.

CONCERNING GASTRIC ULCERS.

M. A. writes:

1. Is it true that a person never is completely cured of gastric ulcers?

2. Is it true that if a person has had ulcers he cannot drink alcoholic beverages without recurrence?

3. What is the span of life for a person who has had ulcers?

REPLY.

1. With propert treatment most cases recover.

2. Elimination of alcohol is part of the treatment. But after complete recovery the imbibing of an alcoholic drink will not of itself cause a relapse.

3. Relapses are not uncommon and the mortality varies, but as a rule the span of life is normal.

MAY BE EYESTRAIN.

A. A. writes: What is the cause of recurrent attacks of blinking in an 8 year old boy who seems to be in perfect health?

REPLY.

This is often of nervous origin, although eyestrain may be the cause in the beginning. Children sometimes develop the habit as a means of attracting attention. If it becomes fixed nothing much can be done. Treatment by a psychiatrist or in a child behavior clinic is suggested before the tic becomes permanent.

WHY NOT A TAX ON AIR?

Chicago, April 26.—Isn't there some possible way our honorable mayor and equally honorable governor can conceive a method by which each and every man, woman, and child should wear a meter of some kind—to register the air we breathe?

We would gladly pay the tax on that also—at so much a breath.

Just a matter of opinion, of course, but I know where my vote and exactly 100 others are going next election. More will be added.

RADIUM PACKS FOR CANCER.

Ottawa, Ill., April 25.—Readers of your paper should know who sponsored the $100,000 appropriation for purchasing radium and equipment for the cure and treatment of cancer at our Research and Educational hospital in Chicago. I quote from our local paper:

"Because he had himself suffered the agonies of cancer and was cured through the use of radium packs, State Representative Edward G. Hayne of Ottawa has successfully backed an appropriation of $100,000 to purchase such packs and equipment for the state hospital in Chicago.

"Hayne sponsored an original appropriation of $200,000, but the budget committee in the general assembly cut the amount in two. Every member of the legislature favored it.

"The radium packs, Hayne explained, are new and he said there are only three at present in the midwest. One is at Hines hospital for war veterans only, and the other two are in Michael Reese hospital.

"The general public does not have the benefit of those wonderful and life saving radium packs, Hayne said today. The Illinois Research hospital is operated by the state and is open to the public."

The members of the legislature were all won over to support the appropriation because of the experience I had and the wonderful cure. The boys never expected me to come back to Springfield alive.

WRITE; DON'T PRAY.

Chicago, April 27.—To the writer of the letter printed in your issue of April 26 in this column, signed 'Reader' and dealing with kneel down strikes, permit me to ask how kneeling down on one's knees and invoking God to lead us out of the sea of ungodliness will accomplish anything?

It might serve to draw tighter one's belt so that hunger may not be felt, and may also serve to retard the movement of blood to the brain.

Wouldn't there be more sense in sitting down and writing the men representing you in the various legislatures to pass bills permitting taxation of the vast church properties, regardless of denomination, so that these properties and lands, instead of pyramiding and piling up, may again pay their proportionate share of the communities' expense whether it be for relief or improvements?

Try sitting in this way, instead of kneeling.

DENTIST WANTS TO KNOW.

Chicago, April 26.—In the hope that this may catch the discerning eye of the members of the board of county civil service examiners, may I ask this question:

When, O when, are you going to call the examination for county dentists, applications for which have been filed Feb. 4, 1938? Won't you please give us a break and get some action on this before you leave for your summer vacations?
A DENTIST.

VANDALISM OR IMPROVEMENT?

Chicago, April 25.—Mrs. Louis Enders of 1512 North Kolin avenue makes vitriolic denunciation of WPA activities in removing dead and dangerous trees on city parkways, between curbs and sidewalks. Laudable as may sound her civic responsibility in claiming these trees as belonging to individual property owners, undoubtedly her sorrow at beholding the void where once stood a dying cottonwood tree overshadowed her knowledge that the upper branches of this tree were dead and subject to heavy falls in wind or rain. Further, its roots had forced up a section of sidewalk to an angle that proved a menace to life and limb of pedestrians passing her home. Only upon investigation and inspection by the chief city forester was this tree doomed to removal. And the same WPA workers who removed the cottonwood are also engaged in planting elm trees to replace those removed from public property.

The cottonwood tree grows fast as its shade spreads. It also brings those sticky gum-clinging catkins in spring that besmear streets and sidewalks to the detriment of property values. These are followed by clouds of floating "cotton" that saturate the air and seep through screens into tidy homes to the despair of housewives. The branches are brittle and pruned by every wind. The tree soon loses its natural beauty and passes in less than a generation.

The elm trees which will replace the cottonwoods are slower growing, deeper rooted, longer lived, but hardwood with graceful branches that give permanent shade and wind protection. They are proven to be an addition to property values and, we hope, a lesson in charm not only to Mrs. Enders but to many more people than have enjoyed her majestic cottonwood.

CALLS EMBARGO A CRIME.

Chicago, April 25.—It is not too late to save America's self-respect by lifting the embargo on war material to Spain. This denial to a sovereign state of the right to purchase arms is the worst international crime in a hundred years. America has become the accomplice of fascism in its destruction of democracy. In all fairness to the future children of America who will be called on to study United States history, if for no other reason, the embargo against war material to Spain should be lifted at once.

SHIVERING IN L TRAIN.

Berwyn, Ill., April 24.—Today I read a letter in your column saying "ride the L." The writer must be one of the receivers of the wonderful elevated service.

Yesterday morning [Saturday] I got on a Douglas Park-Wells street train at Lombard avenue, rode five stations and got off because I wouldn't sit in such an ice box. I took a loop train, which wasn't any warmer. Five other passengers besides myself kicked to the guard, but what can he do? He might have to write to Florida or Tahiti to an executive to turn a button to give us a little comfort. Mayor Kelly and his automobile riding officials aren't interested in poor folks that haven't got a car and chauffeur. They only build highways for autos, not elevated trains. They just talk about it some more.

STRUCTURALLY SAFE, BUT REPAIRS NEEDED.

Chicago, April 22.—[Friend of the People.]—About two months ago I reported the unsafe and unsanitary condition of the house next door. To date no action has been taken and we would appreciate it if this old cottage were torn down just as soon as possible.
A. F.

Our inspector reports this is a one story frame building which is vacant. This building needs leveling up and some of the foundation posts are rotted, but it is structurally safe at this time.

The owner has been notified to make the necessary repairs to put this building in a good and safe condition, or wreck it. If this work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice, we will proceed according to law.

UNEXPLAINED ABSENCE.

Chicago, April 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would like some information about my husband who deserted me thirteen years ago next July.

1. I understand after seven years a husband one has not heard of is considered dead. I have two sons, aged 15 and 12.

2. I would like to know how to go about having him declared dead. Do I need a lawyer?
R. G.

1. It is true that seven years' unexplained absence raises a presumption of death, but it would not be safe for you to contract a new marriage in reliance on such a mere presumption which could be refuted by proof that the party actually is alive.

2. If the practical point is that you wish to contract a new marriage, you should first obtain a divorce.

PROTESTED PART OF 1934 TAXES TO BE REBATED

Jarecki Will Sign Order Tomorrow.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki will sign an order tomorrow granting rebates of approximately 5 per cent to all city property owners who paid their 1934 taxes in full and under protest, he said yesterday after a conference with tax attorneys seeking the refund.

The judge directed the attorneys to prepare an order instructing the county collector to refund to the qualifying taxpayers that portion of the 1934 taxes of the local governments held illegal by the courts. The order for the refund will be on blanket objection suits filed in 1936 by the Chicago Real Estate board on behalf of protesters.

About Half Affected.

While it is estimated that half of the small taxpayers in the city took the necessary steps to entitle them to the refund, the amount of money involved cannot be determined until the tax books have been checked, tax officials said.

The County and Illinois Supreme courts voided 1934 tax rates equal to about 7 million dollars in levies. The large taxpayers who carried their objections directly to the courts withheld sufficient money to cover the illegal portion of the taxes, so refunds need be made only to the small property owners.

City Favors Rebates.

On instructions of Mayor Kelly, Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph L. Grossman informed Judge Jarecki three weeks ago that the city favored rebating the illegal taxes to small taxpayers, and it is expected that the other local governments involved will not oppose the action.

The last of the 1937 real estate tax bills were mailed yesterday and the remainder of the personal property bills will be sent out by Saturday, according to County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer. The penalty date on personalty bills and the first instalment of real estate taxes is June 1.

TELEGRAMS TELL OF CONFIDENCE IN EDUCATION BODY

Fifteen truckloads of flowers and hundreds of congratulatory telegrams greeted members of the school board yesterday when they held their first meeting since the reappointment of President James B. McCahey, who had been made the center of a bitter fight. Frederick P. Siebel Sr., reappointed a member, and the new appointees, Mrs. Walter F. Heineman, clubwoman, and Wilson Frankland, representing labor, were present.

"Service in the interests of the schools is not unappreciated," Mr. McCahey said in response to the expressions of confidence. "I hope with the aid of the board to continue in our egort to make and keep the Chicago schools the best in the world.

"I hope soon to be able to announce that there has been a complete recovery from our inherited financial ills and that not later than next year there will be complete restoration of all salary reductions."

CarryWoman from Blazing Home Just as Roof Crashes

Flying sparks ignited the roof of the home of Mrs. Anna Williams, 65 years old, 112 North Jackson street, Waukegan, yesterday. The flames, fanned by a high south wind, spread rapidly, but Mrs. Williams refused to leave until she had removed some of her more valuable property. Her peril became so great that Chief Adolph Francke of the Waukegan fire department carried her out of the house. A few seconds later the roof caved in. Damage to the house was estimated at $5,000.

Debts of Local Governments Cut 44 Millions in Year

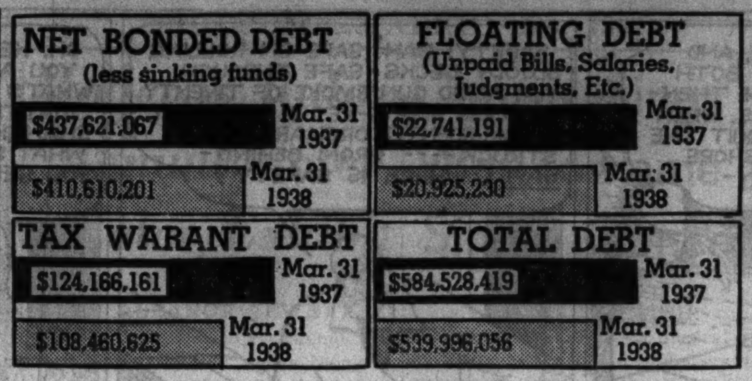
The six major local governments in Cook county cut more than $44,000,000 from their total debt in the year that ended March 31, analysis of the fiscal statements revealed yesterday.

The reduction, however, was all made in the first three quarters, since the debt rose in the first three months of 1938 4 million dollars over the preceding quarter's total. A jump of about $17,500,000 in tax warant liabilities offset a $13,400,000 retirement of outstanding bonds in the first quarter of this year.

The debt increase for the first quarter of 1938 was the result of small tax receipts. This is a normal situation, as there was no tax penalty deadline in the quarter and most of the governments were unable to retire enough old tax warants to offset new borrowing for current operating expenses. The governments included in the survey are the city, school board, park district, sanitary district, county, and forest preserve.

Expect Second Quarter Slash.

With June 1 fixed as the penalty date for the first instalment of 1937 real estate taxes, tax experts expect there will be a substantial debt reduction in the second quarter of this year. In 1937, when three tax penalty dates occurred, the governments retired approximately 85 million dollars of their aggregate debts.



Total indebtedness of the six major local governments in Cook county was reduced $44,532,363 in the twelve months ending March 31, 1938. Chart indicates reductions in the various classes of debt.

Tax warants	108,460,625	124,166,161
Totals	$539,996,056	$584,528,419

A uniform method of presenting the bonded debt liabilities of the governments is adopted with this quarterly study of local government finances. The net bonded debt liability is shown as the total of the face amount of outstanding bonds, plus accrued interest and less sinking fund money on hand.

How Method Works.

For example, the city reported outstanding bonds of $116,664,000 on last March 31. The accrued interest on the bonds on that date was $1,100,216, making a total of $117,764,216. Deducting $11,806,901 sinking fund money on hand left a net bonded debt of $105,-957,315. Each of the governments has agreed to follow this procedure in preparing future quarterly statements.

Following is a comparison of individual statements for the first quarter of 1938 and for a year earlier:

PIMPLY SKIN?

Try this medicated Skin Cream
Soothing relief—Aids in healing

25¢ TRIAL JAR 15¢

If you suffer from ugly pimples from external causes, try this modern medicated skin cream which has already brought soothing relief to millions of women—Noxzema Skin Cream!

Noxzema was first prescribed by many doctors for the relief of Burns and itching of Eczema. Some nurses discovered how effective it is in treating Pimples, Badly Chapped Hands, Chafing and other skin irritations from external causes. Noxzema relieves most itching irritations almost instantly and promotes quicker healing of these ugly skin irritations.

Noxzema is not like old-fashioned greasy, messy ointments but is a dainty, snow-white greaseless medicated cream that vanishes into skin pores, carrying with it soothing helpful medication. You can use it freely day and night to help more quickly clear your skin. No wonder so many women are so enthusiastic over Noxzema.

JOHN M. LANDON, FATHER OF G. O. P. CHIEF, DIES AT 81

Death Follows Series of Heart Attacks.

Kansas City, Mo., April 27.—[Special.]—John M. Landon, father of Alf M. Landon, the 1936 Republican presidential nominess, died in a hospital here today. He was 81 years old.

John Landon.

Last week Mr. Landon suffered a series of heart attacks while visiting at a club in Kansas City. His son, the former governor of Kansas, was at his bedside when he died. The funeral will be held in Topeka.

Interests, Oil and Politics.

Although the elder Landon carved out his own career in the oil industry, he also displayed considerable interest in politics. He was a Kansas delegate to the 1912 G. O. P. convention at Chicago which nominated William Howard Taft for President.

He also was present at the tumultuous convention in Cleveland in June, 1936, when the Republicans nominated his son for the highest office in the land. Gov. Alf Landon stayed at home, but his father was there enjoying the biggest moment in his life.

Born in Pennsylvania.

John Landon was born at Conneautville, Pa., on April 23, 1857. After receiving his education at Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa., he started a successful career as an oil man in western Pennsylvania.

He was field superintendent of a company when he married Annie Mossman at Conneautville. He became superintendent of the company and in 1904 transferred his interests to Kansas. Alf Landon, who was born in 1887 at the home of his mother's parents in Middlesex, Pa., was 17 years old when the family moved west. John Landon retired several years ago.

ASK CITY TO BAN FREE RIDES FOR STORE'S PATRONS

The city council committee on local transportation yesterday recommended passage of an ordinance prohibiting Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., from operating free buses for customers between Roseland and their store at 91st street and Commercial avenue without a franchise from the city. Action on the proposal is subject to an opinion which Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes will submit as to whether the council has the power to ban the service.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] said the department store, through the free buses, is competing unfairly with merchants in the Roseland district. "Goldblatt buses are common carriers and are subject to requirements similar to those imposed on the surface lines and taxicabs," he asserted.

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Steel workers this morning are to start erecting the tallest structure in Chicagoland—the new 750-foot vertical radiator for W-G-N. The new steel tower and transmitter are to be built on a newly acquired tract of 101 acres, 24 miles northwest of the loop on Route 53 near Itasca.

Erection of the steel work of the tower is expected to take about fifteen working days. Construction of the new transmitter house is to be undertaken thereupon. The new transmitting plant, to cost in the neighborhood of a quarter million dollars, will increase the signal strength of the station substantially, providing improved reception over wide areas.

Workmen yesterday completed installation of the massive porcelain base insulator on which the radiating tower is to be delicately balanced. The insulator resembles twin collar buttons, flat sides upward and downward with their points facing each other. These "buttons" are a couple of feet across their flat heads, 15 inches through their cores. The flat face of the lower one weighs more than 2,500 pounds.

The entire tower rises from the top button, three steel sections spreading outward and upward into a ten foot equilateral triangle. From the end of these first sections, roughly 30 feet above the ground, the tower will soar upward, as a ten foot triangle, balanced in pin-point fashion on its porcelain base and with guy wires at 286 and 562 foot levels.

Heavy permanent cables will be strung at these levels to anchor piers of concrete and steel sunk deep underground, in fish hook fashion, at distances averaging 435 feet from the tower. The tower will weigh approximately 130,000 pounds.

In this new type of transmitter tower the entire shaft from insulator to top serves to radiate radio waves. It is well off the regular lanes of air trafic and will be brightly painted and well lighted at night so that it may be easily sighted by all flying craft. Painters yesterday were finishing the painting of steel sections in alternating bands of white and international orange.

The tower will be surmounted by flasher beacons at all three corners, producing alternate luminous periods of one second and darkness of one half. There will be additional lights at 100 foot intervals from 650 feet downward.

WOMEN FLOCK TO JOIN REBELLION ON U. S. SPENDING

Suffern, N. Y., April 27.—[Special.]—Two Rockland county housewives, Mrs. Charles Bishpam and Mrs. C. L. Hulswit, concerned about rising food prices and the future of their children, were deluged today with inquiries about a "women's rebellion" which they started as individuals against government spending.

With the distribution of 10,000 circulars to test sentiment near home interest grew so rapidly that in less than 24 hours they found it necessary to order two more printings of 10,000 copies, making a total of 30,000 circulars.

The circular is a one page printed sheet headed "Women of America, Wake Up!" and ending with the line "Start a Rebellion in Your Community." With a space marked for a signature and the names of the congressional representatives and senators in a corner, the circular demands that congress "reduce government expenses, oppose further pump priming, keep our children's future unmortgaged."

Ragman's Horse Draws Evanston Parking Ticket

These may not be the horse and buggy days, but yesterday Policeman Edward Krogman hung a ticket on a ragman's horse and wagon which stood for twenty minutes in a fifteen minute parking zone in Evanston's business district. Policeman Krogman planned to arrest the owner and collect the regulation $2 fine, but when he returned on his rounds the horse and wagon had gone.

CHAMBERLAIN'S FOES IN HOUSE OF COMMONS ASSAIL TAX INCREASES

LONDON, April 27.—(AP)—The British government's "war preparations" were bitterly assailed by the opposition in the house of commons today, but business men and the public alike seemed resigned to shouldering the additional tax burden.

The general debate in commons on the most unpopular budget in years—boosting taxes on incomes, tea, and oil—gave Laborites and Liberals an opportunity to criticize Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's "realistic" foreign policy.

The sharp increase in the tax on tea came in for especially rough treatment by Laborites, who asserted the poor would bear the brunt of this revenue measure. One Laborite, W. W. Stokes, who heads a company manufacturing shells, charged that armament manufacturers were making a profit of at least 20 per cent. He demanded that they be taxed.

Kane County Farm Hand Is Found Dead in Oregon

Without a word to any one, Maurice W. Read, 38 years old, a farm worker employed near Wasco in Kane county, drove away a month ago. Yesterday a man tentatively identified as Read was found dead in a car near Eugene, Ore. He had attached a garden hose to the motor exhaust and ended his life.

PRESSMEN SUIT THROWN OUT BY FEDERAL COURT

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday dismissed, for lack of jurisdiction, hearing on an application for a temporary injunction to restrain United States Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.], president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union, the union itself, and seven other defendants from interfering with the affairs of Franklin local, No. 4, of Chicago.

Judge Woodward said the suit should not have been filed in the federal court. Attorney James E. Daniels, representing twenty-three members and former members of the local, who filed the action, said he would file an identical bill in the Superior court, probably today. The plaintifs charge that Senator Berry and the other defendants conspired to prevent the union from holding elections since 1928.

OBITUARIES

John C. Klein.

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—John C. Klein, New York Herald correspondent during the Boer war, died yesterday. As correspondent for a San Francisco newspaper he went to the Samoan Islands in 1889 when the United States and Germany were at odds over control of that group. He was forced to take refuge aboard an American warship when German officials accused him of conspiring with the natives and set a price on his head. Germany made demands for his surrender and for satisfaction, and an uneasy international situation developed which might have led to war had not a hurricane swept the islands, destroying the German fleet, sinking two American cruisers, and diverting attention from all other matters.

Dr. George R. Poage.

Dr. George Rawlings Poage, 52 years old, who from 1917 to 1926 was professor of history at Illinois college, Jacksonville, died yesterday in Denton, Tex., where he was teaching history at the Texas State College for Women. Dr. Poage was awarded his doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Chicago in 1923. He was the author of the recent "Life of Henry Clay and the Whig Party." Burial will be in Denton today.

JUDGE A. B. ANDERSON DEAD; ON FEDERAL COURT FOR 27 YEARS

Indianapolis, Ind., April 27.—(AP)—Albert B. Anderson, for twenty-seven years a federal judge in the Indiana District court and the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, died here today. He was 81 years old.

The aged jurist retired from the Circuit Court of Appeals in 1929 after serving four years. He was appointed to the Indiana District federal court in 1902 by President Theodore Roosevelt.

One of the important cases at which he presided was the federal prosecution of forty-nine persons for transporting explosives, an outgrowth of the bombing of the Los Angeles Times.

Judge Anderson was born near Zionsville, Boone county, Ind., on Feb. 10, 1857, the son of a banker. He was graduated from Wabash college in 1879.

'CLIVENDEN SET' A RED FICTION, PEER DECLARES

GLASGOW, April 27.—(AP)—The marquess of Lothian today publicly accused "communists" of inventing the much talked about "Clivenden set."

This is the popular name for a group of notables frequently entertained by Lady Astor at her English estate, Clivenden. Anti-Fascists often have charged this group with trying to mold British foreign policy along Nazi-Fascist lines, but this is the first time a so-called member of the "set" openly has taken cognizance of the stories.

Lord Lothian, speaking before the general council of the Scottish Liberal federation, said "the whole thing is a complete mare's nest. It was invented originally by a communist paper and spread in pamphlets issued by the communist party. There is no such set. I should know, because I am supposed to be a member of it."

F. C. Schoch, Manitowoc Ex-Lumber Dealer, Dead

Manitowoc, Wis., April 27.—[Special.]—Fred C. Schoch, 62 years old, president of the Kasper Construction company, and for many years engaged in the lumber business here, died today at a hospital. His father, the late Christ Schoch, had established a lumber company here which the son managed until the concern was sold. Schoch was a director of the First National bank. He left a widow and a daughter, Lucille. The funeral will be held Saturday morning from St. Boniface church.

Michael Selwyn.

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Michael Selwyn, 66 years old, credited with discovering Charlie Chaplin, died last night in a New Rochelle, N. Y., hospital. He had been stage manager for Oscar Hammerstein at the old Victoria theater in Times Square, and later was associated with his brothers, Arch and Edgar, in theatrical productions. When discovered Chaplin was playing in an act called "A Night in an English Music Hall," at $60 a week. The first informal movie bid was for $150 a week, to which Chaplin was said to have replied, "There isn't that much money."

Masonic funeral services for Selwyn will be held tomorrow at Riverside Memorial chapel in New York.

Thomas Duerson Knight.

Thomas Duerson Knight, attorney and for many years a figure in politics, died last night in his apartment at the Knickerbocker hotel. He was 75 years old.

Mr. Knight was a former president of the Hamilton club and a former assistant state's attorney. He was president of the Progressive club in the days of the Progressive party and was a director of the Better Government association several years ago. Mr. Knight had also been president of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity's national alumni society.

He leaves a widow, Helen Whittaker Fowle Knight; a son, Duerson, and a sister, Mrs. Corinne Knight True.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hedberg.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Hedberg, 7742 Marquette avenue, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Covenant church of South Chicago. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery. Mrs. Hedberg, who was 78 years old, died Tuesday in her home after a long illness. She came to Chicago from Sweden in 1885. Last year Mrs. Hedberg and her husband, Alfred, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Also surviving are seven daughters, two sons, fourteen grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Jacob M. Hansen.

Jacob M. Hansen, 62 years old, died late Tuesday in his home at 432 South Clinton avenue, Oak Park, after a long illness. He was president of Hartman-Malcolm company, furniture manufacturers, and a member of the board of directors of the Chicago Furniture Manufacturers' association. His widow, Sophie; a son, and a daughter survive. Funeral services will be held at Austin Methodist Episcopal church at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Grand Rabbi Owshey Rabinowitz.

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Grand Rabbi Owshey Rabinowitz, president of the United Grand Rabbis' Association of the United States and Canada, and philosophical leader of the Chasidic sect of the Hebrew faith, died early today at Mount Sinai hospital. He was 78 years old and had been ill for about a month. He was born in Russia and fled pogroms in 1924.

Mrs. Rose Doubek.

Mrs. Rose Doubek, 51 years old, wife of William Doubek, police custodian, died yesterday of a heart ailment in their home at 2321 Trumbull avenue. A son, Bohumil, also survives. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in the chapel at 3440 West 26th street, with burial in the Bohemian National cemetery.

POLICE FIND AMNESIA VICTIM.

A man about 80 years old, found wandering in front of 1334 Cornelia avenue yesterday, was taken to the Town Hall police station, where he was unable to recall his name or address.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ESTATE OF $750,000 LEFT BY WIDOW OF GEORGE OTIS

Mrs. Mary Keep Otis, widow of George L. Otis and a sister of the late Chauncey Keep, trustee of the Marshall Field estate, left an estate of $750,000, it was disclosed yesterday when her will was filed for probate. After specific bequests of $75,000, the will left the remainder in trust for four grandchildren. Mrs. Otis died April 15 in the home of her only daughter, Mrs. E. Kent Hubbard, Middletown, Conn. She was 87 years old.

The will of Marshall James Peebles Barrett, retired varnish manufacturer, who died in Santa Monica, Cal., April 5 at the age of 87, was admitted to probate by Judge John F. O'Connell. It disposed of an estate of $110,000 to two daughters and a son.

Mrs. John R. Hearst Wins Divorce and Son's Custody

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Gretchen Wilson Hearst was granted a divorce today from John Randolph Hearst, son of the publisher. She won custody of their son, John Randolph Hearst Jr., 4 years old. Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingsworth ordered Hearst to pay to the plaintif such sums as alimony and for support of the child as may be fixed by order.

Jane Emery to Marry Bradley Eben on May 14

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE first two weeks of May will be busy ones for Miss Jane Emery and Bradley Eben, for they have decided to be married on Saturday, May 14. Their friends are planning a gay round of parties for them between now and the wedding, which is to take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at Mount Carmel church. Miss Emery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark Emery, will give a small wedding reception at the Drake hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery will give the bridal dinner at the Skyline club on the eve of the wedding. Robert Wieland is entertaining at supper for Miss Emery and Mr. Eben next Sunday at his home in Wilmette and Edward Lawler is giving the same sort of party at his home on May 6. The Martin Hardings will give a cocktail party on May 7 and William Griffin is entertaining similarly the next afternoon.

Harry Curran will give a cocktail party on the 10th, the Allen Ripleys are giving one on the 11th, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smyth, brother-in-law and sister of Miss Emery, are entertaining at dinner on the 12th. Mrs. Smyth will be her sister's only attendant. Joseph Griffin will be best man and Mr. Smyth and Paul Lyons of New York will usher.

Engaged Couples to Attend Benefit.

On Saturday night Miss Emery and her fiancé and a number of other engaged couples will be exchanging congratulations at the annual Madonna center dinner-dance, traditionally one of the gayest of the spring benefits. It is being held at the Palmer house.

Lefens Porter and his fiancée, Miss Marjorie Walsh of Brookline, Mass., will be among William A. Cremin's guests, and Alex Persons of Worcester, Mass., and his fiancée, Miss Virginia Wiley, will be guests of Miss Dorothy Benedict. Miss Benedict's fiancé, John E. Gross, also will be at the table, and among other engaged pairs who have reservations are Miss Margery Ann Garvey and Robert Emery, Miss Julia Patterson and Ralph W. Applegate, Miss Delphine Murphy and William Knox, Miss Marney Katholing and John Joseph Burke of Milwaukee, and Miss Peggy Vail and Thomas Shager.

Miss Carlyle Downes to Be June Bride.

From Long Beach., Cal., Rear Admiral and Mrs. John Downes have sent word of the engagement of their daughter, Carlyle, to Lieut. Philip Wilder Mothersill Jr., U. S. N. The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Downes was a popular member of the post-deb group during the time between April, 1935, and January, 1937, that her father was commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station. Admiral Downes was sent to Long Beach from the Great Lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Carr are giving a dinner at home tonight for their niece, Miss Martha Carr, and Peter G. Moon, who are being married on Saturday. The guests have been asked to bring "something blue" for the bride and bridegroom.

Art Club to Show Hand Woven Textiles.

The Arts club will have a different sort of exhibit next month when Mrs. Dorothy Liebes of San Francisco displays her stunning hand woven textiles. The exhibit will be opened on May 20 with a tea for Mrs. Liebes, who arrives in Chicago on the 18th or 19th and will be at the Drake hotel.

Mrs. Liebes is decorative arts director of the Golden Gate International exposition, to be held in San Francisco in 1939, and a Chicagoan, Shepard Vogelgesang, just recently has gone west to be her assistant. Mrs. Atherton Richards of Honolulu, formerly Mrs. Helen Hughes Dulany of Chicago, has promised her good friend, Mrs. Liebes, to serve on Mrs. Liebes' committee and so have Mrs. Walter Dillingham and Mrs. Philip Spaulding, who also live in Honolulu.

Two Recitals This Morning.

Mrs. John U. Nef is giving a luncheon today at the Arts club for Webster Aitken of New York following a piano recital he will give, starting at 11:30 o'clock. Mr. Aitken is playing an all Schubert program.

Members of the Woman's Athletic club will hear a musical program this morning, too, for Mildred Dilling, harpist; Charlene Dilling Brewer, violinist, and Catherine Saurer, pianist, will give a recital there starting at 11:30 o'clock.

White Pique a Smart Trim for Dark Togs

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Crisp white pique takes the annual spring fashion bow. In snappy little hats as top frosting for dark, cool sheers and clinging crêpes, in dashing wide, flat sailors as white as sugar, in white head bands, and in clouds of chalk white veiling with some of the veils having the chenille dots in white.

White pique bags have black frames or white frames and are lined with black. White belts come in narrow bands or the swashbuckling wide affairs like a polo belt fastened in front with five loops of the pique and five large pearl buttons.

But the best buys are the sleek cleverly cut blouses of pique. These have short, well fitted sleeves, a high semi-tailored neckline [the round turnover collar seems to have disappeared], and a fitted ribline that assures smoothness under suit or jacket. The pique is a waffle weave design. It's soft and cool to wear and stays white after repeated tubbing. Ascots, flowers, and collar and cuff sets are other white hopes in the same low priced pique collections.

You can find stunning white eyelet embroidery boleros, looking as cool and inviting as candy box paper frills. These are the important white tops for black, brown, green, or navy linen dresses. These white tops that combine with dark, contrasting clothes give that impeccably groomed appearance so imperative on a sultry summer day.

Blouses made very simply with almost next to nothing sleeves are also available in this old-fashioned looking small eyelet embroidery.

If you crave startling all white accessories that are new, different and effective, shop the pique sections.

U. of C. Library School Gets $50,000 for Research

A gift of $50,000 from the Carnegie corporation to the graduate library school of the University of Chicago was announced yesterday by President Hutchins. The money, which will be used for research projects, brings to more than $1,500,000 the contributions of the Carnegie corporation to the graduate school which was established ten years ago.

Pretty Ceremony

In a pretty spring wedding at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Trinity Episcopal church, Highland Park, Miss Mary Wadsworth Williams became the bride of Barrett K. Mason, son of Mrs. Henry Eager Mason of Highland Park. The Rev. Christoph Keller read the service and a reception followed at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Y. Williams, the former home of the bride's grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Lucian G. Yoe.

The bride wore traditional white satin and tulle, and a strand of pearls that belonged to her great-grandmother, Lucian Yoe's mother. Her attendants were her nieces, Grace Yoe Williams as maid of honor and Mary Elizabeth Williams as flower girl. Mr. Mason's niece, Phyllis Louise Harrington, also was a flower girl.

The bride, who has been making her home with her aunts, the Misses Charlotte and Katherine Yoe, in Highland Park, is the daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. Robert Cutts Williams, whose wedding anniversary was yesterday.

The marriage is a union of two of Chicago's oldest families.

Percy B. Eckhart Is Elected Chairman of Ravinia Association

Percy B. Eckhart, lawyer, lecturer, and art patron, has been named chairman of the Ravinia Festival association to succeed the late Willoughby G. Walling. Mr. Eckhart has been interested in Ravinia projects since he served Louis Eckstein as original treasurer of the Ravinia company.

The festival association is planning for this summer a series of Chicago Symphony orchestra concerts under noted guest conductors, to be held in Ravinia park on the north shore. This will be the third consecutive season of these concerts.

Club Press Meeting.

The final meeting of the season of the press and publicity departments of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at 1:30 o'clock today in federation headquarters, 30 West Washington street.

Through the Looking Glass

One of the houses has brought out a new powder—not high priced—that strikes us as being an awfully good summer bet. We've had it to use for a couple of weeks and have liked it immensely; so have the office stooges who are only too glad to dip into our powder supplies and call it "sampling."

According to the manufacturers this new powder is the product of a most satisfactory new formula. It has a lovely texture between the fingers and a lovely softness and smoothness on the skin. Its makers have taken pains to keep it free from the known sensitizing agents. Those who sneeze and snort or break out from orris root, for instance, will be glad to know that there isn't a smidge of it in this powder.

There is also an emollient ingredient in this powder—which makes everything daisy for those with dry and sensitive skin. The proportion isn't large enough to make the powder cake shortly after application, but we're told it does help the protective cause along.

The powder is nice and fluffy in the box, spreads smoothly, and clings remarkably well. It's this fluffiness that makes it appeal to us for summer. It's not too light, but it does feel downy on the face.

There are a flock of shades, including two beautiful new ones. The pet where we're concerned is a special blend, which is a deep flesh tone, with the pinkness keyed down. Nice for this season's fairy fresh makeups.

Another shade has a nice bit of glow to it—good for colorless skin. It has warmth and a glow of peach that gives it rare prettiness.

Moderns Rule Annual Water Color Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The 17th annual International Water Color exhibition opens today in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. It is practically a complete triumph for the modernists. For the first time in its history this exhibition is not an intriguing affair, rich in sparkling and decorative pictures. On the contrary, it is filled with bad painting.

The galleries are packed with French imitations and flat original compositions in poor taste and worse colors.

Even Millard Sheets, the California artist whose annual exhibits in the Anderson galleries of Chicago are famed for their richly decorative qualities and for the startling beauty of the individual paintings, has been so edited in the one-man show allotted to him here that the true inwardness of his talent is entirely missing.

These water colors by Mr. Sheets are by no means representative. They are dull and drab and stupid [with a few exceptions]. The most modern of them has been awarded a prize, a fact which is quite in keeping with our museum policy.

The Watson F. Blair prize of $600 went to a warmer and more rounded work, one that leans to the academic, the "Nude," by Grigory Gluckmann. This little sketch in its soft browns is not an outstanding water color, it is rather one of those precious bits with which a connoisseur might become enamored.

Among the extremely rare worth while works present are "Ruffled Grouse," by Frank W. Benson; "The Spirit of Rain," by Peggy Bacon; the amusing, sensual portrait, "Mae West," by Salvador Dali [lent by Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed]; "Interior," by Gertrude Abercrombie; "Dunes Near Easthampton," by L. M. Eilshemius; "Unloading Refugees," by Hardie Gramatky; "The Comedian," by Walt Louderback; "His Majesty," by Tom E. Lewis; "Freight Cars," by Reginald Marsh; "Maine Coast," by Bruce Mitchell; "Flowers," by William S. Schwartz, and "Celery Workers," by A. Lassell Ripley.

Others are "Farm," by Ethel Spears; "April," by John Whorf; "Storm off Lanesville,' 'by Stanley Woodward; "Shelter," by Helen E. Wright; "Saint Etienne du Mont," by Karl Zerbe, and "Harbor at Saugatuck," by Francis Chapin.

Included in the good works are the very delightful, Japanesy, colorful, picturesque, and intriguing group of works in gouache by the Russian, Boris Grigoriev, who, with Millard Sheets, shares the distinction of having an entire gallery devoted to his paintings.

Opera Ballet Girls Reherse Despite Loss of Jobs for Season

More than a dozen girls, all members of the former Chicago City Opera company corps de ballet, were puzzled and discouraged yesterday, when news reached them that the Catherine Littlefield ballet of Philadelphia had been engaged for the autumn opera season.

Despite adverse fortune the girls rehersed as usual yesterday afternoon in the Fine Arts building.

None of the girls seemed inclined to blame opera officials for their decision to accept Miss Littlefield's offer to bring a troupe of sixty-five Philadelphia dancers to Chicago, charging the opera company nothing for expenses or salaries and turning over to the company 30 per cent of the gross income from a series of seven special Tuesday evening ballet performances. The contract also provides $2,500 for publicity and advertising for the new ballet.

"It was too profitable an offer for the company to turn down," was the consensus. Some wondered if it might be profitable to look for work in Philadelphia.

Chorus Sings Way to Fame in Single Concert

BY CECIL SMITH.

High up on Chicago's musical roll of honor write in large letters the names of the Swedish Choral club and its director, Harry T. Carlson. Not since the appearance of the Cincinnati May Festival chorus in 1930 has any Chicago concert hall resounded to such magnificent choral song as that which echoed through Orchestra hall last night.

Freshness, vitality, and enthusiasm, combined with accuracy, flexibility, and virtually complete reliability, marked the singing of these 200 choristers. The women, dressed all in white, and the men, in evening clothes, performed three new and difficult works with a musical unanimity as complete as the unanimity of their dress. And in any search for a choral director who combines artistic sensitiveness with uncommon skill in the handling and training of voices Mr. Carlson is a commanding first choice.

The three compositions new to Chicago were the "Te Deum" of Anton Bruckner, first performed in 1892; the more recent "Te Deum" of Zoltán Kodály, written in 1936 to celebrate the two hundred fiftieth anniversary of the recapture of Buda from the Turks, and "The Ordering of Moses," composed by R. Nathaniel Dett of Hampton, Va., and first sung in Cincinnati, O., last May.

These three works were preceded by a stirring performance of the hymn "Sverige," by Wilhelm Stenhammer, a Swedish patriotic song dedicated on this occasion to the tercentenary of the first settlement of Swedish immigrants in Delaware.

Kodály's "Te Deum" is a choral work of stupendous effect and major musical consequence, deserving to rank alongside such twentieth century masterpieces as the composer's own "Psalmus Hungaricus," the Stravinsky "Symphony of Psalms," Honegger's "King David" and Holst's "Hymn of Jesus."

A strongly Hungarian atmosphere permeates the melodic structure, yet is fused with a freely chanted declamation of ecclesiastical flavor. At the same time the total musical structure is boldly clear and perfectly organic, producing an effect of great unity and cogency of musical thought. Its première was one of the most important musical events in Chicago in many years.

The Bruckner "Te Deum," less austere than that of Kodály, is one of the problematical Austrian's most enjoyable works, building to a superb big finish. Dr. Dett's narrative, built around the spiritual "Go Down Moses," was dwarfed by its immense companions, but despite great musical garrulousness had moments of affecting beauty.

The soloists were Thelma Von Eisenhauer, Detroit soprano; May Barron, contralto; Robert Long, tenor, and Mark Love, bass. All sang reasonably well, though Miss Von Eisenhauer shone brighter than the rest by virtue of a radiant and clear voice. Both the gentlemen invested the English language with a deplorable hot potato sound, but the difficult vocal range may have played its share in this. Stanley Martin played the organ and fifty-two members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra strove with some success to hide the scantiness of their rehersal.

Urban League Dinner Hears Plea for Private Charity

A plea for continued support for private charitable organizations despite the large public expenditures for relief was made last night by T. Arnold Hill, director of industrial relations of the National Urban league. He spoke in the Chicago Woman's club at a dinner of the Chicago Urban league, which is campaigning for $15,700 to carry on its work of promoting inter-racial good will. "The minority has as great a problem when there is public plenty as when there is a scarcity," Hill said.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Hollywood Mirror.

Hollywood, Cal., April 27.—Luncheon with Astrologer Manly Hall, Thornton Delahanty and Howard Barnes, and Hall, who has traveled a lot, tells us Arab fables over an India repast. . . . I liked the one about the ruler of the Arabian city who pleaded with the Black Plague not to destroy his people, and the Black Plague agreed only to kill one out of every ten. . . . The next day every one in the town was dead but the ruler and he chided the Black Plague for breaking his promise. . . . "I kept my promise," insisted the Plague. "I killed only one out of ten; the other nine died of fright." . . . Hall lives in a house designed by famous Frank Lloyd Wright. . . . Individualist Wright designed bathrooms—with glass doors.

Hollywood burned at Sam Goldwyn's blast at movies. . . . Sam thought he was arriving in London, maybe. . . . Edgar Bergen lunching with John Stahl, Doug Fairbanks Jr., and Danielle Darrieux at the Universal commissary. . . . More stars at Universal than any other lot, at the moment, with the studio geared to a new production level that has the town gabbing.

Did Billie Burke sell the Florenz Ziegfeld estate at Hastings-on-the Hudson on this trip to New York? . . . An air-conditioned dog "heaven" on the 20th Century-Fox lot, where owners can leave their dogs. . . . It's only a set for the Shirley Temple flicker and Shirley, Bill Robinson, Bert Lahr, and Joan Davis are emoting as your reporter walks in. . . . The dogs are rented to the studio by Actor Charlie Ruggles. . . . Claude Rains taking flute lessons at Warner's for his next rôle in "Because of a Man."

Simone Simon, now a platinum blonde and with a new center haircomb, apparently indifferent about the page 1 stories. . . . Dave Epstein, embroiled in the Coogan mess, says that all he told the Bernsteins was that they were dead wrong and should give back all of Jackie's money to him. . . . He said he told Bernstein that he was hurting the cause of Jewry. . . . I like the Herald-Trib's crack: "Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein will never be accepted as Mr. and Mrs. America."

Max Reinhardt chattering with Wolfgang Korngold at the première of "Adventures of Robin Hood." . . . Korngold authored the magnificent score. . . . In fact, the assignment saved his life, as he was brought here from Austria last February to write it. . . . Otherwise he would have been one of the first seized, as he had been outspoken in his references to Hitler. . . .

Basil Rathbone sneaking up a side street to avoid the autograph hunters. . . . Paulette Goddard and Edmund Golding standing near the ticket taker. . . . Bill and Randy Hearst, in from N. Y., for their pa's birthday, with their pretty wives, Lorelle and Catherine, at the "Robin Hood" opening. . . . Wayne Morris, Anita Louise and George Brent in the loge section. . . . This is a grand picture, and the technicolor shots are breath taking. . . . Wait till you see the cavalry come charging through the river, and the shots at dusk in Sherwood forest!

On the "Give Me a Sailor" set at Paramount Martha Raye all rigged out as a glamor girl. . . . The Raye legs, mentioned in this space, will be given a thorough unveiling in this one, as the story has her winning a beautiful legs contest. . . . "Maybe they'll stop kidding about my mouth," she says.

John Barrymore and Lynn Overman covered with printing ink, playing a scene in "Spawn of the North," with Overman setting type by hand. . . . He'd better handle that stick right or composing room veterans throughout the country will hoot at him.

Marion Nixon dining with hubby Bill Seiter at Lamaze's. . . . Nate Blumberg planing out to New York for a week. . . . Prince Mike Romanoff, saddened at the Clover club closing. . . . Norma Shearer and Tyrone Power walking along one of the M.-G.-M. avenues. "I used to stand in line there," says Power, pointing to the casting bureau.

On the "Sing, You Sinners" set, Bing Crosby has to squelch young Donald O'Connor, scion of a vaudeville family, who boasts that he was born backstage in a wardrobe trunk. . . . "Get back in the trunk," yells Crosby when the kid misbehaves. . . . It works, too.

On the "Three Blind Mice" set, Loretta Young, supposedly rescuing David Niven from the water, is upset by the wave making machines and hits Niven squarely in the eye. . . . "You Yankees are such quaint people," says Niven ruefully. . . . The Harry Warners and the Joe Schnitzers off for Honolulu.

Bob Hope bets Jack Benny he can name all of the graduates of the Winter Garden, from which Hope received a cum laude degree. . . . He names a list. . . . "You forgot two fairly important ones," checks Benny, "Joan Crawford and Al Jolson." . . . Word from Broadway that young Philip Liebmann, the brewer's lad, is rushing Wendy Barrie strenuously. . . . Say, I don't blame him. . . . She's really a tasty dish.

Paramount will have to change the title of W. C. Fields' picture. . . . First, it was "Behind the Eight Ball," and then it was changed to "Mr. Bumpus Takes a Trip." . . . The legal department just learned that there is a Mr. Bumpus in London who has had a book store for the last forty years.

Warner Baxter making love to Marjorie Weaver, but as she's the taller he wears high heels and she wears low heels. . . . Charlie Bickford admiring the giant redwood trees on the "Valley of the Giants" set at Warner's. . . . He's not the only one who has been kidded by them. . . . They're made of a cement paste.

New Mexico was the source of inspiration for this beautiful "Indian Mat." It was adapted from a Zuñi Indian mat and set together with blue and white materials. The Zuñis are a tribe belonging to the Pueblos and are decidedly colorful in their regalia and habits. Their weaving is one of the outstanding examples of Indian art. "Indian Mat" is a fifteen inch pieced block, and a coverlet is composed entirely of these blocks, forming a brilliant and unusual all-over design. Only thirty blocks, surrounded by a seven and one-half inch border and a half inch bias binding, are required for a coverlet measuring 90 by 105 inches.

For a limited period Nancy Cabot offers 10 quilt patterns of her own choice at a price of 10 cents for the group (12 cents by mail). Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Good Morning!

"The Dybbuk" ["dybbuk" means a wandering soul that comes back to earth to enter the body of one it has loved] is a translation from a play written in 1920, of which New York audiences have seen four different versions. It was filmed in studios at Warsaw, Poland, and its story, richly and heavily embroidered with depictions of Jewish customs and superstitions, is one of young love that had a hard road to travel.

The first reel or so drags a bit, but you will be wise to curb any feeling of restiveness, for the narration unfolds with steadily increasing power and interest. The acting, far removed though it is from the Hollywood tempo, is warm, magnetic, beautiful acting. All of the men contribute marvelous characterizations, and the leading woman, Lili Liliana, slim, dark, cameo featured, gives a performance that will live in your memory.

For a time you will find the story rather hard to follow, but before long, with the aid of excellent English titles, everything becomes clear and not for a second would you contemplate leaving the theater before the final curtain.

Photography is of the best, and staging, scenery, and costumes will fascinate you. A compelling musical score adds its charm to the whole.

Make no mistake—"The Dybbuk" is art!

See you soon.

SYNOPSIS.

Gordon Stone returns to Barranca after eight years in prison. Gordon was framed by Lyn Gilbert, owner of the Bar B B ranch, and his foreman, Curt Ford. Because Gilbert's niece, Karen, warns Gordon and Jack Turnbull in time to save them from a posse of Gilbert's riders, her uncle imprisons her at his ranch. Gordon and Jack start a campaign against Gilbert. Heading a band of men, Gordon captures four Bar B B riders rustling cattle belonging to Gordon's uncle, John Fleming, owner of the J F ranch. Gilbert offers his rider Cheyenne Karen's hand in marriage if he will kill Gordon. Gordon and Jack are tricked into a trap by Cheyenne and Buck Hayes. They capture Hayes, but Cheyenne rides off, taking Karen with him. Gordon and Jack investigate at the Bar B B ranch house and barely escape alive. Cheyenne takes Karen to a cabin occupied by Bud Cowell. They camp out that night. Next morning Cheyenne relents and decides to take Karen back to town unharmed.

INSTALMENT XLVI.

IN PURSUIT.

Hayes did not like to look in Stone's cold hard eyes. The man was dangerously explosive. Better tell him what he could.

"I wouldn't know for sure," the prisoner answered morosely. "It would depend on what Cheyenne has in the back of his crazy nut. He might do anything. I been trying to figure it out. Maybe she hired him to throw down her uncle and take her to town."

Gordon shook his head. "That's out. If it had been that way she wouldn't have screamed. Say he was thinking of holding her for a ransom. Where would he hole up?"

"Somewheres around the Stevens Park country, I'd guess. There's a hundred pockets and ravines up thataway where he could hide. If he was outfitted with grub for a stay. But that's the catch. He can't have made any preparations."

"So he would think of some place where he could buy or forage food. Where would that be?"

"Well, if it was me I'd go to the Heidemann homestead line camp. He would have to pass somewheres near it anyhow. Bud Cowell is stationed there. Cheyenne could get grub and blankets there."

The Heidemann homestead had been taken up by a German of that name. It included two water holes Gilbert had needed. The Bar B B riders had hazed Heidemann plenty, but the old man was stubborn. He would not surrender his claim or sell it for a few dollars. While on his way to Barranca to make final proof he had been shot down by some party unknown. Later, by one of the coincidences not unusual, it had come into the possession of Gilbert. Situated as it was in the foothills just above the plains, the Heidemann camp would be a logical place for Cheyenne to stop if he was heading for the Stevens Park country.

"What sort of fellow is Cowell?" Gordon inquired. "Would he give Cheyenne what he wanted? Wouldn't he interfere to save Miss Gilbert?"

Jack answered. "He would do whatever Cheyenne told him to do. Bud is weak as skim milk. We're going to have a heluva hunt. You'll think finding a needle in a haystack easy compared to digging Cheyenne out of that wild country."

Gordon frowned. "Point is whether he's there. Gilbert wouldn't give him orders to take his niece to town, would he?"

"The girl showed up here unexpected," Hayes volunteered, sourly. "Darned if I know why she came. But it sure wasn't to meet Cheyenne."

"But why would he start to play a lone hand against Gilbert—if he has? Was he sore at the old man about anything?"

"Not far as I know. But Cheyenne lives under his hat mostly."

"If we go to Heidemann's and he hasn't been there we waste hours," Stone said with angry impatience. "I wish to God we had some kind of a trail to follow."

"We'll have to make out with what we have. First, we know the direction they started. If Cheyenne isn't taking her to the ranch house he must have cut a fence at the other end of the pasture. That will do for a beginning. If he took her to the house she is safe. Same if they went to town, or anywhere else under orders from Gilbert. Far as we are concerned the hills are our only bet."

"Looks like," Gordon agreed. "Let's get going." After he was in the saddle he swung round to Hayes. "Get word to Ford and Gilbert about this quick as you can. Tell them to have Sherif Scott send out posses. Ford can do that from the ranch, too. If we get enough men combing the hills we'll jump up this fellow in some gulch or canyon."

He spoke swiftly, jerkily. Jack was surprised. Usually Gordon was a cool customer, held a tight rein on his emotions. But something now was moving him profoundly, stirring him out of his customary quiet. It was of course anxiety for Karen. Turnbull was worried himself, but not to the extent that a fire of fear blazed in him and flung him off balance. He knew now that his friend loved Karen, though he had kept all evidence of it under an iron repression.

They rode across the pasture, reached the fence, and rode along it till they came to the cut strands of wire. Here they dismounted, and under what light there was studied the prints of the horse's hoofs.

"Heading toward the Heidemann line camp," Jack said. "We'll make time if we take that for granted now and follow a beeline."

"Yes," Gordon replied tensely.

He was already off at a gallop.

As Gordon and Jack rode down the hill just above the line camp a light in the cabin went out.

"Going to bed or saying 'Adios,'" Turnbull guessed.

They found Bud Cowell just swinging to the saddle. He blurted out the news.

"Miss Gilbert told me to get word to you," he said to Gordon. "Your getting here right now saved me a long ride. I'll hump right along to the Bar B B and tell Curt."

"He knows." Contempt was in Turnbull's level gaze, and when he spoke irony edged his words. "The way you're all beat up, looks like you must of put up a terrific fight to save Miss Karen."

"I'm a man of peace," Bud said, aggrieved. "Me, I don't even have a gun. I told Cheyenne folks wouldn't like it."

Gordon brushed this aside. There was no use wasting time upbraiding a worm for not having a backbone. "Did Cheyenne give any hint where he was going?" he demanded impatiently.

"No, sir, he didn't. But he wouldn't of took grub and blankets if he had expected to camp in the hills, would he?"

"How long would the food he took last him?"

"Well, I wouldn't know exactly. Lemme see, they took——"

"Two days—three days—four?" Gordon snapped explosively.

"Get them—in a hurry."

Swiftly they packed what supplies they could find. Not ten minutes after their arrival they were vanishing into the darkness again. Cheyenne was less than twenty minutes ahead of them, Cowell had said in his first excited burst of news. That would give him half an hour now, but Stone realized with a heavy heart that there was practically no chance of finding the fugitives tonight. The tangle of hills into which they were riding was full of bypaths running into obscure ravines, hidden pockets, and wooded parks. Given plenty of food, a rider like Cheyenne, who knew this district intimately, could keep on the dodge for weeks.

Hunting him was a job that called for patience, and for once Gordon had none of it. The anxiety in him was a consuming fire. He knew nothing about Cheyenne except that he was an unscrupulous villain who would kill for money, a bold and hardy devil not to be deterred by fear from any crime to which his will drove him. He had known scoundrels too clean of fiber to harm a good woman against her wish. If Karen had been kidnaped for ransom Cheyenne must have confederates, which would be a protection to her to a certain extent. A more appalling possibility was that he played a lone hand, driven by an urgent passion for the girl.

Lutheran Synod Puts Church on National Basis

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rockford, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—The slow process of turning an immigrant church with an immigrant psychology into a thorough going American institution was virtually completed here today at the 86th session of the Illinois conference of the Augustana Lutheran synod.

Marking the end of this process was the reorganization of the conference's home missions work which puts this function on a national basis instead of being locally planned and administered. The entire missions enterprise will be administered from Minneapolis.

Dr. Peter Peterson, president, explained that virtual abandonment of Swedish nationalistic marks had vastly extended the ministries of the conference's fifty mission pastors.

But as the conference, which covers five central states, relinquished its home missions authority, it asked for increased control of Augustana college, Rock Island. The Rev. C. G. Carlfelt of Bethesda church, Chicago, declared that since the institution no longer is the sole college of the synod, the control should be localized to the area served. The petition was given to the synod's board of higher education.

Dr. Gottfred Nelson, reporting as president of the board of Augustana hospital, Chicago, announced a gift of $10,000 from A. I. Appleton, of Evanston, a Chicago manufacturer.

Women Voters Clear Way for Bigger Budget

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—[Special.]—G. Lyle Belsley of Chicago, director of the civil service assembly of the United States and Canada, precipitated the liveliest session of the League of Women Voters' national convention here to date when he advised the delegates to give up "bargain basement" tactics and operate on an annual budget of at least $250,000 if they wish to obtain good government.

The ensuing budget discussion brought a record of 60 speeches in less than an hour before the delegates adopted a resolution calling for a permanent finance policy for "adequate support" of the national league program.

League leaders predicted that this would mean realization of a proposal made earlier by both Miss Marguerite M. Wells, present national president, and Mrs. Maud W. Park, first vice president, that "the league should not rest until its program reaches the woman who washes her own dishes and tends her own babies."

An amusing episode occurred when Mrs. Walter T. Fisher of Winnetka, who was nominated for national treasurer today, halted a financial discussion in terms of hundred thousands to remind the delegates that a deficit of $620 must be made up before the actual budget of $62,000 for the next year could be adopted. The $620 was contributed by state leagues and individuals and the budget passed, all in five minutes, clearing the field for Miss Toland's motion.

Speakers at daytime sessions and at the banquet this evening reiterated the warning that the increasing problems confronting the federal government demand the constant attention and coöperation of citizens' organizations such as the League of Women Voters if democracy is to continue to prevail against dictatorships.

Both Mrs. Eugene Meyer, part owner and writer for the Washington Post, and Dr. Herman Finer, head of the public administration department of the University of London, compared present conditions in this country to the French revolution.

"Of all recent manifestations none is more encouraging than the obvious fact that we have ceased relying blindly upon the central government and that the democratic will of the people is once more asserting itself," Mrs. Meyer said. She predicted that a realignment of party lines in keeping with current issues would occur in 1940.

"Democracy must not tolerate the gross inequalities between individuals, groups, and classes of today," said Dr. Finer. "An essential reform in the modern state which wishes to remain a democracy is the improvement of party organization to sever appointive offices and make them subject to a merit system and not the currency of politicians." Dr. Finer is director of a study of the Tennessee Valley authority for the social science research council.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

"Chicken for dinner" always has been a persuasive phrase in extending an invitation to guests. And if the word "fried" precedes the word "chicken," the invited persons are likely to become eager.

Only young chickens may properly be fried. Older ones have less tender flesh and taste better if they're steamed with a cover on the frying pan. Leave the cover off and cook the chicken without liquid, and you are frying it.

FRENCH FRIED CHICKEN.

Chicken may be deep fat fried in one of two ways. Young chickens may be cut into pieces which are seasoned, dipped in egg and crums or batter, and fried in deep fat at 370 degrees for fifteen minutes to half an hour, depending upon size. Older birds are better if the pieces are steamed until tender before they are fried. The frying then is only to brown and crisp the skin, since the chicken already is cooked.

PAN OR OVEN FRIED CHICKEN.

Use frying pan for top-of-the-stove frying, a heavy dripping pan for the oven. Season chicken and dip into flour, egg and crums or other coating. Brown well on all sides. Reduce heat to moderate and let the chicken cook uncovered for twenty-five to forty minutes on top of the stove, forty to sixty minutes in the oven.

COATINGS TO USE FOR CHICKEN.

1. Flour.
2. Cornmeal.
3. Flour and cornmeal.
4. Egg diluted with milk, then sifted crums or flour.
5. Egg diluted with milk, then ground cornflakes.
6. A paste made of flour and water.
7. A batter made by beating together one cup flour, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one egg, and three-quarters cup milk.

We have several recipes for the Porto Rican dish, rice with chicken, "Arroz con Pollo," but it took a reader's request to remind us of how good this combination is. There's enough in this recipe to serve guests at a Sunday supper, or to delight a bridge group.

Arroz con Pollo.
[Serves eight.]

5 pound chicken or two 3 pound young chickens
1 cup cooking oil
2 large onions
2 green peppers
3 cloves garlic
1 quart tomatoes
1 small can tomato paste
1 cup water
4 bay leaves
2 cups rice
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 pound fresh mushrooms
2 cups canned peas
Olives, parsley for garnish

Cut chicken in pieces and brown in the oil in a heavy kettle. Grind onions, garlic, and peppers and add to oil. Fry until tender. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, and water. Add bay leaves and season to taste. Cover and cook slowly for forty-five minutes, or until the chicken is tender. Add washed rice and turn heat very low. Keep covered. After ten minutes turn rice carefully to cook all equally. When almost done add vinegar, mushrooms, and peas and more salt if needed. When ready to serve, arrange chicken pieces on a large platter around a mound of the rice. Garnish with olives and parsley.

Protestant Child Haven Will Hold Benefit Party

A card party for the benefit of the Protestant Child Haven will be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow in the South Side Masonic temple, 6400 South Green street. The haven, a home for underprivileged children, is at 6323 Yale avenue. The card party is under the direction of Mrs. Inez Galezio, 8222 Ingleside avenue, and the proceeds will be used to provide a summer vacation for children from the haven. A baking sale will be held in conjunction with the card party. Mrs. Ruby C. Planthaber is president of the haven and Mrs. Helen B. Klein is secretary.

Mrs. Inez Galezio.

Styled with Youthfulness

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Whether you're 16 or 60, this dress is a youthful model which you will cherish. It's the type of youthfulness that goes with blonde curls or distinguished graying coiffures. Topping the snug little buttoned bodice is a dainty shirtwaist collar, edged with the same ruffling or lace that trims the matching cuffs on the demurely puffed sleeves. Around the waist is a simple tailored belt which may contrast or match, and the gored skirt has abundant flare, a trick that slenderizes the hips.

Almost every material will make up beautifully in this dressy yet simple model. You may use a soft silk in either a plain shade or a print, or you might select a cotton. We suggest, however, that you choose a washable material, in view of the summer season just around the corner.

Style No. 2802 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 4½ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

is holding its spring rummage sale at 615 Davis street, Evanston, today. Doors will open at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Harry A. Swigert is chairman of the sale.

The annual meeting of the Alliance Française will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the clubrooms.

Black Horse Troop to Give Program.

Chicago's famous Black Horse troop and mounted band are giving a show Saturday night at the 124th Field Artillery armory to raise funds for the troop and band.

In addition to a drill by the troop and band there will be an authentic jousting tournament between knights in full armor, and two polo games, one between the troop and Culver Military academy, the other between the 124th team and an all-star team made up of Stevens H. Hammond, James A. Hannah, Daniel Peacock, and Volney Bayley of Detroit. The jousting team, made up of members of the troop, boasts of being the only one of its kind today.

The Black Horse troop was organized in 1929 and headed first by the late Leonard A. Busby, and then by the late Frank O. Wetmore. Britton I. Budd is its present head.

Among those who have taken boxes for Saturday are W. Roy Carney, Walter P. Paepcke, Paul Butler, Leon Mandel, Robert W. McIlvain, Mayor Kelly, Harry O. Owen, Roy D. Keehn Jr., David J. A. Hayes, Frank O. Butler, Harold F. McCormick, Frank Bering, James Ragan Jr., Roy Nefziger, and George T. Donoghue.

Women Voters. Meet Monday.

The annual luncheon meeting of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters will be held at 12:30 o'clock on Monday at the Fortnightly club. Prof. James Weber Linn will speak.

Because the Musicians Club of Women is giving its annual spring luncheon next Monday at the Blackstone hotel, the May meeting of the Woman's Symphony Orchestral association is being postponed until Tuesday because many belong to both organizations. Following the Orchestral association meeting there will be a luncheon in the solarium of the Woman's Athletic club.

Mrs. Royden J. Keith, who is starting her second term as president of the Woman's Symphony, and Mr. Keith have invitations out for a reception at their home, 999 Lake Shore drive, on Sunday, May 8, from 3 until 6 o'clock.

The spring luncheon of the Musicians club promises to be an interesting affair, for William M. McGovern is to talk on "Behind the Scenes in Eastern Asia." Kathryn Witwer, soprano, and Leonard Sorkin, violinist, will give a musical program.

The American Opera society announces a lecture-tea on Friday, May 13, at 3 o'clock, at the Arts club. Cecil Smith of the University of Chicago and THE TRIBUNE will speak on "American Opera." Mrs. Ralph T. Winston is president of the society and Mrs. Robert H. McCormick III. is chairman of the committee planning the lecture and tea.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Harris Ward on Monday at the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest. The baby, who has been named John Anthony Ward, has a brother, David, who is 4 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Ward moved to Lake Forest last December from New York and leased the John T. McCutcheons' house. Mrs. Ward is the former Miss Mary Van Etten.

"I was sitting West and the hand is the worst freak I ever had. South opened with a bid of four hearts, a bad bid, of course. It should have been three hearts. I then bid four spades. This was either bold or rash and I don't know which you would say. I figured this way. If my partner had nothing, the opponents had a slam; if my partner had something, the sacrifice would be worth while and obviously it was the last opportunity for a bid. North doubled. I made five, which finally proved to be a tie for top.

"I would appreciate your comments on my bid. Of course, I would not have made it had we been vulnerable.

"Yours truly, B. G.—New York."

I note that my correspondent thinks that South's proper bid was three hearts. As a matter of fact this, of course, would have been far better than the four heart shut-out actually used, but still not the best bid by any means. South's holding was distinctly slammish and, although he could not afford to open with a two bid when holding only four honor tricks, the bid that offered the greatest chance of reaching the proper spot was a mere one heart. West had no need to feel that he was rash in overcalling the four heart bid with four spades. His terrific freak made such an overcall highly logical. It was North's double, even more than South's opening bid, that led to such a poor match-point score for North-South. Even with equal vulnerability, or nonvulnerability, North should not have considered doubling merely because he held two spade tricks. South had announced [although untruthfully] that his hand was virtually defenseless. And North, with three hearts, should have been doubtful about South's delivering even one trick to the defense of a spade contract.

Admittedly, North was in a "tough spot" after the two previous bids. A pass would convey a picture of less strength than North actually held, and a heart raise might be severely penalized. All in all, however, since North did have to choose from among many evils, the raise to five hearts would have been the least dangerous of any call. After such a raise it would be East's turn to be "on the spot," and he might very well decide to double. Of course, if he did double, West should not permit it to stand but should go to five spades. This, I am afraid, North would have to double and South probably would have to leave in, since his own bad opening bid had deprived him of the opportunity to locate an ace in the North hand and since, therefore, he could not know that a small slam in either diamonds or hearts would be a laydown.

Changes Start When Children Reach Age of 5

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday's letter from a mother about her dismay over her 6 year old son makes me realize it is a long time since I have written about the rather outstanding changes that take place after the first five years have swung past in the life of a little girl or boy. Some rather definite aspects of that change would be helpful to many mothers.

Your five year old has mastered the two difficult arts of walking and talking. Rapidly he gains a varied muscular skill. He can run, climb, leap, and turn somersaults with perfect ease. This means he is filled with a sense of power and of independence, which it is quite natural for him to express. The docility of babyhood gives way to a vigorous physical freedom.

Another change is usually seen in the five year old's language. He is quick to pick up new words and expressions.

To simplify things, then, we might say that these are the two changes that cause most trouble in the life of five year olds and their parents.

How to manage them? Just take these natural developments into account. Stop treating your five year old like a baby, even though he still is your baby. Give him more freedom and independence, so he can use these new-found powers of his.

As to his strong language—that is only experimentation, so don't take it too hard.

Four Aces Retain Vanderbilt Trophy by Narrow Margin

New York, April 27.—(AP)—The Four Aces, one of the bridge world's most powerful combinations, defeated the Cavendish club by a bare 200 points tonight to retain the National Vanderbilt trophy teams-of-four championship.

It was the closest margin for a winner in the 11 years of the event and the fourth time in five years the Aces had taken the trophy donated by Harold S. Vanderbilt.

Last year the Aces won by 4,000 points over the Cavendish club of Waldermar von Zedtwitz, Charles Lochridge, Theodore A. Lightner, B. Jay Becker and Edward Hymes Jr., who took Vanderbilt's place this year when the latter became ill.

If you enjoy keeping your dainty, delicate, expensive things looking fresh, colorful and gay—even after scores of washings—you owe it to yourself to try DREFT—(Process and product patented U. S. letters patent, 1,968,793 to 7 inclusive) the most amazing washing discovery in over 2000 years! For DREFT brings an entirely new conception of how long you can wear lingerie, chiffon hose and fine woolens without seeing them grow dim, dull and lifeless. And the chief reason for this is because DREFT can't possibly form any hard-water "scum."
This "scum" which you always see in your rinse water, is unnoticeable in your wash water—yet it is there, doing its vicious work, wash after wash, dulling the lustre of your sheer lingerie, spotting and streaking silk stockings. And this is true even though you have used what, before the discovery of DREFT, was recognized as the best, most expensive, soap known for washing fine fabrics.
Amazing as this may seem, DREFT ends all this because it can't form scum. And even more amazing, DREFT actually removes the stubborn, clinging scum particles that failed to rinse away in previous soap washings—lets "scum-dulled" colors come up to their true brilliance. You'll be thrilled to see the delicate colors and feel the silky softness of your sheerest stockings "wash back" in DREFT suds.
5 Times Greater Suds
In addition, DREFT does these three remarkable things no single soap has ever done, or can do now:
Makes 5 times greater suds than any soap in the hardest water.
Cleanses thoroughly—even lipstick and so-called "impossible" smudges!
By comparison DREFT makes even the purest soap you have ever known seem harsh—because DREFT suds contain no alkali. Alkali in soapsuds is what fades colors. DREFT suds are the only suds you can get that do not contain alkali. You'll be astonished how, wash after wash, silk stockings actually seem like new when you use DREFT. It's economical too. For instance, in hard water, you need only use half as much DREFT as you would the finest soap flakes. We don't ask you to take our word for these amazing claims. Prove them for yourself at our risk.
Take Advantage of 1c Sale Today

EUROPE'S BEST READY TO FIGHT FOR CHICAGO TRIP

THE GUMPS—SOUP'S ON!

18,000 TO SEE CHAMPIONS BOX IN BERLIN HALL.

Hungarian Squad First on Scene.

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—Europe tonight is assembling its fighting forces for the invasion of Chicago. One of the greatest amateur boxing tournaments in the world's history will be held in Deutschland hall in Berlin Friday night and out of it will come eight champions of all Europe.

These eight and probably two substitutes will sail for Chicago next Wednesday aboard the Queen Mary to encounter Chicago's Golden Gloves champions in the seventh international Golden Gloves bouts in Chicago Stadium on May 18.

Many times Europe has had tournaments in which various countries have entered championship teams, but this is the first time that only the best fighters of all nations have been invited to compete. This arrangement was decided upon a month ago to make sure that Europe would have the strongest possible representation in Chicago, where last year the continental fighters were held to a 4 to 4 score.

Hungary First to Arrive.

Hungary's fistic ambassadors were the first to arrive. Alex Podany, flyweight, and Michael Bondi, bantamweight, reached Berlin this morning. Before nightfall Count Gerardo Leonardi of Milan was here with Italy's four candidates, Constante Paesani, flyweight; Ulderico Sergo, bantamweight; Guido Vicini, featherweight, and Bruno Zorzenone, middleweight.

Oscar Soderlund of Stockholm, president of the European Boxing federation, who will accompany the squad to Chicago, also arrived tonight with Olle Tandberg, heavyweight, and Eric Agren, lightweight.

Tandberg last year won the European heavyweight title in the biennial tournament in Milan by scoring the surprise victory of the five day meet with his defeat of Herbert Runge, of Germany, in the finals. Tandberg is a tall, rangy 190 pounder with surprising stamina and his boxing provided the necessary points for him to gain the decision over Runge. But Tandberg, who then was preparing for his examinations in the state school for master painters, could not afford to take time for the long trip to the United States and regretfully declined the invitation.

Runge Joins Team.

Runge, who had not been in the best of health because of severe cold, and who then was unanimously regarded as the better of the two boxers because of his long experience and his Olympic championship, which he won in 1936, then joined the team.

Agren, who is a brother of Carl Ogren, former Golden Gloves champion, was chosen last year to make the trip as an alternate for Herbert Nurnberg, of Germany, the 135 pound European champion. Nurnberg defeated Agren in the second round in Milan, but until the day the team left Paris it was not known for certain whether he would be able to make the trip because of the illness of his son. In turn, Agren suffered misfortune, as he became ill during the crossing on the Berengaria, and being out of condition, with no chance to box after Nurnberg joined the squad, he returned immediately to Stockholm.

Chance to Visit Brother.

If Agren wins in the tournament here, he plans to visit his brother Carl for several months at Carl's farm in Wisconsin. This will be the first voyage to America for Mr. Soderlund. He speaks English fluently, as does Arthur Kankovszky, secretary of the association.

The bantamweight division is expected to produce furious competition. Bondi of Hungary, Kozoliek of Poland, and Sergo of Italy appear to be on a par with Graaf of Germany. A dangerous contender, Bondi has

BULL LEA CUT TO 4-5 ODDS IN KEENELAND RACE

Stagehand, Lawrin Show Speed in Workouts.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 27.—Most of the top grade 3 year olds in training here for their engagement in the Kentucky Derby were scared out of the renewal of the Blue Grass stakes, which winds up the annual spring racing season at Keeneland tomorrow afternoon.

The loud manner in which the Chicago colt, Bull Lea, owned by Warren Wright, shouted "Boo," the other day when he made his first start of the year, was what frightened them. As a result only three will take up the issue with him in the mile and an eighth tussle. They are Menow and Dah He, owned by Hal Price Headley of Lexington, and Red Breast, shipped on from New York by Mrs. Payne Whitney, not only for this engagement, but also to fill his date in the Derby.

Bull Lea Is Favorite.

Bull Lea gave Menow a sound thumping in their meeting here a week ago although the latter had an alibi in the fact that he got a bad start. Dah He never has looked to be nearly as good as Bull Lea. In his only start in the east Red Breast ran far behind the leaders although that was a short race. Horse judges claim he is a route runner. He must prove it tomorrow.

So, on the eve of the running of the Blue Grass stakes, while the Thoroughbred Club of America is making merry at its annual spring frolic in the clubhouse at Keeneland, Bull Lea is the red hot favorite at 4 to 5 to win the $9,000 prize. The lineup will be:

P.P. Horse—	Wt.	Jocky.	Odds.
*1. Dah He	121	E. Steffen	8-5
2. Red Breast	123	P. Roberts	15-1
3. Bull Lea	121	I. Anderson	4-5
*4. Menow	123	S. Stevenson	8-5

*Hal Price Headley entry.

Equally important as the Blue Grass stakes to the advance guard of Derby fans already in Kentucky and many others who will come here tomorrow to see Bull Lea run were the workouts over at Churchill Downs this morning.

Candidates Show Speed.

When Stagehand, Lawrin and The Chief finished their drills the running course was scorched almost to a frazzle. Stagehand and The Chief were the first on the track. Their short five-eighths of a mile drill was the most impressive of the Derby training season up to that time. They ran the five furlongs in one minute flat.

It was the way they did it that made it sensational. They ran the first eighth in 12 seconds, the second in 12, the third in 12, the fourth in 12, and the last in 12. The even pace amazed more than a hundred horsemen who, with their stopwatches in hand, lined the rails. An even pace like that kills off the opposition either early or late, they explained.

The workout, coupled with the general belief that Stagehand will run the last quarter of a mile of the Derby fully two seconds faster than any other horse in the race, caused a new boom in the Derby favorite's stock. Trainer Earl Sande, after a day in bed suffering from a cold, directed the drill.

Lawrin Steps Out.

Two hours later came another boom. This was in Lawrin stock. He's the colt that has been fighting with his trainer Ben Jones of Missouri ever since the Derby training season started. Evidently Lawrin and his trainer have patched up their differences.

Lawrin staged not only the fastest route drill of the Derby training season but ran one of the fastest miles ever credited to a Derby candidate in a Derby preparation workout.

He was sent a mile and an eighth. The time was 1:52 4-5. He rounded

Sox Get Careless and Indians Get a Run

Julius Solters of the Indians slides home with the run that tied the score in the fourth inning of yesterday's White Sox game. Solters came home from third when Marvin Owen, after fielding Hal Trosky's grounder, failed to drive Solters back to the bag before tossing to first. Luke Sewell is the Sox catcher.

Western Stars Drill on Drake Relays Track

Des Moines, Ia., April 27.—[Special.]—Great athletes from the Pacific coast and southwest found time between Iowa's April showers today to work out in the Drake stadium, scene of the relays Friday and Saturday.

Texas and Rice, which between them cleaned up in the Texas and Kansas relays, were represented by full squads today. So was the crack Oklahoma Baptist outfit, headed by 1936 Olympic team member Harold Cagle, one of the favorites in the special 440 yard dash.

From across the Rocky mountains came the Compton [Cal.] Junior college mile relay team, which will be anchored by the runner acclaimed as the Pacific coast's leading quarter miler, Wilbur Miller. Miller, a 120 pound Negro who has a competitive time of 47.1 seconds this year, has been made the favorite in the quarter mile special.

Miller and Cagle face serious competition from the northwest in Washington State's two stars, Lee Orr and Melvin Peddichord, both of whom arrived in Des Moines tonight, too late for a workout.

New Threat in Sprints.

Trying out the Drake track today was an unheralded threat for sprint honors, Mozelle Ellerbee, who came all the way from Tuskegee institute in Alabama for a try at the Drake relays sprint crown worn in the past by such men as Jesse Owens and Ralph Metcalfe.

Coach Clyde Littlefield of Texas accompanied a twenty man squad, including at least four who rank as favorites to win special events.

Among the Texans was Beefus Bryan, a sophomore, who vaulted 13 feet 11¾ inches to win at the Kansas relays. This mark is three-quarters of an inch better than the Drake record set in 1930 by Tom Warne of Northwestern.

Fast Field of Hurdlers.

Boyce Gatewood, a 14.3 second high hurdler; Hugh Wolfe, full back who won the discus throw at the Texas and Kansas relays; Hugh Graves, sprinter, and Gillian Graham, national A. A. U. junior javelin champion and also a Texas and Kansas champion, were other Texas athletes on hand today.

VAUGHAN KNOCKS HOME RUN WITH THREE ON BASE

Larry French Routed in Seventh Inning.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 27.—Arky Vaughan, who is only ordinary as a shortstop, but skilled as a bat wielder, forced the Cubs to stage another of their copyrighted fainting spells this afternoon. Arky dynamited a home run into the seats with the bases filled in the seventh, wiped out a handsome Chicago lead and sent the giddy Pirates to victory, 6 to 5, in the final of the series. The knockout blow gave Pittsburgh the rubber decision of the three game set.

The big faint was mainly a collapse of Larry French, who for quite a stretch had everybody convinced that he was going to duplicate his recent shutout of the Cardinals. The left-handed chucker was good this time for six innings—so good that the Pirates couldn't even frame up a serious scoring threat. But he tottered without warning in the seventh and a pair of passes and a pair of hits set the stage for Vaughan's explosive shot on a 3 and 2 pitch.

Cubs Take Lead.

The Cubs put French in what should have been a comfortable state of mind by making scoring impressions on the pitching of Cy Blanton and his immediate successor, Mace Brown. The Chicagoans started to build up a four run lead by getting a pair in the fourth, one because of a homer by Joe Marty and the other because of singles by Augie Galan and Ken O'Dea. Stanley Hack and Rip Collins conspired to rap home a lone run in the fifth.

In the next inning it became 4 to 0 because of hits by O'Dea and French off Brown. And then the Cubs scored again in the ninth on errors behind Bob Klinger, but this wasn't sufficient for a tie because some weak shortstopping by Tony Lazzeri had given the Pirates an extra run while Charley Root was operating in the eighth.

Cubs Miss Chances.

One feature that hurt the Cubs considerably was a pair of double plays, both launched against the same hitter. After the fifth inning run had counted and there was one out, Frank Demaree thumped a grounder into the first of the double plays. He did it again in the ninth to end the party after the Cubs had scored one and had the tying run on second base with none out. A messed up sacrifice attempt also ruined this eleventh hour chance to stave off defeat.

The Cubs scored first in the fourth inning. Marty banged the first pitch of the inning over the left field fence. Galan followed with a single through short and stole second. On the fourth ball to Lazzeri, Todd threw to second to nip Galan, but the bag wasn't covered, so Galan sprinted to third while Jensen was recovering the ball in center field. O'Dea slammed a single past Young to send Galan home. French rolled into a force play.

Cubs Increase Lead.

Two hits enabled the Cubs to compile a 3 to 0 lead in the fifth. Hack tripled to the fence in left center and Herman flied to P. Waner, Hack holding third. He rode home a moment later on Collins' single past Suhr. Demaree then grounded into a double play.

Brown put Marty and Galan out of the way in the sixth before the Cubs began planning for their fourth run. The opening wedge was another pass to Lazzeri. O'Dea singled to right. French dropped a Texas league single between Young and P. Waner to score Lazzeri and move O'Dea to third. This bit of activity ended on Hack's fly to Jensen in deep center.

Vaughan Hits Homer.

FOUR RUN RALLY IN 7TH INNING ROUTS INDIANS

Steinbacher, Trosky Hit Home Runs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Thornton Lee, aided much by Mike Kreevich's and Hank Steinbacher's heavy firing, yesterday became a multiple hero in the White Sox's 6 to 3 conquest of the rampant Cleveland Indians. Long Thornton emerged a pitching hero by virtue of a seven hit, nine inning performance, and he touched off a four run victory blast with two out in the seventh inning.

The fact that Lee lasted nine innings made him a standout among Sox pitchers. It was the eighth Sox game and no other Sox caster had gone the full distance. The very fact that no pitcher had been able to stay in all the way may have been the victory break. Otherwise Manager Dykes might have sent up a pinch batter in the seventh. The Chicagoans were trailing, 3 to 2. Berger had whiffed and Sewell had tapped gently to the second baseman. The Sox hadn't got a runner on first in two and two-thirds innings, and Lee hadn't got the ball out of the infield in two previous looks at Harder. Normally it was the spot for a pinch batter.

Thornton Justifies Choice.

Mr. Dykes has been getting redder and redder about the progress of his conservation of energy plan and had determined to get a nine inning pitcher. Up went Thornton, not a bad hitter, at that.

Well, the big lefty socked a single to center. It was only the Sox's seventh hit and caused no great consternation. Jackie Hayes followed with a single and Lee was in scoring position. Kreevich hadn't hit the ball out of the infield, but those who know little Mike felt a safety coming on. Mike tripled past Averill, scoring Lee with the tying run and Hayes with the winning run.

The Sox learned Tuesday they could not depend on a one or two run lead over the Indians. So Steinbacher cleared up matters by banging a homer into the right field grandstand, his third hit in four times at bat. He counted behind Keevich and the score reached its final status.

The success lifted the Sox back to a .500 rating. It was their fourth victory in eight games. It stopped a six game winning streak the Indians had built up after losing their season opener. And it was the kind of a biff, bang victory the Sox have been looking for all spring.

Thornton Wabbles a Little.

Lee showed signs of a recurrence of the first inning wildness which had him in the start of his game in St. Louis the other day. He walked Lary and threw three wide ones to Campbell before snapping into form. Then he fanned Campbell and Lary was doubled trying to reach second. Hale flied to Kreevich.

The Sox, in their first inning, achieved two well earned runs. Hayes opened with a single to center but was forced by Kreevich. Steinbacher lined a single to center, putting Kreevich on third. Walker singled to center, Kreevich scoring and Steinbacher reaching third. Steinbacher scored while Hale was tossing out Kuhel. Owen ran the count to three balls and two strikes, then flied to Averill.

There were two out in the second inning when Trosky socked his No. 3 homer. Solters had flied to Kreevich and Averill had fanned. Trosky then banged one into the right field lower deck. Keltner walked but Pytlak flied to Steinbacher.

And Then It's Tied.

Cardinals Score Second Victory of Season.

Cincinnati, O., April 27.—(AP)—Lon Warneke pitched three hit ball today to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 5 to 0 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds. It was St. Louis' second victory of the year and the first in five starts.

Mickey Owen drove out three doubles and the return of Joe Medwick to uniform, apparently fully recovered from an attack of lumbago, provided added impetus for the Cardinals.

GIANTS WIN TWO.

New York, April 27.—(AP)—The Giants beat the Phillies, 7 to 3 and 11 to 6, in both games of the year's first double-header today to stretch their winning streak to seven straight and climb into a tie for first place in the National league.

Harry Gumbert allowed only six hits in the opener, running into serious trouble only in the eighth, when Chuck Klein hit a home run with one on. Cliff Melton, who relieved Bill Lohrman in the fifth inning of the second game, received credit for the victory, his third of the season.

White Shirts Keep Roller Derby Lead, 104 to 101

The White Shirt group led the Black Shirts, 104 points to 101, after the fifth night of skating in the roller Derby at the Coliseum last night. Mickey Milane, a Black Shirt, made frequent attempts to lap the field, but was kept back by five of the opposing faction. Several thousand saw the night's skating. Jack Cummings, a Black Shirt, was given a five point penalty for deliberately falling during a jam.

Yanks Crush A's, 9 to 2, on 16 Hit Attack

Philadelphia, Pa., April 27.—(AP)—For the first time this season, the New York Yankees managed to win two games in a row today by beating the Athletics, 9 to 2, on the strength of a 16 hit attack and effective hurling by Red Ruffing.

Ruffing yielded eight hits, fanned four and allowed only four runners to pass second base. The only time he was in trouble came in the second inning when Dario Lodigiani smashed a homer with a mate on base. Tommy Henrich made three hits, one of them a homer.

Browns Join with Newsom to Beat Tigers

St. Louis, April 27.—(AP)—Gabby Street shook up the St. Louis Browns batting order today, Buck Newsom pitched a good game despite eight bases on balls and the result was a victory over the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 2.

Seven of Newsom's walks came in the first five innings. In the second the bases were full, all because of the pitcher's wildness. But Newsom pitched out of these tight spots and won his third straight game of the season, allowing only four hits.

Pirates Rout French; Beat Cubs, 6 to 5

shot batted for Brown and flied to Marty, Brubaker scoring after the catch. Jensen looped a single into right. P. Waner grounded to Collins for the second out and all that French then had to do was to get Rookie Rizzo. French let him escape on a pass which filled the bases. And this was the spot Vaughan selected for delivery of his homer into the right field seats, putting the Pirates ahead by 5 to 4.

The Pirates strengthened their hold on the day's decision by scoring one off Root in the eighth. Brubaker walked with one out and stole second as Young fanned. Klinger bounced one straight at Lazzeri who let the ball roll up one arm, around his neck, and down the other wing. It was a good act but the ex-Yankee really didn't know where the ball was at. By the time he located it Brubaker had scored from second. Klinger was credited with an undeserved hit.

The Pirates tried hard enough to let the Cubs get back into a tie in the ninth but the Chicagoans didn't appreciate the charitable inclinations of their foes. Hack opened with a grounder which Vaughan let slip through his hands. Jensen also fumbled it, so Hack went to third. He scored on Herman's grounder which skipped past Brubaker for two bases. Collins tried to bunt Herman to third but Todd recovered the tap and nailed Herman going into the bag. Then Demaree ended it quickly by grounding to Vaughan for a double play.

Lee to Pitch in Game with Reds; Cubs Home Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 27.—Bill Lee will pitch for the Cubs tomorrow when they open a two day stay in Wrigley field with the Cincinnati Reds. Lee's only other start this season was in last week's opener at home. That was the day the Cards nosed out the Cubs with four runs in the ninth.

The weather was hot, so the boys enjoyed a swell sweat before the game, especially Dizzy Dean, who thought it a good time to give his arm a real test. The arm was as loose as a swinging barn door. Diz's next appearance may be against the Reds on Friday.

Lloyd Baby Waner was on the sidelines because of a slight charley horse picked up while making a sprint to first base yesterday. He may need a couple of days of rest.

Bill Jurges' plans to return to shortstop tomorrow in Chicago may not materialize. Today his right thumb, which was dislocated several days ago, was giving so much trouble that Doc Lotshaw had to wrap it in bandages.

The Cubs did right well for themselves during the three day visit here. The Monday game drew 9,235; the Tuesday affair, 7,523, and today's argument, 9,551.

Dietrich Will Face Tigers in Detroit Today

The White Sox will open a two game series in Detroit this afternoon. Bill Dietrich is scheduled to pitch. Roxie Lawson, who lost the season opener to the Sox, will try to do better today.

John Whitehead, the only Sox pitcher who was able to go eight innings in the first seven games, and who did it twice, is confined to his Chicago hotel with a throat infection. He is unable to make the Detroit trip.

Owner Lou Comiskey of the Sox gave a corned beef and cabbage luncheon in the Fourth Estate room yesterday. Managers James Dykes and Oscar Vitt revealed their success secrets to the assembled guests.

The Sox will be back home Saturday morning for a two game series with the St. Louis Browns. They will depart Sunday night for their first eastern trip, Philadelphia, Washington, New York, Boston and Cleveland.

HENDRICKS OF BRADLEY PITCHES A NO HIT GAME

Peoria, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—John [Lefty] Hendricks of Farmersville, Ill., Bradley pitcher, hurled a no hit, no run game today against Augustana. Bradley scored in the sixth inning to win, 1 to 0. Hendricks struck out seven and walked three. He did not allow a man to reach third base.

Lee Pitches Seven Hit, Nine Inning Game.

second hit off Lee, and went to third on Averill's fly to Kreevich. Trosky tapped to Owen and Marv, forgetting to feint Solters back toward third, threw to Kuhel. Solters, twenty feet off third, dashed home with the tying score. Keltner doubled off Owen's shins and Pytlak filed to Walker.

Owen opened the fourth with a single to center but Berger, forswearing a bunt, lined into a double play, Hale to Trosky. Sewell singled to right but was forced by Lee.

Harder singled at the start of the fifth for the fourth hit and first single off Lee, but was forced on Lary's attempted sacrifice, Kuhel to Berger. Heath fanned and Hale walked. Solters walked, loading the bases. Averill failed to offer at two strikes, then tapped to Lee.

Cleveland Goes Ahead.

The Indians loaded the bases again in the sixth, this time with none out. They derived only one run from the situation, although that marker put them ahead for the first time in the game. Trosky was hit by a pitched ball. He stopped at second and Keltner reached first when Owen fumbled Keltner's slow bouncer. Pytlak beat out a bunt, the only hit of the inning, filling the bases. Harder hit into a double play, Trosky scoring. Berger threw out Lary.

Heath singled off Hayes' glove to get the Indian seventh under way. Hale sacrificed and was safe on Lee's wide throw to first. Solters hit into the third Sox double play, started by Lee, and Averill filed to Kreevich.

This Was an Inning.

After Berger had fanned and Sewell had tapped to Hale in the seventh Lee singled to center to get the big inning rolling. Lee stopped at second on Hayes' single to right center. Averill tried for a shoestring catch on Kreevich's drive and it bounded past him for a triple, Lee and Hayes scoring. Steinbacher then drove a homer, his third hit of the game, into the right field stands, scoring behind Kreevich. Walker fouled to Trosky.

Lary opened the ninth with a single to center, the seventh hit off Lee, and moved up while Lee was tossing out Heath. Owen threw out Hale and Solters filed to Steinbacher.

CHICAGO'S GOLF LEAGUES ADOPT 1938 SCHEDULES

New Southwest Group in Competition.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago's family golf program was complete for the 1938 season with the announcement yesterday of the schedules of the North Shore and Southwest leagues. The other two sectional families in interclub competition, the South and West districts, already had outlined their plans.

The North Shore league, oldest of its kind in the district, will begin play on May 25 at Indian Hill. Members of the league are Indian Hill, Park Ridge, North Shore, Edgewater, Evanston, Exmoor, Skokie, Sunset Ridge, Westmoreland, and Ridgemoor. W. N. Lane of Skokie is president and Ray Bowen of Park Ridge is secretary and treasurer.

New League Is Formed.

Chairman of the newly formed Southwest league, which set its schedule in a meeting at the La Salle hotel headquarters of the Chicago District Golf association yesterday, is Kenneth W. Moore of Edgewood Valley. Dr. A. F. Pins of Butterfield was elected secretary and treasurer. Six clubs—Edgewood Valley, Butterfield, Aurora, Western Springs [formerly Acacia], Ridge, and La Grange—will compose the league. President Kenneth Rice of La Grange will donate a trophy for the league champions. Play will begin June 9 at La Grange.

The schedule of the North Shore league follows:

JUNE 8, AT SUNSET RIDGE — Sunset Ridge vs. North Shore; Evanston vs. Indian Hill; Skokie vs. Edgewater; Exmoor vs. Ridgemoor; Park Ridge vs. Westmoreland.

JUNE 22, AT SKOKIE—Skokie vs. Indian Hill; North Shore vs. Exmoor; Evanston vs. Ridgemoor; Edgewater vs. Westmoreland; Sunset Ridge vs. Park Ridge.

JULY 13, AT EDGEWATER—Edgewater vs. Sunset Ridge, North Shore vs. Evanston, Skokie vs. Exmoor, Indian Hill vs. Westmoreland, Park Ridge vs. Ridgemoor.

JULY 27, AT WESTMORELAND—Westmoreland vs. Evanston, North Shore vs. Skokie, Edgewater vs. Ridgemoor, Indian Hill vs. Sunset Ridge, Exmoor vs. Park Ridge.

AUG. 10, AT EVANSTON—Evanston vs. Skokie, North Shore vs. Park Ridge, Edgewater vs. Exmoor, Indian Hill vs. Ridgemoor, Sunset Ridge vs. Westmoreland.

AUG. 24, AT RIDGEMOOR—Ridgemoor vs. Sunset Ridge, Exmoor vs. Westmoreland, North Shore vs. Indian Hill, Evanston vs. Edgewater, Skokie vs. Park Ridge.

SEPT. 7, AT NORTH SHORE—North Shore vs. Ridgemoor, Evanston vs. Park Ridge, Skokie vs. Westmoreland, Edgewater vs. Indian Hill, Exmoor vs. Sunset Ridge.

SEPT. 21, AT PARK RIDGE—Park Ridge vs. Edgewater, North Shore vs. Westmoreland, Evanston vs. Sunset Ridge, Indian Hill vs. Exmoor, Skokie vs. Ridgemoor.

Southwest Card Arranged.

JULY 21, AT WESTERN SPRINGS—La Grange vs. Western Springs, Edgewood Valley vs. Ridge, Butterfield vs. Aurora.

AUG. 11, AT RIDGE—Ridge vs. Aurora, La Grange vs. Edgewood Valley, Butterfield vs. Western Springs.

AUG. 25, AT EDGEWOOD VALLEY—Play to be by draw.

Manager John Schweitzer and Professional Harry Hampton already are making preparations for the annual championship of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association to be decided at their new psot, the Bon-Air Country club, located on Milwaukee avenue, north of Wheeling. The pros will engage in a special tourney on Aug. 7 and will decide their championship on Aug. 8 at 36 holes of medal play.

The University of Illinois alumni will hold their annual field day and golf tournament on June 7. The site will be announced later, George K. Whyte of Glen Flora said yesterday. Illinois has turned out some of the ablest golfers in this section, including Whyte himself, George Dawson, Bill Lain, Rial Rolfe, Dick Martin, Steve Williams, and Gus Novotny.

June 8 has been set as the date for the Illinois Seniors' Golf association spring tournament at Beverly.

WALLACE MEETS SUBSTITUTE AND LOSES IN 7TH

New York, April 27.—(AP)—George Zengaras, rushed in as a last minute substitute, scored an upset tonight by knocking out Frankie Wallace of Cleveland in the seventh round of their ten round bout in the Hippodrome.

Weighing 138 pounds to his rival's 137¾, Zengaras landed a hard right cross which dropped the Clevelander flat on his face while Referee Billy Cavanaugh tolled ten over him.

Zengaras didn't know until afternoon today he was to fight. The battle originally was to have been between Pedro Montanez and Wallace, but the former turned up at the weighing-in ceremonies today with a sore throat and injured hand and officials refused to let him go on.

Loyola Beats Armour, 4 to 3, in Tennis Match

The Loyola university tennis team defeated Armour Tech, four matches to three, yesterday on the Loyola courts. Loyola won three singles and one doubles match. Summaries:

SINGLES—Bill Lynch [L.] defeated Nick Natinchek [A.], 6-3, 4-6, 7-5. Edward Swanson [A.] defeated Gene Dubay [L.], 6-8, 6-1, 6-4. Norbert Hruby [L.] defeated Bob Lange [A.], 6-2, 6-2. Joe Kubik [A.] defeated Don Swafford [L.], 6-2, 6-1. Bill Janik [L.] defeated Ralph Wagner [A.], 6-4, 7-5.

DOUBLES—Dubay and Lynch [L.] defeated Natinchek and Swanson [A.], 6-4, 6-6, 6-1. Kubik and Lange [A.] defeated Swafford and Hruby [L.], 7-5, 7-5.

EXTEND SWIM MEET.

The Lake Shore Athletic club "Aquatic Derby" which was originally scheduled to wind up this week will be extended for anotoher month.

Frosh Stars Make Hit with Coach at N. U.

Freshmen will vie with veterans in the intrasquad football game which will wind up six weeks of spring practice at Northwestern university Saturday. Nearly three-fourths of the 100 players who took part in the spring drills were frosh.

While the presence of twenty letter men will make it difficult for sophomores to earn starting positions on next fall's team, several newcomers demonstrated this spring they will push the veterans for positions.

Soper Shows Promise.

This particularly was true in the back field, where Paul Soper, triple threat back from Muskegon, Mich., is a promising prospect to succeed Don Heap at left half. Other freshmen half backs who attracted attention were Erwin Madsen, who prepped at Austin High school, Chicago; Oliver Hahnenstein of Aurora, Ashley Arnold of Kalamazoo, Albert Rutherus of Maryville, Mo., and John Brown of Hillside, N. J.

Although both of last year's full backs, Jay Laskey and George McGurn, will be back next fall, several freshman candidates are expected to see considerable action. Francis Purtell, rugged 190-pounder from Milwaukee, and Vic Thieling of St. Louis both made good showings this spring.

Here Are Some Blockers.

A successor for Fred Vanzo, last year's blocking quarter back, may be found among Harold Junkunc of Oak Park, Don Stevens of Aurora, and Bob Adams of Indianapolis.

Rolls a Perfect Game on Riverside Alleys

Eddie Hess, member of the Keller Coal and Coke company bowling team, last night rolled a 300 game in the Riverside Major Bowling league on the Riverside alleys. Hess had a total of 704, scoring 171 in his first game and 233 in his second before making the perfect game. Hess averaged 192 in the league this season.

Armour Tech Track Team Defeats Wright, 90½-34½

Armour Tech's track squad handed Wright Junior college a 90½ to 34½ defeat in a practice dual meet on Ogden field yesterday. The victory was Tech's third this season.

KOZELUH GOES TO SEMI-FINALS OF NET TOURNEY

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 27.—(AP)—Karel Kozeluh of Greenwich, Conn., defending champion, and Joe Whalen of New York City pounded their way today into the semi-finals of the annual Greenbrier open tennis tournament.

The Czechoslovakian star won a straight set victory from the veteran Francis T. Hunter of New York, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1, by ramming powerful base-line drives beyond his opponent's reach.

Whalen had a difficult time getting past Richard Skeen of Burbank, Cal., 4-6, 6-2, 6-8, 6-2, 6-0.

The other two quarter-final contests, matching George Lott with Jan Kozeluh and Bruce Barnes with Herman Peterson are slated for tomorrow.

Barnes and Lott and the Kozeluh brothers featured second round play in the doubles division. Both teams won in straight sets.

Alice Marble to Open Class for Juniors Today

Alice Marble, who holds the No. 1 position in American women's tennis rankings, arrived yesterday from the west coast. Miss Marble, who is on her way to England to compete for the Wimbledon championship, will stay in Chicago for several days to assist in the training of junior Wightman cup players. She is accompanied by her instructor, Eleanor Tennant.

The junior Wightman cup squads were established by the United States Lawn Tennis association this year in Chicago and five other cities for the purpose of developing young players for future international competition.

Miss Marble and Miss Tennant will work with the local players at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the University of Chicago courts, and at the same time tomorrow at the Country Club of Evanston. Girls between the ages of 15 and 19 years are invited to attend the workouts.

CHAMPION MOVES UP IN ENGLISH GOLF TOURNEY

LEEDS, England, April 27.—(AP)—Defending Champion Frank Pennink today entered the fourth round of the English amateur golf tourney by defeating T. Day, 2 up.

Gaining the third round were G. Illingworth, who defeated Brig. Gen. A. C. Critchley, sports promoter, 1 up in 21 holes; Leonard Crawley, 1931 champion, who beat Gordon Jones, 1 up, and E. Bromley Davenport, who eliminated W. C. Hewitt, 4 and 3.

Pennink, Crawley, and Davenport are candidates for the British Walker cup team.

with Rice Institute's pair of hurdlers, Fred Wolcott and John Patterson, both of whom arrived yesterday. Wolcott is the sophomore who won his event at the Texas relays in 13.9 seconds and repeated at Kansas in :14.2.

Throwing the discus today was the favorite, Adrian Davis of Compton Junior college. Davis this year has a throw of 163 feet 8 inches to his credit and has done 164 in practice. Both are better than the existing Drake record.

Fresno State college, of Fresno, Cal., was represented by Tom Nelscn, one of the west coast's best sprinters, while four boys from San José State, of San José, Cal., also were on hand.

Big Influx Today.

Relays Director Pitch Johnson said today that the big influx of athletes would begin tomorrow. Stars from all but Indiana, Michigan and Ohio State of the Big Ten will compete here, as well as strong teams from Notre Dame and Michigan State, from all of the Big Six, Missouri Valley, and Southwest conference schools.

whipped every opponent he has faced in the last year, but never has met Sergo, twice victor in Chicago and 1936 Olympic champion.

Expect Capacity Crowd.

Neither Bondi nor Kozoliek competed in the Olympic games nor in last year's European championships. Antoni Czortek was the Polish bantamweight champion in 1937, but Kozoliek this year has swept through all international competition with the exception of the recent dual matches between Poland and Hungary in Budapest April 10. There Bondi won a hairline decision and the possibility of a return bout if the luck of the draw makes this possible or if neither is beaten before the championship round is one reason why German officials today predicted a capacity attendance of 18,000 in Deutschland hall.

Eleven nations are represented in the preliminary pairings and, since international matches are held frequently between central European nations, many of the competitors are as well known in Berlin as in their home countries.

IMPORTS TROUT TO STOCK POOLS ON ELGIN FARM

Fishing on a Fee Basis May Be Allowed.

BY BOB BECKER.

One of the largest shipments of trout ever to come into the state and be planted in privately owned spring pools in Chicagoland recently was placed in ponds on the property of Max McGraw, near Elgin. This project may mean the start of a trout fishing system that will be new to Chicagoland but that is old stuff in other parts of the United States.

Mr. McGraw said yesterday he is considering letting members of the Izaak Walton league fish his ponds, each angler to pay for the cost of fish which he catches and takes home. What some anglers might want to know is the possibility of fishing being permitted on a fee basis.

Known in California.

California has several places up in the hills where well stocked, spring fed pools are open to anglers who want to fish and pay for their catches at so much a pound. Some of the trout clubs even provide an outside fireplace and skillet so anglers may grill trout for lunch.

The trout which Mr. McGraw recently brought in from Colorado came by express. The fish were shipped in tanks of ice water into which pure oxygen was fed continuously. The cost of transportation exceeded 25 cents a pound of live weight fish. Several such shipments have been placed in the ponds.

To date Mr. McGraw has placed nearly 200,000 trout in the pools. His farm is on route 25 [near Elgin] and about five miles north of the intersection of routes 20 and 25.

Average Ten Inches.

The average size of the fish is around 10 inches, but there are some that exceed five pounds in weight. Most of the trout are rainbows but some steelheads and eastern brooks also are included.

The springs into which the trout have gone are very cold, so there should be no trouble with high summer temperatures. One of the springs has a flow of 1,000,000 gallons of 48 degree water every 24 hours. And the temperature is the same the year round.

LONDOS IS READY; SO IS BABA; FANS CAN HARDLY WAIT

Play Return Engagement in Amphitheater.

Baba finished training yesterday in Trafton's gymnasium by working out with Phil Malloy and Rudy Kay, while Londos engaged in a practice encounter with Ole Olson in Peoria last night.

Londos' backers say he is in better condition than when he defeated Baba in their previous meeting in the Coliseum north hall last March 25. On that occasion Baba fell out of the ring and was counted out by Referee Lou Gordon in 34 minutes and 10 seconds.

A report that the advance ticket sale is greater this time has caused Promoters Ed White and Fred Kohler to predict more than 5,000 will pay $8,000 to see the rematch.

Matchmaker Benny Ray is awaiting confirmation from Nick Camarata, New Orleans, La., lightweight, for a ten round meeting with Billy Marquart of Winnipeg in Marigold Gardens May 9. Ray's address for the next ten days will be Evangelical Deaconess hospital. He was taken to the hospital Monday night following a heart attack. . . . Davey Day and Pete Cara, New York 138 pounder, are principals in the ten round headliner in Marigold Monday. The outdoor inaugural in Marigold is scheduled for May 31, but if construction work on the open air arena is finished in time the opening will be advanced to May 24. . . . Dr. William Rothman, chief of the Golden Gloves staf of physicians, will be in charge of examining the sixteen contestants who will participate in the annual amateur boxing show in St. Hilary auditorium, Bryn Mawr and California avenues, Tuesday. . . .

The first of a string of professional wrestling cards will be held in Marigold Gardens next Thursday night under the auspices of Promoters Joe Coffey and Paul Paloski. . . . The National Tea company is sponsoring a series of amateur contests in the Johnny Coulon gymnasium, 1154 East 63d street, May 9. . . . The Catholic Youth organization will conduct a program tonight in St. Columbanus hall, 331 East 71st street. Other shows presented by the C. Y. O. will include those in St. Francis Xavier auditorium in La Grange tomorrow, in the American Legion's arena at 1425 West 42d street, Monday; St. Columbkille parish, 1648 West Grand avenue, Tuesday, and Lake Shore Athletic club, 850 North Lake Shore drive, May 5.

Jimmy Clark, former American Olympic Golden Gloves middleweight title holder, is training for a ten round headliner with Walter Woods in Buffalo, N. Y., on May 8. . . . James C. Mullen will attend the Barney Ross-Henry Armstrong welterweight title fight in Madison Square Garden bowl May 26. . . . The next meeting of the Illinois boxing commission is booked for Tuesday with the probability that a new commissioner and a secretary will be inducted into office. John Owen, current secretary, may be appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George Getz, senior member of the commission. . . . Hank Bath, Fort Morgan, Colo., heavyweight, arrived yesterday for bouts in this section.

PASCH SCORES EASY VICTORY IN 2,000 GUINEAS

NEWMARKET, England, April 27.—(AP)—H. E. Morriss' Pasch today kept a perfect record intact with victory in the 2,000 Guineas, first of the British season's features for 3 year olds.

Making the second start of his career, the son of Blandford finished the 130th running of the mile with two lengths to spare to become the horse to beat in the Derby at Epsom Downs, June 1.

James V. Rank's Scottish Union was second and the Aga Khan's Mirza II. trailed by another length and a half for third place. Fourth place went to Portmarnock and fifth to J. E. Widener's Unbreakable, only American owned colt in the field of eighteen. Blandstar, also sired by Blandford, was last.

Ridden by England's ranking jocky, Gordon Richards, Pasch was heavily played at 5 to 2. Scottish Union was a 9 to 1 shot while Mirza was held at 7 to 1.

WAR ADMIRAL, SEABISCUIT JOG THROUGH DRILLS

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—War Admiral and Seabiscuit had easy workouts at Belmont Park this morning as part of their preparation for their $100,000 match race there on Memorial day.

War Admiral jogged around the track for a mile and a half and Seabiscuit was galloped for two miles over the training track. Both are coming along nicely in training.

Helen Moody Reaches London for Title Bid

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 27.—Helen Wills Moody, former United States and British women's singles tennis champion, arrived in England to participate in tournaments this summer. Mrs. Moody said she will begin preparations at Wimbledon tomorrow. She plans to play in the Chiswick Park and St. George's Hill tournaments before entering the Wightman cup matches on June 10 and 11, and the British championship meet starting June 20.

Time, 1:13. Two dollar mutuels paid: Golden Vein, $6.50 straight, $4.40 place, $3.10 show; Early Times, $9.00 place, $5.50 show; Lady Maryland, $3.50 show. Winner, ch. or ro. h., 7, by Golden Spire-Daisy Vein. Owner, Mrs. P. Dalee Watts. Trainer, P. Dalee Watts. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 3:00. Off at 3:01½.

GOLDEN VEIN, rated while in close quarters to stretch, came to outside for racing room and closed with a rush, to be up in concluding strides. EARLY TIMES came willingly for final test on inside. LADY MARYLAND moved up boldly to take brief lead and weakened in final test.

THIRD RACE—Mile and one-quarter. Four year olds and up. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, 2:09 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Phantom Fox, $35.80 straight, $12.30 place, $6.60 show; Durwrack, $7.50 place, $4.50 show; Patient Saint, $10.50 show. Winner, b. g., 5, by Gallant Fox-Percussion. Start good. Won driving, place same.

PHANTOM FOX, steadied along to backstretch, improved position gradually and drew out under good handling. DURWRACK, outrun to stretch, closed with belated rush. PATIENT SAINT, allowed to settle into stride, moved up on inside, was blocked turning for home, and closed gamely when clear. JAMES BOY came with good speed in stretch and pulled up sore. MARIATO was used up setting pace and tired badly.

FOURTH RACE—Mile and 70 yards. Three year olds. Purse $1,500. Net value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50.

Rudie Races in Own Class; Finds It Pays

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Dropping down a peg or two from the top notch sprinters he trailed in the Paumonok, William H. Gallagher's Rudie found himself in more suitable company at Jamaica today as he captured the Parole handicap at a mile and a sixteenth.

Rudie, 13 to 5 favorite, finished a length and a half before J. D. Norris' Sandy Boot with Teufel, running in the colors of Ogden Phipps, third among the six starters. Rudie led his field from start to finish but had to be put under a drive near the finish when Sandy Boot made a determined challenge.

Fractious at the Start.

Rudie was fractious at the post. He broke through several times and reared up, nearly throwing his rider. Finally he was ordered to the outside of the starting gate but in spite of this handicap he had the foot to get to the front before reaching the first turn.

This race marked the first appearance in this country of Maraton, 5 year old Chilean horse which was purchased by the Longchamps farms for $10,000 and is generally regarded as the best of the South American horses imported to this country. He is a big chestnut, standing 16.2 hands high. He is not yet ready for his best effort and was bothered by the sharp turns at Jamaica but he is expected to be a factor in the handicap division when he reaches his peak. He trailed the field today but closed fast in the stretch.

Johnstown Redeems Himself.

Johnstown, highly regarded juvenile who disappointed his followers in his debut last week, redeemed himself in the third race, a five furlong dash for maiden 2 year olds. He took the lead at the start and got home two lengths in front of the Greentree stable's Hash. John Hay Whitney's King Cotton was third.

PURVIN IS NAMED ILLINOIS' BEST FROSH ATHLETE

Champaign, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Theodore Purvin, Rockford, member of the freshman wrestling team, tonight was awarded the Delta Alpha Epsilon fraternity's scholarship trophy presented to the outstanding first year athlete at the University of Illinois who made the highest scholastic average for the first semester. Purvin's average was 4:56.

Other freshmen, chosen by varsity athletes as being the outstanding on their squads, received keys at a dinner sponsored by the Delta Alpha Epsilon fraternity. They were as follows:

Football, Cliff Peterson, Moline, and Wilson Schwenk, St. Louis; basketball, John Drisch, Cicero [also selected for baseball]; Henry Sachs, Chicago, and Robert O'Neill, Ottawa; baseball, Charles Miller, West Chicago; track, Milton Sikick, Chicago, and E. Pickerel, Springfield; tennis, Joseph Mioduski, Chicago; swimming, James Wollrab, Bloomington; water polo, Douglas Phillips, St. Louis; polo, Robert Jaeger, Chicago; gymnastics, John Cress, Chicago; fencing, Orel Dabis, West Frankfort; golf and hocky, Alex A. Welsh, Rockford.

Jaretz Seeks New Honors in C. Y. O. Swimming Meet

Otto Jaretz, star from of Our Lady of Mercy parish, will take part in the eighth annual C. Y. O. swimming meet in Loyola university pool tomorrow night. Competing in the intermediate division last year, Otto set two C.Y.O. records in the 50 and 100 yard free style competition. This year he will compete in the senior class.

AURORA READY TO OPEN RACING SEASON MONDAY

Totalizator to Speed Up Programs.

After weeks given over to plans and improvements, the Aurora race track, first in Illinois to swing into action, is set for the parade to the post of the first field of the twenty-four day meeting and the 157 day season.

The Fox Valley track, which will open Monday, is equipped more completely than it has ever been before. The most recent improvement was the installation of a totalizator.

700 Horses at Track.

There are over 700 horses on hand now with more expected over the week-end from Keeneland as the Kentucky track winds up its meet.

Racing Secretary Dick Leigh will have little difficulty assembling a field for the 6 furlong Fox Valley Inaugural handicap, the $1,500 opening feature. Entries for this handicap close tomorrow. All weights will be announced Saturday.

Speed Up Programs.

The totalizator will help in speeding up the programs. Post times will be only 25 minutes apart instead of 30 as previously.

Plans have been completed for "open house" day on Sunday, when several thousand racing fans who can't wait annually come to the track for a preview.

out the mile in 1:38 1-5. Stagehand, Fighting Fox, Dauber, Menow, and the other Derby contenders have not run so fast this spring.

Lawrin Keeps Going.

He too ran his first eighth in 12 and his second in the same time. Then he speeded up. He ran the next eighth in 11 3-5 seconds and the next in 11 2-5 seconds. Back he went to 12 seconds for the next eighth. He rounded out the first six furlongs in 1:11 4-5. His pace slowed up slightly from there on to the finish, but the mile in 1:38 and the mile and one-eighth in 1:52 4-5 showed he was flying all the way. He had a light boy in the saddle who was of little or no help to him in the final stages of the rehersal. If Lawrin can improve just a bit, he's the horse they'll have to catch in the Derby.

GEN'L MOTORS' PROFITS DIP IN FIRST QUARTER

Sink to $8,264,413, or 14 Cents a Share.

General Motors corporation reported yesterday that net income for the first quarter of 1938 slumped to $8,264,413, equal after preferred dividend requirements, to 14 cents a share on the common stock. The company earned $44,864,166, equal to 99 cents a share, in the corresponding quarter of 1937.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr.

The decline was attributed by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman, to general business conditions which continued to affect the operations of the corporation adversely.

"The trend of business as measured by retail sales to consumers in the United States during January and February was fairly well stabilized with, if anything, a slight trend downward," he said. "The improvement in retail sales that normally begins to manifest itself in February and more importantly in March, due to seasonal influence, was not quite as great as normally would be expected on the basis of the January and February levels.

View on Business Decline.

"Briefly expressed, the state of the business declined relatively somewhat further during the quarter, but not importantly. The present business trend does not indicate earnings to the minimum necessary to make the profit participative plan operative."

Inventories of Dec. 31 showing merchandise in dealers' hands as well as raw and finished materials at factories were in excess of what was either necessary or desirable in view of the sharply reduced trend evidenced in the corporation's December operations, the chairman said. Since then, reductions have been made.

"Attention is called," Sloan added, "to the fact that during the last three years it has been the practice of the corporation to carry heavy inventories during the winter of both materials and component parts and, to a reasonable extent, of finished merchandise. This policy was adopted having as its objective the equalization of employment for the corporation's workers."

Pay Roll Much Lower.

During the first 1938 quarter, the total pay roll disbursement of the corporation was $69,755,936, compared with $100,075,137 for the same quarter last year. The work week for the quarter averaged 23.5 hours, Sloan said, compared with a normal work week of 40 hours.

Net sales of General Motors for the quarter amounted to $250,512,587, against $386,849,901 in the first 1937 quarter.

WHEELER TO FILE RAILROAD COURT BILL NEXT WEEK

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Senator Burton K. Wheeler plans to introduce next week a bill which would establish a railroad reorganization court to take over all roads now in bankruptcy and formulate reorganization plans for them.

As outlined today, the bill will recommend the establishment of a court similar to federal district courts, with an official known as railroad administrator attached to the court.

The administration automatically would become trustee of all railroads in bankruptcy, with power to appoint present trustees as his deputies. The new court would exercise all powers relating to railroad bankruptcies which currently are vested in the interstate commerce commission.

It was considered probable that Wheeler would press for enactment of the reorganization court program as an alternative to the broad four point program for rail relief recommended yesterday at a parley of congressional leaders and representatives of the administration and the railroads.

Public Service of Northern Illinois Plans New Stock

The Illinois commerce commission reported yesterday that it has received application from the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois to issue new common stock of no par value in exchange for its present $60 par and no par common, most of which is owned by Commonwealth Edison company. The sale of the company's preferred stock has been approved and the operation will leave the company with one class of stock.

D.&H. Defers Action on New President; Nuelle Mentioned

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Directors of the Delaware & Hudson company at a meeting today took no action on the selection of a president to succeed Leonor F. Loree, but it was said after the meeting that the board was eight to two in favor of Joseph H. Nuelle, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company. The board is expected to defer action until after the stockholders' meeting scheduled for May 10.

Closed Banks' Spending Runs Above Income

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Receivers for the 139 closed state banks in Cook county spent $28,335 more than they took in during the first quarter of this year, a tabulation made public by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett disclosed yesterday.

The state auditor's summary was based on reports made to him by the three receivers for state banks in the county: Charles H. Albers, John E. Sullivan, and John A. Carroll. Sullivan is receiver for the Garfield State bank, Carroll for the South Side Savings Bank and Trust company, and Albers for the 137 others.

Receipts of the 139 banks during the quarter totaled $3,099,427, and expenditures were $3,127,763. In the final quarter of 1937 the same banks took in $3,080,027, but disbursed $3,347,690, leaving a deficit of $267,663. In the first quarter last year 141 banks—two have since been taken from receivership—collected $522,511 more than they paid out.

Depositors Fare Better.

Depositors of the 139 banks still in receivership fared better on a per capital basis last quarter than they did in the other two quarters used in Barrett's comparison.

Last quarter the depositors of nine banks divided $874,830. In the preceding quarter 25 banks repaid $1,060,208. In the corresponding three months last year ten banks disbursed $780,864 in liquidating dividends.

Total payments to creditors [including the depositors] were $1,373,458 in the latest quarter, the survey showed. Of this amount $131,404 went toward preferred and secured claims, $125,683 was payment of bills incurred before suspension, and $241,540 was paid to the Reconstruction Finance corporation in interest on borrowed funds. The amounts paid to creditors totaled $1,546,756 in the preceding quarter and $1,419,373 in the first quarter of 1937.

Expenses Are Lower.

Expenses of the receivership in the three months were $274,620, compared with $288,661 in the preceding three months, and $396,597 in the corresponding three months of the year before.

The breakdown of liquidation expenses on last quarter, the preceding quarter, and that of a year ago, listed in that order, shows: Receivers' salaries, $5,643, $5,749, and $24,753; clerical and other hire, $126,036, $128,823, and $144,402; attorney fees, $48,991, $81,643, and $127,246; interest to RFC and for bills payable incurred before closing, $50,912, $33,574, and $35,348, and miscellaneous, $43,036, $38,870, and $64,846.

FIGHT WISCONSIN TAX ON INCOMES OUTSIDE STATE

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—The right of Wisconsin to tax income earned in another state was challenged today in the Supreme court. John M. Hughes of Hudson, Wis., land commissioner of the Northern Pacific railway, appealed from a decision of the Wisconsin Supreme court in an effort to escape income taxation by both Wisconsin and Minnesota.

John P. Dromey, administrator of the estate of Charles Jensch, controller of the Chicago and North Western railway, also appealed from a decision of the same court in an effort to prevent payment of an income tax on Jensch's 1934 salary. Jensch then lived in Highland Park, Ill., and Dromey contended that the income was not taxable in Wisconsin.

Hughes, who told the court he sought "relief from double income taxation," said he commuted to work to St. Paul from Hudson, Wis.

Moto Scoot Manufacturing Company Increases Wages

The Moto Scoot Manufacturing company, makers of a two wheeled motor-propelled "scooter" at 219 South Western avenue, yesterday announced a general 10 per cent wage increase for all employes of more than thirty days' service and a 5 per cent raise for workers employed less than thirty days. About sixty employes will receive the 10 per cent increase and thirty-five the 5 per cent increase. Norman A. Siegal, president, said sales this year have averaged 85 per cent higher than in 1937.

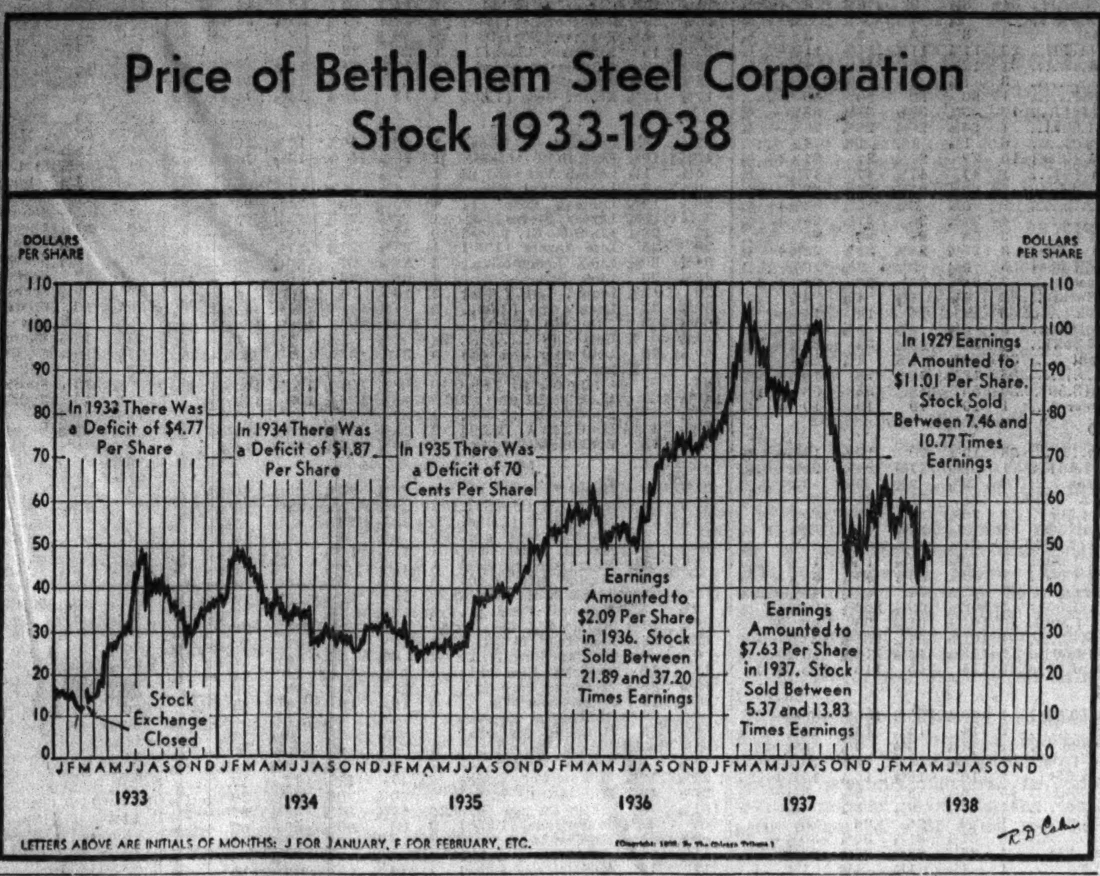
CORN EXPORTS MOUNT; APRIL SHIPMENTS PUT AT 17,000,000 BUSHELS

Estimates on the amount of corn sold for export from the United States so far this season have been increased as the result of continued large clearances from American lake ports to Canada. Shipments of 2,899,000 bushels of corn have been made from Chicago in the last four days to Canadian ports, and boats were reported loading 1,000,000 bushels yesterday.

Including shipments from Chicago and Duluth to Canada, exports of corn during April are expected to exceed 17,000,000 bushels. Approximately 14,000,000 bushels had been shipped abroad up to the close of business on April 25.

The department of commerce reported that exports of corn from July 1, 1937, to March 31, 1938, aggregated 44,200,000 bushels. Adding to this the 17,000,000 bushels shipped in April brings the total over 61,000,000 bushels for the last ten months.

Trade estimates indicate Americans have contracted to ship possibly 20,000,000 bushels of corn abroad between now and next July. Sales yesterday were reported as in excess of 200,000 bushels. American No. 2 yellow corn was quoted yesterday at 73¼ cents a bushel, delivered at Liverpool.



Stock Market List Reverses Trend, Rises

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 27.—Reversing the trend of the last three sessions stock market prices strengthened today and closed unevenly higher. Profit taking on a forenoon bulge of fractions to two points kept the upturn within moderate limits. Trading continued slow on a turnover of 425,070 shares.

The most activity came in the first hour when demand said to be predicated on the favorable reception accorded the gesture of coöperation with the federal administration on the part of some of the nation's business leaders. However, this movement received no supplementary backing and prices turned lower, although pressure was not heavy.

Aviation Group Active.

Aviation issues again were given a good play today after recent profit taking. Reports of higher operating rates, despite the skepticism in some quarters over the possibility of important British orders, enabled the group to score fair sized gains. Douglas, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, and Boeing, among others, responded with advances ranging from substantial fractions to 1½ points.

Reflecting the company's generally favorable report, U. S. Steel common and preferred gave good performances. The preferred, selling ex dividend, rose 2¾ points. The common gained ¾. Other steels advanced around one point.

Displaying apathy toward the conferences at Washington looking to a government lending program and some agreement with labor that may involve wage cuts, carrier shares were mixed in a narrow range. Among the favorites, Santa Fe, New York Central, and Southern Railway, were able to show minor gains.

Consolidated Edison Gains.

Consolidated Edison came in for good attention in the public utility section, adding ¾ of a point. Electric Power and Light, North American, Columbia Gas and Electric, and Standard Gas and Electric $4 preferred also worked higher, but in small volume.

Copper shares were among the early leaders, with Anaconda in good demand. However, that stock lost all its gain to close unchanged.

Allied was strongest in the chemicals, adding 1½ points. General Electric was actively higher in the heavy machinery shares. Westinghouse, Allis Chalmers, Deere, Case, and International Harvester rose fractions to 1¾ points.

Chrysler and General Motors were active in the automobile group and closed fractionally higher. Oils advanced up to 1 point. Building stocks advanced up to 1¾ points, with Johns-Manville and U. S. Gypsum showing the way.

FAIR TRADE CASE TO BE AIRED AT HEARING TODAY

Charges alleging violation of the Illinois fair trade act, brought against Continental Products, Inc., Chicago automotive supply house, by the Stewart-Warner corporation and the Alemite Sales company, Inc., will be aired this afternoon in a hearing before a master in chancery. Judge Louis J. Behan, a special master, will conduct the hearing at 10 S. La Salle street.

Stewart-Warner and the Alemite company, distributor of the corporation's automotive products, obtained a temporary injunction against Continental Products last fall restraining the latter firm from selling Stewart-Warner automotive heaters to consumers at dealers' prices. In its present bill, Stewart-Warner alleges that the supply company issued a catalog quoting prices at which heaters are sold to dealers, then sold heaters to consumers at those prices in violation of its contract with Alemite Sales.

American Dollar Lower; Sterling Gains ½ Cent

The value of the American dollar declined slightly yesterday in relation to major foreign currencies. The British pound advanced ½ cent to $4.98⅞. The French franc advanced 0.005 cent to 3.1137 cents. Swiss and Netherlands currencies rose moderately.

University of Chicago Oil Well Flows 1,010 Barrels

Olney, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Pyramid Oil company officials announced tonight that University of Chicago No. 1 well, a mile northeast of here, flowed 1,010 barrels of oil in the first twenty-four hours.

JUNKING OF 4,000,000 OLD CARS URGED AS WAY TO AID MARKET

Detroit, Mich., April 27.—(AP)—The National Automobile Dealers' association was told by one of its members today that the new car market is "saturated."

Palmer Hanson, secretary of the Milwaukee Automobile Trades' association, made the assertion in advocating a plan calling for the immediate junking of from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 old models and the scrapping, starting next year, of 80 old cars for every 100 new ones produced.

Of the 25,000,000 cars in use, he said, 36 per cent are 1930 or earlier models.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, told the dealers that the motor car industry "stands at the crossroads" on the question of solving its difficulties "from within, through a spirit of coöperation," or from without, "by government edict." He advocated a forum for discussion of policies as they affect dealer-manufacturer relationship and involve the interests of the consumer.

STEEL OUTPUT IS UNCHANGED, SAYS IRON AGE

Steel mill production in the United States remains unchanged this week at 32 per cent of capacity, and April business has been disappointing to all units in the industry, Iron Age said yesterday. Orders this month have run 10 to 25 per cent less than in March.

"An automobile company has issued inquiries for bumper stock for 1939 models, the first reported for the new cars," the report said. "No appreciable improvement in buying of steel by the automobile industry is expected before July, when material for the 1939 cars will be required. Railroad buying is confined to a few rail orders."

Production in the various districts continues to fluctuate as in recent weeks. Chiefly because of a few rail orders, Chicago area output is up 4 points to 34 per cent of capacity.

Export sales of steel, pig, and scrap have fallen to a low point. The Iron Age scrap composite price has declined to $11.92 a ton from $12.25 last week, and is $10 below the 1937 high mark.

POWER OUTPUT BELOW WEEK AND YEAR AGO

Production of electricity in the United States totaled 1,951,456,000 kilowatt hours in the week ended April 23, a decline of 0.4 per cent from the preceding week's output and a drop of 10.8 per cent from 2,188,124,000 kilowatt hours produced in the corresponding week of last year, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. The small decline from the April 16 week was slightly more than seasonal.

The Commonwealth Edison company group electricity production in the Chicago area ran counter to the nation-wide trend, increasing 0.2 per cent from the week ended April 16. Output was 119,646,000 kilowatt hours or 11 per cent less than a year ago.

Storage Packed Eggs Rise to Highest Level This Year

London Lloyd's Complaint Dismissal Plea Is Denied

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Victor Hemphill today denied a motion of London Lloyd's to dismiss a complaint filed against the underwriters by seventeen domestic casualty and surety firms questioning its right to operate in Illinois. Lloyd's was given until May 16 to file an answer to the complaint.

FCC Rejects Rate Increase on Telegrams

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—The federal communications commission, by a vote of 5 to 2, today denied the nation's telegraph companies the right to increase domestic telegraph rates 15 per cent. The companies had argued that the increase was necessary to offset dwindling revenues and higher expenses.

Commissioners Craven and Case voted to grant the increase for one year. Chairman McNinch and Commissioners Payne, Sykes, Brown, and Walker voted to refuse the boost. The commission said that it would later issue "an appropriate report and order" denying the petition of the companies.

The companies which asked higher rates included the Western Union Telegraph company, Postal Telegraph-Cable company, Mackay Radio and Telegraph company [California], Mackay Radio and Telegraph company [Delaware], and R. C. A. Communications, Inc.

In arguing for the increase in rates, the telegraph companies pointed out that their earnings had slumped. Western Union, for example, reported a fall in net income for 1937 to $3,325,769, or $3.18 a share, from $7,199,120, or $6.89 a share, in 1936. The Postal Telegraph-Cable company reported an increase in net loss to $2,200,597 from loss of $686,672 in 1936. Both companies reported smaller revenues and both had heavy losses in the first two months of this year.

CEA CHARGES GRAIN BROKERS MISUSED FUNDS

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—The commodity Exchange administration said today it had preferred charges against Burke & Co., a Sioux Falls, S. D., grain and stock brokerage firm, and two of its officials for alleged violation of the commodity exchange act. The charges have been filed in the United States District court at Sioux Falls. Officials said the action was the first to be brought under the commodity exchange act.

The administration said its charges, based on an investigation by its representatives, alleged that the firm and its officials had "misused and permitted the misuse of grain customers' funds resulting in a shortage of approximately $60,000." It also charged the company operated during part of the current year without proper registration.

Burke officials named in the charges are Stephen A. Burke, president, and Hugh S. Gamble, vice president. The firm is undergoing liquidation through bankruptcy proceedings.

DROP IN FREIGHT TRAFIC REPORTED BY MORE ROADS

Further decreases in freight trafic in the week ended April 23, both from the preceding week and from the corresponding period last year, were shown in car loadings reports yesterday. The New York Central's own line loadings were 32.4 per cent less than a year ago, compared with a decline of 32½ per cent in the week ended April 16. The Pennsylvania showed a decline of 34.3 per cent, compared with 31½ per cent in the preceding week.

On the basis of the first twenty roads to report, Dow-Jones & Co. yesterday estimated that 530,000 cars were loaded throughout the country in the week ended April 23, compared with 537,585 in the preceding week, 521,978 in the week ended April 9, and 751,328 a year ago.

Car loadings reported yesterday, with comparisons, follow:

	Wk. ended Apr. 23.	Prev. wk.	Yr. ago.
Mo.-Kas.-Tex.	6,101	....	7,697
N. Y. Central	57,464	60,744	88,036

Maryland Loses Fight to Tax Stock Held by RFC

Annapolis, Md., April 27.—(AP)—Maryland lost its fight to tax bank stock held by the Reconstruction Finance corporation when the State Court of Appeals today affirmed a Baltimore court decision. The court upheld a 1936 act of congress specifically exempting such stock from taxation. In 1934 the Supreme court of the United States ruled Maryland could tax the stock and congress then passed the act exempting it specifically.

ILLINOIS BELL AND LINK-BELT PROFITS SHRINK

National Tea Shows Loss in Quarter.

Three large Chicago companies were among the many which reported yesterday that their earnings for the first quarter of this year were sharply below those of the corresponding period of 1937, reflecting the downtrend in business.

The net income of the Illinois Bell Telephone company and the Link-Belt company, manufacturer of conveyor equipment and many other articles, for the first quarter was below 1937 and the National Tea company reported that it operated at a loss.

The Illinois Bell Telephone company took in $21,445,517 during the first three months of this year, against $21,248,669 in the like 1937 period. Operating expenses, however, increased to offset the small gain in revenues, totaling $15,218,336, against $14,135,224. Taxes for the period also rose a little, standing at $3,531,795, against $3,493,025. Nonoperating income declined to $2,695,386 from $3,620,420.

The net income was $2,193,794, against $3,114,457, and after payment of dividends totaling $3,000,000, mostly to the parent company—the American Telephone and Telegraph company—there was a deficit of $806,206, against a surplus of $114,457 last year.

The Link-Belt company's sales to customers stood up fairly well in the first quarter, totaling $4,855,700, compared with $5,787,520 in the first quarter of last year.

The National Tea company, which operates a chain of retail grocery stores, had a loss of $207,095 for the first quarter, whereas in the 1937 period it had a profit of $109,828.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company reported unfilled orders of the company on March 31 stood at $53,555,900, against $73,735,326 a year ago. Sales billed for the March quarter totaled $42,067,250, against $46,673,300 a year ago.

Heads Colgate

E. H. LITTLE.

Soap Company Lifts E. H. Little to Presidency

E. H. Little was elected president of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet corporation yesterday following the annual stockholders' meeting in Jersey City. He succeeds S. Bayard Colgate, who was reëlected chairman of the board. Colgate had held both titles since the resignation last summer of Chairman Charles S. Pearce.

Little has been vice president in charge of sales and advertising of the company since 1932. Prior to that time he was manager of the company's foreign activities and was chiefly instrumental in establishing factories and sales organizations in Europe.

He is a former Charlotte, N. C., farm boy whose early business career was interrupted by a three year fight to overcome tuberculosis. He went to work for the old Colgate company in 1902 and sold soap and toilet articles all over North and South Carolina as a young man.

Sees No Upturn Soon.

Colgate told stockholders that an upturn in the company's business "is unlikely until general business conditions improve."

Dealers, he said, are buying for current requirements only, adding that more substantial buying could not be expected until prices of fats and oils had steadied.

Stockholders authorized a "profit incentive" plan which provides for payment of additional compensation to the president and vice presidents after 6 per cent has been earned on preferred shares and 5½ per cent on state value of common stock and surplus. Ten per cent of all earnings above this amount would be distributed to the executive officers.

Other Firms Hold Meetings.

Stockholders of a number of other companies at annual meetings yesterday heard unfavorable reports from officials on business conditions.

Directors of Butler Brothers met following the annual meeting of stockholders and voted the regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents a share on preferred stock but deferred consideration of common stock payments "until later in the year."

C. D. Southard, executive vice president, told Butler stockholders that indicated net loss for the quarter ended March 31 was $380,502 before allowance for preferred dividends. After preferred dividends there was a deficit of $482,094 compared with a profit of $160,590 in the first quarter last year.

Rate of Decline Slackens.

"While volume in the first quarter declined approximately 15 per cent," Southard said, "it is interesting to note that the rate of decline was less in each successive month. Merchants, however, are continuing to buy on a hand to mouth basis."

He said that inventories at the end of the quarter were 13½ per cent less than a year earlier.

April business of G. R. Kinney company, chain store organization, is running 30 per cent ahead of last year, George L. Smith, president, reported to stockholders at the annual meeting in New York.

Sales for the first four months of the year, he said, were about 5½ per cent less than a year ago and net profit is expected to be about $30,000 less than in the corresponding period last year.

Stockholders authorized reduction in the number of $8 preferred shares to 3,905 from 50,547. Following the stockholders' meeting the directors met and elected Clifford O. Anderson, general sales manager, a vice president.

ATTACKS FEES ASKED IN UTILITIES POWER CASE AS 'SHOCKING'

Fees asked for services in connection with the reorganization of the Utilities Power and Light corporation were characterized yesterday as "shocking" by Attorney Tom A. Reynolds, representing the Associated Investing corporation, holder of a minority interest in the utility holding company. Reynolds criticized the fees at a hearing being conducted by the Securities and Exchange commission at the United States courthouse.

He indicated that he referred especially to an allowance of $6,000 a month asked by Attorney Melvin M. Hawley, counsel for Charles True Adams, trustee, and to an allowance of $3,500 a month asked by Adams.

"I want to object to an allowance of $3,500 a month to the trustee, a 38 year old man whose previous experience and compensation consisted mainly in appointive positions," Reynolds said.

Reynolds declared most of the reorganization litigation in the last two years has been spent in argument about fees.

Attorney Frederick Z. Marx, trustee and counsel for the Webster Securities corporation, a subsidiary of the Utilities Power and Light corporation, challenged the right of the SEC to hold a hearing on the question of fees. His objection was overruled.

BOYCOTT OF OIL FROM MEXICO IS BRITAIN'S HINT

Government's Stand Told in Commons.

LONDON, April 27.—(AP)—The British government advocated today what would be, in effect, a British boycott of oil taken from wells expropriated by Mexico from British companies, until the question of those properties is settled.

Richard A. Butler.

Butler's statement said:

"In view of the recent notes addressed by his majesty's government to the Mexican government requesting restoration of expropriated British oil properties, the marketing of oil from these properties by British subjects or companies could in the present circumstances be only a matter of embarrassment to his majesty's government."

Briton Trying to Buy Oil.

[Francis W. Rickett, British oil operator, has been negotiating with the Mexican government, presumably for purchase of oil, some of which comes from expropriated wells.]

Britain has sent two notes to Mexico demanding return of the properties of the Mexican Eagle [Aguila] Oil company, largest of seventeen American and British companies expropriated by President Lazaro Cardenas on March 18. Both were rejected by Mexico.

Japan Offers Cash.

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, April 27.—(AP)—Government sources said today Japan had offered to pay cash on the barrel head for $3,000,000 worth of gasoline.

It was said, however, that Gustavo Espinosa Mireles, general manager of the National Petroleum Export company, was hesitant to close the deal for fear of stirring up opposition from Mexican and United States labor.

The Confederation of Mexican Workers, with which the petroleum workers are affiliated, announced Saturday that two delegates returned from the United States with promise of support from John L. Lewis of the C. I. O. after they had pledged that oil would not be sold to "Fascist nations."

The government needs foreign markets for its surplus.

At a celebration of Soldiers' day today President Cardenas told thousands of listeners "the entire nation" is backing his oil policy.

Tarif Cut Promised.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, said today Mexican Ambassador Francisco Najera had assured him Mexican tarifs would be materially reduced, probably May 1. The move was interpreted as a gesture of friendship.

Mexican tarifs were increased in January in some cases as much as 200 per cent, the increase affecting principally United States exports.

REDUCED COSTS URGED AS WAY TO EXPAND BUILDING

Proposals for helping the building industry were discussed last night by Paul H. Douglas, professor of economics, University of Chicago, and Martin P. Durkin, director of the Illinois state labor department, in talks before the Chicago Mortgage Bankers association at the Knickerbocker hotel.

Prof. Douglas urged that all elements of the building industry—material manufacturers, contractors, labor and capital—unite in bringing building costs down within reach of the purchasing power of the people. He suggested that a general reduction in costs of 20 per cent might produce the desired results. Nothing can be accomplished, he said, if only one group reduces prices or wages.

Durkin on the other hand said that means should be found for increasing the purchasing power of the nation to the level of building costs. He declared that a 20 per cent slash in labor's wages would only produce a 4 per cent decline in construction costs.

Germany Reports Year's Taxes 5½ Billion Dollars

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, April 27.—A preliminary report today by the reich treasury for the fiscal year ended March 31 showed tax revenue reached 13,958,000,000 marks [$5,614,000,000]. The preceding fiscal year the figure was 11,473,000,000 marks [$4,514,000,000]. As no budget is published, the exact significance of these figures remains open to question.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, April 27.—(AP)—United States government issues and railroad liens moved into higher ground in the bond market today, while domestic, industrial, and utility loans held firm. Government issues stepped forward on a wide front with gains 3-32s to 9-32d the rule in the more active issues. A limited supply of governments was available in the market.

Somewhat encouraging Washington news found a ready response in carrier bonds, the Associated Press average of twenty rails advancing 0.3 to 53.2. Leaders in the rise, up fractions to a point or more, included Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s, Illinois Central 4¾s, New York Central 5s, Nickel Plate 4½s, Union Pacific 3⅛s of '71, and Northern Pacific 4s.

Foreign government issues tended higher.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks were irregular yesterday. Of 54 issues traded, 22 closed higher, 18 lower, and 14 unchanged. The turnover was 15,000 shares, compared with 16,000 on Tuesday.

Kellogg Switchboard common stock was the most active issue on sales totaling 3,400 shares. The stock closed ⅛ higher at 6¼. Chicago corporation common was unchanged at 2. Cities Service lost an eighth at 1. Pines Winterfront lost ¼ at ½.

Swift & Co. gained ⅜ to close at 17½. Armour finished ¼ lower at 4¾. Bendix Aviation gained ¼. Electric Household lost ¼, and Goldblatt and Trane each gained ¼.

THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks closed 0.11 higher at 8.61.

Bank Stocks.

First National bank stock eased $1 a share yesterday to $175 bid, $180 asked. Northern Trust shares declined $5 to $500 bid, $510 asked. Other loop bank stocks were unchanged. Chicago Title and Trust company stock was down $1 a share to $122 bid, $126 asked.

WHEAT DECLINES CENT A BUSHEL ON WIDE RAINS

General rains in the winter and spring wheat belts which ended the last bit of apprehension over dry weather crop loss resulted in a decline of about 1 cent a bushel in American wheat markets yesterday. Prices advanced shortly after the opening, but the upturn was not maintained and closing sales were near the bottom. May wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade closed within ⅛ cent a bushel of the lowest level of the season.

Reports that the British government had purchased a large quantity of foreign wheat as war emergency reserve had a weakening effect on the market and Liverpool futures closed 1 to 1⅛ cents a bushel lower.

Easiness in wheat had a depressing effect on other grains. Corn futures closed ¼ to ⅜ cent lower, with May in new low ground since the middle of March. The decline came in the face of export sales of 500,000 bushels.

Liquidation developed in May and July rye yesterday and found support lacking. The weather bureau weekly crop summary indicated the rye crop in the northwest was in good condition.

Moisture conditions in the grain belt are generally good and the outlook for the winter wheat crop is rated good to excellent, the weekly summary of the weather bureau reported yesterday.

Commodities

Prices quoted on commodities for future delivery were generally higher in the principal markets yesterday. Hides, rubber, sugar, coffee, and cocoa recorded gains which in most instances were small.

Cocoa recorded one of the largest advances, closing 0.10 to 0.17 cent a pound above Tuesday's level. Hide contracts were up 0.02 to 0.03 cent a pound and rubber advanced 0.04 to 0.09 cent a pound.

Price trends in the metal markets were mixed. Copper futures rose 0.03 to 0.07 cent a pound, but copper in the export market was slightly easier. Lead and zinc were virtually unchanged.

Heavy melting steel scrap was quoted yesterday in Pittsburgh at $11.50 to $12 a ton according to Dow Jones & Co. This is a reduction of 50 cents a ton from the price recently quoted and the lowest for the current downturn.

The Dow-Jones index of commodity future prices advanced 0.05 to 49.62 [1924-'26 equals 100]. The Associated Press index of cash commodities rose 0.03 to 67.14 [1926 is 100].

R. R. YOUNG GETS PEACE TERMS IN C. & O. STRUGGLE

Takes Bankers' Proposal to Fellow Directors.

Young spent the day conferring, at their request, with representatives of banking interests with whom he has been fighting, in federal court and out, for control of the C. & O., most profitable remnant of the $2,000,000,000 Van Sweringen rail system.

The conference took place in the offices of J. & W. Seligman & Co., bankers, and was presided over by Earle Bailie, a partner of that firm. Although the names of conferees other than Young and Bailie were not disclosed, it was reported that the positions of Guaranty Trust company, J. P. Morgan & Co., and George A. Ball were made known.

Report Terms Unsatisfactory.

It was reported that the banking group had made a proposal to Young which he did not consider attractive, but consented to put it up to fellow C. & O. directors. Their answer in Cleveland tomorrow, it was said, would determine whether there would be any further conferences. Young will report their answer to Bailie by telephone.

A friend of Young said, "the fight is not over, by any means."

It was reported Young had been invited to state his own terms upon which a compromise could be worked, and that he insisted that Guaranty Trust company first concede his "right" to vote, as chairman of Alleghany corporation, controling shares of stock in Chesapeake corporation, held by Guaranty as trustee for an Alleghany bond issue, at a special Chesapeake corporation meeting called by Young's opponents and several times postponed.

Not Willing to Surrender.

If Guaranty should thus "surrender," Young is reported to have said, in substance, and should the New York bankers adopt a conciliatory attitude, Young would then be willing to make reasonable compromise.

During a luncheon adjournment, Bailie conferred with Guaranty Trust officials, and is reported to have carried back to Young at the afternoon session word that Guaranty was not willing to "surrender."

The conference is reported to have resulted partly from prior conversations between Ball, Muncie, Ind., capitalist, and various interested parties, last week, following a temporary but dramatic victory for Young in the form of a vote by a majority of C. & O. "free" stockholders interpreted as antagonistic to Guaranty's position.

MARLENA CORP. ACCUSED BY U. S. ON TAX CHARGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—In a brief filed with the board of tax appeals, the government today accused the Marlena corporation, Chicago, of filing "false and fraudulent" income tax returns for 1934.

The corporation's entire stock, during the year involved, was owned by Melvin L. Emerich. The bureau of internal revenue previously had assessed a 1934 deficiency of $98,697 and a fraud penalty of $49,348. The deficiency included income, excess profits, and surtaxes.

The brief filed today alleged that the corporation made "fictitious" deductions from its 1934 tax return and reported a loss of $416,944. A correct return, the brief said, would have shown a gain of $254,907. One of the deductions was for an alleged "bad debt" amounting to $598,995, which the government disallowed as not being a "proper deduction for income tax purposes."

Everyday Economics

Desterilization.

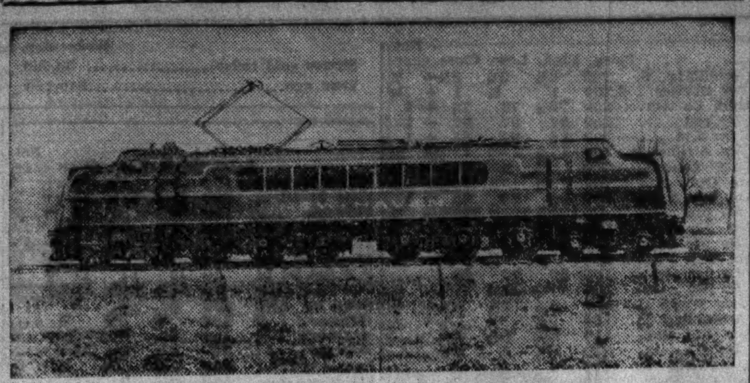
When the United States treasury announced on April 14 the "desterilization" of gold held in its inactive fund, the immediate result was the addition to the treasury's working fund of approximately $1,400,000,000.

The increase in the treasury's funds arose when it issued certificates to the central banks of the reserve system for the amount of the gold in the inactive fund. The banks gave cash credits to the treasury for the face amount of the gold.

The treasury is free to use the new funds for any purpose it sees fit. The money may be disbursed to meet current expenses or it may be held in the central reserve banks to meet maturities of government securities as they become due from time to time. In either case, the money will eventually find its way into the private commercial banks, adding to the unused reserve funds that the banks are now carrying.

Because of the effect the desterilization process has on bank reserves it is regarded as an inflationary step. Its effectiveness as a means of expanding bank credit, however, is widely questioned by economists. They point out that banks already are carrying large amounts of reserve funds for which they can find no suitable employment, and that an addition to these funds does not necessarily increase the demand for bank credit. The presence of large reserves in the banking system for the last seven years has not caused an expansion in bank credit.

New Electric Streamliner



This is the first of six new streamlined electric locomotives ready for delivery to the New Haven railroad by General Electric company, the builder. Heavier and more powerful than any other engine on the line, this locomotive will haul 15 car passenger trains between New York and New Haven at speeds up to 90 miles an hour. They operate from either end, on alternating or direct current, from third rail or overhead wire.

RETAILER WARNS CO-OPS TO RISE IF CHAIN STORES GO

Politics Held Threat to Independents.

A warning to independent retailers that destruction of chain stores through taxation might result in even greater competition in the form of consumer coöperatives last night was sounded by D. M. Nelson, vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., in an address before the annual meeting of the Chicago Better Business Bureau at the Palmer house.

Nelson, who also is president of the Institute of Distribution and a director of the Union Pacific railroad, declared that development of coöperatives might eventually receive government aid, should the chains be destroyed, because of the political influence such coöperatives would wield.

"After Chains, What?"

"One just wonders whether or not the proponents of discriminatory state taxation realize what it would mean to destroy any form of economic distribution which has developed over a period of years," he said. "I do not believe that many of the so-called independent retailers have asked themselves the question, 'after the chain stores, what?'

"Would there be less competition if multiple unit stores were destroyed or more? I think I can say that if, through discriminatory taxes, mass distribution or chain stores were destroyed, consumer coöperatives immediately would spring up."

Stresses Consumer.

Nelson urged legislators of the nation not to foster uneconomic methods of distribution through legislation that favors a particular class at the expense of the consuming public. The only fair test of any method of distribution, he contended, is its utility to the consumer.

As a cure for the business depression, he urged a greater attempt by business and government to understand each other's problems and a return to what he described as the traditional American business principle of supplying what the public wants, when and where it is wanted, and supplying it at a price the public is willing to pay.

Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett Named in Labor Complaint

A complaint was made to the National Labor board yesterday charging Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., 211 East North Water street, with refusal to bargain collectively with its striking warehouse employés, William Schoenberg, an organizer for the American Federation of Labor, said. Nearly 250 members of the Wholesale Hardwood Dealers Employés' union walked out 10 days ago when their pay was reduced.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Price gains were registered in most classes of meat animals early yesterday, but higher markets received little support, and part of the advances was lost later. Some kinds closed slightly lower than the average of the preceding session.

An early rally of mostly 10 cents, with spots 15 cents higher, restricted buying of hogs, and resulted in a slight setback later. The close was mostly 5 to 10 cents above the Tuesday price level, although some sales were no more than steady. Top loads early reached $8.40, up 10 cents. The average rose 10 cents to $8.10.

The general market for steers and yearlings was about steady. Butcher stock was weak. Calves sold strong to a little higher.

A feature of the lamb trade was the arrival of the first California spring lambs of the season. Some sold to a city butcher at $9.50. The rest brought $9.40. Top old crop lambs advanced 10 cents to $8.85 early, but the bulk sold steady to 15 cents lower later at $8.50 to $8.60.

WHITNEY CRIME GOES BACK TO '26, SEC AID FINDS

Began Before Election as N. Y. Exchange Head.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Richard Whitney made illegal use of customers' securities "as far back as 1926," an accountant told the securities commission today. That was four years before he became president of the New York Stock exchange, a post which he held four terms, ending in 1935.

J. P. Lyss, assistant chief accountant investigator for the commission, gave today's testimony as a witness at the commission's inquiry into the failure of Whitney's New York Stock exchange firm, Richard Whitney & Co., March 8.

Lyss said his examination of records showed Whitney, now serving a prison sentence for misappropriation of customers' securities, had illegally hypothecated 200 shares of Corporation Trust Company of New York in 1926.

Stock Taken from Estate.

He said the stock had been taken from the estate of George F. Sheldon, who was Whitney's father-in-law, and used as security for a loan from Mechanics and Metals National Bank of New York, which later merged with another bank. He did not disclose the size of the loan. Also taken from the same account, he said, were forty-three shares of Corporation Trust Company of New Jersey.

Asked by John F. Davidson, SEC counsel, whether this was the first time Whitney had illegally used customers' securities, Lyss said, "I think that's as far back as we have positive proof." Lyss also testified that Whitney had put up "worthless" securities as collateral for loans from New York banks.

Names Several Banks.

The accountant described these loans [all in 1937] as follows: $50,000 May 19 from the Corn Exchange bank; $75,000 June 1, from the Marine Midland Trust company; $75,000 June 10, from the National City bank; $100,000 Dec. 20 from the Continental Bank and Trust company; $80,000 Dec. 31, and $55,000 Jan. 10 [1938] from the Public National bank.

The SEC established that Whitney's firm will fail by $2,655,000 to meet its obligations.

In addition, Whitney's personal obligations were set at $3,007,000, including $2,897,000 owed to his brother, George, of J. P. Morgan & Co. The total failure, therefore, is $5,662,000.

The hearing was adjourned until an indefinit time next week.

California Packing to Sell 6 Million Loan Privately

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—The California Packing corporation today arranged to sell at par to an institutional investor a new issue of $6,000,000 of 2¾ per cent nonconvertible debentures. Maturity of $1,000,000 is payable annually on June 1, 1939, to 1944. The company will call as of July 1 next the remaining $7,500,000 of its 5 per cent convertible debentures, due July 1, 1940, at 101½ and accrued interest.

Northwestern Mutual Life Reports Increased Assets

Total assets of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, Milwaukee, on March 31 were $1,192,452,380, an increase of $14,023,743, M. J. Cleary, president, stated yesterday at the quarterly meeting of the board of directors. The gain over March 31, 1937, was $48,506,514. Total insurance in force on March 31 was $3,871,241,507, the gain from March 31, 1937, being $70,560,607.

WESTINGHOUSE CUTS DIVIDENDS ON TWO STOCKS

Three Others Reduce Common Payments.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company cut dividend payments yesterday on both its common and preferred stocks. The company will pay 50 cents on the common and 75 cents on the preferred on May 27, compared with $1 on each Feb. 28.

Both stocks have a par value of $50 a share, the preferred being entitled to cumulative dividends of 7 per cent a year plus a pro rata share of further payments after 7 per cent has been paid on the common. Both stocks received $6 last year.

Omissions Announced.

Three other corporations reduced dividends on their common stock, and two American companies omitted payments due at this time.

In addition, fiscal agents of two British corporations—Mexican Eagle Oil and Canadian Eagle Oil—announced that directors of both have decided to postpone decision regarding payment of first preference dividends for the six months ended April 30 because of the Mexican oil situation.

The Parker Rust-Proof company will pay only 20 cents a common share on June 1, compared with 37½ cents in previous quarters. In addition to regular payments, the company disbursed a $1 extra last December.

Ingersoll-Rand.

A dividend of $1 will be paid June 1 by Ingersoll Rand, compared with $1.50 on March 1. The current payment is the same as that paid in the first two quarters of 1937, but last year's total was lifted to $6 by an extra of $1.50 in December.

Copperweld Steel company will pay a 30 cent dividend June 10, compared with a 50 cent quarterly disbursement March 10. The company paid $1.60 regular and $1 extra last year.

Campbell, Wyant & Cannon Foundry company directors voted not to declare the 25 cents quarterly dividend due at this time because of present business conditions and unfavorable first quarter earnings. In addition to regular payments of $1, an extra of 25 cents was paid last year.

Day's Dividend Actions.

GAR WOOD FIRM TO SHARE PROFIT WITH EMPLOYES

Strike Ends; President Gives Up Half of Pay.

Detroit, Mich., April 27.—(AP)—Gar Wood Industries, Inc., announced today a profit sharing plan under which its employés will receive 20 per cent of all declared dividends.

Gar Wood.

The corporation also announced settlement of a two day strike by members of the United Automobile Workers' union [C. I. O.] which has closed two Detroit plants of the concern. Approximately 1,000 workers will return to their jobs tomorrow.

Garfield A. Wood, noted speedboat race driver, is president of the corporation. The announcement said that Wood "by his own action takes a 50 per cent reduction in his personal salary in order to give the company, its employés and stockholders every opportunity to make more profit."

The profit sharing plan applies principally to factory workers and excludes salaried employés "receiving over a certain stipulated sum."

Union officials said members of the local in the Wood plants had accepted by a vote of 500 to 12 the strike settlement under which the company agreed to sign a contract yet to be negotiated, and to institute a straight piece work system.

Gar Wood Industries manufactures hydraulic hoists, motor buses, air conditioning, and home heating equipment. In addition to plants in Detroit, Highland Park, and Marysville, Mich., it operates branches in Albany, Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester, and Long Island, N. Y.; Los Angeles, San Francisco, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, and Washington.

Hearing for United Gilpin Chairman Is Postponed

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday continued until May 2 hearing on a citation against George F. Kremm, chairman of the United Gilpin corporation, a gold mining company. Kremm recently was cited by the court for failure to comply with a court decision which directed his company to return to stockholders of the Chain o' Mines corporation gold properties valued at $1,000,000.

U. S. Rubber Co.

Investors' Guide: Please write me a report on the U. S. Rubber company.—J. B. V.

Answer: Producing a wide variety of products made wholly or partly from rubber, the United States Rubber company, a concern with total assets of about $179,117,000, ranks as one of the major companies of the world in its field. It is the leading domestic producer of rubber footwear and is one of the major manufacturers of tires used as original equipment.

About 50 per cent of the total sales of U. S. Rubber are accounted for by tires and tubes. The rest is about equally divided between rubber footwear and clothing, and mechanical and miscellaneous rubber goods.

U. S. Rubber Plantations, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary, operates 135,000 acres of rubber plantations in Sumatra and Malaya and supplies 20 to 25 per cent of the rubber requirements of the parent company and subsidiaries.

Earnings and sales have been reduced by the current business depression. Because of a $3,000,000 reserve for inventory adjustments, the company was forced to deduct only $647,768 from 1937 earnings as an adjustment for the sharp decline in rubber and cotton prices in late 1937. The record of earnings in recent years follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Earned per share.
1937	$186,253,188	$ 8,607,903	$ 2.21
1936	160,361,026	10,172,483	3.31
1935	127,793,615	6,532,237	.90
1932	78,300,091	*10,726,032	*10.88

*Deficit.

Stockholders of the company on March 31 approved a recapitalization plan which provides for creation of an issue of $75,000,000 first mortgage bonds, the changing of common stock from no par to $10 par value, and retirement of 38,909 preferred and 81,588 common shares which have been held by a wholly owned subsidiary. Proceeds of the new bond issue would in part be used to retire $50,000,000 first and refunding bonds on July 1.

Giving effect to changes in capitalization the company had outstanding 651,091 shares of 8 per cent noncumulative $100 par preferred and 1,567,261 shares of $10 par common. No dividends are being paid on either the common or preferred. Rubber Securities company, affiliated with the du Pont interests, owns a little less than 20 per cent of the U. S. Rubber common stock.

The company is strong financially and should benefit from business recovery and an upturn in rubber prices.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Assail Crop Control.

April 27, 1938.

THE extreme northeast corner of Illinois is another hotbed of opposition to the government's AAA program. Reporters going from farm to farm in Lake county and the northern part of Cook county found that the majority of farmers interviewed were against centralized federal control of farming and were not satisfied with their crop acreage allotments for this year.

Following are some quotations from farmers living on state route No. 20 between Waukegan and Round Lake in Lake county:

Raber Radke has 200 crop acres. He said: "In my judgment the American farmer is capable of running his own farm. I know I would rather build up the soil in my own way without outside interference. If the farmer runs his own business there will be less danger of famine. I have been planting between seventy-eight and eighty acres of corn and have been allotted fifty-five acres."

Harley Darby, who is 70 years old and has farmed all his life, said: "I have been on this farm for fifty-eight years and I think I know something about the place. I don't like this crop control idea. The farmer knows best about his crops. They tell me to plant thirteen acres of corn. I would like fifteen corn acres." He has seventy acres of crop land.

Wants to Drop Out.

C. L. Doolittle runs a farm with 200 crop acres. "I have not planned to go along with the farm program this year and want to drop out if I can," he said. "I know my farm and the soil needs better than outsiders. I planted sixty-five acres of corn last year and want to plant about fifty-five acres this year. They want to allot me twenty-four acres."

Peter Portegys, with sixty-one and a half crop acres on his farm, said: "I don't like to be told what to raise and am opposed to this crop control idea. I have been on this farm for eighteen years and I think I know best about my land. Weather conditions play a major part in raising crops, often making it necessary to change any set program. I am not satisfied with my corn allotment, which is thirteen acres."

Seek Corn Increase.

Leo DeMeyer, who operates a farm with his father, Isadore, has 125 crop acres. He likes the plan. "We are in favor of crop control," DeMeyer said, "because the program as planned will help build up the soil. The allotment for soil depleting crops will be to our advantage in the long run. We are not entirely satisfied with the corn allotment for our place. We have been allotted twenty-nine and a half acres and have asked for an increase to thirty-five acres."

Charles Kerry, with ninety crop acres, said: "Crop control has a lot of merit. I have had a fair allotment—nineteen acres of corn. As I understand it the corn allotment is versatile, it being possible to increase or decrease as needed."

W. C. Heard thinks the whole crop control idea is wrong. "Leave the farmer alone and he will work out his own salvation," Heard said. "I am not for this government business on farms. I have always refused to go along when farm bureau representatives ask for my support. I have not taken any government money and will not do so. It is unfair to taxpayers generally to be giving money to farmers."

George J. Schmoll, manager of Wesley Sears' farm with 216 crop acres, said: "The program to build the soil is a good one and will be entirely to the advantage of the farmer. I do not think it wise, however, to pay the farmer for improving his soil as is being done. We have been allotted fifty-five corn acres, which is just what we planned."

Fred Van Zandt said: "You can tell the world for me that I am opposed to any regulations on crops. The law of supply and demand should operate on every farm. My corn allotment of 12.9 acres is satisfactory, this being more corn than I usually grow." He has fifty-nine crop acres on his farm.

Three farmers living on the Ivanhoe road south of Grays Lake gave varying opinions about the program. Edward Fincutter said: "In a way crop control is all right and in another way I don't like it. I can see where it helps the soil, but sometimes a farmer knows a better way to improve his soil. I have been allotted thirty-two acres of corn and want thirty-eight acres." He has 120 crop acres.

Dislikes Orders.

Isador Behm said: "I know how to take care of my soil and do not want to take orders about my plantings. I have refused to go along on this plan and will continue to do so."

"The crop control plan is O.K. with me," Charles Sorensen said. "It will make for better soil. They have allotted me four acres of corn and that is satisfactory."

"I am going to disregard crop control altogether," said H. W. Burmeister. "After forty years of farming I will continue to operate in my own way. The government tells me I can plant eighteen acres of corn, but twenty-five acres are required to take care of my needs and that's how much I am going to plant. The men out my way are not going for this crop control business."

Rather Have Surplus.

Emil Juhnke said: "It's not right. Every farmer knows it's better to have a surplus any day. They have me limited to fifteen acres of corn and I have plenty of hogs to fatten."

Otto Busse said: "We are all pretty much agreeable out here."

"I like the idea of a little easy money," said Louis Meier. "Anyway, I would just as soon put more of my land in grain and let them cut my corn down from eighteen acres to twelve acres."

William H. Pohlman said: "They don't bother me because I can get along on the ten acres of corn they let me raise."

Other Cook and Lake county farmers interviewed who are opposed to the program include C. D. De Barry, W. F. Behrens, Walter Ruston, John G. Wirtz, and Harold D. Kelsey.

Among those who favor the program are Roland Busse, William Snyder, and James McGraw. McGraw says he likes the plan but is not satisfied with his corn acreage allotment.

LOST AND FOUND.

TO FINDERS.

If you have found a cat or dog, a pocketbook, jewelry, or fur, and cannot locate the owner through the "Lost and Found" advertisments in The Tribune, call and go through the "Lost and Found" index at the PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICE, 1 S. DEARBORN-STREET.

TO LOSERS.

If you are listed in the telephone directory you can charge an advertisment of your lost article by telephoning Miss Miller of the Tribune ad taking department, Superior 0100. Your advertisment receives the benefit of free listing in the Tribune Public Service office mentioned above for a period of two months. This service facilitates the recovery of lost articles advertised.

A. F. OF L. FORMS NEW MINE UNION TO CRUSH C. I. O.

Green Seeks to Cut Off Lewis' Funds.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today moved to crush John L. Lewis and the Committee for Industrial Organization through the creation of a new international union, the Progressive Mine Workers of America.

The international union is the outgrowth of the Progressive Mine Workers of Illinois, now an A. F. of L. affiliate, which was formed of miners who revolted against Lewis. The new union will put the A. F. of L. in direct competition with the C. I. O. chief in his own union, the United Mine Workers of America, on the rallying cry that under its standards mine workers will find freedom from Lewis dictatorship. The A. F. of L. strategy is to kill the C. I. O. by cutting off its source of funds.

Four Front Campaign.

The campaign will be carried out on four fronts.

1. Entrance of the new international into the mine field will force Lewis to withdraw the United Mine Workers' organizers he has lent to the steel and auto industries to fight the competition in his own back yard.

2. Lewis will be unable to give United Mine Workers' money to the C. I. O. but will need it to defend his lines in his own union.

3. The Lewis income will be reduced by each miner who is won over to the new international.

4. To carry on the fight against the new international, Lewis may be forced to increase assessments in the United Mine Workers. The A. F. of L. hopes such assessments, like those for the C. I. O., will breed more discontent and increase the number of defections from Lewis' ranks.

Chicago to Be Headquarters.

Green announced today that the headquarters of the new international will be in Chicago. Temporary officers, named by the A. F. of L. executive committee, are Joe Ozanic, president, and C. E. Pearcy, secretary-treasurer. Both are officers of the Illinois mine union.

A convention to elect permanent officers will be held as soon as possible, Green announced. District charter No. 1 will be given to Illinois. Charter applications have been received from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Alabama, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Colorado, Green reported.

"An extensive campaign will be started at once to enroll workers in the coal mining regions," he said. "The new international also will undertake an immediate educational campaign to show mine workers where their interests have been disregarded by the United Mine Workers of America."

Four Differences Cited.

President Ozanic, who received the new international's charter from Green, said the union will differ from the Lewis union on four essential points. These differences, he asserted, will prevent any man from gaining the czarist control over the mine workers which now is held by Lewis in his union.

The four differentiating principles are:

1. Under the new union it will be impossible for any officer or group to get control of local unions.

2. No dues check-off contracts, under which dues are sent from the pay envelope to district or international officers, will be entered into with employers. Instead, dues will go to local unions.

3. No contributions or loans, such as the $500,000 Lewis gave to the Roosevelt campaign fund or the $2,500,000 Lewis lent to the C. I. O. from the United Mine Workers' fund, can be made without a referendum.

4. Strikes can be called only by referendum of members and not at the whim of the president, as has been done by Lewis to further his own interests.

Setup Termed Unfair.

Ozanic said that under the present setup and administration of the United Mine Workers Lewis can revoke the charter of any district, sub district, or local union for any reason and by so doing create provisional governments.

"This procedure has deprived the

NATIONS AGREE TO DEFENSIVE WAR ALLIANCE

Forces to Be Under Unified Command.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—Great Britain and France, alarmed by the military might of Adolf Hitler and the possibility of an explosion in Europe, tonight formed an ironclad war alliance.

The decision to pool the armies, navies, and air forces of the two powers in a defensive pact was reached after seven hours of discussions among Prime Minister Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax of Great Britain.

The alliance, which is a reality in all but name, was described as tightening the bonds of the two countries to an even greater extent than during the world war.

Agree on Unified Command.

The French and the British agreed that in the next war a unified command shall be brought into operation at once. In the world war a single command was created only after three and a half years of fighting.

A French general will be picked to command the combined armies of the two countries at the moment either country is attacked. A British admiral will command the allied fleets and an officer of the British air force will direct the combined airplane forces.

The French have agreed to permit the British air force to use French bases during a conflict.

Stafs to Confer at Once.

Because of fears that war is not far distant, the general stafs of both countries will open immediate consultations on coördinating the two war machines.

Purchases of war supplies, including planes from the United States, will be pooled by Britain and France. War resources such as stores of ammunition, mechanical equipment, and oil will be placed on French soil. Consequently Britain will not be forced to move them across the English channel in the face of enemy surface warships and submarines when war starts.

Chamberlain, before agreeing to grant France the use of Britain's armed forces, drew three important concessions from Daladier.

Promise to Agree with Italy.

The first was a promise to complete, by May 15 if possible, negotiations for a French-Italian friendship pact similar to the one the British concluded recently with Premier Mussolini.

The second was an agreement by the French not to haggle with the Italians on recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

The third was a pledge to permit experts to draft arrangements for closing the frontier between France and Spain as part of Britain's plan for the removal of "volunteers" from the Spanish civil war.

Details of the war alliance were expected to be worked out within two weeks. They will be stored away in the war records of the two countries, ready to be put into operation on an hour's notice.

Confer with King George.

Following the momentous conference among the British and French leaders, Chamberlain and Daladier went to Windsor castle where they conferred with King George VI. of Great Britain for two hours. Later the French premier and Bonnet were dinner guests of the king and Queen Elizabeth.

The discussions will be resumed tomorrow.

At that time, a dangerous problem will be taken up. It refers to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's ambition to absorb the German minority in Czechoslovakia into his new pan-German empire.

The day the "next war" breaks out every mouthful of Britain's food supplies will pass under strict control. Everybody will be issued rations cards—even the king himself.

The government announced an elaborate plan to place all food under a single controler. It was designed to prevent any food shortage, inflated prices of food lines so familiar in 1916 and 1917.

Insular Britain, depending largely on imports for her food, will make huge purchases from foreign nations under the wartime control plan.

Importers, manufacturers, and wholesale distributors of food will be mobilized as "government agents."

Miami Beach, Fla., April 28.—(AP)—Fred B. Snite Jr., the infantile paralysis sufferer, is able to breathe without aid for 23 minutes, his father disclosed tonight. The youth, stricken two years ago in China, since has lived in a respirator. A close fitting rubber base in his lightweight respirator permits him to sit up for several hours each day now, the father added. Snite will leave by train for Chicago June 1.

MOVES TO FORCE 12,000 FAMILIES TO LEAVE FLINT

Flint, Mich., April 28.—[Special.]—Faced by a growing load of welfare cases which threatens the finances of Flint, Louis Ludington, Genesee county relief administrator, today said he had put into effect a program which he hoped would move 12,000 families from here.

Ludington said information obtained from factory managements indicated there would not be work sufficient for those with less than two years' seniority in Flint automobile plants to support themselves and families. All welfare clients in this class, he said, are being advised to leave. More than 50 per cent of the employables in the county are unskilled laborers, and curtailment of work makes it impossible for the factories to absorb them, he said.

"We must find some way of getting these people into communities where they can take care of themselves or be taken care of by others," said Ludington. "Flint cannot handle a relief load of that size under its 15 mill tax limitation."

New National Party Formed by La Follette

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on Back Page.)

Madison, Wis., April 28.—[Special.]—A new political party, the National Progressives of America, has been formed, Gov. Philip F. La Follette announced tonight.

The new party is the outcome of group meetings held throughout the country in the last year, he told an audience of six thousand persons, mostly Wisconsin Progressives, who assembled in the live stock pavilion of the University of Wisconsin.

Those who believe in democracy have been in retreat since the world war, the governor asserted. The Republican party, he declared, has become a symbol for the devastation, humiliation, and suffering of reconstruction.

Finds Democrats Undermined.

Progressive leaders within the Democratic party, he continued, are only an outer fringe that acts as window dressing. Dissension within the Democratic party itself has sabotaged, undermined, and hamstrung the administration, he added.

The details of the program are yet to be adopted, the governor said.

Six principles are basic in the new party, on which agreements already have been reached, he said. They are:

"FIRST: The ownership and control of money and credit, without qualification or reservation, must be under public and not private control.

"SECOND: The organized power of this nation must stop at nothing short of necessary steps to restore to every American the absolute right to earn his living by the sweat of his brow.

Government Needs Modernizing.

"THIRD: We believe in the basic concepts of American government and, in particular, that grants of power always should be safeguarded against abuse. Our present governmental system is in sad need of modernizing. One important step is to grant the executive branch power to get things done—to get to work on the problems of agriculture, business, and industry. We have demonstrated in Wisconsin this can be done with ample guarantees against arbitrary or dictatorial abuse of such power.

"FOURTH: Those who work on the farm and in the city must be given security, not a security founded on producing less for more, or working less for more. We propose security founded on a definite, decent annual income for all, measured by our contribution both in quality and quantity.

Opposes Spoon Feeding.

"FIFTH: We flatly oppose every form of coddling, or spoon feeding the American people—whether it be those on relief—whether it be farmers or workers—whether it be business or industry. No government on earth can successfully manage, regulate, and direct the numerous details that make for healthy families or successful business. Like our forefathers, we will use every power of government to open the frontier of this age.

"We will build stockades and forts to protect industrious producers from raiding squads—we will use its might to cut through the modern underbrush of wornout debts. We will use without hesitation its authority to suppress the modern counterpart of the savages—those stupid people who deny others access to materials that they themselves do not know how rightly to use. Whatever it may cost—so help us God—we shall use the power of these United States to restore to every American the opportunity to help himself. After that, he can sink or swim.

"LASTLY: We believe that this hemisphere—all of it—was set aside

PRESS AFFIRMS FREEDOM; MINTON ASKS PRESS CURB

Publishers Renew Pledge to Fight for Rights.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—The American Newspaper Publishers' association today reaffirmed its determination to defend the freedom of the press and the constitutional rights of private citizens.

Among the resolutions adopted was one condemning the so-called Black committee, formerly headed by Justice Hugo Black and now directed by Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana.

Committee Snooping Scored.

This resolution said:

"Whereas, the Black committee of the United States senate, which two years ago violated the constitutional rights of thousands of citizens in its inspection of private telegraphic messages, including those of publishers and editors, which practice was sharply condemned by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, and

"Whereas, this same senate committee, with a continued arrogant disregard of the bill of rights, has recently sought to intimidate citizens in the exercise of their constitutionally guaranteed right to petition congress, by attempting to compel them to turn over to the committee by the command of a dragnet subpena their records, papers, and accounts, and

"Whereas, one group of citizens, under the leadership of Frank E. Gannett, a member of this organization, has resisted this illegal demand, and

"Whereas, it is the right of any citizen or group of citizens, whatever their views may be, to petition congress on matters of legislation pending therein, without threat of reprisal, therefore be it

"Resolved, that this association, without expressing any view on controversial legislative proposals, condemn the unconstitutional activities of the Black committee and commend Mr. Gannett and all other citizens who have resisted or do resist the attempted violation of their rights in such a lawless inquisition."

Hail Court Decision.

A second resolution drew attention to a unanimous decision of the Supreme court extending the constitutional right of freedom of the press to pamphlets and leaflets. This was a decision which nullified the conviction of Alma Lovell, arrested under a city ordinance of Griffin, Ga., prohibiting distribution of such publications. She had been handing out religious tracts. The publishers said:

"Whereas, the defense in our country of the fundamental liberties of the citizen, and especially the freedom of the press, is accepted as among the most important duties of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, particularly at this time when the example of dictators in many lands demonstrates that the extension of their power is invariably preceded by the destruction of free speech and a free press, and

"Whereas, the United States Supreme court in the case of an obscure citizen has again invalidated a law seeking to restrict the distribution of printed matter, therefore be it

"Resolved, that the American Newspaper Publishers' association renew its pledge to come to the defense of any one in this country whose rights to a free press have been infringed, with full confidence that in the Supreme court of the United States these rights will be sustained against unconstitutional laws and arbitrary and illegal acts of government when properly presented."

Report on Press Freedom.

Adoption of the resolutions followed the report of the association's committee on freedom of the press. The report was read to the publishers by Howard Davis, business manager of the New York Herald-Tribune in the absence of Col. Robert R. McCormick of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, who was called back to Chicago on business.

Dionne's Plea for Probe of Quints' Affairs Rejected

TORONTO, Ont., April 28.—(AP)—Ontario's premier, Mitchell F. Hepburn, declared today that a judicial investigation of the financial affairs and handling of the Dionne quintuplets was unwarranted and that none would be made. Their fortune is said to be nearly $600,000.

Oliva Dionne, father of the five famous little girls, requested an inquiry last week through Henri St. Jacques, an Ottowa lawyer.

Suspensions, Prison Terms, and Fines Proposed.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—After an attack on newspapers generally, in the course of which he complained that the Roosevelt administration never receives favorable headlines, Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], today introduced a press censorship bill.

Senator Minton.

The bill would provide imprisonment of not more than two years, a fine of $1,000 to $10,000, and suspension of publication for six months for publishers whose newspapers or magazines printed anything known to be untrue. It does not specify the method of determining whether any untrue material was published knowingly.

Text of Proposal.

The text of the bill—titled "a bill making it a felony to publish as a fact anything known to be false"—follows:

"Any person, firm, corporation, or association that publishes in the District of Columbia or publishes or causes to be transported in interstate commerce or through the mails any newspaper, magazine, or other periodical in which is published as a fact anything known to said publisher or his responsible agent to be false, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $1,000 nor more than $10,000 and shall be imprisoned for not more than two years.

"The judgment in any such case shall be certified by the clerk of the court in which the conviction was obtained to the postmaster general, who shall immediately suspend such periodical from the use of the mails for a period of six months."

Minton Chief Inquisitor.

Senator Minton succeeded Hugo L. Black of Alabama, the former Ku Klux Klansman whom President Roosevelt appointed to the Supreme court, as inquisitor general for the Roosevelt administration. Only ten days ago Mr. Roosevelt signed an executive order authorizing the Minton senate committee to examine the income tax returns of any administration opponents who happen to be under investigation.

For several weeks Senator Minton has complained bitterly about the newspaper treatment of his inquisitorial committee, particularly against editorials and cartoons associating him with the Nazi gestapo and the soviet Russian ogpu.

He predicated his assault on the press today, however, on a report by the radio committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, meeting in New York, which condemned the Roosevelt administration's use of the licensed radio as an instrument of political power which might lead to dictatorship.

Sneers At Publishers.

Minton construed the report of the publishers' committee as an attack by the free press, as he sneeringly expressed it, upon the constitutional guarantee of free speech.

He assailed the Washington [D. C.] Post for carrying a headline saying that Horace Russell, former general counsel of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, was accused of franking a million letters soliciting business in the federal practice for one of his colleagues who was leaving the government agency.

"Anybody with brains as thick as buttermilk should have known that that fellow could not have franked out a million letters," Minton said. "He could not possibly have done it in the little office he has down there."

[A report of the civil service commission for Feb. 1 gives the number of employés in the Washington office of the HOLC as 1,298.]

The headline to which Minton referred was based on a charge made on the floor of the house of representatives, and therefore privileged, by Representative Ralph Church [R., Ill.]. Mr. Church's disclosure resulted in Russell's immediate resignation.

Minton denounced the Washington Post for carrying a headline saying: "McNutt Palace Plan Assailed As An Outrage." This referred to the $5,000,000 Kubla Khan Palace proposed before the house appropriations committee by Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner to the Philippines and boss of the Indiana Democratic machine, which Minton represents. The palace was to be built for the high commissioner.

"Resignation or impeachment of Gov. George Earle of Pennsylvania was demanded, and so forth," said Minton, purporting to be reading from the Washington Post. "That is the kind of propaganda that you get from these papers here in Washington every day of the week. That is the kind of propaganda that you get in the big New York newspapers, like the Herald-Tribune. That is the kind of propaganda that seeps into the northern part of Indiana—not much, but some—that flows in from that unspeakable CHICAGO TRIBUNE, that even the newspapers themselves condemn.

Eager to Save Radio.

"That is the kind of propaganda that Moe Annenberg of the Philadelphia Inquirer spews out to the country. That is the kind of propaganda that you can get in the press of this country, all you want of it, provided you take a side against this administration.

"Yet this great free press of the country wants to curb the radio. They do not want you to say anything on the radio. They do not want you to speak the truth over the radio because to speak the truth over the radio gives the lie to the propaganda that appears in the sheets of this country, and we all know it.

"The only way this administration has to get to the people of this country is to take to the radio and go to the people with their story and let them pass on it there. You cannot get the story into the press of this country; they will not print it.

"They never have, and senators who sit here upon the floor and do me the honor to listen to me this afternoon know that this administration cannot get a headline in the newspapers of this country, it does not make any difference what they do. But let anybody make a loose accusation against them, let anybody ever say something loosely against this administration, and the headlines of the press of the country scream with the story."

Reads Excerpts of Report.

At the suggestion of Senator George W. Norris [Radical, Neb.] Minton read excerpts from the report of the newspaper publishers' committee, one of them being: "In the totalitarian countries radio is made an instrument of dictatorship by which not only the freedom but the very soul of the press has been destroyed."

"This is one thing that we do not need to worry about," put in Lewis B. Schwellenbach [D., Wash.], a member of Minton's inquisitorial committee. "Our press lost its soul so many years ago that it would not recognize it if it met it on the street."

Minton manifested his conception of a free press when he read an excerpt from the publishers' report saying: "Neither the A. N. P. A. nor the press of America generally objects to the legitimate aims of organized labor, legitimately pursued."

"Who is going to be the judge of that legitimacy?" Minton shouted. "The A. N. P. A. They will be for it, all right, if they like it. If it is the kind or organization they like they will be for it."

DELAY HEARING OF E. N. DURLAND FRAUD CHARGES

Hearing on charges against Edwin N. Durland, head of C. F. Durland & Co., real estate concern at 359 North Wells street, was continued to May 26, by Judge John J. Rooney in the Felony court yesterday. Durland is accused of operating a confidence game and obtaining a signature on a document by false pretenses.

Durland was arrested Wednesday by Eugene O'Connor, investigator for the state's attorney's office, on a complaint of the county treasurer's office that he had given ten worthless checks totaling $11,016 in payment of taxes. The taxes were paid by Durland as agent for properties handled by his firm.

Attorney Thomas Johnson Jr., representing Durland, said the checks were issued in order to avoid tax penalties for late payment and that Durland had expected to make them good. Durland was released on bond.

Boston, Mass., April 28.—[Special.]—WPA workers at the Massachusetts National Guard camp in Sandwich tonight became the center of the state's biggest forest fire investigation as town authorities blamed them for unknowingly causing a blaze which destroyed 5,000 acres of woodland, took one life, and injured four men critically. Selectmen of Bourne tonight asked Gov. Charles F. Hurley to bar fires at the military reservation without special permit, and Sandwich selectmen said they would ask compensation for the town and the families of the killed and injured.

Find Woman Unconscious in Home; Husband Is Held

Mrs. Johanna Orlando, 54 years old, who was found unconscious yesterday in her home at 9526 Commercial avenue, was in a critical condition last night in the South Chicago hospital. It is believed that her skull was fractured by a blow with a club or a bottle. The police are holding her husband, Anthony, 74 years old.

rank and file of mine workers of their autonomous rights and their right to determine for themselves the policies of the organization," Ozanic said. "By this autocratic method charters have been reduced to mere scraps of paper and the membership placed in bondage of district and local officials dictated by one man, John L. Lewis."

Assails Use of Funds.

Ozanic said that the United Mine Workers' check-off system controls funds from the miners' pay envelopes.

"It is by this procedure that Lewis has been able to siphon from mine workers' pay envelopes the millions he has used for his own aggrandizement, for financing the C. I. O., and to further his own political ambitions," Ozanic said.

He said that the charter of the new international banned such practices and outlawed loans or grants of dues to any organization or individual without a referendum of all workers. The charter also provides that strikes be determined by a vote of the membership.

Ozanic condemned sitdown strikes, the sending of miners across state lines in behalf of C. I. O. movements, and other terrorist tactics. By these tactics, he said, Lewis has created anarchy in Michigan, intimidated employers by roving armies, and provided communists with soldiers.

ROOSEVELT PENS HIS MESSAGE ON ANTI-MONOPOLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today completed a draft of his anti-monopoly message which was reported to include a request for legislation to strengthen anti-trust laws at this session of congress.

A presidential recommendation for anti-monopoly legislation at the present session of congress will most likely disrupt congressional hopes for adjournment early in June. Congressmen are champing at the bit for adjournment as early as possible because this is a campaign year.

Previous indications were that the message would recommend only intensive study of monopolistic tendencies in business and industry and that no legislation would be sought until next January. Today, however, an authoritative source disclosed that the message would recommend strengthening of the anti-trust laws as well as deal with monopolistic practices. There was no formal statement from the White House.

Court Upsets Labor Board's Order to Take Strikers Back

Organized labor as well as employers must respect reasonable contracts, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals held yesterday in denying a petition by the National Labor Relations board to force the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company of Terre Haute, Ind., to reëmploy 250 workers discharged during a strike in March, 1935.

The opinion was written by Judge Evan A. Evans and was concurred in by Judge Will M. Sparks. Judge Walter E. Treanor, recently appointed to the court from Indianapolis, dissented.

The labor relations board on Feb. 17, 1936, ordered the company to discharge all production employés not employed before the strike, reëmploy as many of the strikers as were needed, and place all other strikers on a preferential reëmployment list. When the company refused, the board asked the court for an enforcement order.

Strike Violates Contract.

Judge Evans in his opinion pointed out that at the time of the strike a contract existed between federal labor union No. 19694, an American Federation of Labor unit, and the company, which was to insure that the union would not strike until any dispute had been submitted to arbitration. Although the contract had three months to run, the union ordered a strike on March 22. On July 23 the plant was reopened and by September a full force was at work. In the meantime there had been several acts of violence and for a time martial law was necessary.

"The employés and the union entered into a written contract prior to the strike in which it was agreed to arbitrate," Judge Evans wrote. "By going on strike the employés violated the contract."

The opinion criticized the employers for failing to enter into more open negotiations with the workers and pointed out that the employer has the same responsibility as the worker under a contract.

Elaborating on the responsibilities of the unions, Judge Evans said: "Nor can we fail to observe that when large groups, veritable armies, engage in collective activity, there is possible danger lurking in the result of such mass drives. Intolerance of the rights of others may result. As so often occurs, parties deeply interested and prejudiced by their interest—and seeing red—suffer from the delusion that numerical strength measures right."

The opinion then declared that the petition was denied because "reasonable contracts should be respected by both parties. Labor has the right to quit work except when the contract calls for arbitration."

Board's Right, Treanor Holds.

In his dissenting opinion, Judge Treanor held that the only question at issue was whether the labor board had the right to require reinstatement if it found the employer had refused to negotiate with the employés.

"Our decision . . . does not turn on the rightfulness or wrongfulness of the strike," he said. "The order of the board was predicated on the finding that the respondent company had been guilty of unfair labor practices in that it refused to bargain collectively with representatives of employés. There was some evidence to support this finding and this court cannot disturb it."

AIDS OF ROOSEVELT FIGHT FOR PASSAGE OF WAGE, HOURS BILL

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—At the command of President Roosevelt a final desperate and strenuous drive in behalf of wages and hours legislation was started in congress today. But the executive's lieutenants frankly despaired of success when the showdown comes tomorrow.

The issue will be decided when the house rules committee votes on the question of permitting consideration of the measure on the floor. Only a complete reversal of sentiment on the part of several members of the committee will give the measure right of way. To this end the White House lobby forces concentrated their efforts.

They were aided by a flow of telegrams from labor unions as a result of last night's appeal of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor for support of the bill.

GUN OWNER GETS PROBATION.

Gordon Bowers, 19 years old, 1624 North Kedzie avenue, was placed on probation for a year by Judge Stephen Adamowski in Boys' court yesterday for lending his revolver to a gang of young burglars and robbers.

ZOO TO WELCOME VARIETY OF NEW ARRIVALS TODAY

A collection of Australian birds, monkeys, and reptiles purchased in New York early this week by Director Floyd S. Young, will arrive at Lincoln park zoo this noon. The birds, upon which there has been an embargo for years, include a pair of lead beater macaws, three rat bandit parrots, a pair of pennant rosella parrots, a pair of Port Lincoln parrots, one black shouldered peacock, and a pair of maraboo storks. Mr. Young also purchased a pair of Lutong monkeys, one Hunaman monkey, four Indian Gecko lizards, two blood pythons, and three giant man-eating crabs.

WAKE UP, WORK; ADVICE OFFERED BY HENRY FORD

Asserts 'a Lot of People' Are Half Asleep.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—Without specifying to whom he referred, Henry Ford asserted today that there are "a lot of people" who have a leader "who is putting something over on them."

Asked to comment about general conditions, he said:

"There are a lot of people who are half asleep. They are looking for a leader and they have one who is putting something over on them—and they deserve it. People ought to be their own leaders."

Asked if he referred to a labor leader or some one else, he declined to answer.

Breaks Journey Home.

It was as close as Mr. Ford came to commendation of the President in the course of a lengthy group interview in the lobby of the Ritz-Carlton hotel where, with Mrs. Ford, his son, Edsel, and W. J. Cameron, his public relations factotum, he is breaking his journey home from yesterday's White House conference.

Mr. Ford, genial and as close to expansiveness as he ever comes, hazarded the belief that conditions are going to improve "when we wake up and go to work."

"I've never seen you looking more genial, Mr. Ford," a reporter said, "does that indicate that you left your conference with the President with reassurance?"

Insists He's Trying.

"I've never said anything against him," the magnate answered and then, after a little pause, "I don't know why I should feel otherwise. He is trying his best, just the same as you and I."

Mr. Ford volunteered that conditions "are going to be different" and an interviewer asked: "How? For the better?"

"Yes," Mr. Ford replied, "when we wake up and go to work we will be beginning to approach civilization, then."

He wouldn't expand upon this theme, except to say that "every industry needs perfecting. There is a lot of work to do in every industry.

"I can speak for the automotive industry. There the thing which is needed is to build a lighter and more durable car."

Mr. Ford attended the bureau of advertising's dinner for the American Newspaper Publishers' association tonight and made a speech of one enigmatic sentence.

"We are all on the spot," he said, "and stick to your guns and I will help you with the assistance of my son all I can."

GRAND JURY QUIZ REVEALS GAGGING OF WPA WORKERS

Employes Told to Defy Court Orders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—In Tampa, Fla., the WPA is giving a demonstration of how bureau orders from Washington override state courts and grand juries. WPA employés have been told to keep their mouths shut when asked to testify on WPA affairs.

R. J. Dill, Florida WPA administrator, has kept his lips sealed before a Tampa grand jury and court on matters pertaining to the case of Carl Thoner, foreman of a county grand jury which indicted sixteen persons, including some county and city officials. Thoner afterward was dismissed from his WPA job as a photographer and was reinstated a few hours later after protests of a raw deal. Dill said he declined to testify on the basis of a general order from Harry Hopkins. WPA head.

Case Grows Out of Slaying.

The Tampa case, a tangle of politics, gambling rackets, and sealed lips, grew out of the killing last March 9 of Evaristo [Tito] Rubio, a Cuban night club operator.

A county grand jury, with Thoner as foreman, started a gambling clean-up. Among others, it indicted Sherif J. R. McLeod, who had been a district WPA administrator before being appointed sherif; County Prosecutor J. E. Williams, Police Chief C. J. Woodruff, and Chief Detective W. D. Bush. They were charged with ignoring gambling, which for years had been wide open in Tampa.

A few days later Thoner was notified, so he later testified, by J. D. Brochio, Tampa WPA administrator, of his dismissal from his WPA photographer's job, which he had held since 1935. The dismissal followed orders from Dill. Thoner said that a few hours later Brochio notified him the order had been canceled and that he still had his job.

Jury Subpenas Record.

It developed that April 6, the same day Thoner was thrown out and reinstated, Administrator Dill, Sherif McLeod, and Gov. Fred P. Cone had held a conference in Miami.

A new grand jury went in. It subpenaed a record of Sherif McLeod's telephone calls after his indictment, indicating an attempt to learn if he tried to get Thoner fired in retaliation for the indictments.

Administrator Dill was summoned by the grand jury. He refused to tell what was discussed at the Miami meeting between him, McLeod, and Gov. Cone. He said his lips were sealed by Washington. Dill was cited by the grand jury for contempt of court.

Cites Hopkins' Order.

In court Dill said that general order No. 36, issued by Hopkins, prevented him from discussing the Miami conference, and the Tampa judges upheld him. Hopkins' order provided:

"In all cases where a WPA official or employé is requested to testify in regard to matters of official or confidential character, knowledge of which was acquired in his official capacity, he shall respectfully decline to answer.

"If his reasons are requested by the court he shall courteously state that the matter is privileged and cannot be disclosed without specific approval from the federal administrator."

Dill said his attorney had advised him that the United States Supreme court and other federal courts have upheld order No. 36, holding that the investigation of a federal agency is an invasion of the sovereignty of the United States.

The grand jury announced it had telegraphed to Hopkins April 12 asking permission for WPA officials to testify about the Thoner case and received a reply that investigation had developed no facts to justify further inquiry and that the local grand jury had no jurisdication.

Four girls who are always up in the clouds when they're at work came down to earth last night to celebrate flying a million miles each. They're United Air Lines' stewardesses, Ruth Flekke, Marie, Hess, Mary O'Connor, and Florence Pond, all Chicagoans.

The stewardesses all joined the service five years ago today, if you're wondering how long it takes to get a record of a million miles. They travel 700 to 900 miles a day, four to five days a week.

Their biggest problem is keeping thin, for they mustn't weigh more than 120 pounds. That's simple compared to the company's problem—keeping them from getting married and retiring.

BULLET BETRAYS CRACKSMAN WHO SHOT WATCHDOG

Burglars who broke into the office of the Hansen Real Estate company at 7721 Kostner avenue, Niles Center, on March 4 were met by a large police dog, which attacked them fiercely. One of the intruders shot and killed the animal; all then fled without any loot.

Lieut. William Griffin and Policeman Walter Schmith of Niles Center removed the bullet from the body of the dog and turned it over to ballistics experts. Yesterday it was determined that the pellet had been fired from a .22 caliber rifle found in the possession of Theodore Carty, ex-convict and safe blower arrested by the Waukegan police on Tuesday.

Carty confessed the Hansen burglary and five others.

SURPLUS FOODS AS EXTRA RELIEF BRING PROTEST

Retail Merchants' Group Charges Waste.

A protest against the continued distribution of surplus commodities to reliefers was sent yesterday to Relief Commissioner Leo M. Lyons by M. D. Weaver, secretary of the Retail Grocers' and Butchers' association. Weaver also protested continuance of cash relief.

A recent report to the Illinois Emergency Relief commission by O. F. Beyer, director of commodity distribution, showed that 57,477,878 pounds of foodstuffs with a market value of $3,903,294 were distributed to relief clients in Illinois during 1937. Lyons said yesterday that Cook county relief clients received 26,222,882 pounds, valued at $1,654,187, of the foodstuffs distributed last year.

12 Million Pounds in County.

During the first three months of this year persons on relief in the county received 12,110,698 pounds of food, valued at $515,098. Comparable figures for the state were not available. There were 39 different commodities distributed during 1937, including canned meats, fish, fresh, canned and dried vegetables and fruits, eggs, flour, and butter.

"Repeated complaints have been received in this office from retail grocers throughout the city concerning the effect upon the regular channels of distribution of this form of relief distribution," Weaver's letter said.

Hardship on Merchant.

"The tremendous volume of merchandise which is being distributed through these commissaries works an additional hardship upon the independent merchant for the reason that the quantities given to your clients, according to reports, are greatly in excess of the actual requirements. This invariably results in the distribution of this overage to neighbors or in waste."

Weaver's letter also charged that "the food allowance covered by the voucher [check] system now in use is unquestionably diverted and not spent for food, as it is intended."

The so-called surplus commodities are those purchased by the federal government in its effort, under the Agricultural Adjustment administeration to bolster commodity prices. The law provides that commodities so purchased shall be distributed to relief clients without the distribution affecting their normal food allowances.

Distribution Only Cost.

Lyons has pointed out that the surplus commodities do not cost the local units anything but the cost of distribution in the community. The commodities are of material aid, he said, in keeping up food allowances for those on the rolls of the Chicago Relief administration.

Four men will be arraigned before Judge Eugene Holland in South State Street court this morning, charged with stealing from one of the 23 commodity stores in the city.

REQUIRE HEALTH MARRIAGE TESTS IN TEN STATES

Ten states now have laws requiring physical examination of a couple before marriage, it was reported yesterday by the council of state governments, which has headquarters at Drexel avenue and 58th street. Rhode Island, New York, South Carolina, and Kentucky have passed eugenic marriage legislation this year, but Kentucky's statute does not become effective until 1940.

Illinois, Michigan, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, and Oregon complete the list of ten. Four other states require bridegrooms to be free of syphilis, and 14 others forbid marriage of any person with a venereal disease.

Deny Appeal of Attorney Who Sued Merry Fahrney

The Appellate court yesterday denied the appeal of Attorney Benjamin H. Ehrlich from the decision last February by which Municipal Judge Harold P. O'Connell set aside a $2,300 verdict in Ehrlich's favor. Ehrlich sued Merry Fahrney, patent medicine heiress, for legal fees in two divorce suits. A new trial has been set for October.

MAYOR KELLY ASKS U. S. PROTECTION FOR CHICAGO INDUSTRIES

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—Mayor Edward J. Kelly and ten Democratic members of the Illinois house delegation today asked President Roosevelt to protect Chicago and Illinois industries from ruinous competition by low wage southern manufacturers.

The plea was made when the delegation called at the White House to ask presidential support of a bill to cut Home Owners' Loan corporation interest rates and extend HOLC mortgage amortization.

"Chicago and Illinois industries are either closing down or moving to other parts of the country to obtain lower wages," the mayor said. "This means that the middle west is in danger of losing all its industry unless wages are fixed so that the middle west is given a fair chance to compete with other sections of the country."

ROOSEVELT MAY FORM COUNCIL OF BUSINESS MEN

Considered as Way to Fight Depression.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is considering the creation of a new "inner council" of business men to study and make recommendations on economic problems, some of the more conservative advisers of the chief executive said today.

Whether he actually would decide to set up such a council was not known, but it was said that "great pressure" was being exerted "both from within and outside the administration" in behalf of the proposal.

"Right wing" elements among the President's friends were arguing that such a step would tend to bring business men and the administration closer for a common attack on depression problems.

Men Under Consideration.

Those reported to be under consideration for the proposed "council" include: Brig. Gen. Robert E. Wood of Chicago, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co.; Frank C. Walker, millionaire New York attorney who was formerly a director of the national emergency council; Robert W. Woodruff, president of the Coca-Cola company, and O. Max Gardner, former governor of North Carolina and general counsel for the cotton textile institute.

Three of these men have been no strangers to Washington in recent years. Gen. Wood, an army man from his graduation at West Point in 1900 through the world war, was called here early in 1935 to help supervise the spending of $4,000,000,000 as chairman of the work relief advisory committee. He resigned the job after a brief period of service, and reports were current among business men that he was not pleased with the handling of work relief.

Headed Emergency Council.

Walker, a reticent figure who consistently kept out of the spotlight, was twice head of the national emergency council, a depression born agency. When he resigned in 1935 he became acting head of a theater chain operating in Pennsylvania and New York.

Gardner recently was mentioned prominently as a possible choice to be the first paid president of the New York Stock exchange.

DR. ABRAHAMSON, NOTED LUTHERAN, HAS COLLAPSE

Rockford, Ill., April 28.—(AP)—Dr. L. G. Abrahamson, 82 years old, editor of the Augustana, weekly Swedish publication of the Augustana Lutheran synod, collapsed today at a session of the Illinois conference convention. Dr. Rudolph Oden of the Augustana hospital staf, Chicago, said the collapse was due to cerebral anemia. Dr. Abrahamson was taken to his Rock Island home tonight. He has been on the Augustana hospital board of trustees for 52 years.

Membership on boards in charge of hospitals and homes was limited to two consecutive years by the conference. Dr. C. O. Bengston of Emmanuel Lutheran church, Chicago, was elected vice president of the conference and the Rev. J. A. S. Landin of Ludington, Mich., was reëlected secretary.

$314,336,425 IS SPENT IN STATE BY WPA TO DATE

A total of $314,336,425 was spent on Works Progress administration projects in Illinois since the WPA was started in August, 1935, until April 1, Charles E. Miner, state WPA head, reported yesterday. Of this $152,520,636 was spent in Chicago.

The contributions of sponsoring agencies, such as the city, school board, and parks district represented $19,744,667 of the total spent in the city. State-wide sponsors, including those in Chicago, spent $53,801,584.

The report said that an average of 139,738 persons a month have been employed by WPA in Illinois since the program was begun. In Chicago the average was 63,096 persons a month. H. K. Seltzer, Chicago WPA head, said that 110,000 persons are now employed by WPA in Chicago.

Furrier Wins $291 Suit Against Marguerite Eustice

A judgment for $291.10 against Miss Marguerite Eustice, whose marriage to former Assistant Corporation Counsel Quin O'Brien was annulled a year ago, was issued Wednesday in the Municipal court of Judge Joseph J. Drucker, it was learned yesterday. The judgment, according to Attorney S. Z. Pincus, who presented the claim, is for a Japanese mink coat Miss Eustice bought from G. M. Zoros, furrier at 185 North Michigan avenue.

MEXICAN TIMBER CALLED A SCREEN FOR STOCK SALES

Accountant Tells SEC of His Doubts.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

A certified public accountant who examined the records and assets of Resources Corporation International in January, 1937, advised his auditing firm against approving the affairs of the corporation, which he said was engaged chiefly in selling stock and was doing practically nothing toward developing its supposedly valuable Mexican timber lands.

This testimony was given yesterday by Arthur A. Kuiper, accounting manager of Arthur Andersen & Co., public auditors, before Examiner Henry L. Fitts of the Federal Securities and Exchange commission. The SEC is investigating the company's application to offer 35,000 shares of its stock for sale to the public.

Formed to Sell Timber.

Previous testimony in the hearings, which have been under way a week, had brought out that Resources International was organized in 1931 to sell timber cutting contracts on 2 million acres of Mexican land in which officers of the corporation said they had obtained an equity.

SEC investigators testified that the funds contributed to a syndicate by outsiders were used for the company's operations; that Harper S. Hoover, its chairman, and his associates had made subscriptions to the syndicate but later had canceled these and had actually paid nothing for their equities.

Under questioning by Smith W. Brookhart Jr. and James P. Goode, SEC attorneys, Kuiper admitted yesterday that he had written a memorandum to Newton V. Wagner, his superior at Anderson & Co., stating that he was suspicious of Resources International. After strenuous protest by Attorney Leonard Cowan, general counsel for the corporation, this memorandum was introduced as evidence.

Calls Stock Prime Interest.

"It is my opinion that the activities of Mr. Hoover and his associates are devoted primarily to the distribution of stock of Resources International rather than to the development of its interests," this report read. "It appears that they obtained a large number of shares at the time of the organization of the company from the International syndicate by boosting the price of the contracts for the acquisition of the capital stocks of companies holding title to the Mexican lands.

"Certain of the contracts examined indicate that the amount reported as the balance due on Oct. 15, 1931 [when the company was organized] was in effect the total cost of the property, and that the value of the land is about $1 an acre, rather than $4.50 an acre, reported as the original cost."

Warns Against Approval.

"Even if my suspicions are incorrect and the company is a legitimate enterprise," the Kulper memorandum continued, "it is doubtful whether the firm [Andersen & Co.] should issue a report on the company. The undertaking is a very speculative one, and in addition, because of the methods by which it acquired its interests in the Mexican timber lands, it is very difficult to properly present a picture of its position in a balance sheet.

"Most of the transactions are recorded through the personal account of Mr. H. S. Hoover, with no supporting evidence available therefor. Several large allowances have been granted in connection with the timber contracts [options] which supposedly were based on the agreements made at the time the contracts were negotiated, but which allowances are not covered by the provisions of the contracts. No information in regard to the allowances, which evidently were based on oral understandings, was available to us."

Has No Full Time Staf.

Questioned further, Kuiper stated that the company has no full time officers or employés and that its operating expenses are made up of minor charges. The contracts, he said, were dated as of 1933, not 1931.

Q.—[By Goode]—You inspected the syndicate records? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you ascertain the amounts subscribed and paid out? A.—No.

Q.—Did you ascertain what Mr. Hoover paid? A.—I was informed that in reality there was no syndicate; that the syndicate was Mr. Hoover.

Kuiper then told of a trip he made to Mexico to verify the company's ownership of the timber lands. He said he saw Edward Hartman, with whom the corporation had dealings, and two law firms, those of Basham & Ringe and Fernando Puga of Mexico City. All gave him information regarding the timber lands and the amount due on them.

Didn't Visit Properties.

Q.—Did you visit any of the properties? A.—No.

Q.—In your examination of the corporation did you ask for the original contracts on the lands? A.—I was told that none existed.

Q.—Didn't you think that worthy of comment in your report? A.—My report was for 1937, not 1931.

Q. [By Examiner Fitts]—You thought nothing of the fact that the company had nothing to represent the 9 million dollar valuation it put on the lands? A.—We state in the certificate we can assume no responsibility for the value of the company's investments.

The examiner then had Kuiper examine four contracts representing the Mexican timber lands. Two of these showed an amount owed on the lands, but did not specify the amount of the down payment.

Q. [by Fitts]—If you don't know the amount paid down you can't say how much the corporation actually paid for the lands, can you? A.—No.

Q.—You never did know? A.—No.

Q.—You can't find out? A.—No.

Joerns Is First Witness.

In the legal battle over the memorandum advising against issuing a report on Resources International, attorneys for the corporation stressed the fact that the document expressed Kuiper's preliminary opinion. Questioned by Examiner Fitts, Kuiper declared that the memorandum was for the private use of his superior and that he probably had not been as careful of his language as he might have been under oath. He added that since he had later made a report certifying the company he had had cause to change his mind.

During the morning session of the hearing Arnold Joerns, vice president of the corporation, identified prospectuses used in stock sales in seven states prior to 1935. He also told of a contract held by the corporation with United Mining company for the exploitation of gold and silver mines in Mexico, but denied that these mines were used as inducements in selling stock.

POLICE SEIZE 2 PALS OF BANDIT SHOT IN HOLDUP

Two young men arrested yesterday confessed taking part in a haberdashery holdup in which a comrade was wounded by a policeman Tuesday night. They are Ray Morgan, 23 years old, of 5361 South Cicero avenue, a parolee, and Joseph Turrise, 20, of 5238 South Keating avenue. They and Serafino Lanutti, 24 of 4738 West 55th street, were trying to rob Bernard Doran in his shop at 1661 East 79th street when Policeman Fred Euting surprised them and shot Lanutti, who is now in the Bridewell hospital.

WOMAN IS SHOT TO DEATH; HOLD WIFE OF HER SON

South Bend, Ind., April 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Martha Waters, 63 years old, died this evening of a bullet wound in her abdomen inflicted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Roberta Waters, 29, of New York City. The slayer showed no remorse at the county jail. "I'm not sorry I shot her," she said. The shooting culminated a two year search by the younger woman for her two small children, Eugene and Gala, who were left in the custody of the elder Mrs. Waters in 1936.

Police Investigate Stench Bombing of 5 Barber Shops

Police yesterday were investigating the stench bombing of five barber shops Tuesday night by two men riding in an automobile. The places visited by the terrorists were at 3136 Montrose avenue, 2035 North Western avenue, 3443 Milwaukee avenue, 860 North State street, and 1234 Noble street.

SCANDAL HOLDUP WITNESS MISSING IN NEW MYSTERY

Halt Trial; Tampering Is Charged by State.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Albert Ballard, manslaughter, sentenced to one to fourteen years in the penitentiary; Jack White, larceny, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary; Harry Siegel, robbery, sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act; Orlando Gelgen and Sam Erson, robbery, each sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge John C. Lewe.

James Hall, burglary, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

The trial of Kenneth Peters, a principal figure in a police scandal at the Town Hall station, was halted yesterday when it was learned that James J. Burke, the state's principal witness, is missing under mysterious circumstances. Police squads hunted for him without success last night.

James J. Burke.

Although four members of the jury which would determine if Peters is guilty of assault to rob had been chosen, Judge Rudolph Desort continued the court session when Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford informed him of the disappearance of Burke. It was indicated that a mistrial would be declared if the witness does not appear today.

State Charges Tampering.

"It seems apparent that an attempt has been made to tamper with Burke," said the prosecutor. "We'll hold the trial when he obeys the subpena served on him and returns. And we want to know his reasons for not showing up."

Peters and another man known only as Tip [he has evaded arrest] are alleged to have held up Burke at Dover street and Leland avenue on Feb. 28. They were arrested at the scene by two uniformed policemen, Harold Thompson and Peter Frank.

While the five men were standing together Detectives Frank McKune and Earl Flannery, who were off duty, approached and offered to take the prisoners to the Town Hall station. The offer was accepted. Flannery said he knew Peters and asked that he be "given a pass." The uniformed men insisted that Peters and Tip—and the pistols found in their hands—be taken to the lockup.

Detectives Let Pair Go.

McKune and Flannery drove away with the men, but did not deliver them to the station. They later admitted that they had voluntarily, in opposition to standing orders, released the pair. After an investigation the detectives were suspended and indicted for allowing prisoners to escape. They are awaiting trial.

Peters later surrendered and was identified by Burke, who is 69 years old. At the time of the holdup Burke, employed as chauffeur for William Nichols, a handbook operator, was driving two women home. The women, Mrs. Joseph Powers, 4606 Malden street, and Mrs. Mabel Le Roy, 4608 Malden street, fled at the approach of the robbers and could not make specific identifications.

Fails to Report to Captain.

Hence Burke became the state's chief witness. He was in court Monday. He was taken to his room at 936 Wilson avenue that afternoon by Capt. Patrick O'Connell of the Town Hall station. He called the captain Tuesday evening and was told to call again Wednesday morning. When he failed to do so detectives were put on his trail. All they learned was that Burke left his room Monday evening, taking his grips with him.

PURSE THIEF CONFESSES.

Joseph T. Bowman, 24 years old, 5439 Wentworth avenue, was arrested last night by the Hyde Park police and confessed that he had, a few hours earlier, robbed Mrs. Paulina Cohen, 5644 Maryland avenue, of her purse.

SEEKS MILLION FOR EMERGENCY COUNCIL REVIVAL

Called Campaign Machine; Names Director.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—The National Emergency council, once the mightiest of all administration agencies but which faded with the collapse of the NRA, is to be revived as a government propaganda machine during the coming campaign, two developments indicated today.

The NEC has been maintained in skeleton form during the last year, being kept alive by relief appropriations. Today Eugene Leggett, acting director, appeared before the house appropriations committee to ask for a million dollars for the agency from the President's multi-billion dollar pump priming fund.

Likely to Extend Unit.

The organization was doomed to die June 30 and members of the committee were somewhat puzzled about the request. Although no official explanation was offered, it was anticipated that the President soon would extend the life of the council by executive decree.

Last Sept. 16, Mr. Roosevelt decreed that the NEC should pass out of existence on Dec. 31. Two days before that date, on Dec. 29, the President issued a supplemental order continuing it until June 30.

Under Leggett the agency acted during the 1936 campaign as a distributor of political news. Leggett himself took the part of personal press agent for the President on the chief executive's famous trip through the drought regions during the campaign.

Called Campaign Agency.

The million dollar request indicated the agency is to play a similar part in the coming congressional campaign. It will assist the Democratic National committee in spreading news favorable to the candidacies of representatives and senators favored by the administration.

The second development tending to confirm this report was the nomination by the President of Lowell Mellett, editor of a Washington newspaper for seventeen years, to be executive director of the NEC. He will succeed Leggett who has been acting director since the resignation of Frank Walker two years ago. Donald Richberg was another former director of the council which in the early days of the Roosevelt era functioned as the guiding genius for all the alphabetical agencies.

Mellett, 54 years old, is a native of Indiana. He had been engaged in newspaper and magazine work for more than thirty years.

WARNS AGAINST UNREFRIGERATED LEFT OVER FOOD

Leftover food not properly refrigerated should not be eaten, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, warned yesterday. He urged that with the coming of warm weather extraordinary precaution be used in the handling of foods not to be eaten immediately. "The back porch and the window box are out," he said. He also warned proprietors of restaurants and other public eating places that the city food inspection ordinance requires refrigeration protection for all perishable foods.

CORN FARMERS WIDEN FIGHT ON CROP CONTROL

Seek to Enlist More in AAA Revolt.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Macomb, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—Delegates to the Corn Belt Liberty league meeting held here last night, at which 3,500 farmers pledged their opposition to government crop control, returned home today enthusiastic over plans to extend the revolt against farm dictation to other parts of the country.

Tilden Burg, league president, said today he was sure there was plenty of opposition to the AAA plan, especially in the commercial corn growing area, but he was anxious to know just how rapidly the movement would spread in view of obstacles that have been put in the path of revolting farmers.

Obstacles Are Discussed.

Many of these obstacles were discussed among the small group meetings held immediately after the close of last night's meeting. Dozens of farmers from the seventeen counties represented at the meeting remained to discuss the details of how to proceed with protest meetings in their own communities.

Those attending the meeting were determined not to be intimidated or have their course changed by the stumbling blocks that have been thrown in their way. Encouraged by the enthusiastic indorsement of the league's program in the meeting last night, the leaders are determined that the league should grow despite obstacles which admittedly are present.

Many Fear Penalty.

Their stands are listed as follows:

1. Many farmers fear the result, if they plant more than their government corn acreage allotment. They do not feel able to pay the penalty of 15 cents a bushel that will be charged on market quota corn fed or sold.

2. Corn belt farmers generally are busy plowing corn ground and completing the sowing of their small grain. Some are too busy to discuss the revolt with their neighbors or to take time out to attend meetings.

3. Thousands of rebellious farmers are believed to be planning to collect the government check, while they secretly oppose the plan. By qualifying for the government dole they thereby become technical coöperators. In reality, many of these men are against the AAA crop control plan but see little they can do as individuals except to disregard the immediate cash benefits and fight against the program with the hope that the law may be changed or repealed.

Some May Need Loans.

4. Some think they will need to borrow money offered by the government under authority of the farm law. To get out and fight the plan and refuse to comply with the federal cropping orders, they would become disqualified for government loans.

5. Whatever they do now in registering their protests with local authorities and with officials in Washington, many feel that conditions cannot be changed greatly for this cropping year.

6. Many fear the breaking up of life long friendships with neighbors who have accepted positions with the government and are now serving on county committees.

7. Many fear reprisal if they refuse to coöperate and are found to be out fighting the government's program.

30 PER CENT FEWER FAMILIES EXPECTED TO MOVE ON SUNDAY

The furnishings of thirty thousand families will be stacked on the city's sidewalks today and tomorrow as Chicago's migratory population begins its annual spring trip from home to home and apartment to apartment.

There will be 30 per cent fewer movers than last year, it is estimated, but all have chosen the week-end to go into their new homes, and there will be the usual mad scramble for moving vans. The fact that May 1 falls on Sunday, and that it costs twice as much to move that day, seems to have had little effect on the hegira.

Considerably fewer orders for change of electric service were reported by Commonwealth Edison company. The People's Gas, Light and Coke company estimated that their change orders would not reach last year's peak, and while the Illinois Bell Telephone company showed 2,464 more change orders the early part of this week than for the same period in 1937, the subscriber list is larger and the company estimates a lower proportion of movers.

Parolee Gets 30 Days' Jail on Assault Charge

Conrad Petta, 1243 North Hoyne avenue, a paroled robber from Joliet penitentiary, was sentenced to 30 days in the Bridewell and fined $25 by Judge Oscar S. Kaplan in the Shakespeare avenue court yesterday on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. Petta was arrested after he attacked E. H. Monhardt, 3350 North Albany avenue, on April 9.

NAME SEN. BERRY IN 2D SUIT OVER UNION CONTROL

A suit for an injunction to restrain United States Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.], president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union and eleven others from interfering in the affairs of Franklin local No. 4 of Chicago, was filed yesterday in Superior court. The suit was on behalf of 23 members and former members of the local union, who charge the defendants have blocked the holding of an election of officers since an election in 1928.

Shortly after filing of the suit Attorneys James E. Daniels, John R. Sullivan and Reuben Freedman, representing the complainants, appeared before Judge Grover C. Niemeyer to have the case set for hearing today.

A similar suit was dismissed in federal court Wednesday by Judge Charles E. Woodward for lack of jurisdiction.

Deputy Learns the Meaning of Shoe on the Other Foot

Thousands of times James G. Svejda, a deputy sherif for the last ten years, has served papers upon parties to divorce suits. Yesterday he was served himself with notice that his wife, Bernice, 10209 South Oakley avenue, is suing for divorce on the ground of cruelty. One of his fellow deputies handed him the legal notice in the sherif's office at the county building.

LAUNCH PEACE MOVES BETWEEN HORNER AND NASH

Chicago Committeemen Call on Governor.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—Politics held sway here in Springfield tonight. These were the developments:

1. First positive peace moves between Gov. Horner and the Nash-Kelly Democratic organization were undertaken in a two hour conference between the governor and Ald. J. M. Arvey and Sanitary Trustee James M. Whalen of Chicago, leading Nash-Kelly ward committeemen. While no pledges were signed, the ice was broken for future meetings.

G. O. P. Chairmen Meet.

2. Republican county chairmen assembled to plan the fall campaign for the Lyons slate tomorrow. With them were state central committeemen who are involved in a four-sided contest over the state chairmanship. This election still is ten days away, but it is stirring factional groups to strong efforts for control. The retiring committee will vote tomorrow to recess the state convention until fall.

3. Democratic state committeemen met to take similar action to postpone their convention, in accordance with the wishes of both Gov. Horner and the Nash-Kelly machine. Each faction wants to wait until congress adjourns and the national issues are clarified before writing their state platform.

State Chairmanship a Race.

The fight over the Republican state chairmanship is an open race. John F. Tyrrell of Chicago, the present chairman, is a candidate for reëlection.

Much support is noted for A. K. Stiles of Sycamore, De Kalb county chairman, as well as state committeeman from that district. Stiles is an investment banker and is the only state committeeman on the executive committee of the county chairmen's association which picked the slate headed by Richard J. Lyons for senator two months ago in Urbana. Another candidate is Richard Yates Rowe of Jacksonville. There also is sentiment for former Judge William Ratliff of Bloomington.

Confusion Among Democrats.

About as much confusion prevails on the Democratic side over a chairman. Horner's downstate committeemen have the notion they will be permitted to name a chairman.

Should the governor's men be permitted to hold sway, a likely choice is Harry Hershey of Taylorville. The Democratic committee will elect its new officers on May 19, Bruce A. Campbell, retiring chairman, said.

Gov. Horner today gave his approval to a suggested law providing that bank deposits unclaimed for seven years shall revert to the state. The legislative budgetary commission now is studying such a proposal and may recommend its adoption by the 1939 session of the general assembly.

ENGRAVING FIRM ASKS COURT HELP IN UNION DISPUTE

A petition for an injunction to restrain members of the Chicago Photo Engravers' union, local No. 5, from interfering with employés of the Howard Engraving company was filed in Superior court yesterday. The bill asked the court to decide how many pickets should be allowed near the plant at 426 South Clinton street.

According to the bill, filed by Attorney G. A. Buresh for the company, workers have been attacked and beaten numerous times. Defendants, in addition to the union, are Jack W. Schussler, president of the local; Edward A. Sward, secretary and treasurer, and Jack Martell, who is described as "a union picket."

CANCEL $411,489 AWARD FOR WORK IN SEWAGE PLANT

Trustees of the Sanitary district yesterday canceled a $411,489 contract for piping, plumbing, and ventilating awarded April 14 to Hanley & Co., 1503 South Michigan avenue, and ordered a readvertisement for bids. The company was low bidder for equipment to be used at the new $13,000,000 sewage disposal plant at Stickney, and was awarded the contract subject to the approval of the Public Works administration. Joshua D'Esposito, resident engineer for the PWA, advised canceling the contract to get more satisfactory offers.

WOMEN DEBATE CHANGE IN U. S. CONSTITUTION

Voters' League Split on Amending Plank.

BY BETTY BROWNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 28.—[Special.]—Shall the federal constitution be amended to make the amending process less difficult and more responsive to the will of the electorate?

This plank in the League of Women Voters proposed platform for 1938-1940 will come up for final action tomorrow following strenuous debate at today's session of the 13th national convention here.

The measure came before the delegates by the back door, so to speak, for at a department meeting just before the convention, opposition members rewrote it into the meaningless "opposition to making the amending process more difficult" in order to obtain parliamentary delay and gain time for further consideration before action could be taken.

Vote on Measure Today.

The measure, rewritten in its original form, will be voted on tomorrow either for support or study.

A few left wing members, league leaders said, are joining conservatives in trying to shelve the plank because they feel that to launch it now would be premature in the face of public opinion.

The pending food and drugs bill has been so devitalized by the inclusion of judicial review of regulations that the league, which has fought for the measure for five years, now will have to oppose it, Mrs. Harris T. Baldwin of Washington, D. C., first vice president, told the delegates. She spoke in a session devoted to demonstrating the league's method of working on legislative measures.

Points to Long Delays.

"The review of regulations makes it possible for any interested industry to obtain a hearing and then win further delay by appeals" Mrs. Baldwin said. "It would be possible indefinitly to withhold the protection which the bill originally was intended to afford consumers."

Miss Florence Kirlin, legislative secretary of the league, ascribed the failure of the league's long campaign for a true merit system in postmasterships to the reluctance of the senate to relinquish patronage. The league is opposing the pending McKellar bill whereby postmasterships will be returned to patronage.

Among the items which the league voted to work for in the next two years were sound relationships in public finance between sources of income and expenditure needs.

KIDNAPED N. Y. BOY IN HIS PLACE, CAFE MAN IN WEST SAYS

Santa Fe, N. M., April 28.—[Special.]—Official interest in the two months old kidnaping of Peter Levine, 12 years old, of New Rochelle, N. Y., centered in this vicinity today as a result of a café owner's assertion he saw the boy here Tuesday night.

State Police Sergeant H. K. Dalbey said he was told by John Karavonis, restaurant owner, that he recognized a police poster picture of the boy kidnaped Feb. 14 as that of a raggedly clothed lad who was in his café with two well dressed men. Karavonis said the boy ordered two hamburgers.

Chief of Police Tom P. Delgado of Santa Fe said he had instructed his men to keep a sharp lookout for the trio. Federal bureau of investigation agents at El Paso, Tex., were notified of the incident but they made no comment.

HOLC Sues to Foreclose Franklin Hardinge Home

A suit to foreclose on the home of Franklin Hardinge, oil burner manufacturer, at 1432 Fargo avenue, has been filed by the Home Owners' Loan corporation in Circuit court. Hardinge was the defendant eight years ago in a breach of promise suit brought by Anne Livingston, who won a $25,000 verdict. The HOLC charges Hardinge paid $2,507, but now is in default $1,158 on the $12,380 mortgage. Hardinge said he would not oppose the suit.

WPA Ends Labor Disputes on Lake County Projects

Labor disputes which have delayed work on Works Progress administration projects in Lake county for the last two weeks were ended yesterday, according to Edward D. Payne, WPA regional director at Waukegan. An agreement was reached, he said, under which semi-skilled laborers will be paid the prevailing wage rate, in most cases somewhat higher than the $48 a month they have been receiving.

COMPLAINS CHILD LABOR IS GROWING IN GERMAN CITIES

Laws Are Violated Due to Shortage of Workers.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 28.—Children are being employed in increasing numbers in Germany for work which should be done by adults, the Arbeiterkorrespondenz, or Workers' Correspondence, complained today.

"Owing to the shortage of labor, violations of child labor laws have assumed a critical character," the paper said.

It warned that children are barred from most trades by law. Even in farming and housekeeping where children are permitted to work they must be at least 12 years old and may not be employed longer than three hours on week days and two hours on Sunday.

More Nurses Wanted.

In an effort to obtain more nurses and women welfare workers, Gertrude Scholtz Klink, reich women's leader, offered a dowry of $400 to girls who enter these professions. Germany lacks welfare workers because many girls prefer to work in munitions factories and as stenographers. The dowry will be paid when the girls marry after they have been employed two years.

As nurses and welfare workers the girls are entitled to free room and board and pocket money of 8 cents a day during the first six months. After six months they get 20 cents a day.

Acting on a request from President Roosevelt, officials of the United States embassy are investigating the development and training of German youth.

Envoy Studies Camps.

The President said on Tuesday in Washington, D. C., that Ambassador Hugh Wilson is making a study of German outdoor camps for boys and girls at his request.

Young Germans have received particular attention under Nazi régime, and outdoor activities, including sports, have been required of most of them.

Only this month it was decided that social insurance system camps in Hanover and Hesse had produced such remarkable results as to warant a nation-wide extension. In these camps, boys and girls leaving school in poor health are to be put through "invigorating courses."

Spend 8 Weeks in Camps.

Residence in such camps up to eight weeks shall be granted boys and girls of 14 to 18 years of age who are constitutionally weak, or are burdened with after effects of illness. The plan is that these young people, through exercise in the open air, will be so improved that they can work eight hours a day in factory or office.

Baldur von Schirach, leader of Hitler Youth, has instituted a series of rigorous tests which, when passed, entitle youngsters to a badge.

One of these tests involved "camping and marching." Boys who pass it must march twelve and one-half miles with a load of ten pounds.

U. S. ASKS FACTS OF NAZIS' JEWISH PROPERTY RULING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 28.—The United States embassy, with diplomatic representations of other nations, pressed Nazi officials today for the specific meaning of yesterday's decree ordering the registration of Jewish owned property in Germany. An official interpretation was promised.

The American diplomats prepared to extend their inquiries after reports from Washington, D. C., that instructions were sent to Berlin by the state department.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, chief of the German self-sufficiency plan, issued the decree. All property exceeding a value of $2,000 owned by German or foreign Jews is affected.

Responsibility for reporting such property belonging to foreign Jews living outside of Germany rests with the person who controls the property legally, the economics ministry said.

Awarded $725

ESTHER MALLIN.

A judgment of $725 was awarded to Esther Mallin, 17 years old, 1412 South Drake avenue, by a jury in Judge Martin Gridley's court yesterday for injuries received Aug. 14, when she was knocked off her bicycle by an automobile. The defendant was Charles Hellig, 45 years old, 4700 North Racine avenue, who was charged with negligence. The suit was for $10,000.

U. S. FIRMS TO PAY DUTY ON PLANES SOLD TO BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—American airplane manufacturers who sell war planes to the British delegation which now is in the United States are going to contribute to Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon's five billion dollar British budget, it was made clear today in the house of commons.

The British are going to charge the American manufacturers regular duty on every plane imported through purchases made in the United States, Lord Winterton, deputy air minister, told the members.

It is generally understood here that the British are out to purchase five hundred American war planes which would represent an outlay of $20,000,000 if the average cost of a plane is figured at $40,000.

That means, if American manufacturers sell the British 500 war planes at the above rates, the planes will be knocked down at the British customs for about 50 per cent of their purchase price. Thus American manufacturers stand to contribute $10,000,000 to the British budget on delivery of the planes.

CHINESE ROBBERS KILL U. S. AID OF SALVATION ARMY

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—Chinese robbers shot and killed James Dempster, an American of New York City and a major in the Salvation Army, the state department announced today.

Laurence E. Salisbury, American chargé d'affaires at Peking, notified the department that the robbers entered Salvation Army property at Tinghsien, Hopei province, shortly after midnight this morning.

Beside Dempster they also shot and killed a Russian guard. Mrs. Dempster was knocked down, but not injured. She and one child arrived today in Peking. Two other Dempster children are in Tinghsien.

Dempster's foster mother is Mrs. Bessie Draney of Paterson, N. J.

Dutch Officials and Press Silent on Royal Family Rift

(Picture on Back Page.)

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, April 29.—While Crown Princess Juliana and her consort, Prince Bernhard, go ahead with preparations for the baptism of their baby, Princess Beatrix, on May 12, government officials and the press maintain a rigid silence on reports of a rift between Bernhard and Queen Wilhelmina, Juliana's mother. The queen was reported to have scolded the prince after an automobile accident last Nov. 29 in which he was injured. When Bernhard returned last week from a month's vacation in London and on the Riviera he swept up to the palace door in a new Italian automobile he had purchased in Cannes. He had a minor accident in France the day before he reached The Hague.

ROME TO GLITTER FOR HITLER AS IT DID FOR CAESARS

ROME, April 28.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's reception here May 3 will be the most spectacular ever given a foreign visitor to the Italian peninsula.

The array of massed man power, demonstrations of military might, and decorative splendors planned in Hitler's honor will overshadow anything ever seen in modern Rome or the ancient city of the Cæsars.

New Friendship Emphasized.

For the week's visit Fascist Italy intends to outdo itself in impressing the world with solidarity of the new Italo-German friendship, arisen from centuries of antagonism.

A torchlight parade when the Fuehrer arrives in Rome, a gigantic review of Italy's military forces and the greatest naval display in Italian history are highlights of the program.

Station Built for Hitler.

In Rome Premier Mussolini will treat his German guest to the most elaborate exhibition of Fascist discipline on parade. From the moment he enters the Eternal City through a new station erected in his honor, and passes over an avenue named for him, Hitler will be the center of a blaze of official enthusiasm.

At the military review, brightly uniformed diplomats and the élite of Italian political, social, and cultural circles will watch for hours while thousands of troops march past the reviewing stand along the Way of Triumph.

Boy, Bitten by Rattler, Shoots Away the Poison

Laurel, Neb., April 28.—[Special.]—Bartley O'Gara, 15 years old, is recovering from a rattlesnake bite and a bullet wound. Bitten by a snake as he was opening a pasture gate, the boy shot a hole through his finger with his revolver to release the poison.

REBEL BOMBERS RAID SPANISH LOYALISTS' REARGUARD POSITIONS

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], April 28.—(AP)—Rebel war planes made "blind bombing" raids on the Spanish government rear guard today despite clouds and heavy rain that halted land operations in Castellon and Teruel provinces.

The rebels said the object was not to destroy positions but to break the morale of the enemy at a time when rain and bad weather would seem to guarantee freedom from raids.

Both sides were busy consolidating their lines and digging trenches in the muddy soil. Government sources said it would be "at least a week" before the rebels could resume their offensive. By that time, they predicted, Gen. Jose Miaja's loyalist troops would be installed in solid defenses.

FLYER REDFERN DEAD, EXPLORER SAYS AFTER HUNT

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, April 28.—(AP)—Theodore J. Waldeck, New York explorer, returning from four months of perilous search for trace of Paul Redfern, missing American aviator, said today that Redfern was dead.

"I found the place were the plane crashed and definite proof that Redfern is dead," Waldeck said.

He would give no further details of his discovery, saying first he must forward a report to Dr. Frederick C. Redfern of Columbia, S. C., father of the flyer. Redfern disappeared in August, 1927, in an attempt to fly nonstop from Brunswick, Ga., to Brazil. Strange tales have come out of the steaming jungle of British Guiana since then—one saying that Redfern had become the "great white god" of a jungle tribe.

Waldeck reported his expedition had reached the border of Venezuela. "But we almost gave up after the death of Dr. Fox and Chanler's illness," he said, referring to Dr. Frederick J. Fox and William Astor Chanler, members of the party.

Michigan Girl Loses Eye; Struck by Batted Marble

GREAT OIL FIELD REPORTED FOUND WITHIN GERMANY

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 28.—Just returned from a visit to the United States, Viscount Rothermere, London publisher, wrote in the Daily Mail today the following:

"In New York the other day I learned from an official of one of the great oil companies which has large interests in Germany that his company in conjunction with its German associates has discovered a great oil field not far from Hamburg. The oil is said to be as good as any discovered in the United States and of a grade used by aircraft.

"I had to say I disbelieved this story, the news being of such importance, but my informant was so emphatic I was compelled to believe it to be true. His emphasis made such an impression on me that I think this report worthy of consideration."

Condemned Brady Gang Slayer Becomes Father

A daughter was born Wednesday in Baltimore, Md., to Mary Raimondo Dalhover, wife of James Dalhover, last member of the Brady gang, who is scheduled to die in the Indiana electric chair on June 10, according to word received here yesterday. Dalhover married the Baltimore girl under an assumed name last August. He was convicted in the federal court at Hammond last December for the murder of Paul Minneman, Indiana state policeman, after his capture in Bangor, Me., in a gun fight which Al Brady and Clarence Lee Shaffer were killed.

ARGENTINA BANS MASSMEETING OF NAZIS ON MAY DAY

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 28.—(AP)—To help insure a quiet May day, the Argentine ministry of interior has forbidden display of foreign flags at public meetings next Sunday. The capital police department also denied a Nazi Germany application to hold a mass meeting in Luna park.

The measures were taken to avoid possible incidents between Nazis and Argentine labor organizations, all of which observe May 1 as a holiday.

DUTCH TO BLAST INDIES OIL STORE IF FOE ATTACKS

Officials Admit Fear Japs Might Try Seizure.

BATAVIA, Java, April 28.—(AP)—The Netherlands government has completed preparations to thwart any attempt by a foreign power to seize the rich oil resources of Borneo and other parts of the Netherlands East Indies.

Officials admit in private talks they have possible Japanese action in mind.

An elaborate system of connecting mines has been constructed to blow up oil depots, pipe lines, and wells if the need arises.

U. S. Neutrality Act a Factor.

The Hollanders are anticipating the possibility that application of the United States' neutrality act might drive Japan, in her acute need for oil fuel, to a desperate attempt to take over the oil resources of the Netherlands' Indies, which are among the world's richest.

[America now is the chief source of supply for Japan. If the neutrality act were invoked this source would be shut off. The second largest source for Japan is the East Indies fields, in which British capital is interested.]

Touching off the system of mines would make it impossible to obtain oil supplies from this area for at least six months and expenditure of huge sums on restoration of installations would be required.

China War Depletes Supplies.

Authorities here believe the war in China has seriously depleted Japanese supplies of petroleum, which at the outset were believed to be sufficient to last a year.

Officials here admit that the present land fortifications and naval equipment of the principal East Indies ports would be inadequate to withstand a concerted Japanese attack. The government at present is concentrating its defense efforts on enlarging its air and naval forces.

Forty American-made bombing planes have been ordered for early delivery. Six submarines are under construction. All eligible Hollanders here must undergo reserve military training, while native troops have been increased. The islands also rely for protection on British Singapore's mighty 18 inch guns and powerful naval base.

Japs Near Railway

(Story in adjoining column.)

Japanese columns from north and south again drove toward the Chinese Lunghai railway yesterday. East of Suchow junction Japanese troops pushed forward to within ten miles of Yunho and Sinanchen (1). A renewed northward drive in Anhwei province was reported stalled at Kuchen (2) by defense activities of the Chinese air force.

Flyer, Released by Japan, Is Happy He's an American

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, April 29.—[Friday.]—Melvin Gibbon said today he "thanked his stars" he was an American when he learned his nationality was a principal reason for his release last night by Yokohama authorities. Gibbon, who is 27 years old and an aviator, was turned over to Richard Boyce, American consul at Yokohama, after being cautioned about his activities while he is in Japan. He said he would leave Tuesday for Seattle, Wash., aboard the liner President Taft. The flyer had been detained for six days during which he was questioned about flying for the Chinese air force.

Here's Whale of Fish Yarn; He Towed a Boat 6½ Hours

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 28.—The whale boat Surprise, missing since yesterday and hunted by two cruisers, was towed into Hamilton by a fishing boat today. Members of the crew reported harpooning a whale at 9:30 a. m. yesterday and said they were towed until 4 p. m. During that time they attempted unsuccessfully to bomb the whale, they said, and cut loose forty or fifty miles from land. The Surprise had one sail and no power.

JAPANESE DRIVE WITHIN 10 MILES OF RAILWAY LINE

Chinese Regiment Wiped Out in 6 Hour Battle.

SHANGHAI, April 29.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Japanese forces increased their pressure against the vital east-west Lunghai railway today, but a Chinese spokesman reported the invaders' power was spent. He said the Japanese are tired and predicted the defenders will smash them back and disrupt their supply lines.

Japanese columns driving south from Shantung province are within ten miles of Yunho and Sinanchen. These towns, in Kiangsu province, are on the railway forty and sixty-eight miles, respectively, east of Suchow, junction point of the Lunghai and the north-south Tientsin-Pukow railroad.

The Japanese advanced three miles in twenty-four hours, after which, the Chinese high command said, it forces counterattacked and broke the enemy lines at several points.

The Chinese also were reported to have repulsed three night attacks on Nikow, ten miles north of Taierchwang .

The ferocity of the fighting near Yihsien was testified to by a Chinese admission that an entire regiment of troops from Yunnan province was wiped out in a six hour battle.

In Anhwei province the Japanese resumed their northward drive to conquer the Tientsin-Pukow railway to Suchow, an effort tried unsuccessfully last February.

Their route lay through north Anhwei province towns and a thickly populated farming area.

Though the Japanese were reported "within striking distance" of Suhsien, forty miles from the railway junction, Chinese air forces still were reported blocking the way at Kuchen, where the first Japanese offensive failed. Kuchen is thirty-one miles southeast of Suhsien.

MEMBER OF COMMONS CRITICIZES ROOSEVELT AND RECEIVES REBUKE

LONDON, April 28.—(AP)—A Conservative member of parliament was called to order today for criticizing President Roosevelt during debate in the house of commons. The criticism was voiced by Sir Waldron Smithers, London stock broker, discussing world trade recession during debate on Britain's new budget.

"President Roosevelt has tried to put across theories which do not work in practice, and has destroyed confidence in America," he said.

The house was sitting as a committee on the budget resolution at the time. Deputy Chairman Sir Cyril Entwistle rebuked Smithers by intervening with the observation that the member was "departing to some extent from the main subject under discussion."

RUSSIA TO BUILD BIGGEST WARSHIP IN WORLD IN U. S.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—Designs for a Russian battleship, believed to be the largest and longest in the world, are being prepared by Gibbs & Cox, naval architects with offices here, it was learned today.

Specifications were not revealed, and Gibbs & Cox declined to comment on a report that the ship's length would be 1,000 feet. But in Washington Charles Edison, assistant secretary of the navy, said he understood the ship would be quite large.

Edison added that the construction of such a ship here depended upon the attitude of the state department. He said the navy department felt there would be no objection if the construction did not interfere with our own naval building plans.

Children Kept from School; Orders Arrest of Parents

Judge John T. Zuris in the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday ordered the arrest of John Lehman, 40 years old, 1059 Lill avenue, and his wife, Anna, 35, when they failed to appear to answer charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors. The Lehmans are accused of failing to send three of their six children to school.

FIGURES DON'T LIE

By CALEB

"AM I a statistic or am I a person?"

The young lady asked the question belligerently. She felt so strongly on the matter that further conversation about it promised some interesting results.

"I'm tired of seeing myself pushed willy-nilly into population brackets, income groups, cultural levels, life expectancy tables and intelligence quotients. I'm an individual—I'm me, and so far as I'm concerned there's nobody else exactly like me."

Of course, the young lady doesn't actually object to statistics. She is intelligent enough to realize that they contribute a good deal of practical and valuable information that helps achieve worth while human goals.

She was, somewhat inarticulately, voicing her determination to maintain and assert her individuality against all forms of group pressure. Like the rest of us, she has felt her head swim when she looked at financial statements and population data for the nation. She has never seen a billion dollars. Neither, so far as we know, has anyone else. It is impossible to form an accurate mental picture of a billion dollars. Anyone without the trained, statistical mind finds himself staggered and bewildered by such figures as billions of dollars, millions of people.

In the face of colossal statistics it is hard to remember that democracy stands or falls on the base of individual integrity. Many a conscientious citizen has come to feel during the past decade or two that his views no longer count—that his influence is nil because of the tremendous magnitude of the group of which he is a part. The statistics have undermined his confidence in his own worth and effectiveness.

It was against this very conclusion the young lady fought when she asked her question, "Am I a statistic or am I a person?" The answer is that she is very much a person—and from her show of spirit, will remain one. She owes us no less—and each of us in turn owes her a similar determination. Our common future is based upon individual integrity.

FEDERAL PROJECT FAILS TO BENEFIT ILL HOUSED THIRD

Slum Dwellers Can't Pay Rents, Survey Shows.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—They had a big day in Atlanta, Ga., on Sept. 29, 1934. Administrator Harold L. Ickes arrived in the southern city to start demolition on two slum areas where now stand housing projects built by his Public Works administration.

Nowhere is a clearer contrast offered between what Mr. Ickes promised and what he delivered in his PWA housing program than in these two Atlanta projects—Techwood, for white tenants, and University, for colored tenants.

Plans Drawn Before Speech.

Mr. Ickes promised housing within the ability to pay of the lowest income classes. Presumably he knew what he was talking about, for plans and specifications for the projects already were drawn.

He went ahead with construction, building dwelling facilities for white tenants at a cost of $4,857 a family and for colored tenants at $3,840—both well below his average for the country, which his later extravagances raised to a nation-wide average of $6,189 a dwelling unit.

In contrast to what Mr. Ickes promised, the rents fixed for Techwood, the white project, are higher than those paid by half of the white tenants in Atlanta, and this in spite of subsidies equal to 55 per cent of the average PWA rent.

Every Dwelling Listed.

Information as to those rents was available to Mr. Ickes before plans for the project were drawn. It was gathered by a real property inventory, made by the civil works administration in the spring of 1934, and listing the condition and rent of every dwelling in the city.

That survey showed that 47 per cent of the white tenants in the city were paying less than $20 a month rent. Mr. Ickes' lowest rent was $24.60 for three rooms. His highest rent was $39.65 for six rooms, and 80 per cent of the white renters in Atlanta paid less than that.

The accompanying graphs demonstrate how close he came to supplying housing within the ability to pay of the lowest income classes.

Income vs. Home Size.

Data also is available on the family incomes of the present Techwood tenants. It was furnished by the United States housing authority, which inherited management of the PWA projects last November. These incomes range from one family earning $2,320 a year down to two who earn only $520, and pay 56.3 per cent of it as rent.

The average for all of the tenant families is $1,134 a year. The average for tenants grouped according to the number of rooms they rent is as follows:

Six rooms	$1,709
Five rooms	1,512
Four rooms	1,254
Three rooms	1,008

From the government's own bureau of labor statistics, which made a survey of consumer purchases in Atlanta, it was learned that 37.7 of Atlanta's native white population earned less than $1,250 a year in 1935 and 1936. If the foreign born whites are taken into consideration the average drops. But taking the native white figures 29.5 per cent of the whites earn less than $1,000 a year.

Middle Brackets Get Benefits.

The average income of the tenants in the cheapest of the Techwood apartments is $1,008 a year, thus showing that the housing benefits are not going to low income brackets, about which Mr. Ickes was so concerned in 1934, but to families in the middle income range.

The lowest income groups for which Mr. Ickes said he was building undoubtedly included the occupants of the slum homes which he demolished on the sites of his two Atlanta projects. These were almost all colored people. His PWA staf gathered information on the rents paid by tenants on the site of the University project, for colored tenants.

Thirty-one of the 319 tenant families there paid $5 or less a month. The majority—240 families—paid from $6 to $10. Families paying $11 to $15 numbered 41, and those more than $15 a month, only 7. From the rentals paid, there is little doubt that this was a slum area.

Slum Dwellers Forgotten.

But it is highly improbable that Mr. Ickes did anything for the slum dwellers. Their average rent per room was $2.89 a month. The average rent per room in the University project is $6.87. Of the whole group of 319 families, only the six who paid $16 a month and the one who paid $20 a month could afford even the cheapest apartment at University.

These poverty stricken colored families ceased to be a problem to the PWA soon after it went into Atlanta. As Col. Horatio B. Hackett, head of the PWA housing division, put it in a speech in 1935:

"When they heard we were going to blow up two buildings, they faded out of the picture."

[This is the sixth of a series by Mr. Ator. Another will appear in an early issue.]

LONDON, April 28.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, who for the last two years have been living at Long Barn, Seven Oaks, Kent, plan to move at the end of May to the small Island of Illiec, off the coast of Brittany, that the flyer recently purchased. The island is near that on which Dr. Alexis Carrel has his home. It is expected to give Col. Lindbergh even greater privacy than he has enjoyed at Seven Oaks.

ROAD BUILDERS ADOPT PROGRAM FOR MICHIGAN

VanWagoner Inducted Into Presidency.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 28.—[Special.]—There was born here tonight what its parents identified as a national movement to promote sound thoughts on highway finance and administration.

About 1,500 persons attended a banquet of the Michigan section of the American Road Builders' association and resolved to further highway construction for unemployment relief, for national defense, for a reduction of the accident toll, and for the advancement of general economics. This state's highway commissioner, Murray D. Van Wagoner, was inducted into office as the new president of the national association with instructions to spread the philosophy thus adopted throughout America.

Demands Millions for Roads.

Of first concern to Michigan was an announcement from Mr. Van Wagoner that there will not be a single mile of pavement laid nor a single bridge built in this state this year unless Gov. Frank Murphy promptly allots $4,000,000 from the general fund to the highway department. The legislature, in the spring of 1937, authorized an allocation of $5,000,000, but the highway department has received only $1,000,000. The general fund, in the meantime, has been strained by relief requirements.

"Short $4,000,000 of our appropriation," said the highway commissioner, "we will not be able to accept federal aid of $3,763,000, which must be matched 50-50.

"Unless help comes quickly we will have to abandon a construction program which called for 706 miles of construction, including 145 miles of new concrete pavement. It also included thirty-nine bridges and grade separations."

Congressman Wilburn Cartwright of Oklahoma, chairman of the house roads and bridges committee, presented the national picture. He said highways and bridges put money most directly into the pockets of labor, adding many such structures are obsolete and should be replaced. He asserted the federal government last year received $360,000,000 in revenue from its taxes on automobile ownership and operation.

The meeting adopted a resolution urging congress to pass a pending bill authorizing annual federal highway allotments of $238,000,000 for 1940 and for 1941.

RELIEF VENEREAL HOSPITAL FILLED TO CAPACITY, 45

The Chicago Relief administration's venereal disease confinement hospital in the Parkway lodge, 5120 South Park way, is now filled to its forty-five bed capacity, said Relief Commissioner Leo M. Lyons yesterday. The hospital was opened on March 7.

Eighty per cent of the thirty men and fifteen women admitted thus far have had gonorrhea. Their average age is about 25. Most of them are unmarried, having been sent to the lodge by either the city social hygiene clinic or CRA shelters for single persons. Syphilis patients are confined until past the infectious stage, gonorrhea patients until apparently cured. Six weeks is the usual confinement period.

STORM BLAMED FOR DROWNING OF 4 IN AUTO PLUNGE

A coroner's jury yesterday heard the tragic story of how two brothers and their wives were trapped in their automobile under 15 feet of water and drowned early in the day when the car plunged through the opened 130th street swing bridge into the Calumet river. A blinding rainstorm was blamed for the accident, and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

The bridge barriers were down and all warning signals were operating at the time of the accident, according to testimony of John Hartman, 5411 Drexel avenue, the bridge tender. The bridge had been opened to let the gravel boat Hulett pass.

Returning from Family Party.

Those killed in the accident were Edward Loniewski, 28, who was driving the car; his wife, Adeline, 25, of 13231 Commercial avenue, and Stanley Loniewski, 34, owner of the machine, and his wife, Pearl, 32, of Chicago and Hohman avenues, Hammond, Ind. They were driving home from a family reunion. Another brother, Stephen, 13356 Houston avenue, and several friends were following them in two other cars.

According to the testimony at the inquest, the drivers of the second and third cars halted as they approached the bridge from the west, but the first machine hurtled through the barrier and into the water. Rescue crews worked for nearly three hours before they could find the car and pull it from the water.

Dies of Auto Injuries.

Thomas McAvoy, 74 years old, 2025 South 3d avenue, Maywood, died in the Westlake hospital in Melrose Park yesterday of injuries suffered Wednesday when he was struck by an automobile at 3d avenue and Harrison street, Maywood. The driver was Robert Stevens of 1715 South 9th avenue, Maywood.

Emil Boske, 65 years old, of 5208 South Justine street, died in the Southtown hospital last night of injuries suffered Wednesday when he was struck at 52d street and Ashland avenue by a car driven by Clarence Bruchner, 33, of 8145 South Justine street.

Herbert W. Taylor, 42 years old, president of the H. W. Taylor Contractors' Supply company and former Chicago resident, was killed yesterday when his automobile crashed into a tree in Indianapolis. Survivors include his father, George Taylor of Chicago, and a brother, Alfred Taylor, of Joliet, Ill.

Train Hits Auto; Two Hurt.

Robert Wilson, 51 years old, 1147 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park, a barber, and Miss Edith Pike, 30, of 4151 Washington boulevard, were injured last night when their automobile was struck by a locomotive on the Milwaukee railroad right of way at Union avenue, near Fulton street. They were taken to St. Mary's hospital, where both are expected to recover. Police said that Wilson stopped for a passenger train to pass and that after the gates were raised he started to cross the tracks. The engine moving slowly on another track caught his car and dragged it 200 feet.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 277 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 222 were killed in Chicago, where 5,441 were injured in the same period.

THE MASSACRE
Chicago's 1938 Trafic Toll

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

DRUNKEN DRIVER GETS A $300 FINE IN SAFETY COURT

Roy Kleis, 1031 Bryn Mawr avenue, was fined $300 by Judge J. M. Braude in the Safety court yesterday for driving while intoxicated. It was the largest fine imposed in Safety court since the court was created nearly two years ago.

Kleis was arrested Wednesday after he had driven his car over the curb at Lake Shore drive and Oakdale avenue. A partly consumed bottle of liquor was found in his pocket, and court records showed he had been sentenced to five days in jail for a similar offense in November, 1936. Kleis also was suspended from driving his car for one year.

Joseph Meston, 4032 South Albany avenue, was sentenced to fifteen days in jail for driving while intoxicated. William C. Grant, 7243 Rhodes avenue, got a suspended fine of $10 on a similar charge. Erick Johnson, 6001 South Halsted street, was fined $10 for reckless driving. Driving rights of all three were suspended.

Widow's Killer Guillotined Publicly in French City

LILLE, France, April 28.—(AP)—Fernand Hubert was executed by guillotine in the public square today for slaying a widow last month during a robbery at Lambersart. The population watched from behind lines established by 400 mobile guards and policemen.

FAKE $10 BILLS WIDESPREAD IN AREA, U. S. WARNS

If your $10 bill has a serial number printed in a smudgy blue or the picture of Alexander Hamilton is dark and barely discernible, communicate with the police or the United States secret service.

This warning was issued yesterday by Capt. Thomas Callaghan, head of the local secret service office, who reported that thousands of these counterfeit bills are circulating throughout the middle west.

Other marks of identification listed by Capt. Callaghan are: The serial number probably includes the sequence 878074 and starts and ends with the letter A, the border design is not clearly printed, the treasury seal is dull, the red and blue silk fibers are missing, and the back of the bill is rough and blotted.

Charge purchases made Friday and Saturday will be posted on May bills, payable in June.

NO ARMS TO SPAIN.

Members of the National Academy of Science, recently holding their annual convention in Washington, petitioned the government, as individuals, to change its policy and permit the purchase by the Spanish government of materials in the United States. The scientists represented themselves as anti-Fascists.

The American neutrality law, a contrary thing in its operation, was hastily amended to apply to civil war. That kept the Spanish government out of the American market, although it is still the government recognized by the United States. Great Britain has taken the same position. Mr. Chamberlain's government, favoring the insurgents, has kept a fiasco of nonintervention alive and stopped its own trade. There was more criticism of British policy in parliament than there has been of American policy here.

Mr. Chamberlain told his opposition that trafficking would lead to the sinking of ships and even to naval battles and a European war. Italian and German men and materials have enabled Franco to win the war from French and Russian men and materials. It would appear that only military miracles would save what is called the Spanish republic, and they are nowhere in sight.

No pretense of dispassionate neutrality has been engaged by the struggle. The anarchist and communist elements, the dominant ones in the republic, were the excuse for the armed intervention of the two Fascist dictators. The best friends of Spain can hope only for a speedy finish and a better subsequent peace than present prospects warant. A breathing spell and another revolt against whatever government is established is the probability.

The United States in denying the right of a government to buy materials for a civil war has broken down its own precedents, but it will not be guided by its own newly adopted principles. That's fortunate, although inconsistent. When the United States needs war supplies and equipment, it will take them wherever it can get them, and the sellers will not raise the question of our present scruples. That will be our good luck and not our good policy.

A NEW CODE FOR NEW BUILDINGS.

If the aldermen exert themselves a little, they can complete the work of revising the city's building code before the summer recess. Whether they will do so is another matter. The recent decision of the subcommittee to hear no more testimony from manufacturers of building materials and other interested parties is not conclusive evidence of a determination to get on with the work, but it seems to indicate a desire to make speed and if so, is to be commended.

Chicago has been handicapped by the antiquated code which now governs construction of numerous types of buildings within the city limits. Building labor is the most conspicuous victim; men who might be at work are on the dole because construction costs in Chicago are needlessly high. In consequence, houses which might have been erected in Chicago have been built in the suburbs or have not been built at all. There are today fewer buildings in Chicago than there were in 1929 because many of the older properties have been torn down to save taxes. That has meant a diminishing number of structures to share the costs of government. A new building code promises a measure of tax relief through the creation of new taxable values.

The chapters of the new code dealing with heavy construction have been adopted and are now in force. The remaining sections are concerned principally with residential units and hold out the hope of new homes in a community which has seen almost no building of this type in nearly ten years. In that decade, many improvements in the design and equipment of dwellings have been developed; air conditioning is an example. The enactment of the new code will hasten the day when Chicagoans generally can enjoy the benefits of technical progress in home-making.

THE NEW STREAMLINERS.

Pictures taken in the Pullman shops show the new streamliners of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads nearing completion. The new trains will go into service in June. They will make the run in sixteen hours, cutting half an hour from the present fastest train schedules; presumably the time will be further reduced after an experimental period. The new trains, it is announced, will ride more quietly and more smoothly than any now in operation in the country's eastern area, and the passengers will be given more comfortable accommodations than any now available.

These improvements, long advocated in this newspaper, suggest how much the country as well as the railroads might benefit if railroad officials were given a freer hand in the management of their business. Railroad executives today can exercise their initiative in only a limited sphere. They are handicapped particularly in the making of freight rates, and it is upon these rates that success or failure largely depends. For all practical purposes, the interstate commerce commission decides what railroad services are worth. The management of a railroad can do little or nothing to attract new business or regain business lost to competing ship lines, trucks, and pipe lines.

Until initiative is restored, until the interstate commerce commission confines its activities to correcting real and substantial injustices in rates, the progress of railroading in this country will be much slower than it need be and railroad bankruptcies will be frequent.

MR. JUSTICE BLACK DISSENTS.

The decision of the Supreme court in the Kansas City stockyards case demonstrates once more that the men and women who fought the court-packing proposal were right. They knew what they were talking about.

In the Kansas City case the court decided against Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and in favor of certain business men whose livelihoods the secretary had imperiled without giving them a fair chance to defend themselves. The only dissent was that of Mr. Justice Black, the former Ku Kluxer. [Mr. Cardozo, being ill, and Mr. Reed, having participated in the preparation of the case, took no part in the proceedings.] If the court had been packed, it would have been packed with men of Black's mind and his judgment would then have prevailed.

The facts were simple. In the Hoover administration somebody rightly or wrongly got the notion that the fees which live stock commission men were charging in Kansas City were excessive. Accordingly, proceedings were begun under the stockyards act, with a view to discovering whether the rates were fair. The law requires the secretary of agriculture to hear the evidence and arguments before reaching his decision. Before Mr. Wallace succeeded to office the taking of testimony had been completed. Prof. Tugwell, who was then assistant secretary, heard the oral arguments.

As there are only a few dozen commission men in Kansas City as against tens of thousands of farmers who send live stock there to be marketed, a lowering of the fees can make few political enemies and many friends. The secretary of agriculture, as a politician, is supposed to keep the farmers contented. As an administrative official he is supposed to see that the rates which he has the power to fix are fair to all concerned. His position as judge in this case was, therefore, ambiguous. His personal, political interest pulled in one direction and his official duty in another.

At best it was a difficult situation. The court—except for Mr. Justice Black—discovered that Mr. Wallace had made no serious attempt to deal fairly as between the two interests. By his own admission he didn't hear the arguments or even read through the record. From time to time he dipped into the brief submitted by the commission men and consulted some of his subordinates who were familiar with the case, presumably because they had assisted in its preparation. He felt that to be sufficient. He did not require the government's lawyers to file a brief and thus give the commission men a chance to know what the government was contending for and how it defended its position. They had no target to shoot at. Thereupon he decided in favor of his own lawyers, his own experts, his own department, and his own political interest.

The majority of the unpacked Supreme court was properly aroused at this contempt for the decencies of conduct in public office. Chief Justice Hughes, speaking for the court, said that Mr. Wallace had not acted "in accordance with the cherished judicial tradition embodying the basic concepts of fair play." Mr. Black was not similarly aroused. In his mind, Mr. Wallace's behavior was beyond criticism.

The exponent of court-packing, as was to be expected, took the view that anything is right which is done by the politician who happens to be in office. The politician must always be sustained as against the citizen. If the politician had not given the citizen a fair trial, that was too bad. If the decision resulted in the ruin of certain business men who had done nothing to merit ruin, that was also too bad; but the Supreme court, in Mr. Black's view, was under no obligation to do anything about it.

Thanks to the defeat of the court-packing proposal, Mr. Black's view is not the law of the land. The Black doctrin, however, is not an unfamiliar one. It prevails today in Germany, Italy, Russia, and the lesser tyrannies. In those countries, the citizen has no defense against an arbitrary law or an arbitrary administrative act. Thus it is possible for Fuehrer Hitler to discriminate against Jews and for Comrade Stalin to enslave the children of professors and shopkeepers. The dictators can get away with it because there is no check, such as our Supreme court provides, upon their prejudices, their self-interest, and their greed for power.

Mr. Black and the court packers wanted to give the politicians in this country the same freedom of action. If the court had been packed, they would have succeeded.

FORTUNE'S FORSYTHIA.
[Christian Science Monitor.]

Forsythia's golden rain—first joyous bloom of spring in the north temperate zone—is almost as common as the dandelion today, yet twenty-five years ago it was little known. A century ago its sunny brightness was confined to its native China. The world owes forsythia to one of that unsung band of intrepid plant hunters who penetrate remote regions to add new shrubs and flowers to the gardens of Europe and America.

Robert Fortune, Royal Horticultural society naturalist, discovered and named the plant for his fellow Scotsman, the botanist William Forsyth. In the days when China's interior was forbidden territory to foreigners, Fortune, on a salary of £40 a year, roamed the land disguised as a native and obtained for the Kew gardens a score of indispensable plants. From China also the English horticulturist, John Reeves, brought that gorgeous lavender climber, wistaria. There Ernest A. Wilson of the Arnold arboretum, Boston, surviving serious accident, discovered the famous Regal lily.

Back in the seventeenth century the Dutch obtained the parents of today's geraniums from Cape Colony. South Africa, too, gave us the progenitors of our modern gladiolus, of which nearly 100 species grow wild in that land. From South America came fuchsias and begonias, and still other gems of loveliness were brought from the South Seas and Australia—but richest of all floral sources is China.

Plant hunters first brought home food plants to the western nations which sent them forth. All who read "Mutiny on the Bounty" will recall David Nelson, the young Kew gardener, who accompanied Capt. Bligh to Tahiti to obtain breadfruit trees for the British West Indies. Horticulture, agriculture's handmaiden, gratifies man's æsthetic yearnings after agriculture satisfies his bodily needs.

Additions to a Book Collector's Shelves.

Prizes from a recent important book auction in New York bought by a Chicago purchaser were Dickens' reading copy of "The Chimes" for $7,750, the author's reading copy of "A Christmas Carol" for $5,000, of "David Copperfield" for $4,100, and of "Tale of Two Cities" for $1,800. Which might indicate that book investments are considered wise.

THE AUCTION was that of the library of Cortlandt Bishop, and the sale of the books, alphabetically listed from A to H only, netted more than $300,000. A Chicagoan buying at the auction was interested to note that many of the purchases went abroad, a reversal of the usual procedure. Dickens' reading copies of his books are of interest because of the annotations and insertions made when he gave readings, a remunerative activity of his later years. These insertions and additions are penciled in the text in his handwriting.

Mr. Ritz Himself.

The man whose name has gone into the language as a noun, adjective, and verb is not what a user of the word would call ritzy. Neatly and conservatively dressed in dark blue, with a pin dot blue and white tie, dark-eyed, slim, intelligent looking, Charles Ritz, son of the Cesare Ritz who gave the world a new word for luxury, popped in to see the chef during his current stay at the Blackstone. An interesting discussion ensued, mostly about the methods of the late famed Escoffier, the Ritz chef at the Savoy in London. "Escoffier, who was a scholar and a poet, was a good chef because he was a chemist," said Charles Ritz.

CESARE RITZ FIRST OPERATED his de luxe hotels in a fabulous age of easy spending the like of which the world probably never will see again. African gold and diamond millionaires, South American ranchers, Russian grand dukes, and Goulds, Vanderbilts, and Guggenheims from the United States were spending fortunes in London and Paris in opulent entertaining. An example was the gesture of Mrs. James Corrigan, formerly of Chicago, Mr. Ritz told about yesterday. She chartered three planes and took her guests to Africa on a hunting trip. His mother's memoirs will be out in book form in October, and he has been assisting her, prodding her memory about this, advising caution about telling that.

HOW MANY SURNAMES have gone into the language as verbs—better monuments than statues in stone and marble? Macadamize, marcel, pasteurize. . . . Wonder if Sir William S. Craigie will include the verb "to ritz" in his dictionary of American English.

Head Waitress at Henrici's.

A Randolph street celebrity is Jane, head waitress at Henrici's since early in the century. The late Philip Henrici, who founded the restaurant in 1868, hired a young applicant from Denver as a waitress, and the following day made her head waitress. Her name was Jane Broakway and she has had the job ever since. Both the help and customers like Jane, and she numbers among her acquaintances dozens of racketeers and police officers.

THERE IS A STORY that a man who had been doing a stretch at Joliet, about to be released, was outlining to his prison mates during recreation hour what his first activities out of stir would be. He would go back to Chicago, visit a Turkish bath and a barber shop, then go to Henrici's for a good meal, he said.

HOW RATS MAY INFECT FOOD.

EVERY now and then we learn of another disease that can be traced to a parasite. We all are familiar with the rôle played by the mosquito in transmitting yellow fever and malaria and with the fact that the eating of underdone pork, infested with the trichina spiralis [pork worm], may be followed by the human form of the disorder [trichinosis]. The common brown or gray rat may harbor fleas capable of spreading bubonic plague. In certain Asiatic ports this is a serious menace. That we are relatively free from it is because health officers are urging constantly the extermination of scavenger rodents.

Only a few years ago Adolph Weil reported on a malady which was characterized by sudden fever, jaundice, and swelling of the spleen. As the ailment progressed, an examination of the blood of a victim disclosed the presence of a peculiar type of parasite called the spirocheta icterohemorrhagic. Later it was found that these particular microorganisms were present in rats the world over. In some localities 25 per cent or more of all wild specimens are infected. After the disease has run about so long some of the corkscrew shaped organisms will be excreted via the urine. This means that food touched by these rats and later consumed may prove a fruitful source of the affection.

We rarely may see a rodent about the place as, by and large, they are night prowlers. Nevertheless, many will wander far afield in search of rations. All shops, therefore, where edibles are sold should use extra precautions. Not long ago a puzzling epidemic of Weil's disease occurred in Aberdeen, Scotland, where it was found that the tables on which fish were made ready for sale had become soiled with rat urine. Because of lack of cleanliness, fillets of fish were contaminated and many of those handling the merchandise became ill.

The disorder manifests itself in three stages. Fever ranging from 100 to 104 degrees Fahrenheit is experienced and continues approximately one week, although a second rise comes on in about half the cases around the third week. The eyes are congested, resembling pink-eye.

As the trouble progresses the spirochetes appear in the urine. At this time the slight yellow tinge of the epidermis which may not have been noticed deepens. This is significant, as it has been observed that those without marked jaundice invariably recover. There may be tiny hemorrhages into the skin or the mucous membrane. This second stage is far more serious as signs of heart or kidney failure will occasionally ensue.

By the beginning of the third week the symptoms have largely subsided. At this period the urine must be watched carefully and the kidneys relieved of all overload as severe irritation similar to that which comes after scarlet fever may develop.

European physicians report considerable success with a serum prepared from inoculated horses, especially if it is given early—within the first four days. Other treatment includes good nursing, plenty of fluid, and fruit juices with glucose either with the diet or administered into a vein. Simple alkali mixtures designed to reduce the swelling of the kidneys are also advised.

"No rats, no Weil's disease," is an accepted slogan and wherever those vermin abound, persistent efforts looking toward their extermination must be inaugurated. No advantage will result from sporadic campaigns against them. Restaurants, vegetable and meat markets, and other places where food is handled and sold, and where garbage collects, must exercise special care. If these animals cannot be routed completely, all tables, benches, shelves, etc., where food is prepared or displayed should be cleansed and disinfected frequently.

OFFER SOME DIFFICULTIES.

A. A. writes: I am interested in securing contact glasses, those worn directly over the eyeball. I should like to know if these have been perfected to a degree where no harm can result from wearing them. I must wear glasses constantly, being very nearsighted. An eye doctor told me contact lenses would be a definite aid to my sight and I would be able to wear them during the entire day.

REPLY.

Because of the difficulties of fitting and manufacturing the glasses they are at present quite expensive, so that their practical field is chiefly in the correction of visual defects due to corneal disorders, and for the use of those with high refractive errors who must make public appearances. Some people, especially nervous individuals, cannot wear them at all on account of the discomfort. Those made in America can be kept on for three to eight hours at a time.

FILTRABLE VIRUSES.

Mrs. E. G. S. writes: Will you explain filtrable and nonfiltrable virus? Filtrable through what? What are the names of some of each?

REPLY.

Once most infectious diseases were said to be caused by poisons or viruses. Now we know that many of these abnormal conditions are induced by bacteria or their toxins, by spirochetes, or by protozoa. But the causal agents of many transmissible diseases are not yet known. These organisms are able to pass through earthenware filters impervious to ordinary bacteria [nonfiltrable viruses]. Among diseases caused by filtrable viruses are the common cold, smallpox, measles, mumps, influenza, and poliomyelitis. Nonfiltrable viruses are responsible for typhoid fever, syphilis, diphtheria, and pneumonia.

VARIETY OF CAUSES.

E. S. writes: What is the cause of a high white cell count?

REPLY.

Leucocytosis [increase in the number of leucocytes in the blood] may be encountered as a physiological process in pregnancy and parturition, in the newborn, during digestion after physical exertion and cold baths. It is observed in leucemia, chlorosis, diseases of the lymphatic glands, inflammation associated with drainage, and many of the infections such as colds, influenza, childhood diseases, appendicitis, streptococcic sore throat, etc. Some drugs may induce the condition.

SHOWS LACK OF IRON.

J. H. writes: Is a hemoglobin of 45 too low?

REPLY.

Yes. It indicates a marked deficiency in the iron content of the blood and is usually associated with anemia, which may be secondary or pernicious. An investigation is certainly in order.

IN A CITY JOB; THEN OUT.

Chicago, April 25.—I am writing this letter in a futile protest of the rotten politics of our fair city. I would like to state the case of a certain Mr. X., a married man about 50 years of age with three children and a wife dependent upon him. He has been out of work for a number of years through no fault of his own. When all the ballyhoo started for the primary election Mr. X. worked all day and half of the night canvassing his precinct and being a well liked individual in his neighborhood no doubt was a great help. All this he did without a cent in payment and just the promise of a city job. Finally his hopes were realized and they placed him on the water pipe extension. Mr. X. was at the height of his glory. He was now able to support his children and to see that they had a few of the advantages others have had.

Last week when he was of no further service to the political organization he backed they let him go.

Are people going to stand for things like this for the rest of their enduring days, or are we going to record and protest in this coming election?

R. A. M.

OUR BLIGHTED AREAS.

Chicago, April 25.—There must be many people who are ignorant of numerous city ordinances, judging from conditions in our great city. If the newspapers and movie houses could spare a little time and space for the education of our citizens and police we might stop many who contemplate moving to the suburbs. Also we might keep up our residential neighborhoods.

How many know there are ordinances compelling women to remove their hats in a theater? Householders to provide garbage receptacles? Shopkeepers to keep food off the sidewalks? Peddlers and junkmen to stop bawling? Children and young men from playing ball in the street? If parking of cars can be regulated in the loop there should be no cars parked all night in any street in Chicago.

These offenses cause blighted areas soon to become slums and hotbeds of crime. Disobedience of ordinances leads to disobedience of laws, hence our criminals and overfilled jails.

Where is our fine residential section such as one finds in other American cities? Let us unite to make Chicago a decent place in which to live.

PIONEER.

PURGE THE RELIEF ROLLS.

Chicago, April 26.—In reply to the relief authorities' statement that they will have to seek new revenue for relief costs in May I suggest that they try to cut down the original cost by cutting chiselers off the rolls. The writer is a small business man. From real observation in my neighborhood I find people are receiving financial aid who do not need it.

There are cases where two members of a family of five are working and these people just bought a car and are still getting relief checks.

The only way we can cut the original relief costs is for the case worker to keep closer contact with the families and to ask the public to report to Mr. Lyons all cases that need to be investigated.

I do not begrudge any one who is receiving aid and needs it, but when they cash their checks and take the money to play a dollar parlay around the corner at the bookie joint it burns me up.

H. L. A.

IT DOESN'T MAKE SENSE TO HIM.

Geneva, Ill., April 25.—Will you through your column ask some one [not a government paid solicitor] to explain why if it wanted to be fair to the farmers—and not make jobs for the political farmers—did not this agricultural conservation program board send out the acreage allotment before the spring planting was practically finished? Either that or wait until the planting of another crop.

I have a card before me of a man renting 280 acres and after his spring planting is finished they notify him he can only use 157 acres, leaving 123 acres he must pay rent on whether he can use it or not.

We are told to raise hay, raise beans. But what will we do with them? This tenant has been on this farm 16 years, has a small dairy, feeds some steers and a lot of hogs but the allotment for corn is so small that with Farmer Wallace's advice to buy his seed corn, cut the acreage in half and raise more corn—he cannot feed his steers and hogs without buying grain and is out of the use of the land he could raise it on.

My own honest opinion is that if this government allotment was forgotten, if the paid solicitors were cut from the pay roll, if the political farmers were cut out and their pay stopped, we would all be better off.

A. L. CARLISLE.

WEARY OF "BRITISH INSULTS."

Chicago, April 26.—Sometimes I grow a little weary of British impudence. Not long ago English theaters advertised "You may safely bring your children, as no American voices will be heard." An English author once insulted Whistler's matchless artistry.

During the lush period of American pioneering growth English authors reaped a harvest by lecturing in these rough, teeming centers of prosperity and left the country with gold in their pockets and insults on their lips. And now George Bernard Shaw, who has a faculty of making the very unbalance of his mind operate to his own benefit, is sedulously engaged in a campaign of studied insult to the American people for the cheap purpose of advertising a forthcoming motion picture based on one of his writings.

Our generation is witnessing the first phases of the breakup of the British empire. Is Britain too busy admiring itself to do something about it?

CRASS AMERICAN.

SHE WOULD LIKE THE ENDING.

Chicago, April 26.—Is there any punishment severe enough for the radio sponsors who, after carrying a story on the air for several years, suddenly stop said story and leave the listeners to form their own conclusions as to what the ending might have been? A while back "Masquerade" was one of these serials; then followed "Little French Princess," and now "Girl Alone" is off the air.

Some of these stories run for years on the air; in many cases incidents are stressed and gone over so many times we wonder if the author knows what he or she is writing about at all.

We feel quite sure that if these radio sponsors attended a theater and, after paying to see a full show, were requested to leave during the middle of a performance they would not like this. The same principle applies to the radio listeners.

Chicago, April 24.—What would happen to business if every man over 35 years old was laid off? Think and answer this question honestly. The answer would be a collapse and all industry would be forced to quit. Why? Because it takes many years of practical experience to properly handle the problems of industry. Technical education is not enough. The biggest men of industry must depend on men who know from experience what to do. And a college diploma does not mean practical experience or its equivalent. Men who learn from the school of hard knocks are really the men who actually know how to do things.

Being a machine designer and draftsman, I know what I am talking about. So why not stop this age limit situation right now and give all willing men over 35 an opportunity to be allowed to earn an honest living?

WPA AND THE BENCHES.

River Forest, Ill., April 25.—Your contributor commenting on Jackson park benches is all wet. He should thank God he does not have to take a WPA job and also pray that private industry will be able to provide him with employment so that he can give his wife and baby a better livelihood than can be had from WPA work. But if thru some misfortune [which I hope does not befall him] he should have to resort to apply for a job with this dispicable organization he will be perhaps one of the first to monopolize the benches.

ASSETS IN BANKRUPTCY.

Chicago, April 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A had a $2,300 first mortgage on a house owned by B, valued at $2,500. C had a $400 second mortgage on same property—mortgage note signed by B.

1. A has foreclosed $2,300 first mortgage and bought property in at sale thus shutting out C entirely.

2. A then arranged with B to sell him the property at a discount.

3. B has recently declared bankruptcy and set up the $400 second mortgage note. He has listed no other assets. Discharge will be in about two months.

Now B wants to arrange with A to have [4] a friend pay off in cash the amount of discounted first mortgage and take over house soon after discharge in bankruptcy.

5. Could A get into trouble under bankruptcy laws if it were disclosed that he made arrangements with B to sell him property soon after his bankruptcy discharge?

R. B.

1. We assume that the second mortgage holders were made parties to the first mortgage foreclosure.

2. It is not clear whether you mean that this arrangement went through.

3. Presumably this was for the purpose of cutting off his personal liability on the mortgage notes.

4. We assume that you mean a friend of B's.

5. The situation is delicate enough so that we would advise A to be represented by an attorney in the deal. Such facts could hardly be passed upon by correspondence.

ROOSEVELT NAVY BILL DENOUNCED BY LA FOLLETTE

Senator Calls It Ruse to Minimize Slump.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—Breaking with President Roosevelt for the first time on a major legislative proposal, Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.] today accused the administration of making a warlike gesture with the $1,156,546,000 naval expansion bill to divert attention from the new depression.

For the third successive day Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky failed to obtain unanimous consent to limit debate on the big naval bill, which has been under consideration ten days. He threatened to force a night session tomorrow and another session Saturday if necessary to pass the bill this week, but opponents of the measure expressed determination not to permit a final vote before next week.

May Limit Ships to 35,000 Tons.

The opposition leaders have no hope of defeating the bill, but there is a possibility that the authorization for three 45,000 ton super-battleships costing $100,000,000 apiece will be eliminated. The amendment of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] would limit the authorization to 35,000 ton battleships as provided by the house bill.

La Follette quoted Prof. Charles A. Beard, the historian, as saying in 1934: "It is one of the tendencies of history apparently for armament expenditures to increase as ordinary business activities decline. Moreover, as armaments increase the tension among nations increases . . . the diplomacy of the warlike gesture has been and may be employed in American politics to distract public attention from economic crises."

"Many thoughtful Americans fear this danger may be developing in the United States today," La Follette said. "We have never faced an economic crisis so deep and so stubbornly prolonged as the one following 1929. We have never experienced such a swift decline in production and employment as occurred during the last seven months. Today the unemployed are almost as numerous as during the depth of the depression and there are no signs of business revival upon any substantial scale."

Serious Economic Situation.

La Follette made his indictment of the Roosevelt administration more pointed when he spoke of persistent efforts to minimize the new depression and of attempts to develop a war scare.

"It is true," the senator said, "that on April 14 President Roosevelt in a special message to the congress recognized the seriousness of the economic conditions in this country and proposed a line of action [pump priming], but for seven long months before that nearly all political and business leaders refused to face the seriousness of this economic crisis."

NEW NATIONAL PARTY IS FORMED BY LA FOLLETTE

Plan Work in All of 48 States.

by our creator for the ultimate destiny of man. Here—a vast continent was kept virgin for centuries. Here it was ordained that man should work out the final act in the great drama of life. From the Arctic to Cape Horn let no foreign power trespass. Our hemisphere was divinely destined to evolve peace, security, and plenty. It shall remain inviolate for that sacred purpose."

The governor's announcement was the climax of a series of radio addresses a week ago. It was distinctly a Wisconsin meeting. The absence of nationally known Progressives was conspicuous. A. A. Berle, assistant secretary of state, who said he came with the permission of the President and as the representative of Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York, was the only guest from outside the state who was publicized by the La Follette committee.

Hides His Own Plans.

What the governor himself intends to do politically in the immediate future still was left unexplained. His speech contained no reference to his program and whether he will run for a fourth term as governor, for the United States senate, or whether he will retire to give his full time to the National Progressives.

Although in his radio addresses, the governor had been sharply critical of President Roosevelt, there was no adversely personal reference in tonight's speech. There was, instead, praise for his leadership. "If the task before us could have been achieved by brilliant leadership supported by great popular confidence and affection for that leadership," he said, "then the job would have been done long ago under the administration of President Roosevelt. Virtually every Democrat holds his office because of that leadership. It is dissension within the Democratic party that has hamstrung the Democratic administration."

Follows Copy Closely.

La Follette followed his copy closely, reading his speech, adding few gestures. Applause was polite. It swelled when he announced the new party.

"This is no popular front, no gathering of befuddled communists, no conglomeration of conflicting forces who seek us out merely because they are embittered or disgruntled; embittered Republican reactionaries please note; disgruntled Democratic reactionaries please note."

The party starts with a symbol not unsuggestive of Hitler's swastika. It was displayed conspicuously back of the speaker, a red circle on a white background, with a square blue cross in the center.

The cross, La Follette explained, is the cross of the ballot box. The circle, he said, symbolizes the uniting of the American people.

THREE CHARGED WITH RAPE AND TEN ROBBERIES

Three young men arrested by the Summerdale police were charged with rape yesterday. They are Arthur Josetti, 21 years old, 1135 Schubert avenue; Rudolph Hoag, 20, of 2160 Lincoln avenue, and Richard Veitch, 18, of 2608 North Racine avenue.

All were identified by Mrs. Cathryn Hanson, 1835 Wellington avenue, who was attacked April 17 after she and her escort, De Wille Semeran, 2305 Roscoe street, had been robbed near her home.

The men also were identified as having committed ten robberies. Two others, who were involved in several of the holdups, but not in the rape case, are under arrest. They are Werner Ertl, 20 years old, 3733 Seminary avenue, and Frank Russo, 19, of 2718 Lincoln avenue.

PENNSYLVANIA'S NEW ATTORNEY GENERAL TO INVESTIGATE SCANDAL

Harrisburg, Pa., April 28.—(AP)—Guy K. Bard, new Pennsylvania attorney general, named to succeed Charles J. Margiotti, announced as his first act today an immediate investigation into Margiotti's charges that state legislation was bought and sold.

Bard, who resigned as public utility commissioner, was appointed after Dean Herbert F. Goodrich of the University of Pennsylvania law school refused an appointment as Margiotti's successor.

"I will take any action that the facts command," Bard said.

Bard's acceptance came as Margiotti conferred with Dauphin county [Harrisburg] judges and the district attorney on Margiotti's demand for a grand jury probe of his charges. They talked three hours behind closed doors, then recessed and planned to meet again.

Policeman Off Duty Halts Holdup of Store Manager

Two robbers were routed by police gunfire last night from an attempt to hold up Kenneth Kelley, 1725 Wilson avenue, manager of the Kresge store at 4777 Milwaukee avenue. The two halted him as he stepped from the store after closing it for the night. The move was seen by Policeman James Wulff of the Jefferson Park station, who was off duty. He called out. One of the robbers fired at him and he chased and fired six shots at them. Policemen Oscar Aaflei and Frank Pitlock, hearing the shooting, joined the chase, firing at the fugitives as they escaped in their car.

Hats Off to Spring Breezes as Temperature Tumbles

Gusty winds blew hats off yesterday and dust into the eyes of the people who wore them. The winds brought cooler weather, after the 83 degree heat of the day before, but Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said the temperature was near normal. Today will be cloudy and somewhat cooler, he said.

EXECUTE NEGRO SAVED FOR WEEK AS CHAIR BROKE

Huntsville, Tex., April 29 [Friday].—(AP)—Judge Fountain H. Kirby of Groesbeck last night issued an injunction restraining Texas prison system officials from executing John W. Vaughn, 37 year old San Antonio upholsterer, convicted of killing a policeman.

Judge Kirby issued the writ upon presentation of an affidavit signed by Homer Vaughn, the condemned man's brother, alleging that the death house occupant had become insane since he escaped the chair last week when the electrocution machinery broke down.

Shortly after issuance of the injunction Gov. James V. Allred granted Vaughn a 24 hour stay, "although we doubt Judge Kirby has jurisdiction and are of the opinion the temporary injunction is void."

Humming an old spiritual, Johnny Banks, Negro preacher, was electrocuted shortly after midnight for slaying his 13 year old sister-in-law. Banks also had won a week's reprieve with Vaughn when the electrocution machinery failed a week ago.

Court Orders Dairyman to Find Own Customers

Herbert Horton, Libertyville dairyman, must get his own drivers and his own customers too, Judge William Pierce ruled yesterday in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan. The Spinney Run Farms Dairy company of Lake Forest asked the injunction on the ground that Horton, its former sales manager, was trying to lure away its customers and drivers in spite of a contract that he wouldn't.

Orders 450 Coal Dealers Arrested in Fee Dispute

Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Municipal License court yesterday issued warrants for the arrest of 450 coal dealers after they failed to appear to answer summonses for nonpayment of license fees. A test case to try the legality of the city's ordinance under which coal dealers are licensed will be heard today by Judge Graber. The Ætna Fuel company, 2526 North Pulaski road, is the defendant.

Boy, 2 Years Old, Falls Two Stories; Scratches Thumb

POLICE FOLLOW AUTO CLEWS IN FURRIER KILLING

By an elimination process, Capt. Herbert Burns of the Jefferson Park police station sought yesterday to determine whether finger prints found on the automobile of Rudolph Sabatino, Michigan avenue furrier who was killed early Tuesday on a gang ride, might be those of his slayers.

The automobile was found Wednesday on the north side, eight miles from Hiawatha and Spokane avenues, where Sabatino's body was discovered early the previous day. A number of finger prints were found on the windshield and windows.

Capt. Burns took the prints of Sabatino's widow of 1140 North Monticello avenue; his brother, Albert, and his brother-in-law, William Bartolucci, 1057 North Hamlin avenue. All of them had ridden in the car over the last week-end. Bartolucci drove it in a school parade on Saturday, and some of the prints, police believe, may be those of school children who rode with him then.

500 More Trees, Shrubs Planted in Burnham Park

Approximately 500 trees and shrubs were planted yesterday in Burnham park between 23d and 39th streets, according to Robert E. Moore, park district landscape architect.

Bishop Day Named Primate of Protestants in Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, April 28.—(AP)—Dr. John Godfrey Fitzmaurice Day, bishop of Ossory since 1920, was elected primate of the Protestant church of all Ireland today. He succeeds Archbishop Charles Frederick D'Arcy, who died on Feb. 1.

IF YOU OWN WHISKEY BLENDED IN THE OLD DAYS
Compare it with Crowns

Qualified experts have proved that Seagram's 5 and 7 Crown are better tasting than the famous blended whiskies of the old days

At a cost of $25 a quart, Seagram recently collected different brands of blended whiskies—famous premium whiskies of the old days... and asked its staff of qualified experts to compare them, side by side, with Crowns.

The result? Crowns were judged far superior to every single brand... smoother, milder, better tasting.

Craftsmanship counts! For four generations the House of Seagram has been famous for the skill of its master blenders. That's why the finer taste of Crowns is so popular today! Actually, more people bought Seagram's 5 and 7 Crown from July, 1935, to February, 1938, than all other blended whiskies in their price class combined (in the 14 states that publish records*).

Copr. 1938, Seagram-Distillers Corp., N. Y.

*Based on all available official figures from July, 1935, to February, 1938, issued by the Liquor Control Boards of 14 states: Pennsylvania, Michigan, Iowa, Idaho, Utah, Maine, Ohio, Oregon, Vermont, Virginia, Montana, West Virginia, Washington, Wyoming. It includes the sales of all blended whiskies in the price class of Seagram's Crowns—ranging at present from 90¢ to $1.50 per pint.

ASPARAGUS GOOD TIP FOR WEEK-END MARKET BARGAIN

Vegetable Prices Down; Supplies Up.

Price tags have been marked down on a long list of foods in Chicago and suburban stores since last week-end. Comparatively few items are higher.

Most of the bargains for today and tomorrow are on the green grocers' counters. Warm sunshine the first part of the week hastened the maturing of early vegetables in gardens near Chicago, bringing them to market several days ahead of schedule. Stores are stocked with fresh asparagus, rhubarb, and green onions grown close around the rim of the city.

Shipments of many kinds of fresh vegetables are increasing rapidly from central Illinois and the southern states. The ample supplies are forcing prices down. The few changes that have been made in prices of staples and meats since last week are about balanced between ups and downs.

Butter Prices Vary.

Butter dropped another half cent a pound in a few stores, but went up 1 to 2 cents from last week's low levels in others. Prices of both roll and package butter still are considered low in stores generally.

American cheese is down 2 cents a pound in some stores and a few have cut their prices slightly on the higher priced brands of evaporated milk. Some merchants are offering the lower priced brands of coffee at 1 cent a pound less than last week-end.

Many fresh fruits and vegetables are lower than a week ago, as a result of a general drop in wholesale prices on the central market. Bananas are cheaper in all stores that did not reduce the price of this fruit last week.

Beans, Peas are Lower.

Green beans are off ½ to 2½ cents a pound. Fresh peas continued to go lower during the week, the price dropping 2½ cents a pound in many places. They now are considered reasonable.

Head lettuce is lower in stores generally, but the quality still is only fair. New potatoes are cheaper and some stores have reduced their prices on Idaho baking potatoes 3 cents a 15 pound sack. Broccoli and fresh rhubarb are lower.

Strawberries are down 2 to 4 cents a quart box in many places. Most of the berries are from Tennessee. Asparagus prices took another sharp drop. Bunch radishes, cooking applies, and green onions are lower in some stores.

Depends on Your Store.

Cabbage, carrots, spinach, and fresh tomatoes are lower in some stores, but higher in others with the prices varying more than usual in the different shopping centers.

Eggs are up 1 to 4 cents a dozen in a few stores, but are the same as last week in most places. Oranges are about 2 to 4 cents a dozen higher. Celery is slightly higher in a few stores.

Most meat prices are about the same as last week-end. Cured hams are 2 cents a pound less in a few places. Pork loin roasts are off 1 cent a pound in some shops and stewing chickens are down 2 cents a pound in a few. Shoulder cuts of lamb chops are down 2 cents a pound in some places and up 4 cents in others.

Round and sirloin steaks are up 1 cent a pound in a few shops and beef pot roasts are 4 cents a pound higher in some.

Wholesale Prices Steady.

Wholesale prices of pork and lamb are unchanged from a week ago, according to federal reports, while the better grades of beef carcasses are 50 cents a hundred pounds lower. Live stock prices varied during the week—hogs dropped 25 to 35 cents a hundred, lambs went up 40 to 50 cents, and beef steers sold steady to 25 cents a hundred higher.

RECTOR TELLS HIS RECIPE FOR BOUILLABAISE

Visiting New Orleans to write, William Makepeace Thackeray stayed to gourmandize; and one of the famous dishes that delighted him was lobster bouillabaise. In the woman's section of THE TRIBUNE next Sunday George Rector reveals the recipe for the bouillabaise that Rector's once served.

Mr. Rector also tells how to make a salad dressing that he likes better than mayonnaise, and an inexpensive veal loaf that makes a pleasure of economy.

BANANA CAKE IS CREATED IN VARIOUS WAYS

Fruit May Be in the Batter, if Desired.

BY MARY MEADE.

Some lovers of banana cake like the bananas right in the cake itself, while others prefer them between the layers or as a garnish on top of the cake. Both kinds are good and, to please everybody, I've a recipe for each type, two recipes for the first type, in fact.

When bananas are used in the cake, they'd best be mashed very thoroughly and packed into the cup for measuring.

Spiced Banana Nut Cake.

½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup mashed banana
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup sour milk or buttermilk
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream butter and add sugar gradually. Add eggs and beat well. Add banana pulp. Sift dry ingredients together three or four times and add in alternate portions with milk. Beat until smooth after each addition. Bake in greased loaf pan at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or longer, until done. Frost with a butter icing.

Banana Layer Cake.

1½ cups sugar
½ cup butter
2 eggs
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup mashed bananas
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup sour milk

Sift sugar. Cream butter until light and beat the sugar into it gradually, creaming the mixture until fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Sift flour three times with baking powder, soda, and salt. Add vanilla and sour milk to mashed or sieved bananas. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with banana mixture to the butter and sugar, beating the batter until smooth after each addition. Bake in two greased 9 inch layer pans at 375 degrees for about 30 minutes. Place sliced bananas between layers and spread top and sides with 7 minute or boiled frosting. Or dust the top with confectioners' sugar and serve portions with whipped cream.

Banana Ginger Cream Cake.

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
1 unbeaten egg
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup cream, whipped
2 tablespoons chopped candied ginger
2 or 3 bananas

Sift flour once, measure and resift with baking powder and salt three times. Cream butter and add sugar gradually. Beat together until light and fluffy. Add egg and heat in thoroughly. Add flour and milk alternately, a small amount at a time, and beat until smooth after each addition. Add vanilla and pour batter into a greased 8 inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes or until done. Cool. Split cake in half to make two layers. Whip the cream and fold in the chopped candied ginger. Spread the bottom half of the cake with half the cream, and top with sliced bananas. Adjust top layer, spread with remaining cream, and garnish with a border of banana slices. Serve while fresh.

TASTY DESSERT OF RHUBARB ICE A PLEASING DISH

The nice thing about an ice is that, if you don't want to serve it as a meat accompaniment, you can serve it for dessert. Right now rhubarb ice is the thing.

RHUBARD ICE

[Serves six to eight]

4 cups rhubarb [cut in small pieces]
⅔ cup water
1 cup and 1 tablespoon sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 egg white

Cook rhubarb in water for about eight minutes, or until tender. Remove from heat and add one cup sugar, stirring until dissolved. Add lemon juice and set aside to cool. Meanwhile, beat egg white until stiff, add the tablespoon of sugar slowly, while beating constantly. Fold into rhubarb mixture and pour into freezing container of freezer. Use one part salt to three parts ice. When stiff remove dasher, repack in ice and salt mixture. Cover freezer and let stand an hour to harden before serving.

FRESH TRIPE AN ECONOMICAL AND UNUSUAL TREAT

Meat sundries are apt to be neglected except when the homemaker is looking for something extra economical. They should be included frequently for the sake of variety as well. Tripe, for instance, is considered quite a delicacy when properly prepared.

Tripe may be purchased canned in milk, or pickled, as well as fresh. Since fresh tripe now receives quite a bit of cooking at the packing plant, little extra cooking is needed.

TO COOK TRIPE.

The tripe should be washed in several waters and soaked overnight. If desired, it may be marinated overnight in French dressing. After soaking or marination cover with water and simmer gently for one hour. The tripe is now ready for broiling, baking, or deep fat frying or it may be served as it is with a spicy tomato sauce.

BROILED TRIPE.

Brush pre-cooked tripe with melted fat. Place smooth side down on greased broiler rack and broil for three minutes. Turn and broil other side for three minutes. Serve with honeycomb side up and sprinkle with minced parsley.

BAKED TRIPE.

Trim pre-cooked tripe to rectangular shape [using trimmings for creaming]. Spread with bread or sausage dresing. Roll, jelly roll fashion, and fasten with small skewers. Brush with melted butter and bake in moderate oven [350 degrees] for about twenty minutes. If desired, the tripe may be spread with buttered crums or mashed potatoes instead of the stuffing.

DEEP FAT FRIED TRIPE.

Cut pre-cooked tripe into serving sized pieces and season with salt and pepper. Dip into fritter batter and fry in deep fat at 390 degrees. It should require about two minutes to brown.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Listen, Kids

Hollywood, Cal., April 28.—At the Tri-Guild ball all of the great names of celluloid were jammed into the coco nut grove of the Hotel Ambassador. There were Paul Muni, Gary Cooper, Joan Crawford, Doug Fairbanks Jr., Marlene Dietrich, Frank Morgan, Frank Capra, Darryl Zanuck, Robert Young, Robert Montgomery, Virginia Bruce, Dolores Del Rio, Miriam Hopkins, Mary Boland, Ray Milland, and any others that you care to name.

This crowd have been every place, have seen everything and are showwise, so the problem of entertaining them was a very special problem. That's what I tell you kids about.

One of the performers who stopped the show cold was Bill Robinson. You can believe me when I tell you that Bill, as a kid, had none of the advantages which you have in your home. He came from a poor family, a colored family. He wasn't born with a great dancing talent; he developed that himself.

He told me his secret of success once: "I give the same show, Ed, if there are ten people in the audience, as I give if the theater is crowded." Robinson, starting from scratch, made a big success for himself despite the fact that he came from a poor family.

Another performer who delighted the élite of moviedom that night was Alec Templeton. They yelled at Templeton's mimicry of a singer with a rhumba band, howled at his impression of the things you hear on the radio. The boy with this grand sense of humor is BLIND. And you and I think we have handicaps to overcome! Templeton, sightless and living in a world of his own, might have turned bitter and mean. Instead he became one of the great performers of show business. How? Courage and a sense of humor.

Still another on that great program of entertainers at the Tri-Guild ball was Edgar Bergen, a Swedish kid from the public schools of Chicago. Just a year ago Bergen came to Hollywood to try to get into the movies. He had made his own screen test. They laughed at him. So he attempted to get a job in radio. NBC officials listened to him, and then told him to forget all about his radio ambitions—that he had nothing to offer.

Bergen could have quit right then and there. Certainly he had tried. But Bergen refused to quit, although the discouragement was so keen that he couldn't sleep nights. The people who turned him down pay him $7,000 a week now.

Another performer on the greatest bill of entertainment I've ever seen was Ethel Merman. Her career is really a "Listen, Girls" column, because Ethel Zimmerman was a New York stenographer. Her family was in modest circumstances, and she worked for Caleb Bragg, taking dictation and typing letters. She believed she could sing, and at night she took singing jobs for $5. She didn't have much time for parties or things like that, but look at her now.

Fannie Brice was on that show and she did her "Baby Snooks." She was a great stage star, was Fannie Brice. After twenty years in show business she found that two other mediums had become dominant, the screen and the radio. So she dug in, started her career all over again, and today she's becoming as famous in movies and radio as she was on the stage. Most women stars would have sidestepped the conflict and rested on their laurels. Not Brice. She stepped right in and proved that Life Begins at 40.

George Burns and Gracie Allen and Jack Benny worked as a trio on the Tri-Guild program. Burns, an east side kid, came from a poor family and a poor environment. A lot of east side kids decided to make theirs the easy way. They became gunmen and racketeers, and up to the time that they signed the receipt at Sing Sing they sneered at Burns because he was honest and worked hard. They dressed well, had money and cars; he was tramping Broadway in search of work. Today, however, they're gone. Burns is doing all right.

Still another on that same bill was Frank Morgan. I devote a separate paragraph to Morgan because he overcame the most obstinate of all handicaps—wealth. He and his brother Ralph were rich kids; they didn't have to work. They could have become dilettantes, devoted their lives to café society. Instead, after completing his course at Cornell Frank Morgan became a trouper, and stuck at it until he had mastered his trade. A rich kid can quit any time he wants. That Morgan stuck it out is a tribute to what athletes call "stomach," the quality of courage that is at a premium in "the clutches," baseball slang for pinches.

So listen, kids: I have told you here about a colored boy who refused to believe in a "color line"; I've told you about a boy who didn't lose his vision because he was blind, about a Swedish kid who refused to believe them when they said he had nothing to offer to radio or the movies, about a stenographer who had the courage of her conviction that she could become a singer, about Fannie Brice, who proved that life begins at 40; about George Burns, an east side boy, and Frank Morgan, a wealthy kid who refused to be doped by dough. So don't tell me the cards are stacked against you, because I won't believe it.

Each of these careers offers proof, if proof were needed, that a boy or girl who won't be beaten can't be beaten. The road may be rough and narrow, but it's consoling to know that there's always room at the top if you have the courage to climb it. So get 'em, kids, and more power to you.

Kindness to Your Feet Is Amply Repaid

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

As men so often comment: "Why do they do it?" Reference, of course, being made to the women and the shoes they go hobbling around in. Men can feel sole-superior to our sex, all right. They permit themselves such good, broad understanding; no toe cramping; no walking on stilts.

They should, as a sex, be far better natured than we 'uns—but we won't go into that argument today. There are too many yells from feminine footsies to allow time for debate on anything but shoes and feet for the wailers.

The National Foot Health council is up and at it again in its ceaseless effort to get shoe stores, chiropodists-podiatrists coöperating on foot health programs. National Foot Health week will be observed May 1 to 7. But you needn't set any day or week for a healty foot program for yourself. You certainly do not want to ruin your posture, your walk, your facial expression, and your outlook on life by wearing shoes that torture your feet.

The foot health council people call attention to the number of women who return from an all day shopping trip pale and wan and ready for the easy chair instead of for an evening of entertainment. Feet shouldn't give out that easily, 'tis cautioned. Your feet have brought on the fatigue after the shopping day. Or, the shoes in which they are encased.

Why the temptation to dress up so fancily for shopping dates, they inquire. Shopping shoes needn't be ugly shoes. They can be smart in appearance and comfortable.

Play Depicting Tragic History of Syphilis Will Open Tonight

The latest thing in anti-syphilis education, a forty scene play called "Spirochete," will open tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Blackstone theater. A federal theater project in coöperation with the city's venereal disease campaign, the play dramatizes episodically the tragic history of syphilis from the discovery of America to the 1937 passage of the hygienic marriage law.

The première of the play, which is expected to be reproduced as a part of syphilis control programs elsewhere, will be attended by a number of public health and medical authorities. It was written from medical and historical records by Arnold Sundgaard. Harry Minturn is the producer; Addison Pitt, the director.

Kelly Wedding

[Moffett Photo.]

Miss Dorothy Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Kelly of 7341 Coles avenue and the niece of Mayor Kelly, will be married to John Pine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pine of 5667 Normal boulevard at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in the chapel of the Academy of Our Lady. Mr. Pine and his bride will go to Bermuda and to Havana on their wedding trip.

Fashion Show.

Members Plan Two Programs for Arts Club

BY JUDITH CASS.

NOW that the artist members of the Arts club are displaying their art in the club's galleries, the musicians and amateur actors of the club are getting ready to show their talents in their respective lines. Announcements were received yesterday for a musical to be given by the professional musician members next Thursday afternoon at half past three o'clock, and for a performance by the Playwright's theater on Thursday evening, May 12, at half past eight o'clock.

The club's composers, as well as its musicians, will be heard on May 5 for the first number to be played is the work of Mrs. Thomas L. Marshall [Elizabeth Carpenter] and the next is by Harrington Shortall. The musicians who will play Mrs. Marshall's "Three Pieces for Flute and Violin" and Mr. Shortall's "Fantasia for String Quartet" are not members of the club, as a matter of fact, but the women who will take part in the second half of the program are members.

Half of Program to Be Humorous.

This part of the musical is to be a humorous number, "Musical Adventures of Jack and Jill," under the direction of Mary Cameron. Every one whoever has attended the delightful affairs of this sort staged occasionally at the Cordon or at the Musicians' Club of Women, by the same group of singers, knows that the "Musical Adventures of Jack and Jill" will be an enjoyable production. Taking part will be Marie Zendt [Mrs. George], Louise Hattstaedt Winter [Mrs. H. Comer], Mrs. Gilbert Smith, Lola Fletcher, Margery Maxwell [Mrs. Frederick Moorehead], and Elaine de Sellen.

Tea will be served following the program on May 5, and refreshments will be served after the performance of three one-act plays on the following Thursday evening. Miss Alice Gerstenberg is directing the dramatic productions, which will not be lacking in humor, for one of them, "Alexander Was Great," by Arthur Stringer, is an out and out burlesque. Mrs. William H. Howell and Gerald Frank will appear in this play, which is having its first performance that evening.

"The Claw," translated from the French by Helen Walton Stambaugh [Mrs. John Howland], and "La Via," by Francesca Falk Miller [Mrs. Franklin], will complete the evening's entertainment. Ruthelma Logan [Mrs. Waldo] is to have the leading rôle in the former, and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr. will be the principal player in the latter. Assisting Mrs. Harvey will be Shirley Dahl, Abbott Ross, and Marshall Kruse.

Italy-America Society to Hear Freer Opera

The Arts club will be the scene of the presentation of an opera by a club member, Eleanor Everest Freer [Mrs. Archibald], on Wednesday, May 11, but it will not be a club affair.

The Italy-America society is presenting "The Brownings Go to Italy" at 11:15 o'clock in the morning, with luncheon following. G. A. Hawkins-Ambler compiled the libretto, and singing in the opera will be Freda Draper, Vernon Gerhardt, Evelyn Ewert, and David Johnson. Nicholas Zaichenko is directing the production and Joseph Anderson will be the piano accompanist.

Gives Luncheon Today for Adelaide Ball.

Before Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart left for Europe several weeks ago she arranged a luncheon party for today at the Indian Hill club for Miss Adelaide Ball, who is being married tomorrow to Davis Greene Kirby. Mrs. Eckhart's daughter, Mrs. Darwin P. Kingsley Jr., has come from New York to be hostess to Miss Ball, her attendants, and out of town guests.

The bridal party and guests from away will gather at the club again tonight for a bridal dinner Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball are giving for their daughter and her fiancé, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Kirby of Newton, Conn., and tomorrow the same group plus the Balls' closest friends will witness the wedding at 4:30 o'clock in the Ball home.

Here from Cleveland for the wedding are the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Samuel P. Shane, and Mr. Ball's sisters, Mrs. Daniel E. Morgan, Mrs. William H. Andrews Jr., and Mrs. Donald Grey; Mr. Morgan, Mr. Andrews, Mr. Grey, Miss Jane, and Miss Isabel Andrews, and Miss Virginia Grey, and also Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Williams; Mr. and Mrs. Kirby,

Miss Rowe Wed

[Jay Te Winburn Photo.]

Mrs. James Edward Hosac of New York is the former Miss Elizabeth Claire Rowe, formerly of Chicago. The wedding took place in Old Westbury on Long Island, and Mr. and Mrs. Hosac are honeymooning in Bermuda. Mrs. Hosac is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Eddy Rowe of New York and of Samuel Davis Rowe of Chicago. The late Augustus W. Eddy of Chicago was her uncle.

Carthage Choir Pleases, but Is a Bit Too Showy

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The a cappella choir of Carthage college, Carthage, Ill., sang in Orchestra hall last night before a good sized audience. Under the direction of Elmer Hanke [and, for a portion of the evening, of Mrs. Hanke] this 58 voice group and its subdivisions [a treble chorus and a male chorus] performed ancient and modern sacred and secular music.

Tone is good, precision admirable. The choir's work has line and direction.

BUT—a desire for effectiveness, legitimate enough in itself, leads too often to an overly theatrical style which defeats the purpose of an a cappella choir. Lapsing from the purity and simplicity which are the most valuable [and in the last analysis the most effective!] qualities of an organization of this sort, the Carthage choir is too frequently guilty of an exaggerated pianissimo or an inordinately lengthy decrescendo. By such artificial devices is that priceless impression of sincerity of musical utterance lost.

Tone quality, too, shows a tendency to pull away from simple, staple effects and to become showy. Likewise the arrangements, which are apt to be complex, and the program notes, which got to talking about "deep antiphon and aspiring resonance," as well as "heartfelt longing" that "rises heavenward."

The Canori club, a 23 voice male chorus, sang in Kimball hall last night an unassuming program of little songs of the type of "The Drum," "Stout Hearted Men," and "Chloé." The performance, like the music, was pleasant and unassuming.

Charles J. Seiler, long an active member of the club, has succeeded the late Richard F. Stiller as director. The assisting artists were the four Ahn sisters, whose contribution to the program consisted of semi-classical songs. Robert Rix accompanied for the chorus, Robert Childs for the Ahn sisters.

Lauds Aitken, a Specialist in Franz Schubert

BY CECIL SMITH.

Two young pianists from California brightened yesterday's daylight hours with recitals of nineteenth century classics. At the Arts club in the morning Webster Aitken, whose route to Chicago from the Pacific slope has taken him through Berlin and New York, devoted his attention to the music of Franz Schubert.

Toward the end of the afternoon Gunnar Johansen, a Dane, who has made California his adopted home, played the eighth in a series of twelve historical recitals in Breasted hall at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Aitken, a newcomer to Chicago, played the posthumous Schubert sonatas in C minor and A major, and added a movement from the earlier G major sonata as an encore at the close of his program. He is something of a Schubert specialist, and has given all-Schubert programs in the east.

This devotion to the works of a single master is wholly justified in Mr. Aitken's case, for he has achieved a remarkable identification with the purposes and demands of Schubert's music. These sonatas are not easy to play, for their musical style is a subtle fusion of the ruggedness of Beethoven's idiom and a highly personal feeling for delicate color, naive melody, and wayward modulation.

The pianist played them with transparent clarity and a sensitive recognition of the needed tempi and dynamics. It was artistry of the choicest order, and Schubert's piano music is not likely to be better played for a long time to come.

Mr. Johansen's musical outlook is as all-inclusive as Mr. Aitken's is deliberately self-limiting. It is no mean undertaking for a pianist to prepare and present twelve programs in a single year, ranging from the preclassics of the seventeenth century to twentieth century modernists.

Nothing could be more natural, in the face of so ambitious an exploit, than that Mr. Johansen's playing should have its ups and downs. A fair report of yesterday afternoon's concert must therefore indicate that many ups and downs marked the pianist's progress through the twenty-four preludes of Chopin and Liszt's B minor sonata and "St. Francis of Paule Walking on the Waves."

Adequately equipped technically, he seems weakest at the point at which he is obviously striving most conscientiously—the point at which piano playing is transfigured from the merely mechanical into the poetical. Throughout the program appealing or brilliant passages alternated with sections in which a subjective urge for a kind of self-expression not intelligible to the audience marred the logic of his interpretations.

Aid St. Vincent's

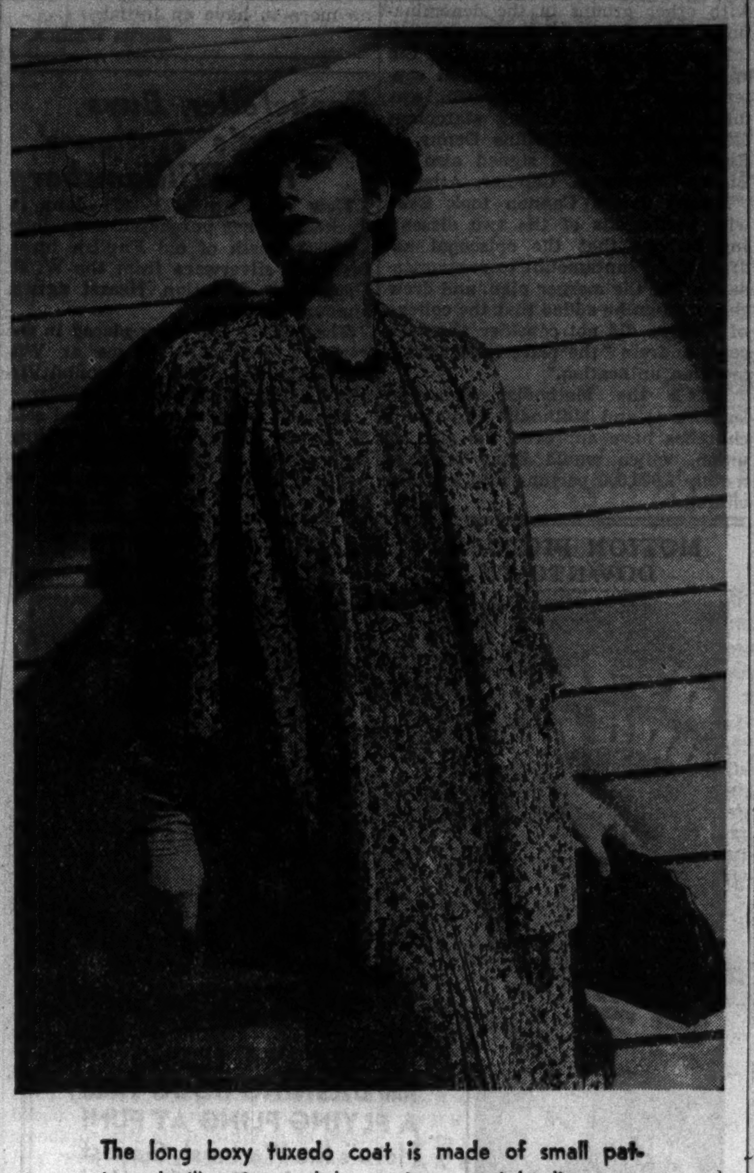
Miss Marion Gray is among those working for the success of the twentieth annual charity card party of the Joyce Kilmer league to be given at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The proceeds of the party go to the support of the Joyce Kilmer league ward at St. Vincent's Infant and Maternity hospital. Mrs. Joseph A. O'Connor is president of the league. The public is invited to the annual party.

Prints for Early Summer



The long boxy tuxedo coat is made of small patterned silk print and hangs in a straight line over a softly plaited dress that combines the printed silk and a top of matching printed silk chiffon in color and design. White or high colored costume accessories will complete this flattering summer ensemble. Similar costumes will be found in the early summer showings now on display.

Short Jackets Ideal Tops for Sheer Dresses

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Sprightly new color tops for warm weather outfits are the snappy short jackets in flattering pastels. These brief sleeved affairs are sold with dark sheers of navy, brown, and black. The dresses are simple, some being made with plaited skirts, and can be worn with other jackets of linen, or silk, or velveteen.

The jackets sold with the sheers are exceptionally well made, with interesting details and trim. These jackets will be smooth and unwrinkled after hours of wear.

Also in the moderately priced collection of clothes for immediate wear are the slick little two piece linens with price marks around $17. The dresses are smooth affairs, most of them beltless and achieving the slim princess line with flared gores.

The black linen beauties are knockouts. One model has a white streak, about an inch wide, from neck to hem. Another has spanking white coarse lace edging resembling Irish crochet all around the bolero jacket. Another has fine white lines edging the umbrella tucked skirt.

The two piece copper linen outfits are grand buys. One jacket that hugs the ribs has crisp white dotted Swiss collar and cuffs; another has more tailored details of white. The green numbers are cool and refreshing, some of these having Roman striped linen waistcoats and pocket flaps. Dark green outfits have the tailored bands of white.

For the price, these daytime linens are amazing bargains. The linen is cool, smooth, and the colors are copper, green, black, and a few light shades.

Fashion photograph . . . twin print ensemble for country or town wear shows the straight boxy seven-eighths tuxedo coat of printed silk. Under the coat is a dress of printed silk, with the top of matching printed silk chiffon. The hat is a white sailor with layers of horsehair to soften the eyeline. Similar ensembles will be found in the current showings of early summer sheers.

Gay Paintings by Grau Sala Open Gallery

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Galleries are too few in Chicago not to make the opening of a brand new one something of an event. Leo Buntman, who in former years has been connected with Dudley Crafts Watson of the Chicago Art institute, has just started a little white gallery at 17 North Wabash avenue. The space is tiny, but most attractive.

It makes it very human to learn that Mr. Buntman decorated the walls and Mrs. Buntman decorated the door and that the long table in the center was picked up at an auction for three dollars! Surely after that introduction no one will be afraid of penetrating this stronghold of art for dread that it will be high-brow.

The first exhibition in the Buntman gallery is of paintings by the Spanish artist who this year was awarded an important prize in the Carnegie show, Grau Sala. His paintings are charming, very light in theme, and gay in color. A hint of Marie Laurencin, of Dufy, and of Mary Cassatt lurks in their childish graces. They are unpretentious, thoroughly French, and most attractive.

A few etchings by Dufy and a scattering of pictures by Vignie complete the exhibition, but chief honors, naturally, fall to the lot of Grau Sala.

Paintings of flowers by Florence Ezzell Stevenson are in the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club, to May 4. This is a stunning show. Mrs. Stevenson knows flowers and paints them as she knows them, with a flair for composition and color combination. Canvas after canvas is decorative, picturesque, or charming. Particularly effective is "Summer Bouquet," and the "Magnolias," which recently was seen at the Art institute, repeats the immensely favorable impression it made there.

An unusual subject is a corner of a corn field, the tall stalks heavy with large ears ready to harvest.

The exhibition of recent gouache paintings by Robert Jay Wolff in the Quest Art galleries, 810 North Michigan avenue, will be continued to May 7.

Through the Looking Glass

The muggy weather lately brought home to us once again the truth of that old line about old friends being best friends. By which we mean that the hot weather drove us to our cabinet in search for a cologne that would really give you that feeling of "coolth."

We were in no mood for heady perfumes. We wanted a good classic cologne and found one. And then we wondered why in the world we so often let our attention wander away from old friends like this.

This cologne is older than we are by a century or more. It is one of the finest in the world and it has never changed in formula or in quality. It's sold all over the civilized world. There's never much hoopla about it, but year after year it stacks up wonderfully against all comers.

It has just about everything you want in a sparkling liquid to be used [externally, anyway] as a refreshant. It has a clean, tangy fragrance, the true classic fragrance of eau de cologne. It feels like champagne against the fevered brow on a muggy day. Put some on your handkerchief and keep that handkerchief close at hand. The fragrance alone makes the world seem brisker.

This cologne isn't very expensive—there are plenty not a third as good, all done up in fancy bottles, that cost ever so much more. But it's got what a good cologne should have—sparkle, a bright, clean scent, and the knack of serving as a refreshant.

It's wonderful for the sickroom; it should be sprayed about with an atomizer. And no one who travels should be without it. But, best of all, it's elegant for the rubdown after the bath. Men will like it, too.

Patsy Puzzled; Kiss 'Em or No, They Get Angry

BY DORIS BLAKE.

You'll have to answer it for Patsy, boys. We do not know how your mind operates in the connection of which Patsy speaks:

"What do the young men of today expect?" Patsy queries. "If you kiss them they get angry, even though it is at their own behest. If you don't they get mad. Take my case. I have been going around with a young man for three months. He told me he was in love with me. Then, suddenly, one evening he tells me that he would not see me any more. I asked him why. He said: 'Because you have disillusioned me so badly. I can't bear to think about it!' Pressed further my disillusion act was kissing him and letting him put his arms around me. He said: 'And you had only known me two months when it happened!'

"I can't make that one out. I didn't think any more of the kissing really than of holding his hand in the theater. There wasn't much more to it, really. But I didn't think any one longer was so old-fashioned as to read other meanings to a kiss. It seems to me that all the girls and boys do it and don't talk about it as anything."

So, there's your query, young men, which we ask you to answer.

Is there a time limit on the period before which a girl should succumb to your request for kisses? And if you feel that the girl will disillusion you assenting to your pleas, voiced or just acted, why do you put her to the test? Or, is putting her to the test part of your scheme?

It may seem a silly season subject to some folk, but it isn't to the young women nor, we take it, to some of you. Why can't the confusion that exists over this department of behavior be ironed out?

Veterans of Santiago to Hold Reunion Tomorrow

The fortieth annual reunion and dinner of the Illinois branch of the Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba will be held at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Edgewater Beach hotel. Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding the 2d United States army and the 6th corps area, will be the special guest. The chancellor of the Cuban consulate also will be present. William M. Dewey is president and Gen. John V. Clinnin is chairman of the reunion committee.

Southern Methodist Conference Debates Proposal for Merger

Birmingham, Ala., April 28.—(AP)—The battle over the reunion of northern and southern Methodists, split in 1844 by slavery, opened today with disagreement among bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, meeting here to consider merger with other groups in the denomination.

The episcopal address, read at the opening of the 23d quadrennial conference of southern Methodism, was followed by a dissenting statement offered by Bishop Collins Denny of Richmond, Va., and signed also by Bishop Warren A. Candler, Atlanta.

Bishop James Cannon took issue with statements of the two dissenting bishops that the episcopal address was "tantamount to recommendation" of the merger plan, and drew cheers when he added that the college of bishops did not consider the episcopal address "the place for an argument on unification."

Both the Methodist Episcopal [northern] and Methodist Protestant churches have approved the plan of union, which would bring approximately 8,000,000 persons into a single church.

The Housewife

It's smart now to have all your linens initialed. Initials and monograms have been going on formal table and bed linens for many years, but this season they're invading the realm of inexpensive informal things. And the nice feature is that it costs no more to have an initial.

Rockefeller Buys Hearst's Antiques for Williamsburg

New York, April 28.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller has purchased more than $100,000 worth of old English furniture and silverware from the W. R. Hearst art collection, Hearst agents announced today.

The objects are being placed in the restored governor's palace at Williamsburg, the capital of colonial Virginia being rebuilt by Rockefeller.

Hearst's art agent said he had sold 33 items to Rockefeller, including early Georgian canopied beds, Chippendale chairs, and silver of the Charles II. and William III. periods.

SYNOPSIS.

Gordon Stone returns to Barranca after eight years in prison. Gordon was framed by Lyn Gilbert, owner of the Bar B B ranch, and his foreman, Curt Ford. Because Gilbert's niece, Karen, warns Gordon and Jack Turnbull in time to save them from a posse of Gilbert's riders, her uncle imprisons her at his ranch. Gordon and Jack start a campaign against Gilbert. Heading a band of men, Gordon captures four Bar B B riders rustling cattle belonging to Gordon's uncle, John Fleming, owner of the J F ranch. Gilbert offers his rider Cheyenne Karen's hand in marriage if he will kill Gordon. Gordon and Jack are tricked into a trap by Cheyenne and Buck Hayes. They capture Hayes, but Cheyenne rides off, taking Karen with him. Gordon and Jack investigate at the Bar B B ranch house and barely escape alive. Cheyenne takes Karen to a cabin occupied by Bud Cowell. They camp out that night. Next morning Cheyenne relents and decides to take Karen back to town unharmed.

INSTALMENT XLVII.

REUNION.

"How well do you know Cheyenne?"

"Well enough to shoot at him but not well enough to say 'hello!' when we meet."

"You wouldn't trust your sister with him?"

"No farther than I could throw a rope."

They were in rough country now and could not travel fast. Gordon found it necessary continually to curb his desire to push the horse. He reminded himself that it was of no use to hurry. It was not possible to go fast enough to outride his dread. After a time they would have to tie up until daybreak.

That love would enter his life was something for which Gordon had not bargained. He had come out of the penitentiary an embittered man, with one corroding passion burning in his soul. A woman had given him warm and generous friendship, sweeping aside his surly resentment. She had been like rain and sunshine to parched and arid soil. In him had burgeoned a new spirit, one that had not nourished the noxious weeds of hatred and revenge. Nothing could come of his deep feeling for her except the quickening of his own being. He was a branded felon. That neither of them could ever forget. But at least, if God was good to him, he could pay in part his great debt to her.

Jack pulled up. "Far enough for tonight. We're still on the trail to the Stevens Park country, but if we go much farther we'll have to begin making choices of which way to go. I say camp here."

Stone dismounted heavily. He felt old and weary, discouragement weighting his shoulders. "Might as well," he agreed.

The night seemed eternal. With the first flicker of gray in the eastern hill crotches he made breakfast and awakened his friend. The horses were saddled and packed while it was still not light enough to pick up a trail.

Karen knew that Cheyenne was traveling fast in order to reach the plains before a posse blocked the entrance to the canyon by which they had come up from the foothills. His face was grim and lined. She noticed how warily he watched the trail ahead. That he was endangering his life by bringing her back she was aware and she had remonstrated with him.

"I'm sure I can find my way back from here. You had better be heading for the border."

"I brought you up here. I'll take you back." He said harshly: "If I'm lucky we won't meet any one."

"If we meet any one, let me talk to them. When I explain, they can't do anything to you."

"Except shoot me into rag dolls," he answered. "I'm not hiding behind a woman's skirts. Get this right. If we bump into a posse there will be a fight. Yore job is to skedaddle and hunt cover."

Karen was greatly distressed, not entirely because of her present situation. Always, beneath her surface thoughts, ran the dreadful doubt about Gordon. She could not believe he was dead.

She was thinking of him at the moment when they rounded a bend in the canyon and came face to face with him.

In a queer shaky voice she cried "Gordon!" She forgot the enmity between the two men, the fact that one was the hunter and the other the hunted. All she thought of was that he had come back to her out of the valley of the shadow. She rode forward to meet him.

Cheyenne swung sharply to the right so that she would not be between him and his foe. Swiftly he raised his rifle and fired, with no time to take aim.

"Keep away from me," Gordon cried to Karen, and slipped from the saddle.

She was beside him in a moment, her arms around his neck. "I thought—I was afraid——" The words ended in a sob.

Gordon caught her wrists and dragged her arms down. "Get away," he ordered harshly. "Can't you see he may kill you too?"

The girl's mind came back to the present danger. She saw that Cheyenne was behind his horse, rifle in hand, watching for another chance to shoot.

"Wait! Wait!" she cried. "It's all right. Let me explain." Desperately she clung to her lover.

"Come out and fight, fellow," Cheyenne cried savagely.

"No, no! He didn't hurt me, Gordon. He was bringing me back. Wait and listen, both of you."

"What d'you mean, bringing you back?" Stone asked.

"I mean he helped me get away from the ranch—from my uncle and Curt Ford. We hid out in the hills—got food and blankets from a line camp. Now he is taking me to Barranca."

"That's not true, Karen. You're trying to save him. Bud Cowell said he was taking you against your will."

"I didn't understand, Gordon, I thought because he is one of the Bar B B men he meant to harm me. But he has treated me fine. You must believe me. You must."

From back of his horse Cheyenne flung out a taunt. "How long you going to hide behind a woman, Stone? Come out from there a-smoking."

"Hold your horses," Gordon snapped. "I want to get the truth of this. If you've done no harm to Miss Gilbert any other quarrel I have with you will wait."

"Listen!" the girl cried. "Both of you. Give me a chance to explain. Please. Please."

"Say yore piece, lady." Cheyenne's rifle barrel rested on the saddle. He was ready for any break that might occur. "But make it kinda brief. I got an engagement for supper tonight a hundred miles from here."

Karen told her story, giving it a color wholly favorable to Cheyenne. There were joints in it which did not fit, but Gordon did not examine these too closely. Whatever the gunman's original purpose had been he apparently voluntarily had given it up.

Some questions Gordon asked the other man. "I don't get this. Is it some of Gilbert's underground work? Or have you split with him?"

"I'm through with the old wolf, but I haven't been fixed so I could tell him yet."

"He gave you a job to do last night and you ran out on it. "Why?"

Gordon said harshly, after a moment's reflection: "Your story won't go down with Gilbert. He'll have to hang your hide on the fence because he won't dare leave you alive. And last night's damn foolishness gives him a chance. His posses will have orders to kill on sight."

"About ten to one against me," the cool villain hazarded hardily.

"We'd better get going," Gordon interrupted. "Every minute counts for you. Just below we'll pick up Jack Turnbull. He went up a side ravine, but your shot will bring him back."

GASOLINE ALLEY—TRANSACTION CLOSED

Members Plan Two Programs for Arts Club

who are staying with the William B. Elliotts, and another son, Vance Kirby of Boston, who is to be best man.

A luncheon and a tea are on the program today for Dr. George St. John, headmaster of the Choate school. Choate alumni will meet for luncheon with him at 12:30 o'clock at the Palmer house. James R. Getz is chairman of the luncheon at which Dr. St. John and Adlai E. Stevenson will speak.

Mrs. George R. Nichols is giving the tea this afternoon in her apartment at 1550 State parkway. George R. Nichols III., who will be graduated in June from Choate, and Frank Billings Nichols, who was graduated at Choate four years ago, will receive his degree at Yale university this summer, so Mrs. Nichols has two important engagements in the east on her pad for June.

Members of the Art institute will hear Mrs. Walter S. Brewster speak about "The Making of a Collection" before the monthly members' tea for artists at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the clubroom of the institute. Special guests at the tea will be Potter Palmer, who is director pro tem. of the institute; Mr. and Mrs. Brewster, Hovsep Pushman, who is exhibiting at the Anderson galleries; Mrs. Pushman, and Frederick Oswald.

Other artists at the tea will be some who are exhibiting in the 17th international exhibition of water colors which opened at the institute yesterday. They are Francis Chapin, Boris Anisfeld, Kenneth Becker, Ruth Van Sickle Ford, Margo Hoff Buehr, Edgar Miller, and Kenneth Shopen.

Dinner Club Holds Final Dance Tonight.

The last of the dinner club parties for this season will be given tonight at the Glen View club. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Benoist, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Konsberg are the hosts and hostesses for the evening. The dances, which are for sophomore age girls and sophomore and junior age boys from Kenilworth to Lake Forest, will be resumed next fall.

The first of a series of cocktail parties at the Vassar house, which is run for the benefit of the scholarship fund, will be given today. Victor Rankin and Jane Buchanan of "The Star Wagon" cast will be the especial guests.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Heyworth Jr. of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., are being congratulated upon the birth of their first child, a daughter, on Tuesday in Detroit. Mrs. Heyworth was Miss Jean Stevens of Chicago. Mr. Heyworth also was a Chicagoan.

Hobart Chatfield-Taylors Will Be in City Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor are passing through Chicago tomorrow on their way from their home in Santa Barbara to New York, but because he has to be very careful of his health, he will not be able to see any of his old friends during the few hours he is here.

Mr. Chatfield-Taylor suffered a heart attack in London a year ago and this is the first time he has been allowed to leave Santa Barbara since returning there in July.

Otis Chatfield-Taylor, who is living in Chicago, will not be here to meet his father, but he will see him on Sunday, for the younger Mr. Taylor will be in New York. His wife, however, will meet Mr. and Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor at the train and remain with them in the La Salle Street station during the time they are there.

Mrs. Jacob Baur is leaving Sunday for a short visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bartle Bull, in London.

The James B. Forgans will return to Lake Forest next Monday from their home in Vermont, where they have been spending several weeks.

Preston Boyden in East Visiting His Children.

Preston Boyden is spending a week in the east visiting his children, Barbara and Frederic, who are in school in Greenwich, Conn.

Every year, almost to the day, a great tuna run begins on May 15 in the waters near Cat Cay in the Bahamas. It continues until about July 1 while the fish are migrating north. Among the anglers who already have made reservations to be in Cat Cay for the beginning of the run this year are George F. Getz Jr., Justin Dart, and William Humphries.

The Orville Thompsons, who used to live in Chicago, are on their way from their home in California to Chicago to spend a month at the Drake hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will arrive next Monday.

The Lake Shore Chamber Music group will meet at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Otho F. Ball, 1325 Astor street, to make plans for next season's series of concerts by the Russian Trio.

Associated Harvard Clubs to Meet in City

"Wherever John Harvard's shadow reaches, there is part of Harvard," read the announcements for the 41st annual meeting of the Associated Harvard clubs, to be held May 20, 21, and 22 in Chicago.

The meeting will start with a symposium on "What Is a University?" the night of the 20th at Orchestra hall. President James Conant of Harvard, President James Phinney Baxter III. of Williams, Harlow Shapley and Howard Mumford Jones of Harvard will be the speakers. There will be a buffet supper following at the Palmer house.

The clubs' annual business meeting will be held Saturday morning, the 21st. Men from the graduate schools will hold group meetings in the afternoon. The annual dinner is being held Saturday night, and the following day the scene of activities will shift to the Chicago Golf club at Wheaton.

The date for the Bargain ball of the north shore junior board of Northwestern University settlement has been changed from May 28 to the following Saturday, June 4. The party will be given at the Stevens hotel, with a floor show from the settlement. Mrs. Edward M. Tourtellot of Evanston is chairman of the party.

* *

Iowa Alumni.

Robert L. Hunter, president of the University of Iowa Chicago Alumni association, and Carl Seashore, program chairman, are in charge of a dance the association is giving tonight at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Katharine Christian Weary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie A. Weary of Detroit, formerly of Winnetka, to Thomas R. Winans Jr., will take place the evening of July 9 in the gardens of the Colony Town club, in Detroit. Mr. Winans, son of Mrs. Thomas R. Winans of Boston, was engaged in business in Chicago for ten years, but is in Detroit now, where he and his bride will make their home. Miss Weary is a graduate of St. Catherine's school in Richmond, Va.

The Rev. L. N. Phillips and Mrs. Phillips of Chadwick, Ill., announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Violet Mae, to the Rev. Milton W. Bischoff of Chicago, son of the Rev. J. V. Bischoff and Mrs. Bischoff of Walnut and formerly of Belvidere, on June 29 at the Hope Evangelical church in Chadwick. Both Miss Phillips and Dr. Bischoff were graduated from North Central college at Naperville.

Smart and Cool for Summer

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Smart and cool is this simple little dress for summer, which suits both slim and matronly figures. The skirt has wide flare, achieved by cut, not gores or plaits. The slim waistline dips up in a curve into the bodice, and shirring radiates from the seam, giving softness to the waist. The neckline may be either high and squared or V and trimmed with a rolled collar. For sleeves you may have regulation puffed ones, or make brief "wings." Either a tailored belt or a soft sash may enhance the waistline.

There are so many soft washable silks and delectable cottons in the shops that you should have no difficulty in finding a print or plain shade to your taste. This is the dainty type of dress which you can wear all day and feel as fresh as you did in the morning. You can wear it to all types of informal affairs.

Style No. 2069 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires only 3⅝ yards of 35 inch material.

Child Needs Outlets for His Energies

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In addition to providing our five year old with such things as velocipedes, roller skates and scooters for outdoors and the right toys for indoor play, we ought to provide him with other outlets. Children need variety of occupation because they have many needs. So, we want to provide them at five or before with materials for creative work in the manual skills or the arts. And this means both little girls and little boys.

What would those materials be? A few simple but good tools—poor ones are only a source of irritation to a child. Nails and pieces of lumber—preferably soft wood—and boxes from the grocery store. Clay and a bread board to model on, and a smock or soft oilcloth apron to wear. Big wax crayons and large sheets of paper, as well as soft pencils.

Paints [poster colors] and thick camel's hair brushes and big sheets of drawing paper. A blackboard, perhaps. Scissors—good but blunt-pointed ones—and colored paper. A sewing kit for the especially deft little girl.

We have these and other suggestions on management in leaflet form called "The Five Year Old Turns a Corner" and "When Your Child Brings Home 'Bad Words.'" Remember, each leaflet requires a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Florists Like These New Fashions; Sales Tell Why

Fashion's decree of flowers for every costume saved the floral industry from a serious recession in the last few months, Ernest S. Simmons of Toronto, Ont., international president of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery association, told members last night in the Knickerbocker hotel. Simmons credited the fashion for boutonnières, corsages, and floral hairdresses with a sales increase of 17 percent.

Miss Holmes is a graduate of Abbot academy at Andover, Mass., and is a student at the University of Vermont. Mr. Stokes was graduated from Harvard in 1934 and is teaching in Rahway, N. J. The wedding will take place this summer.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Of all the small slams bid and made, I venture to say that easily 40 per cent finds success through the kind assistance of the alleged defenders. Usually it is a question of discarding. The average defender is not only hard pressed by the need for making five or six discards but, what is worse, shows his embarrassment by hesitating, squirming, facial contortions, and even groans of anguish. Consider the position of the West player in the following hand:

North, dealer.

NORTH
♥ A K 5
♦ A K Q J 4 3

WEST
♠ K Q J 8 4 3
♥ 9 6
♦ 10 5
♣ K 8 4

EAST
♠ 9 5 2
♥ 10 8 4 3 2
♦ 7

SOUTH
♠ A 6
♥ Q J 7
♦ 9 8 6 2
♣ A Q 5 3

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
6 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

North, after hearing the two no trump bid from South, saw no sense in dilly-dallying, but jumped directly to a small slam. His four-plus honor tricks and eight sure winners made this course quite logical.

West opened the spade king and declarer won with the ace. [There was no point in a holdup play, and it might be highly advantageous at a later stage to throw West on lead with the spade ten and force a club return.] Six diamond tricks then were dashed off, to West's acute discomfort. On the third and fourth rounds he let go two low spades; on the fifth, a low club, and on the sixth, reduced to the Q-J of spades. When three rounds of hearts followed, however, West started to squirm. On the third round he had to choose between blanking the club king and blanking the spade queen. With the deep sigh of self-pity, he threw the jack of spades. This, of course, was duck soup for declarer, who had been worrying about the club finesse from the very start. It now was the simplest thing in the world to throw West on lead, by leading the spade ten, and force a club return up to the major tenace.

Imaginative and sound defense on West's part almost certainly would have led to a far different result. West could see that he would be forced to make four discards on the diamond suit and, since it was highly probable that South held the heart queen, another discard on the third heart. Three of these discards could safely be spades and one a club; the fifth, and crucial one, would have to be deceptive. If declarer did not have the A-Q of clubs it would do no harm to blank the king of clubs. If he did hold the A-Q it was just as vital to blank the club king, without groaning or squirming, in order to avoid a throw-in play that was easily predictable. Thus, had West quietly discarded two clubs, leaving his king unprotected, my bet is that the declarer would have gone wrong. He could not possibly know what West was doing and, therefore, would take the club finesse as the natural play for the fulfilling trick.

American Mother Title Goes to Poet Laureate of Texas

New York, April 28.—(AP)—Victor in a nation-wide round of nominations, Mrs. Grace Noll Crowell of Dallas, Tex., poet laureate of Texas and mother of three grown sons, was named today as "the American mother of 1938."

Her one year reign starts on Mother's day, May 8.

Mrs. Crowell, the fourth "American mother" since the custom was inagurated in 1934, was selected after a close vote of a field of finalists including Mrs. Eddie Cantor, wife of the comedian; Mrs. Charles B. Knox of Johnstown, N. Y., and Mrs. Catherine L. Daugherty of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

She succeeds Mrs. Carl R. Gray of New York, formerly of Omaha, Neb.

Mrs. Crowell's three children are Dean H. Crowell, 34, bank clerk; Reid Crowell, 26, artist, and Norton B. Crowell, 24, an instructor at Southern Methodist university.

She is a native of Inland, Ia., and was educated in high school at Wilton, Ia., and at German college, Wilton. She married Norman H. Crowell of Dallas in 1901.

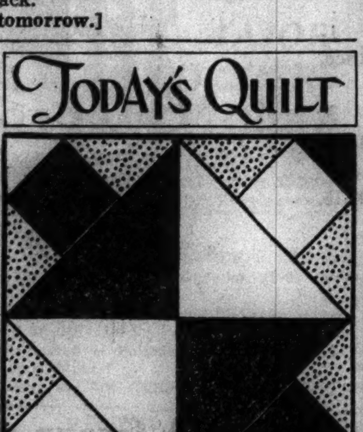
TODAY'S QUILT



BY NANCY CABOT.

"Ladies' Air Block" was pieced by a woman in Tennessee, member of a group that met one day each week to accomplish something for people less fortunate than themselves. The design originally was pieced from the scrapbag, but it was such a success as an elaborate four patch pattern that it was immediately named for the group of women working on the coverlet, and a definite color scheme was decided upon. A combination of printed and plain materials was used in red, blue, and white. Modern preference is for the more delicate pastels and light colored prints. The coverlet is composed of pieced blocks set together to form an all-over design, and finished with a seven and one-half inch border and a half inch bias binding.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

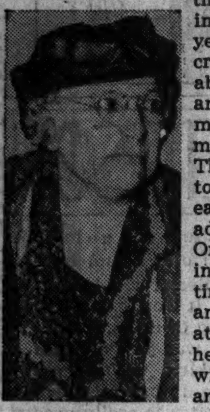
CAKES, PAJAMAS, MR. X ENLIVEN ORTON HEARING

Wife Denies Misconduct, Names Friend.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Mrs. Marie M. Orton, gray haired grandmother, spent another day on the witness stand in Circuit court yesterday under cross-examination about Messrs. X. and Y. and other more routine domestic matters. The elderly Ortons are accusing each other of adultery, Philo A. Orton first charging her with intimacies with X. and Y., she retaliating by claiming he was unfaithful with Misses S. and R.



Mrs. Marie Orton.

Mrs. Orton, who is almost 62 years old, made a jolly witness while she was discussing such matters as layer cakes and tiffs with her husband over friends, relatives, and bridge playing. When the questioning turned to the men named in her husband's suit, however, she drew herself up with dignity and answered "No," and "Certainly not."

Quiz Turns to Mr. X.

On the previous day, under cross-examination by counsel for her husband, who is seeking a divorce while she wants separate maintenance, she unblushingly admitted she had kissed Mr. Y., identified as R. Bert Horner, loop bank employé, but added it was in his now estranged wife's presence.

Yesterday it was Mr. X's turn to get into the testimony. Mrs. Orton denied that she and Mr. X. were discovered by her husband drinking cocktails in pajamas in the living room of the Orton home at 5204 Greenwood avenue.

Mr. X. was identified as Schyler Handy, a former employé of the Orton Crane and Shovel company, of which Orton is president. The identification was made with the permission of Judge Philip J. Finnegan and Mrs. Orton's attorneys, William Dillon and Ralph Bostelman.

Tells of Meeting in Florida.

Mrs. Orton told how she met Handy and his wife, both family friends, in Florida in January, 1933, and said Handy visited the Ortons in the following September, a month before they separated. Handy's visit lasted two or three weeks, she said.

Q. Didn't you say in a deposition last January it was six weeks?

A. Yes, but since then I've checked with Mrs. Handy and found otherwise.

Q. Why check it with her? She wasn't there, was she? A.—No.

Q. It was your house, wasn't it? A. [laughingly] Yes, but it was her husband.

Mrs. Orton was asked to tell how she managed to spend $700 a month maintaining her household in the family's most prosperous years. Part of the money went to pay a maid $20 a week, a cleaning woman $5, and a laundress $5, she said. Questioning continued:

The Cake Baking Issue.

Q.—And what did you yourself do all day? A. [with a big smile]—O, I just sat around and twirled my thumbs. No, seriously, I baked cakes my family liked, and—

Q.—As a matter of fact, didn't Mr. Orton have a special liking for—

Here Mr. Orton, laughing himself for the first time in two days, whispered something to his attorney.

Q. [continued]—For a special layer cake, and didn't you stop baking it fifteen years ago? A.—No, I just love to bake Mr. Orton's cakes.

Mrs. Orton admitted she had told her husband that if he gave her $40,000 she would give him a divorce. She said she did not love him, that she stopped loving him when he filed his crsos-bill.

FINED FOR MOLESTING GIRL.

Walter Lesinski, 46 years old, 8157 Exchange avenue, was fined $25 yesterday by Judge John T. Zuris in the Domestic Relations court for molesting a girl 16 years old.
